BURGLAR FRUSTRATED BY SERVANT GIRL

Attempt to Rob Former Senator Reed's House Foiled by Woman Who Screamed.

HER PRESENCE OF MIND

RANG UP THE FIRE DEPARTMENT AND BROUGHT OUT MAYOR AND POLICE.

Chief Weiss Kept the Matter a Secret Hoping to Capture Crook, But the Tale Leaked Out—No Clue to Work On.

Intelligence of a bold attempt to rob Former Senator Charles A. Reed's house in Washington Park late Sunday night leaked out yesterday. An effort was made to keep the matter quiet by the borough authorities, but rumors of the facts escaped from the mantle of secrecy in some way, and the report was readily confirmed by a servant at the Reed house. It was owing to this servant, Mary Melia, that the burglar was foiled in his attempt to clean out the valuables in the borough political leader's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed left for a trip to South America on Friday, and it is supposed that the thief, knowing this fact, counted on the house being empty and in favorable shape for a raid. That he did not expect to find anyone in the place, and made no effort to study the exact lay of his ground, was evidenced by the fact that he attempted to gain entrance into the house through the window of the Melia girl's room.

According to the girl's own story she had been in bed and asleep for an hour at 11 o'clock, when a noise at her window awoke her. She arose noiselessly and turned on the light.

A thick set man, with bushy whiskers, was half-way in the room through the window. The girl screamed at the top of her lungs, and the man, with a startled oath, scrambled back out of the window as fast as he could move. The servant heard him drop on the porch and run to the street.

She retained her presence of mind and was at the telephone to call for assistance almost before the thief had started to run. She called up fire headquarters on Somerset street, from where a message was sent that called Chief Marshal Weiss and Mayor Smalley to the scene.

Neighbors were attracted to the house by the girl's cries, and a general search for the thief was instituted under the direction of the officials who arrived soon after. No trace of the burglar could be discovered, beyond a trial that pointed in the direction of Plainfield.

It is believed that the robber is an expert crook and was after a big haul. He probably counted on finding a lot of silverware and other valuables of a character that the family could not take with them to South America.

Chief Kiely was notified of the attempt, and he joined with the borough authorities in watching for the criminal. Both departments believed that the man would hang around this neighborhood, or return to it, if no noise was made over the story, and for this reason the facts were kept quiet. The servant girl had a good look at the man and could readily identify him among any suspects that might be picked up.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

Former Firemen of North Plainfield Takes Possession of Rooms.

The borough ex-volunteer firemen took possession of their new home in the See building on Somerset street, at the corner of Manning avenue, last night. They gathered in goodly numbers, and though no formal affair marked the moving in, a social time was enjoyed.

Speeches on the beginning of the epoch in their history were made by J. J. Stahl, William Debele and David Bodine, ex-chiefs of the old department. A regular housewarming sociable and smoker will be held in the near future.

SAFE-GUARDING YOUNG WOMEN

PROTECTION TO BE AFFORDED BY W. C. T. U. AT ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION.

The Women's Christian Association, of St. Louis, realizing that efforts will be made by unscrupulous persons to entice young women to that city on the pretence of giving them employment during the exposition, have organized what is known as a Travelers' Aid Women's Christian Association, and in communications sent to the W. C. T. U. throughout the country, have asked co-operation in providing safeguards for these young women.

This association, together with the W. C. T. U., and other organizations in St. Louis, has arranged for headquarters, where women visiting the exposition can go and secure respectable lodgings. The women are asked to wear a knot of blue ribbon on the left side of the waist and when they reach St. Louis look for committees at the railroad station wearing a blue badge with "Travelers' Aid of Women's Christian Association, St. Louis," printed thereon in gold letters. Women throughout the country are asked to lend their assistance to this plan.

RUNAWAY GIRL IS FOUND

Running away from a good home in this city, and sleeping in any place that offered, Florence Watson, sixteen years old, was picked up by the Elizabeth police yesterday in a vacant house, in which she had been spending the night. The girl has been employed as a domestic at the house of William L. Gavett, of West Fifth street. She has been treated with unvarying kindness by her employer, Mrs. Rankin, but, it is said, has proved herself incorrigible.

The girl left this city Tuesday and has spent the rest of the week depending on chance to furnish her with food and a place to sleep. She was brought by her employers some time ago from White Plains, where she had been living in an institution for orphans. The police of Elizabeth are holding her pending information from her employers regarding the proper disposal of her case.

A translation into English of two speeches of General Cipriano Castro, president of Venezuela, has been prepared and dedicated to Hon. Herbert W. Bowen, U. S. minister to Venezuela and brother of Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue. In the introduction of the pamphlet, Pedro Rafael Rincines, consul general of Venezuela, thus addresses Mr. Bowen: "In presenting to you the translation of two of the most notable documents produced by our patriot President, I beg to acknowledge the integrity and honesty of your character, which in the attack of 'three Powers' against Venezuela, led you to stand by the side of the righteousness, and won for the cause of 'Justice' the most enviable laurel in your diplomatical career. Please accept my warm admiration and sincere esteem."

Display at Stanley's.

There has never been a larger display of flowers in this city, at Easter or any other time, than that shown by Charles L. Stanley, the North avenue florist, at this time. It is the biggest stock of plants between New York and Philadelphia, and an extra store is needed to house it. All kinds of flowering plants and cut flowers are shown in immense profusion. Stanley's is the one place here for the purchase of Easter flowers, whether for decorations or gifts. He has Easter lilies and calla lilies and azaleas that are particularly fine, and all of the plants are in splendid condition.

DEAN SMYTH HOME AGAIN

FORMER PASTOR OF ST. MARY'S R. C. CHURCH RETURNS FROM ROME.

Very Rev. Dean P. W. Smyth, who is widely known here as Father Egan's predecessor at St. Mary's R. C. church, returned from a trip to Rome yesterday, surprising his parishioners of St. Joseph's church, Jersey City. He was not expected for several weeks.

While in Rome Father Smyth was the guest of Archbishop Seton, his predecessor at St. Joseph's and had a private audience with Pope Pius X. He received a special blessing for the parishioners of St. Joseph's and the pupils of the parochial school.

Father Smyth contemplated a tour of the British Isles after his visit to Rome, but abandoned his plans in that direction to join Archbishop Farley's party and return home by way of Genoa. He says his love for America drew him back irresistibly.

An interview with President Roosevelt has been arranged for the members of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department who will leave this city Monday on a four days' trip to the Nation's Capital city. The interview will be the leading feature of what promises to be a most delightful excursion. Arrangements have been completed to have the President give the boys a five-minutes' talk in the East room of the White House, the talk to be followed by an informal reception and hand-shaking. Mr. Roosevelt will greet each of the boys personally.

From ten to fifteen members of the local department will make the trip under the leadership of Kenneth Robbie, their secretary. They will leave this city Monday at 9:12, leaving Washington on the return trip Thursday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and arriving home at 5:44. All of the main points of interest in Washington will be visited and side trips will be taken to Mt. Vernon and Arlington.

The excursion will be participated in by representatives from Y. M. C. A. boys' departments from all parts of New Jersey.

IN NEW CHAMBERS.

North Plainfield Council to Occupy Engine House Rooms Tonight.

Everything is in readiness for the coming of the borough Council in the new engine house on Somerset street, and the body will hold its first meeting in the chambers tonight. The rooms are brighter than the old place, and a high, wide brick fireplace gives the main meeting room an air of comfort that was totally lacking the chambers vacated. All the furniture has been cleaned and refurnished, but no new fixtures, beyond those put in the building under the specifications, have been added to the equipment.

What the Council will do at the meeting is problematical. Nothing very important is hanging fire, although the fire committee is expected to report on the improvements to be made to the service, as detailed in The Daily Press on Wednesday.

Injured Boy Is Better.

At Muhlenberg Hospital today it was announced that James Regan, the boy whose foot was crushed beneath a train Tuesday, is doing well. He will probably be sent to his home on Pacific avenue, Jersey City. The accident happened at South Plainfield, the young fellow with a companion, being thrown from a coal car which was stopped with a sudden jolt.

Handball Tournament.

One match was played last night in the handball tournament for the Y. M. C. A. championship. V. W. Carolin, Jr., defeated Frank Neal, 21-10. The two will meet again Tuesday—the best two out of three games being required in each case to decide a match. Today William Neal will meet William Mundy for their second game.

PAINTERS STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES

BOSSES REMAIN FIRM

MASTER PAINTERS EMPHATICAL IN THEIR REFUSAL.

Estimated That Between Seventy-Five and 125 Men Are Out—Meetings to be Held Tonight—Trade Tied Up.

In accordance with their threat, the members of the Painters, Paperhangers and Decorators' Union met the refusal of their demand for an increase of wages with a strike this morning. Every man in the organization quit work yesterday afternoon, and met this morning to discuss plans for a campaign against the bosses. It is variously estimated that the strike affects 75 to 125 men. To some extent the strike will affect the other building trades.

Both sides appear to be undecided as to the exact plan of campaign to be pursued. Nothing could be learned of the result of the union meeting this forenoon, and at headquarters in Trades' Council Hall it was intimated that nothing of a definite nature had been done. Further developments from the union's side are looked for tonight, when another meeting is to be held. The Master Mechanics' Association, the bosses organized, will meet tonight also.

No communication of formal nature has passed between the two organizations. The last real notification sent by the journeymen was delivered to the bosses in January. That contained the ultimatum setting today as the limit of time, and the men regarded that communication as notice enough.

President H. A. Moulton, of the Union, who is leading the strike, was seen by a reporter after the meeting this morning, but he refused to make any statement. "We are not ready to make a statement at this time," he said, "besides, nobody has been authorized to speak for the union. There may be something to say later."

President Hansen, of the Masters' Association, was not so reluctant to speak. "We will fight the union to a finish," he said. "We can not grant their demand under the present conditions of trade. We refused not only for our own good but for that of the journeymen as well. The cost of things in general is too high as it is, and to grant the advance would be a detriment to both the journeymen and ourselves."

"Will you bring in men from outside?"

"That hasn't been decided yet."

Mr. Hansen estimated the number of men affected at seventy-five. Members of the union say their roll is nearly a hundred, and more than that are affected by the march-out.

The painters, according to information gleaned at their headquarters this morning, ask for forty-one cents an hour and a forty-four hour week. They are getting thirty-four cents an hour now. Under the present rate they earn $2.75 a day, and under the one demanded they would make about $3.28.

Figured in Runaway.

Harry Isaacs, of West Third street, was hurt in a runaway spill at the corner of Grant avenue and West Third street yesterday afternoon. He was cut and bruised, and it is thought his leg was fractured. Dennis McCarthy caught the runaway under the railroad bridge a short distance away. The rig was badly damaged. Frank Faulkes, of South Plainfield, carried Isaacs home in his carriage.

A Grand Success.

Geo. Wieda, local representative for the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., says their display store at 215 West Front street is a grand success and added fifty students to the list of 750 they already have in Plainfield. Through his efforts the display will continue until Saturday night and the special 23½ per cent. discount given to applicants.

Ice Cream for Firemen.

A gift of a large amount of ice cream moulded into thirty-four different forms was received at fire headquarters yesterday. The gift was in recognition of the work of the firemen at a recent fire.

—A water main on South Second street burst shortly after seven o'clock last night, and nearly flooded that thoroughfare.

GOOD FRIDAY OBSERVANCES

UNION SERVICE AT CRESCENT AVENUE AND OTHER SOLEMN CELEBRATIONS.

C. churches, Holy Cross and St. Stephen's Episcopal churches. Solemn services will be held at the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches.

The Tenebrae will be repeated at St. Mary's church tonight, completing the celebration which began on Wednesday ight. The service will include the Veneration of the Cross. Father Delahanty will preach a sermon, with the Crucifixion for his subject.

HAND'S MATRIMONIAL TALE

An idea of the comparative strength of the matrimonial market in the West and East may be gained from a letter received by Justice Hezekiah Hand from Prairie City, Oregon. Judge Hand's correspondent signs himself A. L. Dunn and says that a letter addressed to Box D, Prairie City, will reach him. Referring to the Judge's recent offer encouraging leap year and other marriages, he delivers himself as follows:

"I agree with you that He and She should mate, multiply and populate the earth. They make better men and women. If they don't avail themselves of your generous offer, they must have cold feet. You are doing the proper thing to encourage the spinsters. Bashful girls make modest wives.

"I wish we had some of your accomplished old maids out here in the West. It is astonishing to see the numbers of confirmed bachelors on this coast that could maintain a good home if they had someone to care for.

"Our Western girl is a beautiful creature but wild and hard to please, and true Eastern raised men are afraid to go against the game and take chances of figuring in a divorce suit before the honeymoon is over. Also they think there is no one can cook and keep house like an Eastern girl and from observations that's no dream.

"If your boys won't get down to business and do the right thing, kindly let me know and I shall take pleasure in placing the matter before our Bachelors Club."

DAUGHTER MISSING.

Perth Amboy Parents Searching for Girl Who May be in This City.

The town of Perth Amboy is much exercised over the sudden disappearance of two young women from that place, and one of them it is believed may be in this city, where she has relatives. On Wednesday night Miss Emily Mills, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mills, of High street, disappeared. The girl has relatives here and in Staten Island and it is thought that she may be at either place. Miss Mills was probably attired in a red or blue skirt, a short fawn colored jacket and white Tam O'Shanter.

Mr. Schenck is cashier of the People's National Bank, which is a creditor of the deceased. The personal estate is valued at $50.

HOT CROSS BUNS.

Many Thousands Eaten in Plainfield —Origin and History of the Custom.

This is the day for hot cross buns and thousands of them were sold by W. W. Warnock and John Wirth, the local bakers. Hot cross buns are descended from early English times, when the superstition existed that bread baked on this day was a specific for all ills. It was the custom for the family to dry and save buns and other breads made on Good Friday to use throughout the year, grated in water, as a remedy for various complaints. This is probably the origin of toast and water, which is a common remedy in cases of slight indisposition.

It is asserted by some authorities that hot cross buns can be traced back to an ancient heathen custom of eating small sweetened cakes as a part of the worship of the "queen of heaven." Similar customs are to be found in ancient Mexico, Egypt, China and other countries.

ROBERT A. MEEKER ON ROAD BUILDING

State Supervisor Explains the Art of Highway Construction to Trinity Men's Club.

NEW JERSEY FIRST

ROMANS KNEW BUT LITTLE ABOUT THE SUBJECT.

New York Uses Expensive Method—Massachusetts Next to New Jersey —Federal Government Copies After This State.

New Jersey as the pioneer State in the movement for good roads and the progress that has been made in general in road building were the subjects of a talk last night by Robert A. Meeker, State Supervisor of roads, before the Men's Association, of Trinity Reformed church. Mr. Meeker is an expert on the subject and his elucidation of methods of road-building and their history proved most interesting.

Whenever road-building is mentioned, New Jersey is cited as a model State. She was the first to build roads and keep them in repair under a State law. She has more hard roads outside of cities than any other State in the Union, the number of miles being 952, Massachusetts being second, and New York third, with about a third the mileage. The first roads were built in the Oranges, along the Watchung Mountains and Passaic Valley to Plainfield, and from that beginning the movement has spread throughout the State and nation.

Automobiles and especially bicycles have been largely instrumental in gathering a public sentiment in favor of good roads. In New Jersey there is a variety of soil and climate that present all conditions that a State can be confronted with for road building, hilly country, flat lands and stony and marsh lands. The plans for building roads in Jersey have been adopted by the government as a standard.

New York's method is expensive. Where road-building in Jersey costs $6,000 a mile, in New York the expense has been more than twice as great. Massachusetts has given New Jersey credit by appointing a commission to examine into Jersey methods.

There have been much sentiment and mock heroics attached to the Romans as road builders. The Roman roads were no better than dirt roads. The Romans did not know as much as Isaiah who said "out down the hills and fill in the valleys." They did not fill in the hollows but built their roads along a straight line regardless of whether it led them over instead of around a high hill or down into a swamp. The Roman roads were well suited, however, to the marching of large bodies of infantry.

The Jesuits had better ideas of engineering than the Romans. They established many good highways in this continent and some of their work still remains, particularly in Eastern Cuba.

Good roads and the telephone have done much to aid in solving the problem of "how to keep the boy on the farm." They have brought to dwellers in cities an opportunity to appreciate on wheel or automobile the beauties of life in the country. The New York business man is narrow, said Mr. Meeker, but the good roads movement has done much to take him out of himself and the hermit life o the city, giving him the educational force of a commingling with his fellows.

Mr. Meeker concluded with an explanation of various kinds of roads, stone, gravel, oyster shell, etc., each suited to special conditions. He also referred briefly to brick and other pavements for city streets.

President H. W. Marshall presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. The entertainment was arranged by a committee of which Edgar F. Sheppard was chairman. A talk on insurance will be given at the April meeting of the association.

A Successful Teacher.

Miss Emerson, of Carnegie Hall, New York, a teacher of exceptional ability on the violin, is meeting with considerable success with her work here. MARTINE LEAVES HIS PARTY

FARMER-ORATOR ANNOUNCES TODAY THAT HE WILL SUPPORT ROOSEVELT.

Most extraordinary of all the political phenomena that have ever startled Plainfield was produced this morning when Hon. James E Martine announced that he had experienced a change of political faith. Mr. Martine was in Washington the early part of this week and had an interview with the President and several party leaders which was mainly responsible for the changed attitude. The "farmer orator" announces that, though he still believes that Mr. Bryan is an honest, capable man and the greatest orator in the country, yet study has convinced him that his views on the money question, on "imperialism" and the other tenets of the Kansas City faith were altogether mistaken. Mr. Martine now comes out with the flat announcement that he will support Mr Roosevelt in the coming presidential campaign. "I believe that to every man is accorded the privilege of changing his mind when he becomes convinced of error," said Mr Martine to a reporter for The Daily Press this morning. "President Roosevelt's recent victory in the decision of the Supreme Court on the railroad merger case more than anything else has convinced me that he is the right man in the right place. No other president has had the courage to enforce the Sherman Anti-Trust act and impress upon the country the rightness of his convictions on the trust problem. By his act he has taken from the Democratic party its sole chance for an issue. Though still retaining my faith in the necessity for tariff reform, I believe that under the leadership of Mr. Roosevelt such reform, to a conservative extent, will be possible. I think that the most menacing fact in present day affairs is the outrageous pretence of William Randolph Hearst for the Democratic candidacy. Mr. Hearst is no more fit for the high office to which he aspires than is Reed Smoot, of Utah."

All of which change of faith occurring on this day of grace, April 1, 1904, will be readily understood by the discerning. This is All Fools' Day.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Winton C. Garrison, chief of the bureau of statistics, has compiled and will soon issue a monograph on "The Negro in Manufacturing and Mechanical Industries" in this State. He has been gathering the facts and statistics for this report for several months, and it contains a lot of new and surprising information.

In the first place, the increase of the negro population in New Jersey will cause most people to open their eyes. The white population of the State increased 27.8 per cent. in the decade from 1880 to 1890, and 29.8 per cent. from 1890 to 1900. The negro population increased 22.6 per cent. in the first decade and 46 6 per cent. for the decade in 1900.

A comparison of the increase of negro population by counties reveals some strange facts. The largest increase was in Atlantic County, where it was 674 per cent. in the two decades from 1880 to 1900. In Essex it was 168.2 per cent.; in Hudson, 178.2; in Monmouth, 99.5; in Morris, 100; in Ocean, 175.5; and in Union, 98.7. The largest increase was in the cities and seaside resort counties, where the negros find congenial employment as waiters and servants.

The lowest percentage of increase was in the agricultural counties. In Warren it was 3 1 per cent.; in Salem, 9.8, while in Hunterdon it decreased 6.1 per cent.; in Somerset 6, and in Sussex 8.6 per cent.

The total number of negroes in New Jersey in 1880 was 38,853, and in 1900 it was 68,844, an average increase of 76 9 per cent.

Mayor Stoy, of Atlantic City, has attached his signature to the new bill placing the Atlantic City fire department on a paid basis and formally wiped out the old volunteer fire department, which has been in existence since 1871.

MRS. BENNETT WON

Bryan Failed to Establish Bequest of $50,000.

JUDGE RULED OUT SEALED LETTER

Decision Rested on the Conclusion That Philo S. Bennett Did Not Treat the Document as a Part of His Will.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 1.—A finding that the sealed letter by which Philo S. Bennett expressed a wish that $50,000 should be given to William Jennings Bryan and his family was not a part of the last will of Mr. Bennett was returned by the jury in the superior court in the trial of Mr. Bryan's appeal from the decision of the probate court. This finding, which upholds the decision of the probate court, was given in accordance with instructions to the jury from Judge Gager. Judge Gager's ruling on a question which has never before come directly before the courts of Connecticut, decided that the sealed letter could not be admitted as evidence in the trial.

The decision followed arguments by counsel for Mr. Bryan contending that it should be admitted, while the attorneys for Mrs. Grace Imogene Bennett, the widow, and other heirs presented opposing arguments. As Mr. Bryan's appeal was based on the exclusion of this letter as a part of the will in the probate court, the decision of Judge Gager that it could not be admitted as evidence practically concluded the proceedings in the superior court, and the jury was accordingly directed to bring in a verdict against Mr. Bryan.

An appeal will be taken to the supreme court by Mr. Bryan's counsel on the ground that the letter should be admitted as a part of an established trust.

An interesting feature of the day's proceedings was a statement which Mr. Bryan made in court that he was willing to give a bond that in no case would the money mentioned in the sealed letter go to himself or family without Mrs. Bennett's consent.

In giving his decision the judge said: "On the sealed letter is found this direction: 'Mrs. P. S. Bennett, to be read only by Mrs. Bennett and by her alone after my death. P. S. Bennett,' and at the end of the sealed letter Mr. Bennett uses this language: 'I have sent a duplicate of this letter to Mr. Bryan, and it is my desire that no one excepting you and Mr. Bryan himself shall know of this letter and bequest. For this reason I place this letter in a sealed letter and direct that it shall be opened only by you and read by you alone.' In my judgment no language could be more conclusive upon the question that Mr. Bennett himself did not treat this letter as a part of a technical will or as testamentary in a legal sense, but only as a letter of private instruction to Mrs. Bennett. The objections are sustained, and the sealed letter is therefore excluded."

Mosque of Omar at St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The council of ministers of Turkey has unanimously approved the proposition for an exhibit at the St. Louis exposition. A great number of natives are permitted to partake in the exhibit. Religious services of the Islamic faith will be held at the Mosque of Omar, which is an exact reproduction of the most celebrated mosque of Constantinople. The export of the water from the Jordan and of the soil from the Holy Land has also been authorized.

Merely to Strengthen Army.

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—Referring to dispatches from Havana concerning the shipments of arms and ammunition on the Nicaraguan gunboat Ometehe, Acting Consul Rose of Nicaragua said that the transaction at Havana was absolutely without significance. The arms and ammunition are to be used in strengthening the present Nicaraguan army. The purchase comprised 2,800 reformed Remington rifles, 200,000 rounds of ammunition and some powder.

Iowa Miners' Strike Still On.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 1.—Propositions for a settlement of the strike in the Iowa mines were submitted last night by both the operators and the miners. Both propose a board of three arbitrators, one to be a miner, the other an operator and the third a disinterested party selected by the two. The two propositions have been presented, with indications pointing to a continuation of the deadlock.

Her mother died at the age of 103.

Ice Fills the River.

Clark H. Sampson Dead.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—Clark H. Sampson, one of the most prominent citizens of St. Louis, is dead. Mr. Sampson was born in Massachusetts in 1850 and came to St. Louis in 1879. He was for several years president of the St. Louis Exposition and Music Hall association.

County Chairman Moody:—Would you support Mr. Hearst for President?

Governor Murphy has vetoed the "hangtown" bill which provided that all criminals sentenced to capital punishment be executed at Trenton. That city seems satisfied to be known simply as a "bumtown."

The Atlanta Journal thinks the nomination of Parker would be a source of Democratic inspiration. But it isn't inspiration the Demmies are after.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Do you suppose they are after a baser source of inspiration—the Hearst "barrel?"

Former United States Senator James Smith still clings to his belief that Grover Cleveland would be the strongest candidate that the Democrats could name for the Presidential office. There may be a question of doubt as to his strength, but it is a fact that his selection would be the best choice that the Democrats could possibly make. There is no disputing the fact that Mr. Cleveland is an exponent of true principles of Democracy and that he is especially qualified to fill the exalted office.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

There will be baptism morning and night at the Park Avenue Baptist church on Sunday. The children's service will be held at night.

Commencing Sunday, City Judge William N. Runyon will take charge of the music at the Park Avenue Baptist church. He will be musical director.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer will speak on "Conscience, the uplifting force in government" before the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Somerville, on Monday night.

The regular communion service will be held at the First Baptist church a week from Sunday, April 10, and the covenant meeting will be held Friday night, April 8. The change is made owing to Easter falling on this Sunday.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, of Watchung avenue, has returned from a trip South, where he went for the benefit of a bronchial affection. His throat is improved, but not sufficiently to allow him to speak at the Good Friday service tonight.

In spite of the inclement weather last night, a large congregation gathered at the East Third Street chapel and were well repaid. The Y. M. C. A. quartette and Messrs. Malin and Barnes, violinist, brought messages in music. Mr. Leggett spoke on "The Old Life and the New." This evening Mr. Leggett will speak on "Calvary."

Many persons who attended the services at the First Baptist church, on Sunday night for the purpose of listening to a talk by Rev. Dr. C. L. Rhoades, of New York, and who failed to put in an appearance, have since wondered what detained the New York minister. The facts have just come to light. Dr. Rhoades gave a talk in the church at the morning service on missions and in the afternoon addressed a Sunday-school in the upper part of New York, intending to return here in time for the night services. On his way down town in New York he reached the ferry just two or three minutes late for his train. The next train left in one hour, and Dr. Rhoades seated himself in the railroad station to wait. Being somewhat fatigued by his many duties, he dropped asleep and thus he remained for an hour and a quarter. He hopes in the near future to be able to give his talk on Russia and will endeavor to catch his train.

Popular Pastime for Easter Sunday.

Travel shoreward is steadily increasing as Easter approaches. It is estimated that no fewer than 90,000 visitors are housed in the hotels at Atlantic City, and preparations are being made for the accommodation of many more on that day. Just what particular feature or advantage Atlantic City may possess, that makes it so desirable as an early spring resort, it is hard to determine, but the fact remains that its popularity is increasing each year. It may be because of its accessibility or because of its hotel accommodations, graded to suit purse or social position, or perhaps it is because of both combined with the really delightful climate which prevails the whole year around. At present the winter's chill in the breakers has no terrors for a score of young men who have taken almost daily plunges in the surf. Somehow their appearance is associated with the belief that they are harbingers of warmer weather and brighter skies, to which the preparations for the Easter festivities give confirmation. The one way to reach Atlantic City is by the popular 3-hour route, or in other words the New Jersey Central. Trains leave New York from foot of Liberty street at 9:40 a. m. and 3:40 p. m.; all are vestibuled and have Buffet Pullman Parlor cars attached.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

SIX FAVORITES WON.

Racing on Bennings Track—Boney Boy Won Steeplechase.

WASHINGTON, April 1. — Heavy rain made the track very sloppy at Bennings, and the going was hard. Six favorites won, Jockey Burns riding a winner in two of the events. The colors of John E. Madden were seen for the first time at the Bennings track this season, he having entries in two of the races.

Shrine made a bold bid to win the first race from Ascension, but only got second place. In the second race Lady Frances appeared the winner at the sixteenth pole, but Lily Brook regained lost ground and won by a head from Incense, who was a head over Lady Frances. Jockey Burns on Melrose, the favorite, won in the third by a length over Preen.

In the fourth Andrew Mack, the favorite, won easily. In the fifth race Peter Paul, the favorite, took the lead at the eighth and was never headed. The steeplechase started with seven horses, but four fell, and the race narrowed down to Boney Boy, the favorite; Agio, almost equally well backed, and Chivington. Boney Boy won easily by twelve lengths.

De Reszke Got the Purse.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 1.—Captain Brown's Derby candidate Auditor was badly beaten in the Montgomery Consolation purse at one mile by the older division. The colt was second in the betting and was heavily played. He was prominent for half the journey, but died away and finished in the ruck. The race was won by De Reszke. Haviland was second and Luralighter third.

Jimmy Farren Knocked Out.

BALTIMORE, April 1.—"Griff" Jones of Philadelphia knocked out Jimmy Farren of this city in the second round of their fifteen round bout last night before the Eureka Athletic and Social club. The fighting was fast and furious from the start, both men taking and giving punishment. A left swing to the jaw put Farren down and out.

Golden Rule Failed to Win.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 1.—Golden Rule was favorite in the best race of the day at six furlongs. He got off well and went to the front, leading all the way until within a dozen strides of the wire, when Barrington caught him and won by a head.

Convict Took Senator's Name.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—Arrested on a charge of having burglar's tools in his possession, Edward Alexander of Taylorville, Ill., concealed his own name and assumed the name of John C. Shumway, a member of the Illinois world's fair commission, a former state senator and a leading citizen of Taylorville. In the criminal court here Alexander, under the name of "John C. Shumway," was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. Then Mr. Shumway began to receive letters of condolence and sympathy and suggestions as to how to secure a pardon, and yesterday he arrived here and identified the prisoner and required that Alexander be sentenced under his rightful name, but the change was not made in the court records, and Alexander, under the name of "John C. Shumway," will be taken to the penitentiary.

A Korean Opera.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 1.—"The Shogun," a new comic opera by George Ade and Gustav Luders, was produced for the first time here last night. An immense first night crowd was present, and the opera proved a pronounced success. The scenes are laid in Korea, and the production is beautifully staged. Mr. Luders' music is pronounced the best he has written, and Mr. Ade's work is immensely funny along wholly legitimate lines. "The Shogun" is the nearest approach to the Gilbertian style of opera the American stage has had in many years.

Operators Made a Surprise Offer.

ALTOONA, Pa., April 1.—The central Pennsylvania coal operators, who have stubbornly insisted on their demand for a 55 cent ton pick mining rate, in the joint scale committee offered the miners a 58.82 cent rate, with proportionate reductions in other mine labor. It came as a surprise and followed closely on the tender of miners to accept the full Indianapolis agreement of 5.55 per cent reduction of the present scale, which tender the operators declined.

Girl Can't Remember Her Home.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—The police are inclined to believe that a girl who was found here and could only remember that her name was Yon Krese and that she was born in New York is being sought for by New York relatives. A long distance telephone call was made by the Simpson-Hendee company of New York asking a detailed description of the girl. The girl says her name is Annie, Fannie or Rene von Krese.

Fatal Explosion on Steamer.

NEWBERN, N. C., April 1.—A telephone message received here says a steam pipe exploded on the steamer Sarah Louise, Captain Mark Fulcher, near Pitch Kettle, up the Neuse river, twenty-two miles from Newbern. One negro named Washington was scalded to death, and another negro jumped overboard and was drowned.

Senate Confirmations.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The senate in executive session confirmed the following nominations: George B. Curtiss to be United States attorney for Northern district of New York; Joseph W. Lee of Maryland to be secretary of legation at Panama; Jacob J. Greenwald to be surveyor of customs for the port of Salt Lake City.

KILLED THE PREFECT

Russians Dispersed Korean Garrison and Killed Chief.

JAPANESE SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Czar's Troops Retired From Chongju In Disorder, Leaving Arms—Commander Narrowly Escaped Capture—Pressing on to Yalu.

LONDON, April 1.—A Seoul dispatch says it is reported that a column of Russians on the march near Anju killed the prefect of Pakchon for not following their instructions.

The Russians are said to have dispersed the Korean garrison of Wiju after divesting the soldiers of their uniforms.

The Japanese cruiser Akitsushima has left Shanghai, the dismantling of the Russian gunboat Mandjur having been completed.

A report from Port Arthur says the proclamation of Lieutenant General Stoessel, commanding there, declaring all the territory lying between and including Port Arthur and Tsichou in a state of siege forbids all unauthorized persons to approach the fortifications and batteries and announces that the sentries have been ordered to shoot any one who fails to obey the order.

Vice Admiral Makaroff in a private cable to Cronstadt says:

"Last night was a very hot one, but we cannot hope for a very quiet time either now or in the near future. I sleep without undressing in order that I may be ready for any emergency. Consequently I cannot observe your advice to take care of myself. Nevertheless I feel splendid.

"The chief credit for the repulse of the torpedo flotilla is due to Lieutenant Krinizki, who commanded the torpedo boat destroyer Silni, a man who knows his business. Through his skill in discharging the torpedo the missile struck the prow of the first ship, deflecting the vessel from its course, and the other Japanese steamships followed in its wake."

Seoul dispatches say that a body of Japanese infantry who were trying to advance north of the Pakchon river in northern Korea were ambushed by Cossacks and fifty-three slain.

After the fight at Chongju the Japanese drove the Russians before them thirteen miles to the Pakchon river. The Russians retired in disorder, leaving many rifles and sabers behind them. General Mishtchenko narrowly escaped capture.

The Japanese main forces are believed to be moving on Wiju and the Yalu river. It is thought the Japanese are now within thirty miles of Wiju.

From Mukden General Mishtchenko reports that the Japanese are continuing their concentration and advancing on their way to Wiju, their advance guard being at Kasan and their outposts ten miles farther north.

It is thought that the Japanese design to throw the Russians off their guard and believe they will do everything in their power to take Port Arthur, because if they fail the Japanese will be reduced solely to a land campaign in Korea.

A dispatch from Port Arthur says that the city is quite changed. The shops are closed, and there is little life on the streets. Port Arthur in the daytime resembles a city of the dead. Then suddenly at night the guns in the batteries begin to roar, and everybody awakes, aroused by the awful noise.

A Seoul report says there is continuous skirmishing of outposts between Pingyang and Wiju and that many Japanese have been killed.

A Korean spy taken at Pingyang has been shot by the Japanese.

TALBOT THREATENED TO FIRE.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 1. — The survivors of the crews of the Variag and Koriets, which were destroyed at Chemulpo, have arrived at Odessa. One of them stated that all the neutral commanders, even the English, signed a protest against the Japanese making an attack in a neutral roadstead. The American commander alone refused to join in this act of international honesty and moral courage. After all the others had helped the wounded cordially the Americans at last sent a doctor. This magnanimity was declined.

When the Japanese signaled to all foreigners to leave the port that they might finish the Russians, the British cruiser Talbot signaled that if the Japanese ships attacked in the inner roadstead it would be compelled to fire on them.

The American embassy here denies these statements and reiterates that the Vicksburg was the first to go to the rescue of the drowning sailors and save them and that, although she was the smallest of the neutral warships, she gave all possible accommodation to the wounded. Her boats were lowered over the side where a collier was lying. Consequently they might not have been seen when they were leaving the Vicksburg.

Big Blaze In Newark, N. J.

NEWARK, N. J., April 1.—The five story department store of the Goerke company, one of the largest in Newark, has been burned. The flames reached close to the great Prudential Life Insurance building, and a general alarm was sent in, calling out every engine in the city.

Former Lord Mayor Dead.

DUBLIN, April 1.—Valentine B. Dillon, twice lord mayor of Dublin, is dead. He attained prominence as solicitor for many leaders of the Irish Land league, including the late Charles Stewart Parnell.

KILLING OF INFANTS.

Dr. Mosier Held to Answer With Clark For Baby's Death.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—Dr. David Mosier, who swore before the coroner that he had seen Mrs. Elizabeth Ashmead burn the bodies of babies in the cellar of her house, 256 South Twelfth street, has been himself held to await the action of the grand jury to answer for the death of an infant. Mosier was arraigned with George Clark, the father of the baby, and both men were recommitted to prison after the hearing.

Clark, it is charged, deposited the body of the child in a sewer, where it was recovered by the authorities.

Detective McKinney testified that he had heard that Nellie Boyd was at 2649 North Fourth street dying from the effects of a surgical operation. He said that Dr. Joseph H. King of 2210 North Tenth street had so informed him. He stated that he got George Clark in the room and asked where the child had been taken, and Clark finally broke down and confessed that he had thrown it into a sewer. McKinney went with Clark to Marshall street and Lehigh avenue and lowered Clark into the sewer. Clark, after diving in the mud, fished out the body.

The testimony of a little woman, pale and so weak that she could hardly stand, was sufficient to warrant holding Mosier and Clark.

The only testimony that brought the audience in the courtroom leaning forward in a listening attitude was given in a whisper by Nellie Boyd.

With her hands covering her eyes, she said: "I was alone with George Clark when the baby was born. I was so sick that I don't remember why George placed the baby on the table. It lived for an hour and a half. Then George wrapped it up and took it away."

"Speak louder," requested the coroner.

"I can't. I am still too weak," the woman replied in a whisper.

At the conclusion of the evidence the coroner's jury held Dr. Mosier responsible for the baby's death and George Clark as an accessory.

Dr. Mosier went into the corridor laughing and joking with Detective McKinney, but Clark, a shriveled, little, middle aged man, was pale with fright when led to the cellroom.

Insane Burglar Makes Restitution.

MERIDEN, Conn., April 1.—T. E. Morgan, whose house was robbed recently, received from New York a package containing all the articles taken by the burglar. No letter accompanied the package, but it bore the wrapper of a New York department store and was apparently shipped from the store. Within the past ten days a number of burglaries have been committed here and in Westfield, Mass., which the police believed to be the work of Arthur Wilcox, who escaped from the insane asylum at Middletown not long ago. Wilcox formerly lived here. He is said to have a relative who is employed in the department store from which the goods were sent and is supposed to be visiting in New York. The New York police have been asked to assist in the search for him.

Igorrotes' Menu Boiled Dog.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—When the members of the Igorrote and other savage tribes of the Philippine Islands arrived at the world's fair several days ago they speedily developed pneumonia and gave those in attendance much worry. Now they are recovering from pneumonia and demand that dogs shall be served them daily as a part of their bill of fare. Not since they left Seattle have they tasted roast or boiled dog, and a formal demand for their favorite food was lodged with M. R. Healy, who looks out for their comfort. Mr. Healy has applied to the city authorities to furnish him with dogs from the dog pound, and permission was granted.

Parker Boom Button In Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The Parker presidential boom is the first to be supported in congress by a campaign button. Representative Fitzgerald of New York has appeared in the house wearing in the lapel of his coat a handsome button on which was photographed the likeness of Judge Parker and a caption declaring his candidacy for the presidency. Mr. Fitzgerald was besieged by many of his Democratic colleagues for buttons and supplied their wants to a limited number.

Record Initiation of 3,100.

CHICAGO, April 1.—An event unprecedented in the annals of fraternal societies occurred here last night at a monster union meeting in the First Regiment armory, when a class of 3,100 candidates was initiated into the Order of the Royal Arcanum. The occasion was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the order in Illinois. Never before, it is said, has such a large number of men been inducted into any fraternal order at one time.

Thornberg Celebrated and Died.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 1.—After contesting his wife's will, which cut him off with $50 and left $50,000 to European relatives, and winning the suit two weeks ago for $25,000, John Thornberg rejoiced to such an extent that he broke his leg and died from blood poisoning. There being no children, the $50,000 estate will go to relatives here and in Europe.

Quigley Got Life Sentence.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—Imprisonment for life was the sentence given Charles J. Quigley in the supreme court for the murder of Abraham A. Camac in a Pawtucket saloon. The defense was insanity in the form of delirium tremens.

SQUIBS EXPLODED.

Nine Lives Lost In Priceburg Factory Disaster.

GIRL THREW SQUIB INTO A STOVE

Fire Followed the Crash, and Many Girls Were Pinned Down by Timbers—Rescuers Could Do Little, Fire Holding Them Back.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 1. — Eight girls and one man lost their lives in an explosion in the Dickson squib factory at Priceburg. Four other girls were badly injured. Two of the girls were blown out of a window, and their mangled bodies were picked up on the street forty feet away. All the members of a family named Callahan, who lived in rooms over the factory, were killed with the exception of the father.

It is said that the explosion was caused by Bessie Lewis, one of the girls who were killed, throwing a squib into a stove.

The squib factory was situated back of the town hall. The building which contained the factory seemed to heave up and was at once enveloped in flames.

Several girls on the lower floor rushed out, their dresses and hair aflame, screaming with agony. Through the flames that licked up the broken timbers of the building could be seen other girls fighting desperately to escape. Some were pinned down under heavy timbers. Citizens of the town rushed to the rescue, but could do little.

In spite of the flames several men rushed into the factory and half dragged, half carried, four girls out. These and two others are the only ones so far as is known who escaped. Hurried calls were sent in for ambulances, and the fire bells were rung, calling out the fire department of the borough.

The flames from the factory spread to other buildings, and in a short time Peterson's double block was afire. The shrieks of the injured and dying in the burning building could be plainly heard by the crowd on the streets.

An hour after the explosion the first bodies were taken from the ruins. They were taken across the street to an undertaker's and covered with blankets. The searchers then re-entered the building, tearing up half burned timbers and flooring in their efforts to extricate the bodies. The ruins of the factory were still steaming and burning as the firemen worked.

Floods Increase In Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 1. — Heavy rains have increased the flood danger in the southwestern part of Indiana. Vincennes, Mount Carmel, New Harmony, Grayville, Princeton, Evansville, Westport and all of Lawrence county, Ill., are suffering from the high water. Westport has been completely abandoned. Hundreds of refugees are living in schoolhouses and barns. Live stock is quartered in haylofts, and railroad traffic is at a standstill. The great fill at Hazleton, which was constructed at a cost of $600,000, has been swept away. The Wabash has risen six inches, and all telegraph and telephone communication is paralyzed. One of the heaviest rains of the year fell here last night.

Held For Military Necessity.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., April 1. —District Judge Stevens has issued a writ of habeas corpus for Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who is being held prisoner by the military at Telluride. The writ is directed to Adjutant General Sherman M. Bell and Captain Bulkeley Wells. The only reason given for the confinement of Moyer is "military necessity." Judge Stevens recently released Moyer on bond, but he was immediately rearrested by the militia.

Copper Kings Pay Fines.

BUTTE, Mont., April 1. — Augustus Heinze, president of the Montana Ore Purchasing company; A. L. Frank, superintendent of the Johnstown, and J. H. Trerise, superintendent of the Rarus mine, paid their fines of $22,000 for violation of the order of the federal court enjoining Heinze and the Amalgamated interests from mining in the Michael Davitt lode claim and were set free.

New Cruiser Failed.

BOSTON, April 1. — The protected cruiser Denver was given a second government speed trial test over the Cape Ann course and again failed to reach her contract requirements of seventeen knots per hour, her average speed being 16.70 knots. Tidal correction may add slightly to the speed and sufficiently, the contractors claim, to bring her speed up to contract.

Received $25,000 For Her Leg.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 1.—Miss Anita Kelly of New York, to whom a jury in the superior court last week awarded damages in the sum of $35,000 against a Santa Barbara hotel company for the loss of a limb in an elevator wreck, has compromised her case, receiving as a settlement $25,000 and payment of all costs of the suit. She sued for $50,000.

Taft Finds No Merit In Case.

WASHINGTON, April 1. — On the ground that he found no merit in the case Secretary Taft has returned to congress with his disapproval the bill providing for the appointment of Major George A. Armes, U. S. A., retired, as a brigadier general on the retired list.

SONGS OF GLADNESS MARKING EASTER DAY

GENERAL CELEBRATION

PROGRAMMES FOR THE SERVICES IN VARIOUS EDIFICES TOMORROW.

Altars and Chancels to be Made Attractive by Floral Displays—The Children to Lift Up Their Voices in Praise.

Joyous Eastertide will be celebrated by all the churches of Plainfield tomorrow. Regardless of sect or denominational difference the houses of worship will resound with music and glow with lights and flowers to mark the ending of the Lenten season.

Practically every one of the local churches will have special musical programmes. In some of them, notably the Episcopal and Roman Catholic, to which the day is especially significant as release from memorial penitence, the musical services will be highly elaborate.

Easter has been celebrated by the church ever since the persecutions of the early ages relaxed enough to permit it. Not only the day itself, but the day following was observed with much pomp. In the Latin church it was a festal week, called the Queen of Festivals, the Royal Day of Days.

Easter is today called by the ritualistic churches the Queen Feast of the Year, "the highest of all feasts," as St. Epiphanius says. Easter always falls on the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after March 21; if the full moons happens upon a Sunday, Easter Day is the Sunday after.

Below is a list of the special programmes arranged by the local churches for tomorrow's observance.

The musical programme for the Easter service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow morning will be, Prelude, Grand Offertoire in D, St. Cecile, Batiste; anthem, "I Will Mention the Loving Kindness of the Lord," Sullivan; response, "They Have Taken Away my Lord," Stainer; offertory, "As it Began to Dawn," Martin; postlude, "Tancred," Rossini.

The programme for the praise service in the evening will be: Prelude, Introduction and Allegro, First Sonata, Guilmant; anthem, "Through the Day Thy Love Hath Spared Us," Naylor; soprano solo, "Hosanna," Granier; response, "God That Madest Earth and Heaven," Naylor; tenor solo, "Come ye Children," Sullivan; offertory, "Awake, Put on Thy Strength," Greenish; postlude, "Norma," Bellini.

The Easter service and anniversary of the First Baptist church Sunday-school will be held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, in addition to a special programme of anthems by the choir in the morning. Howard Case, organist, will have charge of the music to be rendered by the chorus choir. This is the programme for the afternoon:

Prelude, carol, "Joy, for the Saviour is Risen;" invocation, responsive reading, led by assistant superintendent, George F. Brown; anthem, choir; responsive reading, led by assistant superintendent, L. H. Biglow, Jr.; carol, "Easter Morning;" prelude song, prayer, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss; offertory, carol, "Easter Flowers Bloom Again;" address by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Chambliss; carol, "Bright Easter Skies;" benediction, postlude.

A special programme for Easter has been arranged at the Mt. Olive Baptist church for morning and night. The choir under the direction of Richard Randolph, leader, will render anthems, and the chorus will be assisted by a number of voices from the Baptist Young People's Union, trained by Mrs. H. Mitchell. There will also be forty voices from the Junior department of the Sunday-school, under the direction of Miss Maud Breen and Miss Carrie Summersit, pianist The Tony Progressive Mandolin and Guitar Club will render selections, "The Palms," "The Shepherd's Prayer," and "Jerusalem." Pastor Jackson will deliver a sermon on the Resurrection at the morning service. There will be a short address at night, also recitations by the members of the Sunday-school.

The Hope chapel Y. M. A. will meet at the chapel tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the Easter service at the Crescent Avenue church in a body.

There will be five masses in the forenoon at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church. The main celebration will be at 10:30 o'clock, a solemn high mass, with elaborate musical features.

The masses will occur as follows: 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30. The one at 9:30 will be for the children. Father Delahanty will be the celebrant at the masses, with Father Egan as deacon and Father Federici as sub-deacon.

Under the direction of Choirmaster M. J. Cashin, the choir will render a beautiful programme at the main celebration. Miss Mary Smith will be at the organ, and Joseph Sattels will direct an orchestra that is to supplement the other music. The programme:

Processional, Day of Ressurection, by Howard; Vidi Aquam, by Percher; Kyrie, Weber's Mass in G; Gloria, Farmer's in B. flat; Credo, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnes Dei, Doma Novis, by Weber; Hallalujah chorus by Lanbillotte; recessional, Holy God; Cornation March from the Prophet by Meyerbeer. Solo parts are to be rendered by Miss Anna Daly, Miss Day, Joseph O'Keefe and Albert Matthews.

There will be two masses at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, at 8:30 and 10:30 in the morning. The early mass will be sung by the children's choir, in which there are fifty voices. The one at 10:30 will be a solemn high mass. Four priests will take part. A Passionist Father from Hoboken will be the celebrant, Father Tyrrell, of Rahway, will be deacon, Father Brennan, of Trenton, will be sub-deacon and Father Miller, the rector of the church, will be master of ceremonies.

The music will be of a most elaborate nature. There will be ten extra voices in the choir, forty in all, and an orchestra of twelve pieces, directed by Prof. M. A. Korff, will swell the music. Mrs. Alfred Laporte will be at the organ, and James Bailey, the choirmaster, will direct the music. At the solemn high celebration Giorza's first mass in F, an intricate and beautiful composition, will be sung. The choir has been practicing it since Christmas, and splendid effects will be secured in the rendition. The mass abounds in solos, duets, trios and quartettes. Solo work will be done by Mrs. Olmstead, of New York, alto; Miss Justina Smith, soprano; James Bailey, bass, and Alfred Laporte, tenor.

Beginning at 7 o'clock in the morning, with a celebration of the holy communion, there will be six different services at Grace P. E. church. Following the first service there will be another communion at 8:30 o'clock; at 10:30, morning prayer, communion and sermon by the Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector; children's service and carols at 3 o'clock in the afternoon; mission service in the chapel at 4:30 o'clock; and evensong at 8 o'clock, with sermon by Rev. Carl S. Smith, of St. James church, of Washington, D. C.

Special musical programmes will be rendered at the morning prayer service, the children's service and evensong. The music of the children's service will consist of Easter carols, the full choir leading the little ones. The programmes for the other musical services will be as follows:

Morning—Processional, hymn 110, "Come ye faithful raise the Strain," Rex Regrun; Christ our Passover, Minnington; Psalter, Proper Psalms, 2, 57 and 111; Te Deum, Wist in G; Jubilate Deo, King Hall; Credo, Custance in B flat; Introit, anthem, "Come ye Faithful Raise the Anthem," Fisher; Kyrie Eleison, Gloria Tibi, Custance in B flat; hymn 121, "The Strife is O'er," Palistrina; offertory, Resurrection, Shelley; Sursam Corda, Sanctus, Agnes Del, Gloria Excelsis, Custance in B flat; Psalm 117, Minister; recessional, hymn 111, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," Clarion. COUNCILMANIC BODY IN NEW QUARTERS

SELECT THE CALL MEN

JOHN H. M'CULLOUGH IS NAMED AS BOROUGH ELECTRICIAN.

Vote to Borrow $3,000 for the General Fund—Delinquent Taxpayers Property to Be Advertised.

Mayor Smalley announced three new appointments to the call force of the fire department, at the Council meeting last night, to take the place of men who had failed to qualify. They were C. W. Mundy, Edmund Terry and George W. Gaddis. On the question of confirmation Councilmen VanWinkle (Cit.) and Krewson (Cit.) voted nay. Councilman Humble (Cit.) voted with the Republicans.

John H. McCullough was named as borough electrician and Walter Smalley as special marshal. They were confirmed without a dissenting vote.

Councilman VanArsdale, for the police committee, reported the following statistics for March: 15 arrests; 4 suspended sentences; 7 sentences; 4 fines; $18 collected in fines.

Chairman Arnold, of the street committee, reported that the contracts for the year's supplies of flag stone and roadway stone had been let. $81 has been expended in cleaning up the streets and $74 in clearing away ice and snow. The committee was authorized to go on with the street cleaning work.

It was voted to borrow $3,000 for the general expense fund. The collector was authorized to advertise the property of delinquent tax-payers.

The meeting was held in the new chambers. There was some shifting in the seats, Councilmen Krewson and Humble being placed on the same side. Councilman VanWinkle is on the opposite side of the chamber. The Mayor's chair faces the body as it did in the old house, and Clerk Rowley's desk is in the same relative position. The "gallery" is also in the same relative position, facing the Mayor. The room is about the same size as the old one.

ISAAC P. BROWN HAS PASSED AWAY

Plainfield Nonagenarian Dies From Old Age at His Home in Watchung Avenue.

MANY YEARS A MASON

CONTRACTOR WHO BUILT SECTION OF OLD MORRIS AND ESSEX RAILWAY.

Retired for Many Years—An Odd Fellow and Member of Asbestos Club, Now Known as Plainfield Club.

Isaac P. Brown died at his home on Watchung avenue early this morning aged ninety two years.

He is survived by two sons, Isaac P. Brown, with whom he lived, and Warren S. Brown, of New York. The funeral will be held from the house Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Interment will take place in the family plot at Union.

Mr. Brown came to Plainfield forty years ago, after a successful career as a contractor and builder. He started in business early in life in Newark and became one of the biggest contractors in his line. Among his notable pieces of work was the laying of ninety miles of the D. L. and R. R. system, then the Morris and Essex R. R.

He was born near Woodbridge, of Revolutionary stock. He left home to earn his own living at fourteen, and rapidly advanced himself. By the time he was fifty-two he was ready to retire from business, and came to Plainfield to live.

He was said to be the oldest Free Mason in the State at the time of his death. He joined the order in 1846, and was a member of St. John's Lodge, Newark. At one time he was a member of the Grand Lodge. He was an Odd Fellow and a member of the Asbestos Club.

ESTIMATE ON APPROPRIATION

PROBABLE SUMS THAT WILL BE NEEDED FOR MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENTS.

It is not definitely known just what the tax rate for the coming year will be, but the Finance Committee of the Common Council is hoping that there will be no material increase. The street committee will ask for about $52,000, an apparent increase of $1,000. But as the street sprinkling is paid for out of this sum, it is really a decrease.

The police, it is said, will ask for $18,500, a reduction of about $400. There is likely to be a slight increase for lights, possibly a total appropriation of $13,500. The poor department will probably ask for $5,700, a decrease of $300. It is said that the hydrant appropriation of about $4,500 will be put in the general fund of the fire department, which will probably be in the neighborhood of $40,000 or $45,000.

The tax ordinance will probably be introduced at Monday's Council meeting.

P. H. S. CELEBRATION.

Easter Exercises Take Place Before Schools Close for Easter Vacation.

Brief and simple Easter exercises were held at the Plainfield High School yesterday. In closing a cantata, "The Risen King," by P. A. Schnecker, was presented by a chorus and trio consisting of Miss M. Neuman, Miss Mae Bathelor and Miss Mary Collier. The alto solo part was taken by Miss Collier.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY.

After the choir rehearsal at Trinity church last night, a surprise party was sprung on Miss Clara Martin and her brother, Horace Martin, Jr., by their fellow-members of the choir. Yesterday was Miss Martin's birthday and today is that of her brother.

The affair took place in the church parlor. The principal feature was a "cobweb sociable." At the end of her "strand" Miss Martin found a handsomely decorated cup and saucer. Mr. Martin and the others who followed the web to its ends found things that reminded them it was April 1.

BOROUGH PURCHASES WEST END'S HOSE CART

Former Volunteer Firemen Want $600 for Vehicle, But $350 is Agreed Upon.

TO BE PUT IN SERVICE

COUNCIL ORDERS THE OLD HOSE COMPANY'S HOUSE CLOSED.

Formal Acceptance of Price for Hose Wagon to be Given at Next Meeting of Borough Fathers—Only One Negative Vote.

Arrangements for the purchase of the hose cart owned by the West End Hose Company, for the use of the new paid department, were made by the Borough Council at its April meeting last night. The price to be paid is $350.

No opposition whatever was made to the purchase, and preliminaries attendant on the deal were quickly consummated. A committee from the former hose company, headed by Charles Keller, was present at the meeting to make the offer of the cart to the Council. After the matter had been brought up, the Council took a five minute recess to have the hose company committee meet the fire committee for formal arrangement of the matter. Within three minutes everything was satisfactorily decided. The company had originally asked for something like $600, the first cost of the cart, but the committee made no effort to insist on this price. After brief discussion the former volunteers told the fire committee that they were authorized to accept an offer of $350, and this price the councilmanic committee agreed to proffer.

When the Council re-convened Mr. Lee, of the committee, immediately moved that the company be offered the sum agreed on. The resolution went through promptly. At the next meeting the formal acceptance of the offer is expected to come in from the company, and a warrant for the money will be ordered drawn. The cart will be put in the new engine house today.

In connection with this matter, it was moved to close the West End fire house. The new house is to be opened today, and there is no further need of the Harrison street house. Councilman Krewson (Cit.) voted against the resolution. Councilmen Humble and VanWinkle (Cits.) voted with the administration, the latter explaining afterwards that while he felt a house was needed in that section he could see no sense in keeping the present on open if there were no men to put in it.

SIMILAR TO BRYAN'S SUIT

MR. MARSH OBTAINS FINAL DECREE TODAY IN SIMILAR SUIT.

The will case of Harry Connett against William D. Beers in which final decree was signed today presents many features similar to the case lost by W. J. Bryan in which he claimed a legacy of $50,000. As in the Bryan case, where the will referred to a letter containing the bequest, so in the Connett case, the will of Caroline D. Coriell, of this city, attempted to give away a lot of diamonds, watches and other jewelry by stating that the testatrix would leave a sealed letter for her executors directing to whom the property should go.

The case was argued for the executors by Craig A. Marsh, Esq., in the Court of Chancery at Trenton. Mr. Marsh insisted that the letter was void as testamentary disposition of the property because the letter was not in existence at the time the will was executed, and because to sustain the letter as a part of the will would be to enable a man to make and alter his will at pleasure by writing letters without witnesses or other imperative formalities. This line of argument was sustained by Vice Chancellor Stevens. This point that the letter was not a valid part of the will was decided before the decision in Mr. Bryan's case.

MRS. HANNAH A. POPE DEAD

WIDOW OF ELIAS R. POPE PASSES AWAY SHORTLY BEFORE NOON.

After five weeks' illness, Mrs. Hannah A. Pope, widow of Elias R. Pope, the old-time Republican political leader in this city, died this morning at 11 o'clock, at an advanced age.

She is survived by two sons, F. A. Pope, at whose house on Park avenue she died; and Edward Pope, also a resident here. Arrangements for the funeral will be made public on Monday.

Mrs. Pope was known to a large circle of Plainfielders. She was a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. Her maiden name was Hannah Allen and she was born in Shiloh, this State.

Her husband, who has been dead about ten years, was one of the noted politicians of the State, and was a close friend of the late Senator Sewell. He as wealthy, and owned valuable real estate and banking holdings. He was interested in insurance and in the old gas company.

Mr. Pope was postmaster here for eight years and the leader of his party at a time when leadership called for skill of the highest character. At one time he represented this county in the Legislature.

BOSSES MEET JOURNEYMEN

PAINTERS GET TOGETHER, BUT STRIKE IS STILL ON.

There was a conference between the bass painters and the striking journeymen at the rooms of the Master Painters' Association last night. An amicable discussion of the whole situation was held, both sides seeking to see whereon the other based its stand. No change in the situation resulted from the conference, but further developments are expected this afternoon.

The strikers were represented by a committee of six, headed by H. A. Moulton, the president of the union. The men left the conference after promising to report to their union this afternoon and carry its decision back to the Masters at another conference later in the day.

The lad is in jail and the girl is home again.

PLAINFIELDERS UNITE IN MEMORIAL SERVICE

STIRRING ADDRESSES

UNION MEETING IN THE CRESCENT AVENUE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Seven Pastors Dwell on the Words From the Cross:—Inspiring Music Adds to the Impressive Scene—The Lesson.

Deeply impressive was the Union Good Friday service at the Crescent Avenue church last night. Nearly all of the Protestant churches in the city were represented at the service by their pastors, whose "Meditations on Words from the Cross" were listened to by a large gathering.

Beginning the services were the opening sentences and the general confession, followed by the Lord's prayer and responsive reading from Psalm XXII. The "Gloria" and an anthem were rendered by the Crescent Avenue church's regular quartette. While the offering for the Children's Home was being made towards the close of the services, a soprano solo was rendered by Miss Grace Carroll. Mr. Drake was organist.

The lesson of the night, Luke XXIII, 27-46, was read by Rev. John McMurray, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. Hymns sung were "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" and "When I Survey the Wonderous Cross."

Christ's words uttered from the cross were given simple and eloquent explanation. The first word was spoken by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, who detailed with power the meaning of Christ's prayer, "Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do." The forgiving love of the Master and His constant prayer for His enemies were given as a lesson to men.

Rev. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, had for his text Christ's word to the thief who was crucified at His side, "Verily, I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise." Christ's nearness to all mankind was the burden of Mr. Zelie's remarks.

Christ's love for His mother and the consistency of His love for her with His relations to God were explained by Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, whose text was the third word, "Behold thy Son; behold thy mother."

The mystery of the words, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" and their power to show the great price paid for the redemption from sin were shown by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church.

After the singing of the hymn, "O Sacred Heart Now Wounded," Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, revealed the humanness of Christ's utterance, "I thirst." From the associates of Christ throughout His life and on the cross, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace P. E. church, drew the lesson that the work of churches and Christian men should likewise be among the lowly; that the best thing that could happen to the church would be for it to lose its "eminent respectability."

The closing word, "Father, into they hands I commend my spirit," was spoken by Rev. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church. A quotation from Rowland Hill, "But this I do find, that we too are so joined that He will not be in glory and leave me behind," expressed much of Mr. Chambliss's idea. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Other Girl," which holds the record for success of all of Augustus Thomas' plays ever presented in the city, is now moving along triumphantly at the New Empire Theatre, New York city, towards the 150th performance. It is drawing capacity audiences and it will probably reach the end of its season at this house with this record of big business still the same. None of Mr. Thomas' other comedies yielded the abundant laughter which "The Other Girl" provokes and none has been so thoroughly satisfactory in the completeness of its characterizations or the thoroughly amusing quality of its situations. The fun is entirely New Yorky, of a sort which the theatregoers of the Metropolis readily appreciate and thoroughly understand. The acting of the piece is of a very high standard as Charles Frohman has put into it a remarkable cast which includes the great comedy sextette Lionel Barrymore, Joseph Wheelock, Jr., Richard Bennett, Frank Worthing, and Elsie and Drina DeWolfe.

"The Wizard of Oz" is at home again at the Majestic Theatre, New York city, rejuvenated and as interestingly funny as ever. Opening night a packed house welcomed back the "Scarecrow" and "Tin Woodman," Fred Stone and Dave Montgomery, Anna Laughlin, Bessie Wynn, Lotta Faust and all the other favorites, with a heartiness that drew tears to the artists' eyes. New York Herald says: "'The Wizard of Oz'" returned to the Majestic as popular as ever and the 'Scarecrow,' 'The Tin Woodman,' 'Trixie,' 'Dorothy,' the Lion and Cowrene renewed their old time hits. Talk about receptions: The most exacting grand opera singer could not expect bigger ovations than were tendered the favorites."

Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger have arranged for Wright Lorimer to make his production of "The Shepherd King" at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, Easter Monday, April 4. Contracts had previously been signed for the New York Theatre, but after the rehearsals had started, and the scenery had been placed on the stage of the New York for inspection, Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger decided, on account of the unusual excellence of the play and production, that the attraction should be transferred to the Knickerbocker Theatre. Such a procedure as this, before a play has been produced, is something very unusual, and it presages a brilliant success for Mr. Lorimer.

Souvenir Portrait of Pope Pius X.

With Sunday's New York World will be presented a portrait of Pope Pius X. This will be a separate sheet, beautifully painted, and in every way suitable for framing. It is the first portrait painted of His Holiness, and, besides its value from an art standpoint, is accompanied by a message to Americans from the Pope through the Sunday World. Among the other features will be a page of Easter girls by well-known artists, and the most beautiful Easter brides; an Interview by Proxy—something new—in which Kate Carew and Senator Smoot figure; New York churches and their Easter decorations; the loss of Explorer Hubbard in the wilds of Labrador; the great Flood fight, described by John L. Sullivan; Mrs. Astor's new $200,000 gymnasium; a sensational book on divorce, etc., etc.

Residential Changes.

Additional changes in residence recently, include these: M. C. Whitall, from 223 to 322 East Fifth street; Mrs. J. H. Kenyon, from 138 Crescent avenue to 237 East Ninth street; John V. Beekman, from 243 East Third street, to 29 Elm place; A. H. W. VanArsdale, from 432 East Sixth street to 436 West Fifth street; C. McDonough, from Codington avenue to 36 Fairview avenue; Percy W. Vail, from Elm place to Watchung avenue.

CLAIM LAND FIGHT

Russians Report Victory Over Japanese at Chongju.

BISHOP SAYS "EVERYTHING IS WAR"

Japanese Accept the Inevitable and Meet It With Samurai Fortitude. Another Attack on Port Arthur by Admiral Togo Reported.

LONDON, April 2.—Advices from St. Petersburg say the following semiofficial dispatch has been received from Liaoyang:

"In the first encounter with the Japanese in northern Korea, which was crowned with victory for the Russian arms, the enemy's losses were ten times those of the Russian. The Japanese lost fifty men, while 120 wounded were removed from the field with the help of 500 Koreans to the headquarters of the Japanese main force.

"The confusion of the Japanese was so great that they hoisted two Red Cross flags in token of surrender. Throughout their war with China the Japanese never showed themselves so distracted.

"The troops here are in high spirits over the news of this first brilliant fight in Korea."

Port Arthur reports say that after the entire squadron left the harbor for the Miactas islands the cruiser Novik sighted a steamer towing a Chinese junk. She would not stop until the torpedo boat Vrimaniny fired two shots. It was the Japanese steamer Hanien Maru, on board which were found ten Japanese and eleven Chinamen, various papers, telegrams and maps and two Whitehead torpedoes. The crew was taken on board the Russian ships, after which the vessel was taken in tow and subsequently sunk. The Novik and accompanying torpedo boats rejoined the squadron, which returned to Port Arthur.

The anniversary of the Russian occupation of Port Arthur was celebrated with a religious service and a military review.

The men killed on board the torpedo boat destroyer Silni during the Japanese last attempt to block the port were buried at Port Arthur with all honors.

Bishop David H. Moore at Fukuoda, Japan, in a message says:

"I have advised the getting of women and children down from Pingyang at once, that the men there and elsewhere in Korea stay by the mission property and native Christians as long as the United States minister remains in Seoul and that the missionaries of all the churches fix and agree upon a general policy to be followed during these troubles.

"Everything here is war. The people soberly realize what they have been forced to undertake and are meeting the issue with old samurai fortitude."

Bishop Moore has had supervision of all missions of the Methodist Episcopal church in eastern Asia for the last four years. He witnessed the naval battle at Chemulpo.

A dispatch from Tokyo says Vice Admiral Togo made another attack on Port Arthur during the night of March 30-31.

The dispatch adds that the attack was for the purpose of taking soundings and ascertaining the effects of the last attempt to bottle up the Russian fleet.

ODELL AND PLATT.

In Conference They Discussed Selection of State Convention Officers.

NEW YORK, April 2. — Governor Odell and Senator Platt have had a conference at the Fifth Avenue hotel, the time being devoted largely to a discussion of the selection of the officers of the Republican state convention to be held here on April 12.

"The matter will be settled when I return from Washington on Friday," said Senator Platt after the close of the conference. The senator also declared that William Barnes, Jr., the chairman of the executive committee of the Republican state committee, would not retire.

Governor Odell said that the chairman of the state convention and the delegates from New York to the national convention had been agreed upon, but that the names would not be made public for the present. It is generally regarded as certain that J. Sloat Fassett will be the permanent chairman and M. Linn Bruce the temporary chairman of the state convention. The governor also said that neither John McCullagh nor George R. Manchester would succeed George W. Morgan as state superintendent of elections.

Joke on His Holiness In Bad Taste.

ROME, April 2.—The apocryphal plot against the life of the pope which was reported a few days ago and promptly ridiculed by the Vatican authorities had a sequel in an ill timed April fool story published by an insignificant newspaper to the effect that two anarchists who intended to make an attempt on the pope's life had been arrested at a door of the Vatican with bombs in their possession. The Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ, most indignantly contradicts the story and points out the bad taste of such a joke.

Murdered His Benefactors.

ST. LOUIS, April 2. — William E. Church, who was arrested in Philadelphia and brought here to answer the charge of having murdered Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Yeater, his benefactors, at Warrenton, Mo., has confessed to the police that he committed the double crime just because he felt impelled to. "I just went up to their room and killed them while they were asleep," he said. The couple had adopted him when he was a baby.

LEAPED INTO SPACE

S. J. Haydon, a Suicide, Fell Twenty-one Stories.

EVERY BONE IN HIS BODY BROKEN

Calmly Climbing Out of Window, He Pushed Himself Off Seven Inch Ledge—No Cause Assigned For Self Destruction.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Calmly climbing out of a window on the top floor of the twenty-one story skyscraper which has entrances at 42 Broadway, Sydney Johnson Haydon, about forty-five years old, who lived at the Hotel Bailey, late yesterday afternoon pushed himself out from his seat on the ledge on the New street front and leaped into space. His body struck the sidewalk 250 feet below. Every bone was broken.

It was shortly after 4 o'clock when Haydon took the terrible plunge, and in the street there were a number of persons passing to and fro. The body struck just beside a little newsboy, who, like others who witnessed the desperate act, stood rooted with horror. The little fellow recovered first, however, and ran to Policeman Gray of the Old Slip station, who called an ambulance.

Haydon, dressed as a prosperous business man, entered the building from Broadway about 4 o'clock and went direct to the elevator. He asked directions of none and went at once to the top floor. Although the offices are unoccupied, the elevator man thought that the man he had just taken up was a prospective tenant come to look at his office.

Despite the fact that Haydon was so far above the street several persons in the street saw him climb through a window on the New street side. With some difficulty apparently, for he was a heavy man, he drew his body up and his feet after him as he sat on the ledge, which is about seven inches wide.

An umbrella which he had carried he left on the window ledge and then, with his hands behind him, pushed himself from his dizzying seat. As he began to fall his head dropped backward, and in its swift descent the body turned several times.

When Dr. Gould arrived from the Hudson Street hospital he found the body terribly mangled. He said he believed that every bone in the body had been broken and that it was possible that Haydon was dead before he struck the concrete paving. The body was carried into the building until it was removed to the police station.

None knew who the suicide was until a search of his clothing brought to light a card bearing his name and a Washington square address.

No cause is given for the self destruction.

A $700,000 COTTON DEAL.

Hawley Called on to Tell of His Cotton Transactions With Sully.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Edwin Hawley, the powerful railroad magnate, and Frank H. Ray, director in all of the tobacco trust companies, were called before United States Commissioner Alexander to tell what connection they had, if any, with the cotton pools of Daniel J. Sully & Co., in which $700,000 changed hands.

In one matter the hearing was notable as bringing together many of the leading lawyers of the city. Elihu Root, ex-secretary of war, was on hand to represent the receivers of the ex-cotton king; David H. Miller and Henry W. Taft, who secured the order from Judge Holt of the United States district court for the examination of Hawley and Ray.

John W. Boothby and Assistant United States District Attorney Ernest E. Baldwin represented the interest of the Cotton Exchange creditors of the Sully firm. Joseph Auerbach of the law firm of Davies, Stone & Auerbach represented both Hawley and Ray. John R. Dos Passos looked after Mr. Sully's interests.

In bringing Hawley and Ray into court for examination the receivers desire information concerning certain entries found in the Sully books. The creditors want to find some one to hold financially responsible for a part of Sully's indebtedness.

Hawley claimed he had no partnership with Sully, transactions being as between broker and dealer.

Operators and Miners Agree.

ALTOONA, Pa., April 2.—After a week's stubborn fight the operators and miners have agreed on the scale to be paid in the central Pennsylvania field for one year. The basis of the settlement is for 62 cents for the gross pick mined ton, which proposition was offered by the miners' members of the joint scale committee. It is a reduction of 6.08 per cent from last year's rate of 66 cents for a gross ton. The same reduction affects the machine cutters, loaders and scrapers. All other labor, both inside and outside the mines, will receive the independents' cut of 5.55 per cent.

Al Adams Wants Release on Parole.

Plainfield, N. J., April. 2, 1904.

Where he is personally concerned, Bryan appears to place "the dollar before the man."

It is quite evident that some people want to throw cold water on Miles' ambitions to make a hot campaign for the Presidency by booming him for a Prohibition nomination.

Elizabeth Foresters attending a meeting of their lodge last night were rewarded by receiving trading stamps. Now, what objection can a woman raise to her husband's desire to attend lodge meetings?

It is announced that "President Roosevelt will again occupy offices over James Moore's grocery store in Oyster Bay this coming summer." That grocer is a lucky business man. —Paterson Daily Press.

B. F. Odell, Jr., his successor as Governor of New York, had some dealings with a grocery and yet no one thought him lucky.

Twenty years ago W. B. R. Mason purchased the Bound Brook Chronicle. In an editorial comment this week he recounts the many improvements which have taken place in that municipality during the last two decades, but modestly refrains from directing attention to the fact that The Chronicle has improved steadily during the same period and is today unsurpassed in Somerset county as a well conducted weekly.

After having made a fight of several months' duration in behalf of the sage of Princeton, the New York World acknowledges that former President Cleveland cannot possibly secure the Democratic nomination. At the same time it is evident that the boomlet launched in his favor for gubernatorial honors in New Jersey by Senator Smith has also fallen flat. The foremost Jerseyman will thus continue to be left to his lectures and his ducks —Elizabeth Times.

And after John Moody has gotten rid of the idea that he can land the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee by pitching into Grover Cleveland and other great men of the party through the medium of his patent plate daily, he may retire with the knowledge that William Randolph Hearst will not be allowed to lead the Democratic forces so long as there are sound minded men left in the party of Thomas Jefferson and Samuel Tilden.

The casual observer, who walks through the retail districts of New York during the holiday season, can scarcely fail to be impressed with the almost phenomenal difference in the amount of business done in the various stores. He will notice that one store seems to be constantly crowded with customers, that the salespeople are working to the limit of their endurance, and that the delivery wagons are kept busy night and day distributing the goods sold. In another store in the same block, perhaps next door, he will observe that there is, practically, "nothing doing." This store is quite as attractive as the other; it handles the same lines and qualities of goods, and perhaps they come from the same manufactories. The prices are equally low, and the clerks are courteous and attentive. But there is a much smaller staff of salespeople employed, and even during the holiday rush they are not kept busy. Why is there such a remarkable difference? I have taken the trouble to investigate the problem, and have made careful observations in a dozen or more cases. I have invariably found that the merchants who were doing the business were good advertisers, and that the ones who were apparently receiving but little benefit from the holiday trade made no use of printer's ink.—William Boreodi in The Retailer and Advertiser.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The prospects of the Dunellen baseball team are very bright for this season. The new field is now being plowed, harrowed and rolled, and plans for a grandstand are under way. The season will open on the 7th of May. The following games have already been scheduled: May 7th, Somerville A. C. on the home grounds; May 21st, with the High Bridge, at High Bridge; May 30th, two games with the Williamsburg A. A., of New York, on home grounds, and July 2nd, with the Central R. R. team, of Philadelphia, also on home grounds. Manager Smith is trying to schedule games with teams from the following places: Hopewell, Flemington and Clinton.

Archie Brakeley, of Princeton, is spending his Easter vacation with his parents.

The infant son of Fred Rule is quite sick.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. F. Sofield is the guest of Mrs. Fred Nelson, of Bound Brook.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The spring trade in real estate, especially in the renting line, has not been very heavy. The principal reason for this is there is not enough rentable houses in town to meet the demand. Real Estate Dealer Thomas M. Paff, Sr., has a steady demand for houses to rent from $10 to $15 per month. A few houses with all improvements in them could be rented at even a higher figure.

The trenches that were dug last fall in making house connections with the water mains, are proving to be dangerous spots in the gutters through the village. The frost coming out of the ground leaves the covering of the trenches a regular quagmire for horses. Many of the dangerous places have been marked by barrels placed over them or poles driven into the ground.

Many friends attended the funeral services of the late James Riley, held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's R. C. church, Stony Hill. The little church was filled with the neighbors and friends who had known the deceased for years. Father Chandler, rector of the church, officiated. Interment was made in the St. Mary's cemetery.

Special Easter services will be held tomorrow in all the local churches. Services will be held at the usual hours. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the Baptist Sunday-school holds a special service in the auditorium of the church. A pleasing programme has been arranged. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The plan of having a ball team under the colors of the Suburban Club, this season, will probably be dropped, as the members do not care to launch a semi-professional team in the field and with baseball fever at the height it has been for several seasons past amateur baseball does not pay.

Rev. Mr. Coons, the newly-appointed pastor of the Methodist church, begins his duties tomorrow. Mr. Coons will no doubt receive a warm greeting from his parishioners and a most successful year's work is looked forward to.

The public school will not have an Easter vacation this year, as many of the other schools will, but the scholars will probably have the pleasure of holding their commencement exercises somewhat earlier than their neighbors.

The annual parish meeting of the Baptist church will be held in the parlors of the church on Monday night at 8 o'clock. The annual election of trustees will be held and other church business transacted.

The local coal dealers will no doubt meet the cut made by dealers in neighboring towns and coal will probably be cut fifty cents on a ton at least.

The baseball club holds a meeting Monday night. Final arrangements will be completed for starting the local baseball boom for the season of '04.

Frank D. Warren and family, who have been spending the winter in Plainfield, have returned to their home in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglass and family, who have been residents of the borough for the past five years, removed Friday to Plainfield.

The storm yesterday was anything but pleasant for the residents who were making their annual change of residence.

The regular monthly communion will be held at the close of the morning service at the Baptist church tomorrow.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

T. C. Laing was summoned to the sick bed of his sister, Mrs. Charles F. Breece, of Metuchen, Thursday evening. Mrs. Breece died shortly before Mr. Laing's arrival. Mrs. Breece was taken ill with pleuro-pneumonia last week about the time of the death of her father, Abel Laing, and was detained from the funeral. She leaves a husband and two sons in her immediate family.

Easter observances will be the order of the day tomorrow at the Baptist church. At the morning service the pastor will give a Bible exposition of the "Resurrection as a Fact." The evening sermon subject will be: "Easter Odors." Good music.

Miss Helen Boice, of New Market, is being entertained by Miss Nellie B. Manning.

Miss Luella Derby, of Perth Amboy, is visiting Miss Mabelle Cubberley.

Mr. Aerens is somewhat improved from a severe attack of grip.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The prize choristers at Grace church for February were Raymond Manley and Mrs. Theodore Mantz.

Bishop Scarborough will be present to administer the rite of confirmation at Grace church on Sunday morning, May 22.

The infant department of Grace church Sunday-school will hold special Easter exercises in the class-room on Sunday afternoon, April 10, at 3:15.

Considerable success has attended the Lenten sewing class at Grace church. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Streuli, on April 6.

There will be a celebration of the Lord's Supper tomorrow morning at 10:30 at Warren chapel. The Sunday-school will join in a union service at the Crescent Avenue church in the afternoon.

Rev. George Mooney, the new pastor of Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will preach at both the morning and evening services tomorrow. Special music by the male quartette at the evening service.

On account of the weather, the sociable of the Willing Workers, of Trinity Reformed church, which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. R. V. Kenny, of Somerset street, Thursday night, was indefinitely postponed. A date for it will probably be set by the Workers at a meeting to morrow afternoon

Rev. William Walter Smith, M. D., of New York, has been secured to give six lectures before the Sunday-schools of Grace church and Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The first lecture will be held in the Guild room on Monday night, April 11, and those interested in Sunday-school work are invited.

Election of officers was the principal business transacted at the meeting of the officers and teachers of the First M. E. church Sunday-school, held last night in Vincent chapel. This was the result: Superintendent, James R. Joy; assistants, George M. Rittenhouse, Harry Gee and Miss Ida Angleman; secretary, William D. Pike; treasurer, Arthur E. Crone.

OHIO WATERS RISE

St. Mary's Reservoir Threatens Dire Disaster.

PEOPLE HAVE BEEN WARNED TO FLEE

Large Force of Men at Work Trying to Save the Big Dam on the Celina Side—Tracks Under Water For Ten Miles.

CLEVELAND, O., April 2.—A dispatch from Celina, O., says the great reservoir at St. Mary's is breaking. Residents are fleeing for their lives.

The water in Lake Mercer has risen ten inches and is still rising. The west end of the county is flooded. The lake is the highest it has been in twenty years. Railroad service has been cut off.

The apprehension that has been felt regarding the banks of the Grand reservoir has increased, as the water continues rising, but the greatest danger is believed to exist on account of the high wind, which is continually getting stronger. The gale is from the west and is driving the water against the east bank around St. Mary's, where the bank has already been weakened. A very large force was put at work trying to save the locks at the bulkhead. St. Mary's is at the east end of the reservoir and Celina at the west end. Flood signals have been given not only around the reservoir, but also to people along the canal, to be ready to vacate. The St. Mary's river has broken its record, doing much damage to the railroads and other property.

A very large force of men is also at work on the dam on the Celina side of the reservoir. The exodus of people from the reservoir district is very large on account of the high winds, which make the waters surge along the banks. These people know that if there is a break at any point a great calamity will follow. The superintendent of the canal notified the people occupying houses on the south side of the Lake Erie and Western railroad in this city to vacate at once. The railways also have large forces of men bracing their culverts against the dashing waters. Besides the gangs of workmen hundreds are engaged as watchmen and patrolmen, ready to give warning in case of a break.

A report from Alliance says the Cleveland and Pittsburg tracks of the Pennsylvania company are under water for ten miles south, while all trains are lost hereabout. The New York limited, eastbound, is stalled at Wooster, while another passenger train started around to Pittsburg via Cleveland has been lost track of.

The Mahoning river is the highest ever known and still rising. Washouts clear to Canton have put the tracks in such shape that railroad men say it will be days before trains can run. The big Pennsylvania bridge here, on which men have been working for a year, went down into twenty feet of water into the Mahoning river.

A Canton (O.) special says train service into that city has been practically suspended. There has been no mail service for twenty-four hours. There are washouts on all sides of the city. Ralph Edelman, thirteen years old, was drowned in East creek, and his body, which was carried away by the swift current, has not been recovered.

Half the City Under Water.

FINDLAY, O., April 2.—The most destructive flood in the history of Hancock county is sweeping down the Blanchard river and overrunning its banks for over a mile. The high water mark has been reached, and the water is still rising. Main street for nearly a mile is a running stream. Nearly half the city is covered with water, and hundreds of families are homeless. The courthouse is partially surrounded, the water covering the sidewalks. The rural districts are suffering great loss. A large number of cattle has been swept away and many farmers compelled to leave their homes. Thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise in the flooded basements on Main and adjoining streets has been destroyed.

Indiana Floods Subsiding.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 2.—While the flood situation throughout southwestern Indiana has considerably improved the heavy rains have almost duplicated the flood stages of last week throughout central Indiana. White river, near this city, has risen thirteen feet above the low water mark and is still rising. Manufacturing interests and many homes in the river district are menaced. At Portland only three or four business houses are above water, and at Delphi the Wabash railroad is washed away in two places. The suburbs of Alexandria are threatened by the high water, and the inhabitants have abandoned their homes. Rockville is isolated. At Marion, Muncie and Newcastle the situation is almost as bad as last week.

Black Lake Bridge In Danger.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., April 2.—Ice piling up against the new three span bridge half a mile in length across Black lake has moved the structure on its piers. There is great danger of its toppling into the lake. In all the northern streams the water is the highest in years. Many dams and bridges have been carried away, and in several villages people along the banks are vacating their houses. The Oswegatchie river is flowing six feet above the dam here.

Pennsylvania Loan of $50,000,000.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Subscribers to the $50,000,000 loan negotiated by the Pennsylvania company through Kuhn, Loeb & Co. a few weeks ago have paid their subscriptions in full.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

AMERICAN NURSES.

Dr. McGee and Assistants Who Will Serve In Japanese Army.

During the war with Spain the Daughters of the American Revolution, through Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee, their surgeon general, offered to the United States government a corps of trained women nurses for service in army hospitals. This would release for active fighting a corresponding number of enlisted men.

The offer was accepted. Dr. McGee, who lived in Washington, was appointed examining surgeon to pronounce on the qualifications of the women who volunteered for army work. To give the stamp of authority to her she was made a regular acting assistant surgeon of the United States army, being the first woman to hold such a post in the army of any country. From first to last several thousand trained women nurses passed under her eye. She organized an actual working corps of 2,000 of these, a number of whom accompanied our armies to Cuba, to Porto Rico and the Philippines and did service unsurpassed in the hospitals among both sick and wounded. For one, Miss Alice Kemmer of Indiana received special honorable mention for work in the Philippines. From the Philippines she accompanied the army to China during the Boxer uprising of 1900 and there, too, distinguished herself.

The experiment of women army nurses was so satisfactory that it resulted in the appointment of a permanent corps of such nurses for the regular military establishment. These are well paid, receiving $50 a month and residence quarters. They have a month's furlough every year.

At the close of the Spanish-American war and the subsequent Filipino insurrection many of the army nurses, being no longer needed, were mustered out. Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee herself retired to private life and took up once more the sociological and scientific studies in which both herself and her husband are interested.

When the probability of war between Japan and Russia became almost a certainty Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee resolved to gather a number of her experienced Spanish-American women war nurses and offer the services of them and herself to the Japanese government. It was a most humane move, as well as for the Japanese an enlightening one. They did not have women army nurses, although there is a Japanese Red Cross organization. Dr. McGee made her offer to the mikado through the Japanese minister at Washington and then went to St. Louis to attend the annual meeting of the American Association For the Advancement of Science. As one of its vice presidents she had charge of the department of anthropology.

DR. ANITA NEWCOMB M'GEE.

The war came. Minister Takahira notified Dr. McGee that the mikado had accepted with thanks the offer of a corps of trained American women war nurses for service in his army hospitals. Then began the hustle of preparation. The beginning was to select the nurses. There is a Spanish-American war nurses' association, and the members of this of course had first choice. One of the first to be selected was Miss Alice Kemmer. Another was Miss Stack of Washington. Miss Stack is so well up in her profession that the government appointed her to teach army hospital corps men their duties. She has been for some time an instructor in the hospital corps school in Washington. She is an expert in diet for the sick. Both Miss Kemmer and Miss Stack are illustrations of the fact that it pays a woman to know how to do something thoroughly and with enthusiasm. Women are proving that they are of use in war as in peace.

The headquarters of the American women nurses will be at Osaka, Japan, but they will go wherever they are needed in Korea or Manchuria. There will be work enough and more than enough for all who can go. The number is limited by the fund subscribed to maintain them, for the whole enterprise is a volunteer affair, supported by the contributions of American women and some men. No pay is attached to the work. After the ladies reach Japan the government of that country will give them supplies and transportation, but no wages.

Dr. McGee herself is an example of that remarkable feminine American versatility which too often results in the mere scattering and wasting of noble natural endowments. In her case, however, this is not the result. She is the daughter of the famous astronomer Professor Simon Newcomb. She has taken courses of instruction in Newnham college, Cambridge, England, and in the University of Geneva, Switzerland. Her medical education was obtained at the Columbian university and at Johns Hopkins.

MARY EDITH DAY.

CHIEF ENGINEER A SUICIDE.

Lieutenant Commander Warburton of the Maine Shot Himself.

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 2.—Lieutenant Commander Edgar Townsend Warburton, chief engineer of the battleship Maine, now in this harbor, has committed suicide in his cabin on board that vessel. A bullet from a 38 caliber revolver was sent through his brain, and death resulted within forty minutes afterward. The executive officer of the ship was passing the door of Commander Warburton's cabin when he was startled by the report of a revolver within.

The bullet after passing through the brain came through the door and struck the rail of the ship, barely missing the executive officer. The latter notified the other officers, and the door of the commander's cabin was forced open. He was lying on the floor in a pool of blood, and the revolver was grasped in his right hand. The surgeon of the ship endeavored to stop the flow of blood without result. The flagship was signaled, and the fleet surgeon responded, but the commander expired shortly after his arrival.

No cause is known for the officer committing the rash act. He appeared to be in the best of health and spirits and within a few weeks would have been assigned to shore liberty. Many of the officers expressed the belief that death was the result of an accident and that the commander did not commit suicide. Commander Warburton had been with the Maine since that vessel was placed in commission. He was formerly on the Indiana.

The body will be shipped to Philadelphia, where his wife resides.

VICTORY IN TIBET.

England Viewed by Russia In a More Friendly Spirit.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 2.—Although no official expression regarding the victory of the British expedition to Tibet is obtainable here, it is certain that the matter will not attract the attention which it would have before the outbreak of the war with Japan, when Russian interest in the results of the expedition was very keen. The real purposes of the expedition were then viewed with the gravest suspicion, it being feared that a definite establishment of British influence over the grand lama of Lassa, which was regarded as the object, would be a severe blow to Russian prestige both in Tibet and in China.

The situation is now changed, because Russia's hands are at present too full to leave her free to act even if so disposed, and secondly—perhaps of even more importance—because there are now increasing indications that better relations between Great Britain and Russia are in sight, or at least there is an increasing desire for such relations by both countries.

It is said that Great Britain's long standing desire to obtain a protectorate over Tibet is in a fair way to succeed, as neither Russia nor China will object. An entente between Russia and Great Britain could be effected on the basis of a Russian free hand in Manchuria and a British free hand in Tibet.

IMPEACHMENT OF SWAYNE.

Resolution Will Be Called Up For Consideration Thursday Next.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Post says an agreement has been reached whereby the resolution to impeach Judge Charles Swayne of the Northern district of Florida will be called up for consideration in the house next Thursday. The time is satisfactory to Mr. Palmer of Pennsylvania, who prepared the majority report of the judiciary committee in favor of impeachment, and also to Mr. Gillett of California, who prepared the chief minority report against impeachment. Speaker Cannon has agreed to Thursday for consideration of the resolution.

An attempt will be made by some of the leaders in the house to have the matter recommitted to the judiciary committee, thus avoiding at this session a vote on the merits of the case. What they contend is ample justification for this course has been found in the alleged fact that the testimony as published by the committee is not complete. The charge is made that important papers and affidavits have been withheld from the house, and it will be insisted that before the house is asked to vote on the resolution it has a right to the information that was before the committee when it agreed, by a vote of 8 to 5, to report a resolution favoring the impeachment of Judge Swayne.

Insurance Men Charged With Fraud.

BOSTON, April 2.—Charges of fraud while insolvent have been made in the bankruptcy court when Dexter F. Bennett and Dana W. Bennett, insurance agents at Cambridge, were petitioned into bankruptcy by creditors. The creditors allege that on Dec. 2 last, while insolvent, Dexter F. Bennett transferred $7,500 to the London and Lancaster Fire Insurance company of England and the Orient Fire Insurance company of Hartford, Conn., for the purpose of defrauding the creditors.

Death From Scratch of Rose Thorn.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., April 2.—Mrs. Francis Dannbacher is dead here of blood poisoning. A few days ago, while celebrating her seventy-first birthday, she received a bouquet of roses and scratched her finger on a thorn. Blood poisoning followed.

Offered $500 to Leave.

GREEN BAY, Wis., April 2.—William B. Hanson, the leading witness for the state in the prosecution of Contractor E. T. Webster for alleged bribery, has testified that Webster last week offered $500 if Hanson would leave the state.

POISON CANDY TRIAL.

Prisoner Takes the Stand In Her Own Defense.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Mrs. Cordelia Botkin was called as the first witness at the poison candy trial in her own defense for the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning. She denied all incriminating evidence given against her by witnesses for the state.

Mrs. Botkin told at length of her relations with John H. Dunning, whom she said she first met in Golden Gate Park and assisted financially. She said he also received $800 from Mrs. Corbaly. She said she was in Humboldt county on June 17, 1897, the date of the postmark on an anonymous letter mailed to Mr. Dunning from San Francisco. She denied that she wrote the letter and also denied the statements concerning her movements in the testimony of Miss Lizzie Livernash. She had never inquired regarding the effects of poisons and had never contemplated suicide. She denied purchasing the handkerchief found in the box of poisoned candy. She said she had never in her life been in the store of Haas & Son, where the candy is alleged to have been bought.

HANDICAP TO TOMCOD.

Honors Were Well Divided on Bennings Track.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Honors were pretty well divided at the Bennings track, two favorites, two second choices and two outsiders winning. Paul Clifford, the favorite in the fifth race, won his third victory of the meeting, with Jockey Burns up. Burns also rode Scotch Thistle, the winner in the last race.

Burns was suspended for four days for disobedience at the post in the fifth race. Attendance good, weather fine and track deep in mud.

Tomcod, a second choice, won the three-year-old handicap by a head over Monte Carlo, the favorite. Allen Avon, the favorite in the second, won by a half length in a field of three.

Tugal Bey, at 8 to 1, won the third, and Firstborn, at 15 to 1, took the fourth, the favorite finishing in the ruck. Paul Clifford took the fifth easily by three lengths, while the sixth went to Scotch Thistle, a second choice.

Giants' Victorious Tour.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 2.—The Giants shifted the scene of action on their southern exhibition campaign from Little Rock to the Tennessee metropolis and there beat the local team 17 to 9. The regular league battlefield was still under several feet of water, making it necessary for the contestants to line up at the college grounds. Manager Fisher of the local tribe of baseballists has a strong team for this season's Southern league pennant race, and after the close call the Giants had at Little Rock "our own" McGraw, chief of the Gothamites, sent McGinnity to pitch and appealed to his men to get busy early in the game. "Come on, boys," said "Little Mac," with his customary snappiness, "let's get right at these fellows and make a killing."

Conjurer Did the Trick.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 2.—Captain S. S. Brown's Derby candidate, Conjurer, after a brilliant burst of speed won the Turnverein purse, at a mile and seventy yards, from Safety Light. Batts, the outsider, got away from the post to a flying start, and it looked as if he might run away with the purse, but making the turn for home Safety Light challenged him and looked to be winning, Conjurer, however, gave a fine exhibition of gameness and under a vigorous ride by Lyne crept up to Safety Light and dashed under the wire, winning by a full length.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Floriana Belle, quoted in some books at 100 to 1, took the last race at Oakland. There was a quiet play on the filly, her price being 50 to 1 when the field went to the post. She got away well and at once went to the front. Ebony passed her before the stretch was reached, but he tired and stumbled, losing much ground. Floriana Belle hung on gamely and won by a neck from The Bugaboo.

Every Winner Played.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 2.—Every winning horse at Ascot park was played, some of them heavily. Three favorites were successful—Jim Hale, Discus and Ned Damsel. The other winners were Kylo II., Hilona and Winnifrede. Jockey Lawrence rode three winners and one place horse.

Tigers Downed Leaguers.

RICHMOND, Va., April 2.—The Philadelphia American leaguers were defeated here by the Princeton university nine. The Tigers played a brilliant game. Score: Athletics, 3; Princeton, 5.

Yale Won In Snappy Game.

NORFOLK, Va., April 2.—Yale defeated Lafayette here by a score of 5 to 1. Both teams played a clean, snappy game, the work of the batteries being particularly strong.

Cornell Defeated Sailors.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 2.—Cornell defeated the navy baseball team here by a score of 6 runs to 2. Needham was unsteady and allowed the visitors thirteen hits.

Premature Blast Cost Five Lives.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 2.—By the premature explosion of a blast at the Southern Quarry company at Fabers, twenty-three miles south of this city, four men were blown to atoms and two were injured. Friction in loading an eighteen foot breast hole in concrete rock caused the accident. The company's president, L. G. Johnson of Washington, has dropped dead.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

On the Whole, Business Compares Unfavorably With Last Year.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Much deferred Easter business was transacted during the last few days, and some sections report satisfactory results, but at many points the weather is not yet normal, and, on the whole, the season's trade thus far compares unfavorably with last year's volume. Manufacturing returns continue conflicting, iron and steel plants gaining ground, footwear exhibiting the natural reaction from an unprecedented production in 1903, while textile mills have much idle machinery and little forward business to encourage operation. Lumber and building materials are in better demand, although floods at the west and labor troubles at the east retarded structural work to some extent.

Further progress in the right direction is reported in the iron and steel industry. Pig iron is in better demand, quotations for Bessemer advancing slightly, and the outlook for sufficient supplies of coke has improved owing to less traffic congestion and more prompt transportation from the ovens to the furnaces.

Increased activity and somewhat firmer quotations in western hide markets resulted from more interest on the part of tanners, one concern alone taking 75,000 hides. On the other hand, leather is dull and neglected, with notable ease in belting butts, while the recent activity in harness leather has subsided. Wholesale trade in boots and shoes has expanded, and New England shops are receiving urgent calls for quick delivery.

Bank exchanges show another large loss. Total exchanges this week at all leading cities of the United States are $1,658,864,461, a loss of 23.2 per cent compared with last year. The loss is particularly large at New York, Pittsburg, Cleveland and Louisville.

Commercial failures this week in the United States, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., are 208 against 226 last week, 229 the preceding week and 173 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 16 against 15 last week. Of failures this week in the United States 81 were in the east, 61 south, 53 west and 13 in the Pacific states, and 60 report liabilities of $5,000 or more. Liabilities of commercial failures reported for March are $13,770,595 against $10,458,000 last year.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORERS.

Captain of the Discovery Interviewed at Christchurch, New Zealand.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, April 2.—On the arrival of the Lyttleton antarctic expedition here Captain R. F. Scott, R. N., of the Discovery on being introduced said: "The winter of 1903 passed pleasantly, and the members of the expedition enjoyed much greater comfort than in 1902. Sledging operations began in September under very severe conditions owing to extremely low temperature, which frequently fell below 60 degrees. In November one party reached a point 160 geographical miles southeast of the ship.

"There was no trace of land, and evidence was obtained showing that this was a vast floating ice plain.

"Captain Scott, with another party, made two excursions westward in October over a glacier. They gained the summit Oct. 11 and crossed the magnetic meridian Oct. 20 in longitude 155½ east. Proceeding still westward the party reached a point 270 miles from the ship in latitude 78, south longitude 146½ east. The interior of South Victoria is evidently a vast continental plateau stretching continuously for 9,000 feet. The glacier valley affords magnificent scenery and gives a natural geological section of the mountains.

"In the middle of December the party attempted to cut a canal through the ice, which was from seven to eight feet thick, but the effort was futile owing to constant refreezing, and the party desisted. The open water was then seventeen miles from the ship.

"We arrived at Auckland island March 15 with only ten tons of coal in our bunkers. The Terra Nova and the Morning joined us March 20, after experiencing terrible weather. The shortage of coal alone compelled our early return."

Panama Railway Men Strike.

PANAMA, April 2.—The railroad laborers threaten to strike today unless the company accepts their demands, the principal one being an increase of wages from $2.20 to $3. The railroad company claims it will be unable to accede to the demands until the canal commissioners arrive here Tuesday next. President Amador has returned to Panama from his country residence in order to make an effort to settle the dispute. Much is expected from his popularity. The government has taken the necessary precautions to prevent disorder and protect the company's property.

Earthquake at Manzanillo.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2. — The steamer Newport, which has arrived here, brought news of an earthquake at Manzanillo. A number of buildings were shaken down, but the greatest damage was done to the new big breakwater that is being built there by the Mexican government for the improvement of the harbor. Much of it that had been built has sunk from sight, and the loss will be considerable.

Pacific Squadron at Panama.

DIAMOND DUST.

John Gormley, who has signed to play for the Alis Club as a fielder and change catcher this season, will also play Sunday games with St. John's Baseball Club, of Jersey City. He has a brother, James, who will also play on the Jersey City team.

The date of the Y. M. C. A. baseball meeting has been changed from Tuesday, April 5, to Monday, April 4. All the candidates are expected to show up for the purpose of electing a captain and completing arrangements for the benefit entertainment to be given Thursday, April 21.

A delegation from Scotch Plains, interested in the baseball team in that town visited the baseball management of the Alis Club on Wednesday night in an endeavor to arrange a series of games. A proposition was made and will be reported at a meeting to be held at Scotch Plains Monday night. The Alis management has about completed its schedule for the season.

William B. Marcell has been elected exalted ruler of Newark Lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Further arrangements are completed for the State convention of Foresters, to be held in New Brunswick on May 10. Between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock there will be a street parade, and it is believed that over 250 delegates will be in line. The parade will begin on Livingston avenue and will march through the principal streets of the city, after which it will go to Shortridge's assembly rooms, where the dinner will be served, which will be followed by speaking. It is not known as yet who will make the addresses, but in all probability they will be delivered by several members of the local courts, together with a number of the visiting guests. Union Band, of New Brunswick, has been engaged for the affair.

STATE FEDERATION'S STORY BY MRS. HALL

Tells Position General Organization Occupies in Relation to Individual Clubs.

GOOD WORK IS DONE

OBJECTS FOR WHICH THE FEDERATION IS NOW MAKING ITS BEST EFFORTS.

Remarkable Increase in the Number of Clubs—Ninety-Six Separate Societies Represented in the General Body.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, the distinguished daughter of a distinguished mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, takes a deep interest in everything that pertains to the advancement of woman intellectually and politically. The following extracts from an article written by her for the Newark Evening News entitled "The State Federation and Its Relation to the Literary Club," will be of interest to her friends here:

"Of what use is the State Federation, with its humanitarian programmes, to my club, which occupies itself with the study of literature? This question is asked in all sincerity by some club women, and they would be much surprised if one should answer: 'Were it not for the State Federtion half the clubs in New Jersey, perhaps your own club, might never have come into existence.' These doubting sisters are looking at the subject from one side only. They know that a certain number of societies joined together and formed the State organization in 1894. But they fail to realize the impetus which the federation gave to the formation of new clubs.

"A brief glance at the history of the movement will suffice to show the force of the impetus. In 1889 there were very few women's clubs in out State—less than twenty, so far as is known. In that year the general (that is, National, now International) Federation was formed, with Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Brown, of East Orange, as its first president. Mrs. Brown took up her work with an energy and enthusiasm that influenced the country at large and had their due effect over New Jersey. She also created the office of chairman of correspondence in the various States of the Union, the present writer having had the honor to be the first occupant of this position in New Jersey. Under the stimulus of these agencies the clubs of our State increased rapidly in number. An analysis of the year book shows us that thirty-four were founded during the five years from January 1, 1890, to January 1, 1895. While the general federation thus had an undoubted effect on the formation of new societies, it was found that many hesitated to join so large an organization, whose meetings were often held in distant parts of the United States. Hence it seemed desirable to Mrs. Brown, to the chairman of correspondence for the State (the present writer), and to others to form a closer and more neighborly band in the shape of the State federation. A call was accordingly issued by the Woman's Club of Orange, signed also by the above named ladies, and the New Jersey State Federation was organized in the autumn of 1894.

"Mrs. Margaret Yardley, of Orange, the first president, devoted much time, strength and energy to the work under her charge; many clubs joined the State organization, and new ones were formed. Referring again to the year book we find that between January 1, 1895 (three months after the formation of the State Federation), and October 30, 1902, forty-nine clubs were founded! That is to say, of the ninety-six clubs belonging to this body at the last-named date, thirteen were formed between 1872 and the end of 1889 (the year of the formation of the General Federation); thirty-four between that date and January 1, 1895 (the approximate date of the establishment of the State Federation), and forty-nine between January 1, 1895, and October 30, 1902. Thus we see that they have more than doubled in number since the State organization was created. It would probably be unfair to claim that this great increase was due entirely to the existence of the State Federation, or that the earlier growth was caused wholly by the establishment of the national body. Nevertheless, the figures show clearly that both these bodies were of great assistance in promoting the organization of new clubs.

"The objects for which our State body is now striving ought to interest every woman in New Jersey. A reformatory for women, the George Junior Republic for the reformation of wayward boys and girls, the inspection of our factories by women, the preservation of our forests, the clearing and purifying of our city street, water supply, etc. all these things appeal directly to us. And as we have no political power, the State Federation gives us a practical opportunity which we should otherwise lack for helping in these good works."

IN COMMEMORATION OF THE RESURRECTION

GOOD MUSIC A FEATURE

GENERAL OBSERVANCE OF THE DAY BY VARIOUS DENOMINATIONS.

Sunday-School Exercises Particularly Attractive—Addresses at the Several Services—A Big Gathering of Presbyterians.

All the Easter celebration was confined to the churches yesterday. The weather refused to have anything to do with the occasion. A cold northerly wind, that sometimes reached the strength of a miniature gale, whistled up and down the streets, and made mock of the hardy who appeared in spring attire. There was plenty of sunshine, however, and the church parade was large, if not as showy as an ideal spring day would have made it. All the churches were crowded, both morning and evening.

The stranger and the occasional worshipper were out in full force, attracted by the special musical programmes. All of the large churches, and most of the smaller ones, had the latter feature. Flowers in profusion decorated altars and platforms, with the ever-popular and time-honored lily in evidences everywhere.

The ritualistic churches had special services. Several of the other churches held Sunday-school celebrations, with elaborate exercises and programmes. The Episcopal churches held carol services for the children.

Easter exercises were held at the First M. E. church both morning and night, including anthems by the chorus choir, with solos by Mrs. Thomas MacDonald and Charles L. Lewis. The pastor, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, delivered sermons appropriate to the day. There was an elaborate display of flowers, palms and Easter lilies.

The Sunday-school held special exercises in the afternoon in Vincent chapel, which were in charge of Superintendent J. R. Joy. There was a service entitled "The Resurrection," in which all the classes took part. In addition there was an exercise by the primary department. Nelson A. Miller conducted the musical part of the service, and assisting were Robert Davis, cornet; Alvah Davis, trombone; A. H. Derby, double bass; R. Wilson Derby, violin. Miss Gertrude Sharp presided at the piano and Mrs. Thomas MacDonald sang soprano solos. Many of the flowers used in the church were also used in decorating the chapel.

The Easter services at the First Baptist church yesterday morning, consisted of anthems by the chorus choir, with solos by Miss Luella C. Harris, soprano; Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; George Smith, tenor, and William Holmes, baritone. The pulpit platform was decorated with a large collection of beautiful flowers, palms and lilies. Assisting in the services were Miss Florence Wolfert, violin and Mrs. B. T. Barnes, piano. Howard Case presided at the organ.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the Sunday-school held special exercises and observed its anniversary. The school sang carols, the choir rendered anthems and there was an offertory selection, organ, piano and violin, and the primary department sang an Easter carol. The offering was for the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. A feature was a short address by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, who did not fail to interest both old and young in a brief talk on the significance of the Resurrection. The Scripture readings were conducted by Assistant Superintendents George F. Brown and L. H. Biglow, Jr.

The programme as published previously was followed at the Park Avenue Baptist church, yesterday. At the morning, as well as night services, there were several candidates baptized by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Finn, and the latter also delivered appropriate sermons. In the morning several anthems were rendered by the chorus choir. At night the children's services were held. In addition to the singing of carols there was a selection by the women of the church and school, recitation, "He is not Dead," Adelbert VanBrakle; dialogue, "The Choir of Spring," Walter Cuming and Mabel Stutsman; recitation, "A Basket of Flowers," Edith Lowry; exercise by Juniors, "A Legend of the Cross."

The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants, palms and flowers, all arranged about the pulpit platform. The chorus choir was in charge of William N. Runyon, and D. E. Davis presided at the organ.

In addition to the above there was a vocal duet by Marjorie Brown and Lillian Cuming, an exercise by Arline Brown, Marjorie Brown, Autumn DeLany, Edith Lyons, Lillian Cuming, Isabelle VanBrakle and Eleanor Stutsman. The stringed orchestra was under the direction of G. W. V. Moy.

At the morning services these persons were baptized: Miss Edith Lyons, Stewart Freeman, Howard Freeman and Edgar Freeman. Those baptized at night were Walter VanWinkle, Gordon Moy, Miss Mildred Odam, Miss Ethel VanWinkle, Miss Autumn DeLany, Miss Isabelle VanBrakle, Miss Mabel Kise and Oliver Ulmer.

The church pulpit was prettily decorated with Easter lilies, flowers, palms and ferns. Mrs. W. S. Lowry was chairman of Easter programme committee. The school met in Sunday-school room and marched into the church in a body. G. E. Hall furnished a pretty Easter souvenir for entire school.

Special musical services at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning and evening attracted large gatherings. Rev. Charles E. Herring preached in the morning on the subject, "Touch Me Not," and in the evening on "Over Against Bethany." The regular church quartette were soloists.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning, a collection especially offered to meet the indebtedness of the past year netted $830.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, appropriate Easter exercises were held by the Sunday-school. Recitations were given by May Woolston, Lucile Ewart, Hazel Hyatt, Iola Schenck, Gladys Edsall, Louis Bullman and Horace Adams, from the primary department. "The Life the Light of Man" was the title of the general exercise presented. Superintendent Cave had general charge of the exercises and Miss Grace P. Williams, superintendent of the primary department, conducted the work of that branch. Pamphlets descriptive of missionary work, "The Dawn of Light in Many Lands," were presented the members of the school. A collection for mission purposes was made. Rev. C. E. Herring gave an address.

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie conducted an Easter service yesterday morning at the Crescent Avenue church. There were special musical programmes morning and evening, a praise service being held in the evening. The church was beautifully decorated.

Elaborate Easter exercises were held by the Sunday-school of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon and attended by the schools of Hope, Warren and Bethel chapels.

Rev. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, extended the pastor's greeting and George A. Strong the superintendent's. "Hail Him" was sung by the entire school, following which Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, led in responsive reading. Psalm XXI was repeated by pastor and school. Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, read the Bible lesson, and "Christ Has Risen" was sung by the school.

"Ring Glad Bells," a hymn sung by the school, was followed by prayer offered by Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel. The members of the Crescent Avenue church primary department sang "Awake, Awake, O Sleeping Earth." The Beatitudes were read responsively with Supt. H. C. Squier, of Hope chapel, leading.

After the school had sung "Sing Praise," Rev. J. S. Zelie gave the address of the afternoon, following with a prayer. Other hymns were sung, prayer by the school was led by F. H. Andrews and the benediction pronounced by Mr. Zelie.

There were 400 members of Hope chapel's Sunday-school present including a delegation of fifty from the Hope Y. M. A.

Exercises were held at noon yesterday by the Unitarian Sunday-school, to mark the Easter celebration.

Carols formed the main feature of the programme. There was a recitation by Hope Sperry in addition, and an Easter talk by the pastor, Rev. A. C. Nickerson. Each child was presented with a blooming plant. Supt. E. B. Smith was in charge of the exercises.

There was a special musical programme at the regular church service, before the Sunday-school observance. Mrs. Guy Bender and Alex. Van Oss rendered the solo parts. Stephen Haff, the organist, was at the organ.

Combining the regular evening service and the school meeting in one, the Congregational church held an elaborate and notable Easter celebration for its Sunday-school yesterday afternoon. The programme included primary class exercises, carols by the school, instrumental solos and a talk by the Rev. C. E. Goodrich, the pastor.

The chief feature of the primary numbers was an exercise entitled the "Little Gardeners," in which three groups, representing the diggers, the sowers and the gleaners, took part. The children in the exercise included Leslie Allen, Francis Baker, Colin Millard, Russell Tomlinson, Walter Glaentzer, Carter Goodrich, George Lund, Joseph Mattison, Harold Tomlinson, Irving VanAlstyne, Roy M. Wyckoff, Edward Voorhees, Donald Updike, Clark Mundy, Thelma Curtis, Nina Clubertson, Edna Mundy, Helen Weseman. Thelma Curtis rendered a recitation and Helen Weseman, a tot, sang a solo.

Kenneth Shupp played trombone solos and W. Paulding De Nike rendered 'cello selections. Ralph Lane, of Holy Cross church choir, sang.

Miss Mary E. Robinson, the superintendent of the department, was in charge of the primary exercises.

The special Easter service and music at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning brought out a large congregation. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck preached a strong sermon on the subject, "An Easter Message," taking for his text, "If a man die, shall he live again?" The Easter music was rendered by the chorus choir and these soloists: Miss Florence Bennett and Miss Edith Mooney, sopranos; Miss Harriett Randall, alto; E. Young and Horace Martin, Jr., tenors, and Bertram F. Tallamy and Horace Martin, Sr., bassos.

The children's Easter exercises at Trinity Reformed church last night were largely attended. The primary children, drilled by their superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Tier, had the largest part in the programme and acquitted themselves well.

"Victory," an exercise, was presented by ten children of the primary department, Clifford Cole, Harold Storr, Elsie Tier, Helen Roberts, Rosamund Rogers, Helen Wooley, Lillie Smith, Edith Richards, Margaret VanDeventer and Edna Oliver. Other exercises were "The Gifts of Spring" in which parts were taken by Lulu Trewin, Mildred Premer, Clara Lee, Anna Vail, Ella Porter and Beatrice Tier; "Easter Hens" given by Mifford Macfee, Arthur Compton, Jocelyn Meade, Raymond Cutter, Jack Rogers, Harold Williams, Eddie Wearren; "God's Garden," given by Ada Smith, E. Fritz and Maud Macfee.

Recitations from members of the primary department were: "Life Is the Song," Gretchen VanZandt; "An Easter Crown," Adelaide Cole; "A Living Christ," Marion Blair; "A Robin in the Tree Tops," Adelaide Fritz; "The Message of the Lilies," Helen Wooley; "An Easter Bonnet," Elsie Tier; "A Song of Easter," Helen Leitheusser; "The Dear Easter Story," Ralph Martin; "God Wants Us to be Glad," Emily Ryno; "The Lily's Sermon," Edson Day.

An exercise was presented by these members of the junior department: Ida VanArsdale, Russell Abbott, Janette Neil, Cora Gano, Bertha Hoagland, Annette Wilson, Howard Debele and Gertrude Enander. Several selections were heartily sung by the entire school, led by W. H. Leek, who had drilled the school for several weeks. Miss Hazel Martin, piano; Mrs. G. W. Saums, violin; Elmer P. Wheeler, flute, and E. D. Young, cornet, formed a stringed orchestra that was very much enjoyed.

The church was very prettily decorated for yesterday's Easter services, the flower committee of which Mrs. J. C. VanDyke is chairman, having charge of the work.

The Easter services at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday morning, included special music by a chorus choir, under the direction of David E. Titsworth, chorister, and Miss Jessie Utter, organist. There was a beautiful display of flowers. Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor, delivered a sermon on the topic, "The Glory of Christian Inheritance, through Christ's Resurrection."

Appropriate Easter services were held yesterday at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, Watchung. In the afternoon, Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, of Park avenue, made an address, and there were exercises by the school. In the evening Rev. George Bowers conducted the services. The decorations consisted of flowers and palms. A violin trio assisted in the services.

Special Easter services were held at Monore Avenue church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Sunday-school. Walter M. McGee, the superintendent, was in charge. WESTFIELD'S TEAM READY FOR SEASON

Manager Denman Announces the List of Players and Partial Schedule.

PAST PERFORMANCES

OPENING GAME THIS YEAR TO TAKE PLACE APRIL 23.

The Seventh Regiment Aggregation Their Opponents in Initial Match—Many Old Faces on Union County Champion Ball Nine.

Next to the interest in what is going on in local baseball circles the cranks turn to the developments at Westfield. Five years ago ball in this section was as dead as a door nail. Westfield got together in the spirit of good and clean exhibitions and in 1900 opened their Recreation Park, then an open lot, with a fairly good outfit which included "Matty" McIntyre, "Neily" Collins, "Doc" Doyle, and George Bolsterle. They opened the way nicely, came out ahead in games won and made money enough to improve their grounds.

In 1901 they bettered their team, securing VanZant, Mallen, Beck, Pollard, Burke and other semi-professionals. That year closed better than the previous and with money to the good to further improve their grounds. 1902 found the team still the best attraction in Union County until late in the season Scotch Plains started with no great pretentions but closed brilliantly. That year Westfield made a standing with Plainfield people by reason of the memorable consolidated-Westfield series which was nip and tuck ball and good enough for any body. Last year Westfield launched thoroughly up-to-date. It's seven acre plot without tree or stump, as flat as a billiard table, enclosed and with field thoroughly grained, ample grand stand and bleacher capacity, plenty of carriage room and a full view for every spectator made the arrangements better than the average big league ground. The team was selected for winning purposes, there was no changing of players unless demanded by men going higher up and with such tried and true players as Capt. Mallen, Jack Burke, Tommy Barry and Harry Jones, the team work was invariably clock work in its action.

It is now only a question of waiting for April 23 to see the Westfield team start off in its old time form. The men were signed weeks ago and are: Burke, catcher; Waller, pitcher; Smithson, short-stop; Carey, first base; Stallings, second base; Barry, third base; McManus, left field; Goldberg, center field and Capt. Mallen, right.

Of this bunch Stallings is the only man who has not had Westfield experience. Last year he was with Madison and the Baysides and is as good an infielder with a heavy bat swing as there is hereabouts. The opening will be April 23 against the Seventh Regiment team. Last year's opening was against this team and it took ten innings for Westfield to win out 6 to 5. Burch, of last year's team and later with Poughkeepsie, will be with Westfield in its first games.

Other games are April 30 with Chatham, which team defeated the Orange A. C. twice last year. May Nat. Strong's Murray Hills have a try This team is practically the Orange team of last year. On May 21, the first of the Aeolian series is on, the other dates being June 18, July 16, August 20 and September 5 a. m. The series with Alis opens here July 4 a. m., followed by July 23 and September 10 at Westfield and August 13 here. If the fifth game is necessary it will be decided later as to grounds.

Manager Denman is out with the statement that he wants the Union County championship earned and is ready and willing to meet any and all teams within the county.

A Shakespearian Production.

It has been definitely decided to give "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino on the evenings of Thursday, May 5, and Saturday, May 7. The sale of seats will begin Wednesday evening of this week at 6 o'clock at Armstrong's Pharmacy, Park and North avenues.

CONGREGATION GREETS THEIR NEW PASTOR

Rev. George Mooney Preaches His First Sermon at the Monroe Ave. M. E. Church.

FAVORABLE IMPRESSION

REV. JOHN M'MURRAY WITH HIS JERSEY CITY FLOCK.

Former Plainfield Pastor Receives Hearty Welcome From His New Congregation at the Brown Memorial Church Yesterday.

Rev. George Mooney, the new pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, made his first appearance in his new pulpit yesterday. He was greeted by large congregations, and produced a highly favorable impression.

Mr. Mooney was in charge of both services, morning and evening, and spoke to the Sunday-school in the afternoon. The church was crowded with worshippers at each service, and the new pastor was listened to with close attention. He charmed the congregations with his style of delivery and phrase, and all the worshippers who commented on him expressed a warm pleasure over the discourses.

He is deliberate in delivery, with a pleasing pulpit presence. He used few notes, but his discourse flowed on as smoothly as if read from manuscript.

In the course of his morning sermon he struck a personal note, expressing his pleasure over his new appointment in happy phrase. "I expect that we, as pastor and people," he said, "will become fast friends."

Mr. Mooney was warmly greeted by the church people after each service. It was the first time that the great majority had seen him.

While his successor was introducing himself to the pastorate here, Rev. John McMurray performed the first formal acts of ministry at his new church, the Brown Memorial, in Jersey City. He was cordially welcomed.

Mr. McMurray preached two Easter sermons. He made only brief personal reference, but took occasion to express his pleasure at being with his new flock. The church was filled at both services, and Mr. McMurray's arm was sore from the hearty handshaking to which he responded yesterday.

But the soreness was a source of pleasure when he thought of it this morning. When a Daily Press reporter spoke to him he appeared to be extremely happy in the remembrance of the cordial greetings that had been extended to him.

"It is a fine field," he said. "I am very well pleased with it."

Mr. McMurray and his family will not move from here to their new home until Thursday. On the afternoon of the same day his successor at Monroe will move into the Monroe Avenue parsonage.

To the Public.

"It is the desire of the members of Local Union 480, Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, that the public be enlightened in reference to the difficulty now existing between our Local Union and the Master Painters' Association. Some time ago under the same circumstances the boss painters claimed that they were not given time in which to consider the demands of our Union, but this time they were notified January 1, 1904, that on and after April 1, 1904, the rate of wages for members of this Union would be 41 cents per hour, 44 hours to constitute a week's work. But since April 1, Local Union 480, has offered to compromise with the Master Painters' Association for $3 per eight hour day, and 48 hours to constitute a week's work. The advance for which we are asking is 25 cents per day, not a half dollar. And we would ask: Why should the painters be the lowest paid mechanics in the building trades which we are today? And we further desire to say that the inference that Brother H. A. Moulton is the recognized leader of the strike is not true, neither have we any so called leader; neither do we need one. And we intend to prove ourselves gentlemen with the assistance of the public at large without any leader whatever.

"Respectfully submitted,
"A. V. Springer,
"Recording Secretary.
"Per order of Local Union 480."

PRESENT OF FATHER'S PORTRAIT TO CHURCH

Alexander Titsworth Gives Handsome Work in Oil of the Late John Titsworth.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CONGREGATION LARGELY ATTENDED.

Officers Are Elected for the Year and Encouraging Reports Were Read—David E. Titsworth Acts as Chairman.

The feature of the sixty-sixth annual church meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist church of Christ, held yesterday afternoon and last night, was the presentation to the church by Alexander Titsworth of a fine old oil painting portrait of his father, John Titsworth, who was one of the constituent members of the church and for many years prominent in its work. Mr. Titsworth presented the picture with a few impressive words and it was received with appreciation by Chairman Titsworth, for the church. The portrait will occupy a prominent position in the church together with those of others received some time ago.

David E. Titsworth was chairman of the meeting and Asa F. Randolph, clerk. After the social greeting and devotional exercises, the business of the afternoon was taken up. This included the report of trustees by J. A. Hubbard, secretary; report of treasurer, by J. F. Hubbard. These reports were encouraging and showed a substantial balance in the treasury.

The election resulted as follows:

Trustees, five years, David E. Titsworth; church clerk, Asa F. Randolph; assistant treasurer, G. E. Stillman; auditors, A. L. Titsworth and Charles H. Dunham; subscription committee, F. J. Hubbard and Orra S. Rogers; chorister, David E. Titsworth; organist, Miss Jessie Utter; head usher, Clarence Rogers. The afternoon session was concluded with a social and fellowship hour and the reading of letters from absent members.

Supper was then served by Mrs. T. B. Titsworth, Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. David E. Titsworth, Miss Ida Randolph, Miss Luella Clawson and Miss Ernestine Smith.

The evening service opened with song and devotional exercises, after which there were a number of reports of an informal character. Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor, gave a brief report for the church, while Asa F. Randolph, as church clerk, submitted a report concerning the general condition of the church. David E. Titsworth, who recently resigned as superintendent of the Sunday-school after a service of twenty years, gave a brief summary of the school, and Mrs. T. C. Smith gave the report for the Woman's Society for Christian Work, telling of the work during the year. Miss Mary St. John reported for the Senior Endeavor Society, Mrs. F. J. Hubbard for the Intermediate and Mrs. I. N. West for the Junior Societies.

Then followed reports of representatives of all the charitable and philanthropic societies in the city and elsewhere. There was a general interest about all of these reports, showing progress and an increase both as to numbers and contributions and the meeting showed very satisfactory results.

This committee was in charge of the meeting: William C. Hubbard, Rev. George B. Shaw, Mrs. George H. Babcock, George L. Babcock and Mrs. F. A. Dunham.

Easter Sunrise Service.

The Easter Sunrise meeting at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning was conducted by Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The service was appropriate to the day, Mr. Robbie taking his text from Luke 24, 34, and speaking on the words, "The Lord Has Risen." A cornet solo was played by William Young. About thirty-five people were present.

WOMAN ATTEMPTS TO KILL HERSELF

While Husband is at Mass, Mrs. Bridget O'Brien Cuts Her Throat With Razor.

THE INJURY NOT FATAL

CHILD'S CRY STAYS HAND OF THE TEMPORARILY DERANGED WOMAN.

Shocked by Bolt of Lightning, Mrs. O'Brien Has Been in Peculiar State of Mind Recently—In Muhlenberg Hospital.

In what promises to be a futile attempt at self destruction, Mrs. Bridget O'Brien, thirty-five years old, of 1113 West Third street, cut her throat and partially severed her windpipe, yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock. At Muhlenberg Hospital this morning, Mrs. O'Brien was resting quietly and reported as on the road to recovery.

Mrs. O'Brien made the effort to end her life during the absence of her husband at the Easter service at St. Mary's church, and had her attention not been drawn to her baby daughter, Annie, who fell from her chair and began to cry, she would have accomplished her purpose. She dropped the razor, picked the child up and after rapping on the partition to call in the occupants of the other half of the house, attempted to stanch with cold water from the pump, the blood which flowed copiously from a gash about two inches long.

In response to her cries for assistance, Mrs. Eliza Clickner, a widow, who, together with her son, Spencer C. Clickner, and a married daughter lives in the western half of the double house 1113 and 1115 West Third street, ran to her assistance.

Dr. P. B. Cregar was called and, after temporarily dressing the wound, ordered Mrs. O'Brien's removal to the hospital. A message was sent to St. Mary's church, and the husband, James O'Brien, and Father Egan were summoned. Father Egan administered extreme unction to the apparently dying woman.

Meanwhile Special Officer James Bolmer, who resides nearly opposite the O'Briens at 1126 West Third street, had telephoned to police headquarters from box 54. Driver Thomas O'Gorman and Patrolman Overbaugh made the run from headquarters in record time. Manager James Davis in response to a call from police headquarters took the Muhlenberg Hospital ambulance and started immediately for the O'Brien home. Owing to some misunderstanding the ambulance was directed to DeKalb avenue and only arrived at the house in time to see the patrol wagon start on its way to the hospital, transformed for the nonce from an instrument of justice into one of mercy.

Arriving at the hospital Mrs. O'Brien was immediately placed in the hands of Drs. Murray and Buchanan.

James O'Brien, who is employed at the Safe Works, has lived for some time at the West Third street address together with his wife, their two boys, John, four years old, James, two years old and the baby daughter, Annie, nine months old.

During the severe electrical storm which damaged several houses in this city last summer, Mrs. O'Brien received a terrific shock from a bolt of lightning which partially unroofed the house. The occurrence seemed to make a very deep mental impression upon her as she has since been subject to periods of depression and despondency.

Under the impression that her health was failing she had placed herself under medical care, having consulted Dr. Frank M. Donohue, of New Brunswick, recently.

According to one resident in the vicinity she attempted to leap from the second story of her home a week ago but was prevented from doing so. At intervals through the past week she has spoken of dying and so frequent was her reference to this topic that her friends were much worried as to her mental condition.

Almost her first utterance yesterday after help came was: "O, Mrs. Clickner, the lightning! the lightning!" her mind having apparently reverted to the experience of last summer.

JAPS AT SENGCHENG

Mikado's Army Advancing Rapidly to the River.

YAMAGATA EXPECTS BATTLE AT YALU

Cossack Cavalry Will Worry Japanese Infantry, Which Will Be Outnumbered Two to One, Says the Field Marshal.

LONDON, April 4. — Advices from Tokyo say the advance guard of the Japanese army in northwestern Korea has occupied the town of Sengcheng, on the Peking road eighteen miles west of Chengju and about forty miles south of Wiju, without opposition.

When the Japanese drove the Russians out of Chengju they withdrew in two columns, one going over the Koaksan road and the other over the Peking road. The Japanese advance from Chengju was made very rapidly. It was anticipated that the Russians would resist this advance, but they failed to do so, and now it is not probable that there will be any further opposition south of the Yalu river.

The Japanese after dislodging the enemy at Chengju advanced to Yongchun, about forty-five miles west of Chengju, from which place also they drove the Russians after a brief engagement.

FIELD MARSHAL YAMAGATA.

Chengju, because of its superior surroundings, is the strongest place between Pingyang and Wiju. Besides these natural advantages there is an old Korean fort there, which, had it been defended with spirit, would have been hard to take. The Japanese are gratified at the comparative ease with which they drove the Russians from this part of the country.

Russian patrols are reported to be in the country east of the Peking road, but it is not probable that there is any considerable force of Russians in that section. The patrols are withdrawing gradually to the northward toward the Yalu.

It is reported that the ice on the Yalu is well broken up, and in the future the river must be crossed either in junks or over pontoon bridges.

Five Japanese transports, carrying light artillery, cavalry and infantry, have arrived at Chemulpo, and the troops have gone forward by train to join General Haraguchi, the newly appointed commander of the Japanese forces at Seoul.

A Port Arthur report says preparations have been made to give the Japanese a warm reception in case they again attempt to block the harbor.

Vice Admiral Togo was right in surmising that Vice Admiral Makaroff is responsible for the change in Russian naval tactics and for the inspiration of Russian seamen.

A signal man named Andronsenko, who during the bombardment of Vladivostok remained alone at a small signal station on Askold island, near the enemy's ships, and wired information of the movements of the enemy to the fortress, has been decorated with the cross of St. George.

A report from Tokyo says that Field Marshal Yamagata, who, after the emperor, is first in command of the Japanese forces and was the original organizer of the Japanese army, has stated that the Japanese may have to fight odds of two to one and that the clash may come at the Yalu river. The marshal continued:

"Russian troops have been coming south for a long time, and it is evident a conflict must result. As matters have turned out it would have been better if the war had occurred when the Russians first occupied Manchuria, because ever since they have been strengthening their position in that province. Our statesmen, however, wished to preserve peace as long as possible. It is difficult to say where the first big land battle will take place. The Russians seem to be in force between Liaoyang and Kaiping, on the Manchuria railroad. They may cross the mountains and possibly meet us at the Yalu.

"There is no doubt that the Cossack cavalry will worry the Japanese army, which was originally intended for home defense in the mountainous country and is mainly composed of infantry. We must work with the material we possess. When the Japanese army is compared with other armies, it must be remembered that it has been organized only lately. I had no small share in its organization, and therefore I see its faults and try to improve it, but never find that it reaches my ideal."

It is reported from Seoul that 2,000 Russian troops, including Cossacks and infantrymen, are intrenched about the gates on the south side of Wiju.

According to statements made by Koreans, the Russians are utilizing trained dogs to act as message bearers.

Great interest is manifested here in the role being played by King Edward, who in his neutrality proclamation has presented unmistakable evidences of his desire for peace. Russian diplomats are particularly pleased with his utterances, while others see in his words the possibility of his becoming a mediator in the far eastern struggle.

Deposits of coal similar to that of Cardiff, Wales, have been found in the vicinity of Port Arthur by the Russian authorities. The discovery is an extremely important one in view of the short supply now held for the warships in the harbor.

BRAVE CAPTAIN AND CREW.

Russian Cruiser Bayan Fought as In the Days of Old.

PORT ARTHUR, April 4.—The skill and bravery of the captain and crew of the cruiser Bayan during the recent bombardment, in which she distinguished herself, is told thus:

"Bursting shells bowled over man after man until the decks were slippery with blood. Amidst this hell the captain stood unmoved in the conning tower, calmly telephoning his orders to the gun captains. His wonderful calmness had a marvelous influence upon all the officers.

"The cockpit was soon crowded, thirty-nine men being there before the fight ended, but amidst the crash of the guns, the hiss of flying projectiles, the thunder of explosions, the racket of splinters and the din of the working engines the surgeons labored over the wounded on the hospital operating table. Although some of the men suffered frightful agony, they bore it with grim firmness.

"When the battle ended and the enemy began to draw off the officers on the bridge cheered, and the cheering extended down into the hold, the stokers and even the wounded joining in it.

"The captain signaled for full speed ahead after the retreating Japanese, but the Bayan had not gone far before the flagship signaled it to return."

Shell Might Strike Our Consulate.

YINKOW, April 4.—It is said here that the Japanese will not bombard the town because 99 per cent of the population is made up of Chinese, who are not at war with Japan, and because a shell from the Japanese warships might strike the residence of the United States consul, who is safeguarding Japanese interests.

"Most Sinful Slave" Sent 200 Rubles.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 4.—S. Metatin, a peasant in the province of Vladimir, has sent 200 rubles to the emperor in a letter addressed, "Most Honest, Most Autocratic, Most Merciful Great Lord Emperor, Our Little Father, Nicolas Alexandrovich." The letter is signed "The Emperor's Most Sinful Slave."

Edward Working For Peace.

COPENHAGEN, April 4.—King Edward will prolong his visit here until April 18. The extension of his stay, it is thought, is due to a desire to influence the Russian government through the queen of Denmark and the czar in the direction of peace, which he so earnestly desires.

Working For a Russian Treaty.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 4.—Ambassador McCormick is negotiating with the foreign office for a treaty with Russia which will give to United States corporations the right to sue in Russian courts and to Russian corporations the right to sue in courts of the United States. Under the Russian law United States corporations can be sued, but cannot sue in the courts of the empire. This has caused United States firms great annoyances as well as losses in the past. In addition the ambassador hopes to secure in the treaty a broad clause which will automatically give to United States corporations all privileges of whatever character now enjoyed by the corporations of any foreign country. The ambassador's advance has been met in the friendliest spirit, and the indications are that his negotiations will terminate successfully. The only countries now enjoying the privileges which Ambassador McCormick is striving to obtain for the United States are Germany, Greece, Bulgaria and Italy.

Muskrats Cause a Flood.

THOMASTON, Conn., April 4.—Boring night and day at the base of the big dam at Fenn's pond, in this place, situated on a hill north of the village, the work of muskrats has caused the dam to give way, and almost every gallon of water in the pond, which covered four acres of land, rushed down the hill and settled through the main street of the town, flooding many cellars. The downpour of water caused considerable excitement among the residents in the vicinity of the pond. Damage amounting to about $2,000 has been done by the water.

Two Thousand Will Start Work.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4. — The American Bridge company, which owns the Pencoyd Iron works of this city, has announced that the Pencoyd plant will resume work shortly. The works have been practically closed down for several months. About 2,000 men will be employed.

BAFFLING MYSTERY

Murder of Mabel Page at Weston Still Unsolved.

AGGREGATE REWARD OF $2,500.

No Cause or Motive For the Crime Has Been Evolved—Most Puzzling Case In Massachusetts For Many Years.

WESTON, Mass., April 4.—Although three days have elapsed since Miss Mabel Page was murdered at her father's home in this town and rewards aggregating $2,500 have been offered for the detection of her slayer, the mystery appears more baffling than ever.

Some one with whom she was personally acquainted—some one in whom she had confidence—is believed to have been the murderer of Miss Page, whose body was hacked in a dozen places by a knife.

She was standing in front of a mirror in her bedroom, putting on her hat when she was attacked. Directly back of the mirror was the only door to the room, and she must have seen her slayer enter. Medical experts who have examined her body say the first wound Miss Page received was a stab in the back. Had the person who entered the room been a stranger, the police argue, Miss Page would have rushed from the mirror, as when she was struck down she was only partly dressed.

Everything about the room seems to prove that there was no struggle between the murdered girl and her assassin. Not even a chair was overturned, although there were several between the door and the mirror. Before she went to the room to dress she had been told that her brother Harold had been injured and was in the Massachusetts General hospital.

General Jophanus H. Whitney of the state police, who is in charge of the investigation, has stated that no developments which would point to a possible solution of the case have yet come out. The case seems to be the most mysterious that has confronted the police in Massachusetts in many years.

Since it was determined that Miss Page was murdered and not the victim of a suicidal impulse neither motive nor clew has been established. Several theories have been advanced, but all that were in any way promising have been disproved.

The police still believe that the crime was committed by some one acquainted with the habits of the Page family, but all the members of the household have accounted satisfactorily for every moment of their time on the day of the tragedy.

All day long curious persons loitered in the vicinity of the Page home on South avenue. The police, however, kept the crowds moving, and entrance to the premises was forbidden.

A thorough search of the woods and fields in the vicinity of the house has been made by the police in a futile effort to find the weapon used by the murderer.

Science May Aid Detectives.

BOSTON, April 4.—Dr. Edward S. Wood, professor of chemistry at the Harvard Medical school, is conducting an examination of the stomach of Miss Mabel Page, who was murdered at Weston. The object of the examination was to determine if, possible by partially digested food the exact time that Miss Page met her death. Professor Wood said that he would be able to draw his conclusions and report them to the district attorney's office today.

Nationalists Looking For Trouble.

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—The Irish Nationalists of this city have adopted strong resolutions protesting against an arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain. The views of George Washington relative to the danger of alliances with foreign powers is cited, and the opinion is expressed that such a treaty between the United States and Great Britain would be an undesirable condition to the others of the European powers and would tend to disrupt and destroy the friendly relations that now exist between the United States and those countries. A copy of the protest will be sent to Senators Foraker and Dick.

Levees at Lewiston Still Hold.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., April 4.—The levees of the Lewiston reservoir, although weak and insecure in many places, did not give way during the night notwithstanding a wall of water three feet in height was whipped over the embankments by a strong north wind. The wind has abated, and the pressure of the water against the levees has been so greatly reduced that if there is no more rain or wind during the next forty-eight hours the danger of a break will be at an end.

Kaiser's Health Is Excellent.

BERLIN, April 4.—The North German Gazette, the government organ, denies the rumors printed in London and circulated in the United States that the health of Emperor William is such that it gives occasion for concern. The paper adds that the emperor's condition of health remains excellent and that the voyage he is now on gives every prospect of full success in recuperating his strength.

Bryan's Appeal to Supreme Court.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 4.—Notice of an appeal to the supreme court has been filed by counsel for William J. Bryan in the Philo S. Bennett will case. The appeal is from the finding which excluded as a part of the will the sealed letter by which Mr. Bennett expressed a wish that Mrs. Bennett should turn over $50,000 from his estate to Mr. Bryan.

The Branch Alliance of the Unitarian church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Ryder, of East Front street.

Thomas H. Stafford, for four years librarian at the First M. E. church Sunday-school, has resigned, and his assistant, Thomas MacDonald, has been elected in his place.

The annual meeting of the Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of New Jersey will be held in the Fourth Baptist church, Paterson, Thursday, May 5. It is expected that Mrs. Buchanan, wife of the late Judge Buchanan, so well-known in this State, will make an address.

Two important annual events will be held at the Congregational church on Wednesday evening, April 13. The yearly meeting of the church and society will be held at 8:30 o'clock, and from 6 to 7:30 o'clock the Women's Association will hold its annual supper. The reading of letters from absent members will be a feature.

The April number of The New Jersey Baptist Bulletin contains this of interest concerning the First Baptist church: "It was our privilege to worship with this church on a recent Sunday morning and to listen to a great sermon from the pastor. Dr. Yerkes was present and participated in the opening service. But the congregation! It would be hard to find a finer one anywhere in the State. The perfect unanimity of feeling with the people have received Dr. Chambliss is beautiful to see; and of them all, we think the most enthusiastic and cordial admirer of the new pastor is Dr. Yerkes, who was himself pastor for forty years."

Besides the Easter services held at the Mt. Olive Baptist church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Sunday-school, the programme for which was published on Saturday, there was a special service last night, at which time the quarterly report was presented for the Sunday-school by Miss Mary Randolph, secretary. This showed an average attendance of 125. The sum of $32.65 was collected, making a balance of $50 11 in the treasury. Superintendent Pollard presented the church with $17 as an Easter offering.

The pastor, his wife and mother were each presented with handsome bouquets, as was also Mrs. Sarah Lane. Joseph Mitchell was in charge of the programme. M. C. Dobbins, former superintendent of the school, made a short address, as did also the pastor, Rev. E. E. Jackson.

Grace P. E. church held a long carol service for the children of the Sunday-school yesterday afternoon. The full choir led the singing.

A feature of the service was a carol solo by one of the children, Norman Finch. The rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, delivered an Easter talk.

St. Stephen's P. E. church also held a carol service in the afternoon. Rev. William Harris, the rector-in-charge, spoke.

Under the auspices of the Sunday-school of the East Third Street chapel, Easter exercises were held at the chapel yesterday afternoon. The programme included violin solos by Frank Malin; recitation, Walter Anson; singing, Christine Viebrock, Elsie Hone and Robert Anson; recitations, Sarah Harper, Elsie Hone and Marie Viebrock; singing, Frances Connett and infant class and Lizzie Frank. There was also an address by Superintendent L. W. Randolph.

The evening service included vocal solos by Miss Miner, contralto; violin selections by Frank Malin and R. W. Barnes; autoharp selections by Mrs. L. G. Leggett, while Rev. L. G. Leggett spoke on the "Dawn of Glory."

BOSSES FIRM.

Strikers' Offer is Refused by Master Painters and Fight Continues.

Peace overtures were made to the bosses by the striking painters Saturday afternoon. They offered to go back to work for three dollars a day, abating their demand by twenty-eight cents. The terms were rejected. The bosses said that could not grant a cent of the advance asked, and proposed to maintain their stand on the question to the end. The men were told they would all be taken back, and the union would be recognized, if the strike were abandoned. No reply to this has been received, and the bosses are awaiting developments.

AID FRIEND OR FOE

Countess Cassini Asks Help For Sick and Wounded.

AN APPEAL TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Great Fancy Fair at the Capital to Raise Funds "to Relieve Friend and Foe Alike Left on Battlefields."

WASHINGTON, April 4. — "To relieve the wounded of friend and foe alike left on the battlefields of the war." In these few words the Countess Marguerite Cassini, the daughter of the Russian ambassador here, told the object of the fair which, under her direction, will be held in Washington in aid of the Russian Red Cross society. A week ago the countess determined to do something for the aid of the Russian Red Cross and at once started the cables to Paris and St. Petersburg working. The articles for the fair were ordered, and hundreds of invitations for assistance were sent to all parts of the United States. In making her appeal to the American people the countess emphasized the fact that the undertaking was not partisan in its object.

"The Red Cross society is an international humanitarian organization, wholly divorced from politics. It is in the aid of that society that my fair is to be held," said the countess in outlining the plan to her friends. The past week has brought to the countess over $4,000 in cash subscriptions to the Red Cross fund and articles valued at hundreds of dollars for sale at the fair. In the mail came a letter from a jeweler in New York city. Inclosed was a pair of diamond earrings which his little daughter, removing them from her ears, had asked her father to sell "to help the little children whose fathers are killed in this war." The mother of the child gave her watch, a valuable one, and the father added to the collection a diamond scarfpin. These will be auctioned off at the fair. So many responses are coming to the embassy from poor people and wealthy alike all over the country that the countess has had to employ a private secretary, and each letter and gift is acknowledged the day of its receipt by a note of thanks signed by the countess.

Heading the list of patronesses is Mrs. John Hay, the wife of the secretary of state. The list of patronesses includes Mrs. E. A. Hitchcock, wife of the secretary of the interior; Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, wife of the senator from Massachusetts; Mrs. William S. Cowles, wife of Commander Cowles of the navy and sister of the president; Baroness Speck von Sternburg, the German ambassadress; Mme. Jusserand, the French ambassadress; Lady Durand, the British ambassadress; Baroness Moncheur, the wife of the Belgian minister; Senora Calderon, the wife of the Peruvian minister; Countess Cellere, the wife of the Italian charge d'affaires; Mrs. Ogden Mills of New York, Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago and many others.

The fair will be attended by practically the entire cabinet, the members of the diplomatic corps, the supreme court and members of congress. The countess, however, is desirous that its guests shall not be confined to the official set, but that all who feel it in them to aid the Red Cross and give assistance to some Russian or Japanese soldier left wounded on the field either shall be present at the fair or contribute. By special appointment of the Russian ambassador there will be some one at the embassy at all times to receive any gifts that may be sent there.

Mme. Jusserand, the French ambassadress, will preside at the Russian booth and Mrs. Wadsworth at the French booth. The fair will be held in the largest garden available from early afternoon to midnight. In addition to the booths a special troupe is coming from New York to give a polite vaudeville performance in the evening.

"So generously are the people all over the country responding," said the countess, "that I am sure they will make the fair a success."

The countess sent telegrams to Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and Mr. Andrew Carnegie advising them of the entertainment and its objects. The proceeds of the fair, together with the cash subscriptions, will be forwarded promptly to St. Petersburg for distribution by the Russian Red Cross.

Cissy Loftus Has Scarlet Fever.

BUFFALO, April 4.—Cissy Loftus has been taken from her hotel to a private hospital in this city. It is said that she has developed a pronounced case of scarlet fever, and the health authorities will not permit her removal to New York, as she desires. Her condition is said to be serious, although the disease has fully developed and must run its usual course. Miss Loftus' role in "The Prouit Prince" will be taken by Miss Alfie Warner, her understudy.

Payne Will Go South.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Postmaster General Payne's condition has improved sufficiently to permit him to come downstairs. He was anxious to go out for a drive, but this was deemed inadvisable because of the cool weather. Preparations are making for the postmaster general's southern trip, on which he expects to start this week.

Operation on Mrs. George J. Gould.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Mrs. George J. Gould has undergone an operation for appendicitis. The operation was entirely successful, and Mrs. Gould is now convalescing rapidly.

POWER OF THE FLAG

STARS AND STRIPES SUCCESSFULLY STOPS WIFE BEATER.

Russian Jew's Better Half Flaunts It Defiantly When Quarrels Arise —Mother-in-Law Also Seeks Its Protection.

By the use of a small silk American flag the wife of a Russian Jew protected herself from the abuse of her husband, kept the latter out of jail, and steered their troubles clear of a divorce court.

The incident came to the notice of Judge Hoard, one of the best-known jurists of Shelbyville, Ind., and it is he who tells in the Chicago Tribune the story as it came to him in the course of his services as a lawyer. It will also explain to a great many people who have passed a certain little home in Shelbyville why a flagstaff has been erected in the foreground and why the stars and stripes are there displayed on every occasion during the year.

One afternoon while the judge was sitting in his office a woman entered the door and in broken language managed to convey to the lawyer the fact that she and her husband had had trouble and that the neighbors had advised her to consult a lawyer. She told the jurist that the man with whom she had emigrated from a distant land beat her, and, as she explained, "I t'inks he 'buse me too much."

The lawyer managed to make her understand that, under the laws of this country, the husband could be punished for such an offense. When he explained that she could have him arrested and placed in jail, she held up her hands deprecatingly, and when she was further told that such an act would furnish the ground for a legal separation the expression that came to the face of the faithful wife clearly told the lawyer that the idea was abhorrent. "O, no, I not do that! I only t'ink he whip me too hard," she said.

The judge was quick to see that it was a case in which his professional services would not be employed, so he undertook to offer a little advice gratis. Taking a small flag from a drawer of his desk, he passed it over to the woman, telling her that the next time she and her spouse had trouble she was to wave it in his face and to tell him that he dare not strike her with the flag in her hand. It was difficult for the woman to clearly understand, but when she went out of the office she had folded the flag inside of her corsage, and the judge dismissed the matter from his mind.

A few days after that a Jewish looking man entered the lawyer's office in a towering rage. "What's dat you tell my wife about me no dare strike her vile a flag she holds in her hand?"

It didn't take the judge long to see that he had a chance to cultivate the seed he had sown a few days previous. He told the irate Russian that his wife, claiming the protection of the flag, could cause his arrest and imprisonment, and, if she chose, could divorce herself from such a husband.

"A month or so after that," relates Judge Hoard, "I had occasion to go down to the depot to meet a friend, and while there I noticed among the people in the waiting room the little Russian woman who had sought my advice. I was induced to question her as to how she was getting along and as to what Old Glory had accomplished for her. She told me that she was at the train to meet her mother, who was coming over from the old country. She managed to convey to me that she had written home to her maternal parent explaining the laws of this country, that however much men whipped their wives in Russia they were not allowed to do so here and go unpunished. Then she proved to me that she had brought about a wonderful reform in the ideas of her liege lord, that he had not only respected the little banner that she carried about with her, but with his own hand he had erected a tall staff in their humble dooryard, and from its peak a big flag waved on every holiday of the year.

"The man, his wife, and his mother-in-law are now all living under the same flag, and it doesn't appear to me that I will ever be able to earn a fee from any trouble that family may have."

The German Wine Industry.

According to the Moniteur Vinicole, Germany holds the eighth place in the list of wine-producing nations. It is claimed, however, by wine connoisseurs that German wines, as far as flavor and bouquet are concerned, are surpassed only by those of France.

Old Stubborn in Jail.

A stubborn man in Lewiston, Me., refused to pay his poll-tax, and defied the authorities to collect it. He is now in jail, and has been playing checkers with his nose against the bars since August 5. Every day he stays in jail adds $1.75 to his poll-tax of two dollars.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

LOVE OF COUNTRY

A Lesson For American Mothers

IN the Japanese navy is a beautiful warship called the Adsuma. The name is that of a large province in eastern Japan. Like so many other Japanese names, it recalls to the brown native a tradition of ancient glory and heroism, this time of the heroism of a woman. Adsuma was the beautiful wife of Emperor Yamato Dakeno Mikoto, beloved not only of her husband, but of all her people, a few thousand years ago.

Well, Yamato Dakeno Mikoto's little country, which then constituted only a few of the islands of Japan, was attacked on the north and east by enemies who sought to take over his land for themselves. Yamato started out valiantly with his warriors in a ship to defeat them. His beloved Adsuma went with him. A furious storm arose, which threatened to send Yamato Dakeno Mikoto and all his heroes to the bottom of the sea and snuff out forever the sprouting empire of Japan.

This disaster would have happened, says the tradition, except for Adsuma. She felt certain that the god of the sea was offended at the Japs, and only the sacrifice to him of something most beloved of them all would appease him. Dressing herself in her most gorgeous robes of scarlet and gold, merely telling those around her that she was going to offer her life to the angry god, before she could be prevented this glorious Adsuma plunged into the boiling sea and was drowned. Then the waters immediately calmed down, so 'tis said, and Yamato Dakeno Mikoto led his seamen on to victory, and his rule was established.

All the district of Japan near the scene of this heroic act of a woman was named for Adsuma, and from that day to this wherever the sacred name can be bestowed it is given. From that day to this, too, the mothers of Japan thrill their little sons and daughters with the splendid story of Adsuma. Little girls are taught when the sacrifice of their lives can help their country not to hesitate a moment. Where can life be given better than for one's country?

Every day the Jap mother gives her children a lesson in patriotism. There is a sort of ceremonial bowing and reverencing the present mikado and the ancient heroes of Japan. Then the little mother tells the young ones tales of the grand deeds of the ancient heroes and of their ancestors. The glorious victories in war of the Japs are dwelt on. The names and exploits of great Japs who have deserved well of their country are dinned into the children's ears as an American mother dins into her children not to soil or tear their best clothes.

It is no wonder that with such mothers the Japs are the most patriotic people in the world. No wonder even the common sailor or soldier deems it the highest honor he can achieve to die for his country.

If we were so unhappy again as to have a war on, no doubt soldier and sailor volunteers would step forward in plenty. But it is in time of peace that patriotism is really made. Boys and girls should be taught to love and serve their country in time of peace. They can serve her best by upholding with all their souls that country's purity and honor.

In inculcating patriotism into their children Japanese mothers are greater and wiser than American mothers. In our country patriotism seems dying down to embers and ashes. Only American mothers and teachers can supply the fuel which shall renew and cause it to flame up gloriously. The boys who are to be the municipal, state and national officials of the future should learn from their own mothers that incorruptible honesty which counts their country's public administration a thing too white to be soiled. Each of them should be taught to say as they say their daily school lessons, "Never through me shall the good name of this country suffer in war or in peace."

In every house, in the room the children frequent, there should be portraits of our great heroes draped in the national flag. In that room let American mothers instruct their children in the patriotic deeds and spirit of high honor of the builders of our nation. And if the mothers themselves do not know of these things—well, they can learn. SUSAN PEPPER.

NORTHERN SECURITIES.

Action by Harriman Interests For Return of Northern Pacific Shares.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 4.—The contest for the control of the Northern Pacific railway as between the Hill-Morgan element of the Northern Securities company and E. H. Harriman has been transferred to the United States circuit court, and an action has been begun by the Harriman interests to compel the Securities company to return to the original holders the Northern Pacific shares exchanged for Northern Securities company stock instead of the proposed division of Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock. The Harriman interests prior to the formation of the Securities company held a controlling interest in Northern Pacific stock, the struggle for which culminated in the memorable 9th of May panic on the New York Stock Exchange.

A petition signed by E. H. Harriman and Winslow S. Pierce, acting as trustees for the Oregon Short line, has been filed in the United States circuit court asking the court to direct the Northern Securities company to return to the original shareholders the Northern Pacific stock exchanged for Northern Securities stock at the time of the formation of that company.

The petition was filed by Judge John G. Dillon and William Guthrie as attorneys for Harriman and Pierce, and notice of the action was served on E. D. Grover, C. W. Bunn and Judge George B. Young, the attorneys for the Securities company.

The petitioners ask the court to intervene in the suit of the United States against the Northern Securities company. The purpose of the intervention is to have the decree of the court modified and to have the court direct that the Northern Securities company shall deliver in exchange for its shares the stock of the Northern Pacific that it acquired and to prevent a rateable distribution of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific stock among the shareholders as was planned by the directors of the Northern Securities company.

TEN INDICTED.

Members of Board of Supervisors at Milwaukee Charged With Fraud.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 4.—The indictments returned by the grand jury at its final session are directed against ten individuals for alleged frauds in connection with state contracts, the list being as follows: August Puls, supervisor; Herman Haasch, chairman board of supervisors; William C. Wegner, supervisor; Jacob Schulz, supervisor; Louis R. Stollberg, plumbing contractor; J. Marion Doesburg, Adam Kreuter of Chicago, Edward Strauss, supervisor; Joseph A. Schunk, former supervisor, and Adam Moeder.

The testimony upon which the indictments were brought related to alleged illegal acts in connection with work on the county hospital. The original estimate on the cost of the building was $80,000, while the actual cost was $175,000. The building is still incomplete, and more money will have to be expended.

Frank Niezorawski, commissioner of public works, and Ambrose Adlam, superintendent of bridges, who were indicted, were still out of the city, and the sheriff's officers could not give any report of their whereabout.

Domingo Insurrection Mixup.

CAPE HAITIEN, April 4.—A dispatch received here from Monte Cristi, Santo Domingo, reports that Generals Epifanio Rodriguez and Clena Navarro attacked that place and that General Jiminez, being without ammunition, abandoned the town and embarked on a steamer. This news is confirmed by the Dominican consul here. It is rumored that Generals Rodriguez and Navarro are abandoning President Morales, are trying to start a movement in favor of former President Horatio Vasquez and are marching on Santiago de los Caballeros and Porto Plata. A score of Dominican refugees arrested here have been sent back to Santo Domingo by the Dominican consul. It is said that General Jiminez has left for Porto Rico, from where it is his intention to proceed to New York.

Prominent Freemason Dead.

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., April 4.—S. Stacker Williams, one of the most widely known Freemasons in the United States, is dead at the home of his daughter in this city. Mr. Williams was grand master of the Ohio grand lodge of Masons from 1885 to 1888. He possessed the largest private Masonic library known and contributed much to the literature of Freemasonry. He represented Licking county in the Ohio legislature from 1896 to 1900.

Killed Wife With Flatiron.

HAZLETON, Pa., April 4.—George Wresak of Upper Lehigh has been arrested charged with the murder of his wife, whom he struck on the head with a flatiron and killed during a family quarrel. Wresak admits the charge, but claims he committed the fatal assault while in a state of intoxication.

LADY MINTO IN DANGER.

Rideau Hall, Ottawa, Partly Destroyed by Fire.

OTTAWA, April 4.—The new wing of Rideau hall, the official residence of the governor general of Canada, was destroyed by fire early yesterday. Some anxiety was at first felt for the safety of Lady Minto, who was lying in one of the apartments with a fractured leg, but her removal was accomplished without difficulty. Rideau hall was purchased as the viceregal residence thirty-six years ago and has cost about $200,000. The damage by fire was about $50,000.

The fire occurred at an early hour. The countess was carried from her room in the front of the building to the ground floor to await the outcome of events. The bearers were domestics, who acted under the direct orders of the governor general. In the meantime the Ladies Eileen and Violet Elliott, daughters of the governor general; Hon. Esmond Elliott, the young son; a lady guest, Miss Seymour, and the governess, Mlle. de Jaffa, had barely time to escape in their night clothes. They occupied the second floor of what is called the "new wing," an extension of the "T" shaped main building.

On the floor below slept Mr. Arthur Guise, controller of the household, and Captains Graham and Bell, aids-de-camp. Controller Guise was awakened by the roaring of flames. He gave the alarm and, with his brother officers, tried to extinguish the flames with the household apparatus. Failing in this, they called in the city brigade, who after a two hours' fight put out the fire.

At one time the controller and the two aids, who had mounted the roof, were in serious danger, the flames having cut off their retreat. The arrival of city firemen with ladders proved their salvation. The loss of $50,000 is mainly in damage to expensive carpets and bric-a-brac. The main part of Rideau hall is habitable, and the burned portion will be repaired without delay. The fire originated from a defective fireplace in which logs were blazing.

IN FAVOR OF PARKER.

Report That State Delegates Will Be So Instructed.

ALBANY, April 4.—From a source so close to former Senator Hill that it may be understood as representing Mr. Hill's own views it is learned that it is intended that the New York state delegation to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis shall be positively instructed in favor of Judge Alton B. Parker as New York state's choice for the presidential nomination.

Senator Hill and his friends now believe that they will control at least three-fourths of the state convention, which will be held in Harmanus Bleecker hall on Monday, April 18.

It has been during recent years an almost unbroken custom for the New York state Democratic delegation to go to the national convention with positive instructions. Only in 1884 were there no instructions. In that year Grover Cleveland and Roswell P. Flower, both New York state men, were candidates. The New York delegates voted for Cleveland. In 1888 they were instructed for Cleveland and in 1892 for Hill. In 1896 New York state had no candidate. In 1900 New York had no candidate, but at the suggestion of Tammany Hall the delegates were instructed for Bryan. If the delegation is not instructed this year, it will be the first time in more than twenty years that an uninstructed delegation was sent when New York state had a candidate to offer.

Sugar Factory Goes to Idaho.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 4.—It is expected that work will be begun in a few days to dismantle the Binghamton Beet Sugar factory, near this city, and move the entire plant, except the building, to Blackfoot, Bingham county, Ida., where it will be re-erected during the coming summer, ready to begin operations in that place on the fall sugar campaign. This change is made because it has been difficult to persuade the farmers in this vicinity to raise enough beets to successfully operate the plant here. The Idaho soil and climate are well adapted to beet culture, and farmers there are eager to contract to raise enough to supply the factory. Already 4,000 acres have been contracted for near Blackfoot, more than ever contracted for within a radius of over 100 miles from Binghamton.

Candler Story of Tibetan Fight.

LONDON, April 4.—Mr. Candler, the correspondent of the Daily Mail, who was wounded during the fighting between the British and the Tibetans at Guru, Tibet, and whose left hand has been amputated, thus describes the attack upon him: "I was watching the Tibetans being disarmed when I was attacked by a swordsman. This was before a shot had been fired. The onslaught was too sudden for me to draw my revolver. I caught the Tibetan around the knees and threw him, but I was myself dragged down and in trying to rise was cut down by several swordsmen. These were eventually shot."

Mysterious Explosion Wrecked Bank

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., April 4.—An explosion in the Citizens' National bank building at Albia, Ia., has resulted in three men being killed and several injured. The cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is supposed it originated in the heating plant. Besides the bank building a clothing store and two grocery stores were destroyed by fire. The loss is $75,000.

A Fatal Swing.

NEW YORK, April 4.—While trying to make a swing by throwing a piece of wire over a live electric light wire Peter Markey, eighteen years old, was instantly killed in Jersey City.

DOG AND CAT FEED WOUNDED TRAPPER IN CANADA WOODS.

Canine Takes Prey from Puss and Carries It to His Crippled Master—Story Vouched For by Parish Priest.

An odd story of how a cat and a dog provided food for a solitary trapper who had been injured by one of his own traps was brought to Montreal a few days ago by Rev. Father Dufriche on his return from the Hudson Bay territory. Father Dufriche got the tale from another priest, known as Pere Martin, who had personal knowledge of the incident.

According to Father Dufriche's story, Henri Le Blanc left the Lake St. John region late in the fall to trap with a kindred spirit named Bossart about 150 miles northwest of the lake on the edge of the Hudson Bay district. Bossart had a cabin miles from any other habitation, where he lived with a tabby cat for a companion and mascot. It has been Le Blanc's custom to spend several months each winter with Bossart, and this year as usual he took his Newfoundland dog, Jacques, with him. The dog and cat were on the most friendly terms and the quartette enjoyed themselves until early in December, when Bossart fell ill.

The trapper was afflicted with a slow fever and upon recovering went to the nearest village, 40 miles distant, to consult Father Martin, who administers to the temporal as well as to the spiritual wants of his isolated parishioners. The priest advised the trapper to remain in the village for a couple of weeks until he had regained his full strength, and this he did, sending word to Le Blanc by a half-breed Indian who was journeying north.

The day after receiving the message from the Indian Le Blanc left the cabin to shoot a deer for food and had the misfortune to step in a snow-covered wolf trap that he had set several weeks before and subsequently lost. The teeth lacerated his left foot and ankle and it was with great difficulty that he reached camp. Here he dressed the injury the best he could, but red socks he had worn poisoned the wound and the next day he could not take a step.

There was little to eat in the house and Le Blanc was soon in a desperate condition. Bossart was to bring meal and bacon, and with fresh meat brought down by rifles this would be adequate. But with the pantry bare and his foot getting worse every hour the trapper had a good look at starvation. Jacques, he says, made no fuss, but the cat howled all night and in the morning he crawled to the door and let it out.

The woods were full of red squirrels and chipmunks and he knew that the animal could look after itself. Jacques kept close to his master until noon, licking his hand and appearing greatly distressed. The pangs of hunger were gnawing both, and Le Blanc sought consolation in counting his beads and praying. He was thus occupied when Jacques suddenly cocked his ears, ran to the door and scratched. Then he ran back, looked up in his master's face and showed great excitement. Le Blanc had reared the Newfoundland from a puppy and knew that he had some good reason for wanting to go out. So he opened the door.

The dog shot through the portal and the next minute Le Blanc heard him in a spirited altercation with his friend, the cat. In bolted Jacques, carrying a squirrel in his mouth and proudly wagging his tail. Behind him came the cat in a great state of mind. The dog held his head high in the air and dropped the squirrel on Le Blanc's couch.

The trapper quickly skinned the squirrel, cooked it and divided it into three parts. One-third went to Jacques, another to himself and the remaining portion to the cat.

The cat soon went on a second foraging expedition. A little later Jacques sneaked after her, picked up her trail and hung around for developments. Two hours later he reappeared carrying a young rabbit and followed by the indignant cat. The next day she got two squirrels and an old cock grouse. The catch was duly rescued by Jacques and presented to his master.

For eight days this programme was repeated, while the trapper's foot grew worse, matterated and finally began to mend. He, the cat and the dog got thin, but they had some strength left on the eighth day when Bossart, who had improved more rapidly than was anticipated, arrived drawing a toboggan loaded with provender.

Why Sable Is a Luxury.

The average value of sable skins in the Transbaikal province of Russia this season is $64. Those who buy from the hunters expect 300 per cent. Fox skins are bought at $5.40 and squirrel skins at 23 cents.

BIG FIRE IN NEW MARKET

PLAINFIELD FIRE DEPARTMENT ASKED TO HELP IN SUBDUING FLAMES.

The double five fire alarm sounded in this city about 1:45 o'clock, this afternoon, New Market calling upon Plainfield's department for assistance. Two barns, one belonging to Stanley Day and the other to William Smith, burned to the ground. The flames started at 11 o'clock and at noon both buildings were in ruins. The firemen spent their energies in preventing the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

A still alarm in this city about 1:30 this afternoon was for a grass fire at 900 Sherman avenue, on the property of Alonzo Aldrich.

BOARDER CAUSES TROUBLE

He requested her to leave the house.

SNAP SHOTS.

It may be of interest to people here to know something of the extent of the moving that was done in Plainfield last week. The old adage "That it is cheaper to move than pay rent," may not be true, but it is called to mind by the many changes.

William Hand & Son with five trucks moved on an average of five loads of furniture a day, or 150 for the week; Conover with three trucks moved on an average of five loads a day, or 90 loads for the week; Weinzenried with one truck averaged five loads a day, or thirty for the week, while A. E. Hoagland, with one truck, averaged five loads a day, or thirty for the week. This, of course, does not include the work of a number of smaller trucks.

Mr. Hoagland refused twelve movings in one day and William Hand & Son, refused fifteen the same day. One concern has contracts to move fifteen families from Brooklyn to this city, within a short time.

MUNICIPAL GARBAGE SYSTEM IS DEFERRED

The Scheme Can Not Go Into Effect Until the Legislature Acts.

BILL TO BE DRAFTED

THE MATTER IS REFERRED TO STREET AND SEWER COMMITTEE.

Public Hearing is Given by Councilmanic Body and Prominent Citizens Speak in Favor of the Proposed Improvement.

The proposed system of municipal collection of garbage so zealously advocated by the Board of Health, the city physicians, as well as many citizens, is not to be established for the present. The Common Council has discovered that it can afford to purchase the crematory plant in the West End of the city, but it cannot see its way clear to maintaining it afterward. In other words the present means of the city will not permit it to introduce the system here now.

It has been decided that if the city is to have an improvement it must come through special legislation.

With this in view, a resolution offered by Mr. Tyler, and amended by Mr. Lee, was adopted. This resolution provides that the street committee take up the question of providing annually a system of garbage collection and disposal and that the corporation counsel be asked to draft a suitable bill to be sent to the city's representative in the Legislature for action at the special session of that body if possible. In the meantime the committee is to take such steps as are necessary in the matter and consider the data now in hand for the purpose of ascertaining what can be done at the earliest possible time toward securing such a system. Mr. Tyler's original resolution provided that the matter be considered by a committee of three of which the President be one, but Mr. Lee's amendment provided that the matter be referred to the street and sewer committee, and this prevailed.

During the public hearing on the question of municipal collection of garbage, a number of petitions were received favoring the system and some protesting against the city operating the plant in DeKalb avenue, on account of the stench. Among those favoring the plan through communications were George P. Mellick, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Col. Alfred A. Woodhull, formerly of the U. S. A., in the Philippines and now of Princeton University; Drs. J. H. Carman, J. B. Probasco, M. B. Long, Albert Pittis, N. W. Currie and W. Kempton Browning.

There was a remonstrance, signed by a majority of the residents living in the vicinity of DeKalb avenue, protesting against the operation of the crematory. A communication received from the Board of Health stated that 412 replies have been received from the circular letter sent to residents and tax-payers and of that number 389 were in favor and twenty-three were against. Dr. W. H. Murray and Dr. F. C. Ard spoke in favor of the system. Rev. E. E. Jackson was present to speak a word for his race, asking that if the system should be adopted those now engaged in collecting ashes and garbage be given preference in employment. He said that he represented people who own $100,000 worth of property in the city.

David Hand protested against the system. He favored a plan whereby arrangement could be made to have the garbage and ashes carried to some distant point. He offered to pay the city $500 a year for the privilege, providing the city would collect the garbage and ashes and deliver it to him, he in turn to take it away. He would give a bond for the faithful performance of the work. He thought that there were others who might offer more. John Ross, of East Seventh street, approved of the system of collecting garbage, but thought that those collecting ashes should not be disturbed, as it was their only means of a livelihood.

Joseph Kitchen, a resident of the West End of the city, who was employed at the DeKalb avenue plant, when it was in operation a few years ago, gave damaging testimony against the success of the plant. He said the plant would not destroy by fire the garbage collection in the city and that arrangements had to be made with farmers to cart the stuff away. He declared that the system never worked satisfactorily.

Mr. Lee expressed a desire that the question be taken up as soon as possible, but advocated the taking of sufficient time before adopting any plan. He thought that if the system should be adopted by fall it would be quick time. He favored a thorough examination of the question.

SOCIETY'S DANCE A BRILIANT AFFAIR

Easter Week Event Attracts Plainfield's Smart Set to the Casino.

AN UNIQUE FEATURE

STRIKING DECORATIONS MAKE THE SCENES ENCHANTING.

Lewis G. Timpson Leads Cotillion—Society Folk From Out of Town Gather in Numbers—The List of Patronesses.

Full of novel features and figures, the third and last cotillion of the season was a brilliant success at the Casino last night. As the first social affair after the duiness of Lent, it was enjoyed to the full by practically the entire society set. The Cotillion Club was out in full force. There were a number of out-of-town guests.

Handsome and striking decorations transformed the hall. The stage was hidden behind masses of Easter flowers, and broad yellow streamers stretched from the chandelier to all the sides and corners of the ballroom. Two orchestras played alternately. The string orchestra, of five pieces, was in charge of Fred and William VanEps, of this city. Austin, of Brooklyn, furnished the other musicians.

Lewis G. Timpson led the cotillion. An admirable leader at all times, he surpassed himself last night. The figures were pretty and new, and there was a wide variety and much novelty in the favors.

It was intended to be an Easter cotillion, and the character of the affair was emphasized in all the features. Just before the supper the chief surprise of the evening was sprung. A screen before the main entrance was drawn suddenly, disclosing an Easter float drawn by a monster chick. The chick trotted through the ballroom with his float, amid a lot of handclapping that amply rewarded Mr. Timpson, who designed the surprise. The float bore a big yellow egg and a chirping brood of fluffy little chicks. Souvenir eggs, filled with candies, and Easter rabbits, were distributed to the ladies from the float. Ada Johnson, the tiny daughter of the sexton of Grace P. E. church, was the chick.

Supper was an elaborate affair, served in the Casino parlors at prettily decorated tables. After supper another surprise greeted the dancers. A big poster of the "Babes in Toyland" extravaganza was hung back of a drop curtain, with the faces of the figures cut out. At a signal from Mr. Timpson the curtain was rolled up and the ladies showed their faces in the holes in the poster. The men chose their partners from in front of the poster, the ladies marching in turn behind the poster until all of them had been supplied with partners.

The patronesses of the cotillion were Mrs. W. L. Saunders, Mrs. D. C. Ivins, Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mrs. H. O. Fleming, Mrs. C. F. Abbott and C. E. Brooks.

Before the cotillion a number of private dinners were held, to bring the dancers together. In this way Mrs. E. M. VanBurn, the Misses Waring, Mrs. T. D. Wilson and Mrs. L. E. Waring entertained.

SCHOOL TEACHERS' SALARIES ARE RAISED

Action Taken by Board of Education to Prevent Teachers From Leaving the Schools.

THE PLAN ADOPTED

UNANIMOUS ACTION TAKEN ON REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Change Mean an Expenditure of Only $700—Increased Cost of Living the Reason Given for the Raise.

Plainfield school teachers are at last to have their salaries raised. The action was recommended last night by the committee on teachers of the Board of Education, J. B. Probasco, chairman; C. F. Abbott and L. N. Lovell, and unanimously adopted by the Board.

The committee's report stated that, in the estimation of the members, the present maximum salary for teachers was inadequate. The increased cost of living during the past few years, it said, was not paralleled by an increase in teachers' salaries. Teachers have been troubled finding suitable boarding places at such cost as will leave them a fair balance at the end of the year. The maximum rate, according to the report, was materially less than that paid by other cities in New Jersey of a similar standing.

These conditions, said the report further, have resulted in the loss of some of the best teachers at the end of each year, so that almost one-half the teachers have been in the service of the city three years or less. Such frequent changes, advised the report, lowered the standard of the school system to the serious loss of the school children.

The recommendation adopted was that the maximum salary for grade teachers be raised to $650 and that the maximum for women teachers at the High School be raised to $900, teachers receiving the present maximum to receive an additional $25 a year until the new maximum is reached. The change, it was stated, would entail an increased expenditure of about $700.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HANNAH POPE

OBSEQUIES CONDUCTED BY SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST MINISTERS.

The funeral services of Mrs. Hannah Pope, widow of the late Elias R. Pope, were held last night from the home in Park avenue at 7:45 o'clock. There was a large gathering of relatives, friends and neighbors, and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, read the Scripture selection and Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, a former pastor of the church, made the address and at the close offered prayer and pronounced the benediction. Dr. Lewis paid deserving tribute to the life of Mrs. Pope, referring to her many excellent Christian qualities and her devotion to the cause of religion, as well as to her home. During the services, E. E. Runyon sang "The Homeland," and "Nearer My Home Today."

The interment took place this morning at Hillside Cemetery, the remains being placed in a vault besides those of Mrs. Pope's husband.

FAMOUS METHODIST HERE

REV. MARK GUY PEARSE, OF LONDON, TO SPEAK HERE.

All the Methodist churches will unite tomorrow night to hear the Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, of London, at the Crescent Avenue church. The visit of Mr. Pearse is regarded as a highly notable event among the Methodists.

It is generally conceded that Rev. Mr. Pearse is the most widely known clergyman in the Methodist church the world over. He is the author of more than twenty-five books, and his literary labors have given him wide repute. He is at his best depicting the character of Cornishmen. His "David Quorn," the best of his books, has sold in the hundreds of thousands.

POLICEMEN CHANGE BEATS

CHIEF KIELY MAKES THE CUSTOMARY TRANSFERS IN DEPARTMENT.

The most recent shake-up in the beats of members of the police force has been a thorough one. "Maury" Higgins, who has presided over the destinies of the West End for the past three years, is now preserving law and order at the other extremity of the city. Roundsman Flynn has been shifted to the West End; Patrolman McGinley has been changed from his night beat in the western part of the city to the territory around Seventh street. Patrolman Mosier is stationed at Netherwood in place of Patrolman Saunders; Hamilton has beat No. 4, Charles Flynn No. 1, Saffron 10 and 11, Overbaugh has Vanderweg's old route; and Myers and Quaas have town beats.

CONSTABLE MAY BE INDICTED

'PLAINS PEOPLE INCENSED OVER ROBERT WALPOLE'S DERELICTION.

Because he refused to serve a warrant for the arrest of an alleged poultry thief, Constable Robert Walpole has incurred the wrath of the people of Scotch Plains and a charge will probably be brought against him before the Grand Jury.

A warrant for the arrest of Joseph Sutherland was issued from Justice Hand's court and turned over to Walpole Saturday morning. Sutherland, it is said, stayed at Lee's Hotel in the 'Plains all day Saturday and Sunday. The charge against him was that of breaking into the outyards of Mulford Coles and stealing three ducks valued at $3 on February 24 and of committing other petty thefts from the same place since that time. Sutherland's claim is that he took the ducks in return for services rendered. He skipped town, it is said, Sunday night. He is out on $100 bail furnished by William Lee in a case in which he is charged with assault upon Edward Verity.

OVERTON, CAPTAIN.

A Former Hope Player Chosen to Head the Y. M. C. A. Team This Season.

"Teddy" Overton was elected captain of the Y. M. C. A. baseball nine last night. Overton played a fine game in the outfield for Hope Y. M. A. two summers ago. He is a popular player and a good baseball general.

The meeting last night was presided over by Manager William Symons. F. K. Armstrong was chosen assistant manager. It was decided to hold the first practise next Saturday afternoon on the Myrtle avenue grounds. Work on the season's schedule will be arranged at a meeting this week, when a part at least of the season's games will be announced.

The report of the entertainment committee was gratifying. The entertainers will be the New Century Trio.

Fire at Driving Park.

In burning off a stubble-field yesterday morning Michael Quinn, of Avon Park accidentally set fire to the long sheds on the Plainfield Driving Park grounds. Manager John Osborn, who has charge of the fair grounds property for J. Wesley Johnson, the owner, localized the danger by tearing down a portion of the structure and fighting the flames in the space to which they were thus restricted. The fire was due to the fact that the stubble was fired without first plowing fire-guards around the field.

Celebrated Her Birthday.

Blanche Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Stout, of Madison avenue, celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary last night with the assistance of a few of her little friends.

GRADUATION EXERCISES, P. H. S. ON JUNE 16

A GRATIFYING REPORT

SUPERINTENDENT MAXSON TELLS OF STANDARD IN COMMERCIAL COURSE.

Borrow Money for Temporary Need—Baptist Church the Place for Holding Annual Exercises—Boy to Deliver Oration.

Besides raising the salaries of teachers, the Board of Education did little last night out of the ordinary routine of business. For the finance committee, L. N. Lovell, chairman, reported. It was voted to authorize the borrowing of $3,496.93 from the City National Bank, to meet the expense of the recent competition for the best architect's plans for the new High School building; to pay for the removing of bodies from the ground acquired for the building to Hillside cemetery; and to meet the expense of curbing and flagging the street, with a few minor expenses. The bill for removing the bodies was about $1,800 and for curbing and flagging the street, $172.

Permission was granted the Senior class of the High School to give its play, "She Stoops to Conquer," at the Casino instead of in Franklin Hall as usual, in order to accommodate a large number of friends of the class. Announcement was made of the appointments of Miss Anna Broadnax as valedictorian and Miss Randall as salutatorian for the High School commencement exercises. It was recommended and voted that a place on the Commencement programme be given to one of the boys of the class in order to emphasize the oratorical part of the school's work.

Superintendent Maxson made a strongly favorable report on the work of graduates of the commercial department of the High School. He said that one of the graduates recently took the examinations at one of the large employment agencies and was complimented on the unusually high average attained. Several other similar reports on the thorough work of graduates were cited and mention was made of the fact that one young woman within a few months of graduation took a $600 position with the prospect of an early advancement to $750. Other recent graduates are receiving salaries higher than Plainfield teachers.

On motion of Mr. Cave, the committee on teachers was authorized to contract with teachers for the ensuing school year. It was announced by Dr. Probasco that the High School commencement exercises would take place in the First Baptist church Thursday, June 16. The clerk was instructed to arrange for the music and other details. The matter of advertising for bids for supplying coal, and other materials and supplies for the schools for next year was referred to the proper committees.

The Newark team won by 18 points, the total scores being Company I, 836; Company K, 818. The conditions were ten rounds at both standing and prone, the distance being 200 and 300 yards respectively. In the former match, shot several months ago the Plainfield marksmen won by 9 points, and their defeat Saturday night caused them to feel somewhat blue. In this match the former company won.

THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY ROASTED TO DEATH

Three Quarters of Child's Skin Burned to a Crisp When Lad Played at Brushheap.

JOHN SIKOWFKE'S SON

ACCIDENT HAPPENED IN HIS FATHER'S YARD ON RAYMOND AVENUE.

Victim Dies When Being Hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital in an Ambuulance—Pitiful Cries of the Little One.

Roasted almost beyond recognition while playing about a brush fire in his father's yard, in Raymond avenue, yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock, little Alexander Sikowfke, the three-year-old son of John Sikowfke, died last night shortly after 7 o'clock, while he was being removed to the hospital.

Three-quarters of the child's skin was burned to a crisp. The little fellow's clothes caught from the brush fire and in a minute flared into a blaze that enveloped him. When help came in answer to his cries, he was beyond saving.

Dr. T. H. Tomlinson attended the child at 2 o'clock and again at 7 when he ordered his removal to Muhlenberg Hospital. It was on the way to the hospital that death relieved the baby's terrible sufferings.

TO PROSECUTE MILKMEN

BOROUGH BOARD OF HEALTH TAKES IMPORTANT ACTION.

Milkmen who refuse to obey the borough health ordinance requiring them to take out permits will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. This was unanimously decided upon at the meeting of the borough board last night.

Most of the milkmen have complied with the law, but a few of the men in the business refuse to see the right of the board to make them pay the fee and insist on doing business without taking out a permit. The matter has been decided upon by the Supreme Court, however, and the board voted last night to take extreme action against the men who continue to defy them.

The penalty is $30 and costs for each offense. The inspector was instructed to notify the milkmen of the board's action, and those who persist in their defiance will be arrested and prosecuted.

The board passed the anti-spitting ordinance on its second reading. At the next meeting it will go through its final passage, and as soon as the legal formalities are attended to the ordinance will be enacted.

At present there is only one case of contagious disease in the borough.

This meeting is held annually for the purpose of continuing the organization, according to its charter.

Exempts Elect.

The results of the annual election of the Exempt Firemen held last night were as follows: President, V. W. Nash; vice president, J. E. Flannery; secretary, G. Thorn; treasurer, E. M. Laing; financial secretary, George W. Clark; board of trustees, D. W. Littell, William A. Woodruff, Samuel Robinson, E. M. Laing and J. A. Hubbard; delegates to State convention to be held May 16, E. M. Laing, V. W. Nash, D. W. Littell, W. A. Woodruff, G. Thorn, J. E. Flannery; delegates to relief association, G. Thorn and Mr. Cranston; delegate to Board of Visitors, G. W. Clark.

Conforming to New Law.

The pass books of the Central Building and Loan Association members were changed last night to conform to the provisions of a law passed in 1903, compelling all such associations to become strictly local in character.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Taft, of Grandview avenue, have removed to Brooklyn.

MINOR TRANSACTIONS OF COMMON COUNCIL

$1,000 FOR HOSPITAL

SETTLEMENT TO BE MADE FOR THE MYRTLE AVENUE EXTENSION.

One More 'Phone for the City—City Officials to be Supplied With a Magazine on Municipal Work—Tax Budget Laid Over.

The business considered at the April meeting of the Council last night, in addition to the question of the municipal collection of garbage, was chiefly of a routine nature. All of the members were present except Mr. Wilson.

During the session Mr. Daniel called up the ordinance providing for the appropriation of $125,000 for the purchase of lands and the erection of a new High School and it was adopted on its third reading.

Under the head of petitions, several were received. One for an electric light on Midway avenue, between Berkley and Johnston avenues, one asking that Cedar brook be widened, and the channel deepened. Another from the Public Service Corporation informed the Council that one light previously ordered had been put in place and a communication was received from the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital in which the Board agreed to take care of the city's poor for one year for the sum of $1,000. In connection with this Mr. Garrigues offered a resolution providing that the Council appropriate that sum to the hospital, and the resolution was adopted

City Judge William N. Runyon's quarterly report was received, showing that 182 [cases had been disposed of and $160 received in fines. Building Inspector Doane reported that ten building permits were granted during last month.

Mr. Daniel reported on several matters, one of which was a petition received December 4 last from F. E. Kinsman, regarding the purchase of property at 432-434 Pemberton avenue, under the Martin Act. Accompanying the report was an opinion from the corporation counsel, in which the Council was advised to re-imburse Mr. Kinsman for money paid for redemption, not including that paid representing the amount for taxes. A resolution was offered by Mr. Daniel concurring in the opinion of Mr. Marsh and was adopted.

Resolutions offered by Mr. Daniel provided for the transfer of $2,500 from the general to the fire fund and $500 from the same fund to the poor fund and for the loan of $1,500 for sewer improvements were adopted.

Mr. Gloak offered resolutions providing for a settlement with property-owners in the proposed opening of Myrtle avenue from Green-brook to Compton avenue and authorizing Collector F. H. Smith to receive money so received. These resolutions were adopted. They also provided that in case the property-owners fail to settle on the terms in the report of the commissioners, the land is to be taken for the purpose decided upon.

Mr. Gloak offered another resolution to the effect that the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company be requested to establish another telephone for the use of the street committee. It will be placed in the home of Mr. Gloak, chairman of the street committee, without expense to the city.

Mr. Murphy offered resolutions granting one light on Berkely avenue, between Park lane and Leland avenue and another one on Prospect avenue, between Hillside and Woodland avenues. These were granted in response to petitions.

Mr. Bullock, who has been a reader of the Municipal Journal and Engineer, an authority on matters of interest to municipalities, especially in regarding to sewage and the collection and disposal of garbage, offered a resolution that the city subscribe for fifteen copies at $2 each, per year. Each member of the Council will receive a copy, as will also the chiefs of the fire and police departments and the street commissioner. The resolution was adopted, Mr. Daniel alone voting no.

Mr. Daniel stated in conclusion that it had always been the custom to introduce the tax ordinance at the April meeting, but in view of the fact that the session would be a busy one it was decided to lay the matter over until an adjourned meeting. He then moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet on Wednesday night, April 13.

LABAREE'S MURDER

Persian General Has Located the Assassin.

STEPS TO SECURE HIS CAPTURE

Si Jafa, a Persian Desperado, Killed Mr. Daniel, a British Subject, and Has Committed Many Crimes. A Descendant of Mohammed.

URUMIYAH, Persia, April 5.—General Midjid Saltaneh, who has been charged by the Persian authorities with the task of discovering the murderer or murderers of Rev. Benjamin W. Labaree, son of Dr. Benjamin Labaree, superintendent of the American mission, has returned here and reports that the murderer, whose name is Si Jafa, was found at a place where he had been hidden, but that the populace declined to give him up. Nevertheless the authorities expect to effect the capture of the murderer.

It was at first thought that the missionary who had been murdered was Dr. Benjamin Labaree, one of the best known Presbyterian missionaries in the Asiatic field, who had been stationed in Persia since 1860; but, according to later advices, it seems that the deceased missionary was his son, Rev. Benjamin W. Labaree, who had been assisting his father in the work in Persia. Details of the death of the missionary say that an investigation has shown that Dr. Labaree was killed while returning from Koia to Urumiyah on horseback, accompanied by a servant, and that both minister and servant were found dead by the roadside. Their bodies had been stripped and mutilated and had numerous stab wounds, and the horses and effects of the travelers were missing.

United States Minister Pearson moved with the greatest energy to secure the capture and punishment of the murderer of the Rev. Mr. Labaree, and the minister has informed the state department from Teheran that the murderer has been identified and located on Mount Ararat, near the Turkish frontier. The same man, Minister Pearson reported, had committed several other murders, one being that of Mr. Daniel, a British subject, last December. The murderer, the minister said, was aided by savage Kurds who were sheltering and protecting him. His name is given as Si Jafa, and he claims to be a lineal descendant of Mohammed and therefore entitled to special privileges.

Mrs. Watson Taken West.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Mrs. Emma L. Watson, under indictment at Portland, Ore., in connection with alleged land swindles, waived examintaion when arraigned before United States Commissioner Humphrey and, in company with Deputy Marshal Middleton, boarded a train for the Pacific coast. Because of information from a secret source that an attempt would be made to take Mrs. Watson from his custody on the trip Deputy Marshal Middleton went heavily armed, and the railroad over which the trip to the west was made was kept a secret. Mrs. Watson said: "The secret service agents have told their side of the story. I shall not tell mine until I reach Portland. The secret service agents may have said too much for their own good. That's all."

Defense of Mrs. Botkin.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Additional testimony for the defense was offered in the trial of Mrs. Cordelia Botkin for the murder of Mrs. John Dunning by means of poisoned candy sent from San Francisco by mail to Dover, Del. Former Sheriff Lachman declared that Mrs. Botkin was in her cell in the county jail on the day when she, it is asserted, was seen on Market street. This opened the way for testimony regarding a possible doubt, which, however, was not admitted. Superintendent Ford of the Ferry postoffice cast doubt on the identification of Mrs. Botkin's handwriting on the box of candy. Other witnesses testified that Mrs. Botkin was in Eureka when one of the letters to Mrs. Dunning was mailed.

Political Difference at Lawton.

LAWTON, Okla., April 5.—L. T. Russell of the State Democrat has shot and severely wounded Colonel J. W. Hawkins, former assistant chief of police, while the Democratic county convention was organizing. Hawkins was shot in the right thigh, the left knee and the abdomen. The streets were crowded when Russell fired three shots, it is said, before Hawkins drew a pistol. Hawkins fired at Russell as Russell ran from behind a wagon to a stairway, but the shots went wild. From the stairway Russell fired again, but ineffectively. Hawkins asked the crowd to stand out of the way before he fell. Russell is in jail. Both men were active in politics.

Barely Escaped With Their Lives.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Captain McLean of the wrecked schooner William Jones and his crew of six men have been landed at City Island by the tug John Hughes. The captain reports that the vessel could not be saved and now lies directly in the course of incoming and outgoing vessels. The men lost all their effects, barely escaping with their lives.

JAPANESE ADVANCE

Wiju Occupied Without a Shot Being Fired.

RUSSIANS RETREATED ACROSS YALU

General Kuropatkin's Strategy Said to Be a Plan of Retreat to Draw the Japanese Into Manchuria and Then Slaughter Them.

LONDON, April 5.—A dispatch from Seoul says the Japanese troops have occupied Wiju. There was no fighting, the Russians retreating across the Yalu as the victorious Japanese army advanced. The Japanese have apparently turned the flank of the Russians and are in a position to force the abandonment of the Yalu without a battle.

It is reported that a force of 105,000 men has been landed opposite Takushan, in southern Manchuria.

A Harbin report says from all sides Russian soldiers are pouring into Harbin, the uncompleted railroad station there has been transformed into a barracks, and almost every house in the town is occupied by soldiers.

Pristan, a short distance away, which until recently had been a small village on the bank of the Sungari river, has become a city with temporary buildings, which are being used by the troops as hotels and restaurants.

The snow filled streets of the two cities are thronged with picturesque Cossacks, bearded Siberians, sharpshooters and galloping orderlies, all imbued with the fever to get to the front. Merchants and restaurant keepers have been accused by some of the soldiers of extortion, but money is cheap.

The Russian authorities at Harbin are exercising greater vigilance to prevent the news of their plans for the movement to and the disposition of troops in the theater of war, which are now being made on a large scale, from going abroad, where they might be of service to the enemy.

Secrets regarding what is actually happening are being kept well. It is as if an impenetrable curtain had suddenly been rung down on the stage of the war in east Asia. Behind this curtain the greatest activity prevails. General Kuropatkin at his temporary headquarters in Liaoyang is directing the execution of his plans, moving the troops, strengthening the positions selected, oiling the wheels of the commissariat and quartermaster's departments, perfecting the hospital service and otherwise looking after the organization and innumerable wants of the army in the field.

General Kuropatkin's plan of campaign is in the keeping of those who will betray nothing. Only the barest outlines are known, and the rest is pure guesswork. The general's plan of campaign has been worked out, and it involves the playing of a waiting game. Every day is now considered a distinct gain for the Russians and as distinct a loss for the Japanese. For this reason it can be confidently predicted that the Russians will not do more than harass the Japanese advance in Korea. The gradual withdrawal of the Russians does not mean anything as determining the fighting capacities of the men of the armies, as this is part of the Russian tactics.

The Russians count upon a Japanese flanking movement in connection with a frontal attack, and therefore a Russian force has been disposed along the Tumen to prevent the entrance of a Japanese column there. Another flanking movement is expected at the head of the Liaotung gulf, near Newchwang, and everything there is being prepared to receive the enemy, but for the present the Russian military authorities believe that the Japanese game at this point has been blocked by the failure of the attempts to bottle up and render immobile the fleet of Vice Admiral Makaroff, which while free will be too great a menace to the movement of Japanese transports in the gulf of Pechili. Another effort to block Port Arthur is consequently expected daily.

One of the principal reasons for Viceroy Alexeieff's visit to Port Arthur in addition to inspecting the ships and defenses is understood to have been for the purpose of consulting Vice Admiral Makaroff with a view to devising plans for defeating these attacks, and to this end all additional possible precautions have been taken. Indeed it is hinted in high quarters that the next time the Japanese appear off Port Arthur they will find a hot and heavy surprise awaiting them.

Viceroy Alexeieff has returned to Mukden.

Can't Get War News.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—It is stated at the war department that Brigadier General Allen of the Philippine constabulary had been ordered from Seoul, Korea, to his regular station at Manila at his own request on the ground that the sources of information at Seoul regarding military operations are exhausted, and consequently there is no longer any object in his remaining there.

Persian Prince at Blagovestchensk.

BLAGOVESTCHENSK, Siberia, April 5.—The Persian Prince Mansur Mirsa, who will be attached to the Amur Cossacks, has passed through here on his way to the front.

Charged With $10,000 Embezzlement.

BOSTON, April 5.—On a charge of having embezzled $10,000 from the Smithmade Suspender company, of which he was head bookkeeper, W. H. Bartlett has been held for the superior court. The police state that speculation caused the alleged shortage, which is said to have covered a period of seven years.

To regulate the matter of yearly elections the Board divided itself into three groups: those who are to serve one year; those who will act two years and those who will remain in office three years. There are six each in the two former classifications and seven in the latter. At the May meeting two members will be elected for one year, two for two years and one for three years.

There was a good deal of discussion over the new nurses' home to be built on the hospital tract. It was expected that action would be taken on the matter, but the architect, Evarts Tracy, was not ready to lay the plans before the Board. A meeting will be held on April 18 to receive Mr. Tracy's plans, complete in every detail. At that meeting the question of the home's erection will be taken up in earnest. The plans and estimates will be thoroughly gone over, and the location of the building will probably be decided upon. At present some of the members favor Randolph road and others want Park avenue as the site for the building. Mr. Tracy's general plans for the structure have already been seen and approved by the members of the Board.

Considerable routine business was transacted. The report of Dr. W. H. Murray, the medical director of the hospital, for the past month was as follows:

Patients admitted, 49; cured, 31; discharged improved, 11; not improved, 2; died, 3; total treated, 78; operations, 28. There were 26 dispensary cases.

Wedding Invitations.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth A. Runyon, of 94 Grove street, and Isaac Campbell Dunn, of Stelton. The affair will be celebrated at the home of the bride on Thursday night, April 14, at 6:30 o'clock.

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

In view of the fact that Mark Guy Pearse, of London, will speak in the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow evening the prayer meeting of Grace M. E. church will be omitted, giving the congregation opportunity to attend.

A christening was among the Easter features at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church. The son of Edward Coffey was the infant. Father Egan christened him John Joseph. Miss Margaret Kennedy was godmother and Michael Crowley godfather.

A talk appropriate to Easter was given at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting Sunday afternoon by James F. Parker, of this city. Miss Florence Ackor was soloist, and the Y. M. C. A. male quartette, W. C. Leek, William Simmons, G. Vroom and F. S. Lockwood, sang.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church and Society will be held in the church Wednesday night, April 13, at 8:30. On the same night from 6 to 7:30 the annual supper will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Association, at which time letters from absent members will be read.

The annual meeting of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be held at the church on Wednesday night, April 31, to elect elders in place of John Neal, Andrew J. Gavett and Stephen Cahoone, and two deacons in place of H. O. Newman and John Doull Miller; to hear reports of officers and departments and transact other business.

Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, of London, one of the great leaders of Methodism in England, well-known to Americans through numerous books he has written, will make an address at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night. In view of this, the prayer meetings scheduled for the various M. E. churches in the city, will be omitted.

Mrs. Harriet Smack, of Newark, is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. L. Greer.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

A crane for going West seems to have struck the people of Dunellen, and if it keeps up at the present rate Dunellen will soon be looking for a new factory or some other enterprise that will bring people here. A short time ago Albert Doolittle, son of Rev. Mr. Doolittle, left for Pheonix, Arizona, where he is now stationed. Yesterday Frank Touzeau left for Caldwell, Idaho, where he will enter into the sheep raising business. Edmund Teel and family left town today and after spending a few days with friends in Easton, Pa., they will leave for California, where they will join Mr. Teel's son, Charles Teel, who left here three years ago. Mr. Teel expects to start a chicken farm on one of the suburbs of San Francisco. It is now reported that James McMahon and Edward Woods will soon leave for Boulder, Colo., where they expect to work as gold miners.

Russell Garretson and Harry Titsworth have signed with the Greenbrook Stars for the coming season. They are practising hard and expect to make a good showing.

Patrick Carroll, who was arrested on Sunday afternoon, charged with disorderly conduct, was arraigned before Recorder Campbell yesterday morning and fined $3.

After a short illness Joe Muttongroft, fireman on the Dunellen pusher, has returned to work.

Five carloads of machinery have arrived for the Aluminum Plate and Press Works.

Mrs. Clement Dixon has returned home after a visit with relatives in Raritan.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains will miss the ball games during the coming season, not only as a pleasant recreation for Saturday afternoons and holidays, but from a financial standpoint. A ball game on the local diamond meant the circulations one way and another of several hundred dollars in town. Without a team it means that the local fans will look elsewhere for the pleasure and spend their money. Before the season is half over every one will regret the fact that Scotch Plains is not in the swim and raking in the sheckels. During the three years the club has been organized, much money has been expended in the way of improvement to the grounds, erecting grandstands, etc., but it has all been paid for and each season has found a nice balance in the treasury. The present season would have opened with nearly $200 in the treasury and no improvements to be made. The best outlook the club has ever had at the opening of a season, and yet it has been decided that there will be no team. It certainly looks as though a little ambition or enthusiasm could have started one of the most successful years the club has ever had.

But few of the present generation know that the long narrow strip of green sward extending from the Baptist church to the corner of Mountain avenue, is a spot on which history of Scotch Plains was made over one hundred years ago. This was the "village green," where all public meetings and elections were held. In those days voting is said to have been done by counting of heads instead of ballots. Those in favor of a candidate moved to one side of the green, while those opposed gathered opposite. A politician's life must have been a hard one in those days.

It is a peculiar thing how one can become used to an evil and in time endure it without murmuring. For a long time the residents kicked and howled about the wretched trolley service rendered by the P. S. C. There is very little kicking now, the local patrons simply take a light lunch with them camp along the trail and wait until a car comes along.

The annual parish meeting of the Baptist church was held last night in the church parlors. The retiring Board of Trustees were re-elected, being as follows: Charles H. Vincent, J. H. L. Todd, A. D. Beeton, John Boorman, Fred W. Hoppell, Edward Johnston and Dr. F. W. Westcott.

A sure sign of spring—the annual meeting of the Cooper and Riley tribes of gypsies is being held at the old camping ground on Mountain avenue. Tents were pitched Saturday afternoon and the spot looks like an outpost encampment of the Japanese army.

Edward Cook, of the firm of Cook Brothers, who are conducting the poultry farm on Mountain avenue, has returned from South Africa, where the company has another large poultry farm, said to be one of the largest in the world.

Donald Fullerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fullerton, of Washington Valley, who has been seriously ill for several weeks with pneumonia, has entirely recovered and is able to go out now every day.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Collins, of the borough, has returned from New York, where they have been attending the funeral of Mrs. Collins' father, Rev. Dr. Rogers Morse.

The Baptist church bell was rung Sunday for the first time since Mrs. Edward L. Hand has been seriously ill at the home of her mother opposite the church.

The Daily Press predicted last week that several marriages would be announced early in April. Two have already been announced. Who will be the next?

The K. O. G. Club held another of their series of winter dances in the Fanwood fire house Thursday night.

The weekly meeting of the Bible study class connected with the Methodist church, will be held tonight.

Miss Lizzie Reick, of Plainfield, has been visiting her sister, Miss Nettie Reick, has returned home.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The one hundred and twelfth annual meeting of the Baptist church was held Saturday afternoon in the lecture room of the church. Reports were heard from the various organizations as follows: The Ladies' Aid Society, the Woman's Mission Circle, the Christian Endeavor Society, the Manager of the Home for the Aged, and the Sunday-school. The Ladies' Aid Society has held regular meetings twice a month, and has raised a larger amount of money than ever before in its history. The Missionary Circle has also held bi-monthly meetings and has raised considerable money for foreign and home mission benevolence. The Christian Endeavor Society has held regular weekly prayer meetings on Sunday evenings at 7 o'clock, previous to the regular church services; the Sunday-school has been well attended during the year, and besides being self supporting, has given regular monthly offerings to missionary purposes. During the year the church has been newly painted and repaired at an expense of from $300 to $400 which was raised by subscriptions. John C. Morris and Lewis Campbell were elected as trustees to succeed themselves, Charles H. Brantingham was re-elected clerk, and R. B. Manning treasurer. R. B. Manning was also re-elected superintendent of the Sunday-school, which position he has held several years.

Easter services were observed Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist church. Palms and other appropriate decorations were tastily arranged by the ladies. The services were participated in by fair sized audiences, and an Easter offering was made to the Old Ministers' Home, situated in New York city.

M. W. Payne has bought a new horse to replace the one he lost. The seller was Howard Snowden.

William B. Manning has improved but slightly from his long illness. He is not able to get about.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the public library tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

CUBAN RULERS RIOT

Congress at Havana Scene of Wild Disorder.

ELECTION FRAUDS CAUSE UPROAR

Nationalists, Accompanied by a Mob, Crowded the Audience Chamber and Hall Until It Was Necessary to Summon the Police.

HAVANA, April 5.—The scene in the house of representatives was one of wild disorder. As a matter of fact there was no formal opening of the house, owing to the inability to muster a quorum, for the reason that every Nationalist member refused to enter the chamber, the Nationalists fearing that if the question of contested seats arose they would be outvoted by the coalition lately arranged between the Republicans and the Moderate Liberals. The Nationalists, however, came into the building, accompanied by several hundred local followers, who crowded into the audience part of the chamber and into the halls and the streets adjoining, shouting "vivas" for the Nationalist party. The Republicans and Moderate Liberals for the most part remained in their seats.

During the confusion the speaker of the house, who is a Nationalist, not being present, the vice speaker called upon the sergeant at arms and the employees of the house to preserve order, but the crowd was too great to handle. Lionaz Castillo, a prominent Nationalist, who was one of those elected, mounted the reporters' table and, addressing the crowd, assured it that justice would be done and that the representatives who had been fraudulently declared elected would never be permitted to take their seats.

As the disorder continued Representative Boza, himself a Nationalist, addressed the people to the effect that such a demonstration in the house was not only unlawful, but outrageous, and he counseled them that no redress of grievances could be had by such means. The people thereupon began to withdraw quietly just as a squad of police entered the building.

In the crowd were many negroes, but the more intelligent of the race in Havana were not represented.

Owing to the fact that there was no session President Palma's message to congress was not read in the house.

Since the coalition of the Moderate elements the Nationalists have shown no desire to submit party questions to a vote. They have made various proposals to the Moderates to compromise the cases of representatives proclaimed elected to seats from the contested districts in the provinces of Havana, Pinar del Rio and Santa Clara, but are unwilling to settle the question of membership from Santiago and Puerto Principe provinces except by an investigation of the merits of the respective cases.

President Palma's message, which was read in the senate, contained 16,000 words and was chiefly a review of existing conditions. It made few definite recommendations and contained no direct reference to the frauds alleged to surround the election returns.

President Palma cited the fact that 658 questions in dispute arising from the elections had been referred to the courts as a proof of the desire of the people to settle these questions through the constituted authorities instead of having recourse to violence and said it was reassuring to find that the Cubans were seeking to regulate the suffrage and so make it a salutory instead of a dangerous force. "If," said the message, "the officials designated to make returns make them falsely they commit the horrid crime of high treason by usurping the rights of voters, lessening the efficiency of the suffrage, turning the best people away from the polls and causing liability to anarchy or a dictatorship."

In this connection President Palma recommended that the electoral law be so amended that the will of the people shall not be thwarted.

The state of tranquility existing in the island, the message pointed out, was extremely satisfactory despite the conglomeration of various nationalities, and it said that the Cubans were acquiring more correct ideas as to their duties as an independent people of their responsibilities before the eyes of the civilized world.

President Palma commended the efficacy and prestige of the rural guards and recommended that that force, now numbering 3,000, be increased by 1,000, and he added that the reorganization of the artillery was being carried out.

Senator Burton Arraigned.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—United States Senator J. R. Burton of Kansas, who was convicted of accepting payment for using his official influence with the postoffice department in behalf of the Rialto Grain and Securities company of St. Louis, has been arraigned in the United States district court, when the bill of exceptions prepared by his counsel to secure a rehearing of his case was filed. The examination of the bill of exceptions was completed by the government and returned to counsel for the defense. If Judge Adams refuses the application for a new trial when the bill is presented it is expected that sentence will at once be imposed on Senator Burton and that his case will be appealed.

Brooklyn Oil Factory Burned.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The factory of the Oil Seeds Pressing company, manufacturers of vegetable oils, on Irving street, South Brooklyn, has been destroyed by fire, causing a loss of about $75,000. The fruit storage house of the Hills Bros.' company, in the rear, was badly damaged.

MABEL PAGE'S DEATH.

WESTON, Mass., April 5.—The authorities investigating the murder of Miss Mabel Page at her father's home here last Thursday have been furnished with a new clew by a neighbor of the Pages.

Miss Huntington, who lives about a mile from the Page house, informed Harold Page, brother of the dead woman, and also the police that she had recalled having seen a strange man about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon coming along South avenue from the direction of the Page premises, apparently much excited. He was hurrying, Miss Huntington says, and perspiring freely. He turned the corner into Wellesley avenue and disappeared in that direction. The police promptly began work on this clew, Miss Huntington having furnished them with a description of the man.

The man attracted attention particularly because he seemed to be so warm on a cold day. It also was unusual to see a person so well dressed as this man was so far from the trolley lines. The police also are weighing carefully, they say, the information that a former Boston man was at one time engaged to marry Miss Page and that the engagement was broken on the eve of the wedding day. The officers say that they have decided to find this man, who is said to have left Boston immediately after his alleged dismissal by Miss Page.

The last person aside from the murderer himself who saw Miss Page alive was doubtless a laundryman. When he called for laundry shortly before noon Thursday she wore a black waist and skirt instead of the loose wrapper the servant said she had on at 10:30, when the servant, Annie Roberts, left the Page house.

The maniac theory is found to have little ground for confirmation. The man who escaped from a Taunton asylum is no longer implicated, as he is known to have worked steadily on a farm in Somerset since he left the institution.

Tucker Held by Police.

NEWTON, Mass., April 5.—Charles L. Tucker of this city was late last night taken to the headquarters of the police department in West Newton, where he is being subjected to a searching examination regarding his movements on the day of the murder of Miss Mabel Page at Weston.

MYSTERY IS SOLVED.

Police Are Aware Who Shot Parker Dexter.

RANDOLPH, Mass., April 5.—State Detective Scott, who has charge of the investigation being made into the death by shooting of Parker Dexter at the home of his parents in this town on March 27, has announced that the person who did the shooting was known to the police. So far as the officers are concerned the mystery surrounding the death of the eleven-year-old boy is solved.

Detective Scott said that the particulars of the case would be given out within a few days.

Young Dexter was shot and fatally injured during the absence of his parents, the only other known occupant of the house at the time being Harris Dexter, a fourteen-year-old brother. Upon the return of the father Harris Dexter said that his brother had been shot by one of two men who forced their way into the home. Parker Dexter died the following day at a hospital in Boston, and since that time the police have made repeated efforts to obtain from the older boy a more plausible explanation of his brother's death.

DIVORCE MIXUP.

Mrs. Dodge Is Mrs. Morse, Says Judge Truax.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Mrs. Clemence O. Dodge is Mrs. Charles W. Morse again. This is the result of a decision handed down by Justice Truax in the supreme court.

Charles W. Morse, the ice magnate, had applied for an annulment of the decree setting aside his marriage to Mrs. Dodge. This annulment the court grants, Justice Truax saying:

"The evidence shows very clearly that the defendant, Charles F. Dodge, authorized Mortimer A. Ruger to appear for him in this action. Motion to set aside the order vacating and setting aside the judgment herein is granted."

Mrs. Dodge was divorced from her then husband on June 27, 1898, and on June 19, 1901, she married C. W. Morse. Last fall Dodge came forward with the plea that his wife's divorce had never been legal because he had not been served with the papers in her suit. On this basis Mrs. Dodge's marriage to Morse was annulled, and it was this decree of annulment which Justice Truax now sets aside.

Hamburg Liner Rams Spaniard.

MALAGA, Spain, April 5.—Off Cape de Gata on Sunday morning the Hamburg-American line steamer Prinz Adalbert, in command of Captain Schaarschmidt and bound to Naples and Genoa from New York, came in collision with the Spanish bark Jose Roig, Captain Gelpi, bound to Cadiz from Tarragona. The Jose Roig had her stem crushed to the water's edge and was towed into this port. The Prinz Adalbert apparently sustained no damage. She continued on her voyage.

British at Guru, Tibet.

GURU, Tibet, April 5.—The British mission to Tibet, accompanied by Colonel Macdonald's flying column, has arrived here. A Chinese general from Lassa visited Colonel Younghusband and requested that the mission withdraw.

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the 3 trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

DRESS REFORM.

The Lesson of a Play—The Modes of the Moment.

Yesterday I went to the theater to see "The Admirable Crichton," and I was struck as I never have been before with the miserable hampering of modern garments for women, such as are considered necessary for the young ladies of the hour. The first act and the last show us the conventional evening dress of young ladies, with the long skirts and low bodices. The skirts hamper every movement and bring them to the most rigid conventionality, which means unnaturalness. The waists—well, there is little to say about them, but the shoulder straps seemed to hold the arms as in a vise. All the wearers could do was to languidly walk around, dragging their trains, and loll and finally fall asleep in easy chairs and incidentally bicker, as loving sisters sometimes do.

During the other two acts these same girls are on a desert island, shipwrecked and dressed in such rags and tags as they saved from the wreck. Then, when these had literally worn out, they had somehow managed to weave some coarse stuff, and with this and skins they made suits something like a man's hunting costume when he must be his own tailor. Needless to say they were becoming. But their becomingness is not why they are mentioned here. The girls who wore them ran up ladders, leaped over rocks and through windows, hunted, fished and seemed to be fairly wild with the very joy of living in this unconventional costume. Their movements were as free and unconstrained as those of the wild gazelles and as graceful, and their spirits fairly bubbled over. Then, in the last act, they were tripping and stumbling in the long skirts, weak, weary and languid again. The sermon is a good one, and I think every woman present sighed for the delightful freedom of those island suits.

The Germans are making great efforts toward reform in such things, but they have reached only the stage where corsets are discarded. Many of our sensible women also have reached that point.

It will take me some time to get my ideas out of this tangle and down to such a point that I can tell with customary enthusiasm of the dresses of the hour. Well, as it must be done here it is: In the first place, material varies so widely that one can say almost anything and still be right. For the bright spring days in the streets we find so many pretty woolen mixtures and plain stuffs that a choice is not easy. But as we must wear dresses one made after the model shown here would not be so very bad, except that the skirts are so much longer than nature requires. This particular gown is of basket weave in dark brown on biscuit. The skirt is fitted to the figure by many small plaits and one deep plait in the back. There is a shaped flounce at the foot, and this is finished with a thick featherbone piping and a row of small tabs of brown cloth, each having a dull gilt button on it. The waist opens at the left side under the tabs and has a pretty arrangement of velvet as a revers collar over a chemisette of white linen. The sleeves are made with the caps and puff and the cuff. These cuffs are wide or narrow, as the owner may wish. Some of the tailored sleeves have a bell shaped upper part, reaching to the wrist on the outside of the arm and to the bend of the elbow on the inner seam.

SPRING WALKING GOWN.

Flounces, on the straight, on the bias, shirred at the top and plaited, are all in style, and shaped flounces are by no means out of fashion. It depends somewhat on personal taste and on the cost of the material. Bias flounces are most economical, as they do not need to be so full as straight ones.

All dresses, no matter of what material or for what purpose they are used, are made deep on the shoulders, and when it is not possible to do this the caps of the sleeves are so arranged as to create the appearance of width. Some have caps as part of the waist, and these make the shoulders appear much wider, even as men's coats are built out.

Hats that are bonnets and bonnets that are hats are among the newest millinery. Flat hats with wide tulle strings to tie under the chin and trimmed with poetic wreaths of roses are among those best adapted to wearing with the pronounced 1830 styles which are now a fixed fact. Yet the tight habit skirt is going to die a hard death.

Some of the new [illegible] are offered for tailor suits. They are in all the season's best colors—dark blue, brown and the grays and [illegible].

EAST ISLAND BATTLE.

Oyster Bay Deputy Sheriffs Meet Defeat.

GLEN COVE, N. Y., April 5.—Flushed with victory and undismayed because of the arrival of recent re-enforcements in the camp of the enemy, the deputy sheriffs of Westchester county who have come over to hold East island for Mr. Leonard Jacob of New York against the attacks made on it by deputy sheriffs representing the interests of Oyster Bay, are once more in possession of the disputed strip after having outwitted their opposing forces by a clever piece of strategy.

For just a year the East island war has been going on, and it all resulted from the claim made by Mr. Jacob to a strip of sandy beach along the sound which he claims he bought from its original owners, but which the village of Oyster Bay claims is land washed up out of the sound and the property of that village. Driven out last year when the war first began, Mr. Jacob's men stole a march on their none too wide awake opponents and landed a force on Thursday, taking possession of the cottage which stands on the narrow strip.

They were not allowed to remain there undisturbed, however, and were eventually driven out by a large number of townspeople who came to the aid of the Oyster Bay deputy sheriff under Captain Pat McCahill.

Their victory was short lived, however, and now the opposing forces are again in possession. It came about in this way: When Captain McCahill's forces were not on the lookout the sturdy band which represents Mr. Jacob's interest took down their tent, which had stood on neutral ground, and, passing the barrier of fences erected by the townspeople, established themselves once more on the disputed property within a stone's throw of the cabin occupied by the Oyster Bay forces.

WEST TAMPA'S BIG FIRE.

Fifteen Blocks Burned—Hundreds of Cigarmakers Homeless.

TAMPA, Fla., April 5.—A fire swept West Tampa yesterday afternoon and before it was practically under control had caused a loss which will exceed $300,000. The only death loss so far as known is that of a Cuban baby, which was burned in one of the cigar factories. A panic was created in the forty factories located in the town when the fire began to spread, and hundreds of men, women and children fled from the factories.

The factories of Santa Ella & Co. and Sam Caro & Co., both of Chicago, and J. M. Martinez and T. Sanchez of Tampa were the heaviest losers.

The Santa Ella company lost $125,000 worth of tobacco besides a large number of fine cigars.

Fifteen blocks of business houses and nearly 200 tenements were destroyed.

West Tampa has only a small water plant, and as a consequence the water supply gave out. The Tampa fire department responded to the call for help and rendered all possible assistance.

Hundreds of families of cigarmakers are homeless.

TENNIS TOURNEY.

National Court Championship at New York.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Three matches were to have been played in the thirteenth national court tennis championship at the New York Racket and Tennis club, but only two were decided on actual work, the other going by default to the present champion, Joshua Crane, Jr., of Boston. In the opening match O. S. Campbell of the local club easily defeated P. S. Sears of Boston, and in the afternoon C. S. Sands of this city won even more handily from T. S. Tailer of Tuxedo.

The deciding match has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Following is the summary: First game—O. S. Campbell, New York, defeated P. S. Sears. Second game—Joshua Crane, Jr., Boston, won from J. W. Henning, New York, by default. Third game—C. S. Sands, New York, defeated T. S. Tailer, Tuxedo.

Women's Golf Championship.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 5.—The united north and south amateur championship tournament began with a woman's championship medal play qualification round and the first round of match play. The first eight gross scores qualified for the championship and the second eight for the consolation. Mrs. M. D. Paterson of the Englewood (N. J.) Golf club, from scratch, won the gold medal offered for the best gross score in the qualification with 97 and Miss M. E. Heffelfinger of Minneapolis, whose handicap was 16, the silver medal offered for the best net score with 94.

Racing at Bennings.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The feature of the sport at the Bennings track was the Easter Monday steeplechase, in which there were five starters. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., whose horse won in Saturday's steeplechase, duplicated his victory, when Jim Newman, a second choice, took first money. Three of the horses in this race fell, but Reider remounted Harrow and rode him out for third money. Imperialist, the favorite, and Agio, who fell, never finished.

Proceeds Won Tennessee Derby.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 5. — The Tennessee Derby was run at Montgomery park before a record breaking attendance. The starters were Proceeds and Conjurer from Captain S. S. Brown's stable and Samurai from the string of E. Corrigan. The start was made on the first essay, and the horses got off, with Proceeds leading, Conjurer second and Samurai third. These positions were held until the finish.

Princeton Lost Close Game.

WASHINGTON, April 5. — Apperious, Georgetown's left fielder, batted out a single and brought in the winning run in an eleven inning contest with Princeton. It was a closely contested game, characterized by some excellent playing. Both Seitz and Underhill were effective, the former striking out seven and the latter thirteen men. Score: Georgetown, 5; Princeton, 4.

Upsets at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Favorites were successful in three races at Oakland, but there were some upsets that proved expensive for the talent. In the last race Rey Dare and Pierce J. were plunged on, but they finished outside the money. Scherzo led most of the way, winning from Laocoon and George Berry.

Action Taken Against Judge Kalua.

HONOLULU, April 5.—When Judge Kalua of the second circuit court, Maui, received the report of the department of justice at Washington on the charges brought against him, he adjourned his court and postponed trials and criminal cases before it until June 6. The report did not recommend that the judge be removed from office at present, but declared he should not be reappointed at the expiration of his term, which is June 5. The attorneys on the postponed cases objected to the judge's action on the ground that it was an abuse of his discretion and were thereupon threatened by Judge Kalua with contempt proceedings and imprisonment. They have sent a cable to Washington asking that a successor to Judge Kalua be appointed without loss of time.

Standard Oil Tanks Exploded.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 5.—For hours firemen battled with a fierce fire, fed by gallons of oil, which started at the branch supply station of the Standard Oil company at Fourteenth and Monmouth streets and threatened to wipe out a large section of the city. Three 400 gallon tanks exploded, the warehouses and stables were destroyed, and it was only after a hard struggle that the flames were kept from spreading to several large factories across the street. In a barrel factory connected with the oil company's plant the flames were discovered, but they had gained such headway that before the foreman, James Stevens, turned in an alarm and the firemen responded it was seen that neither the factory nor the warehouses could be saved.

Clewell Captured at St. Joseph.

CLEVELAND, O., April 5.—A dispatch to Chief of Police Kohler of this city announces the arrest at St. Joseph, Mo., of George F. Clewell, the missing secretary and treasurer of the assigned Federal Trust company of this city.

This Man Is Adjudged Sane.

SARATOGA, N. Y., April 5. — Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald of New York has made an examination of Victor E. Millward, who murdered his wife and child and then fired his apartments, and finds that he is sane.

WORSE EVERY YEAR.

Plenty of Plainfield Readers Have the Same Experience.

Don't neglect an aching back.
It will get worse every year.
Backache is really kidney ache.
To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.
If you don't other kidney ills follow—
Diabetes, Bright's disease.

Mrs. Valentine Uzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years. I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved the other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a wonderful medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

CRIPPLED MAN WANTED BRIDE SIMILARLY AFFLICTED.

Got What He Wanted by Judicious Newspaper Advertising—Loss of a Finger Leads to a Happy Marriage.

In an eastern paper recently there appeared the following curious advertisement:

Matrimony.—Advertiser, a young man of 27, of good family, steady, and in receipt of a good salary, is anxious to meet with a young lady who, like himself, has had the misfortune to lose the right leg. No other applicants save those who have lost a leg will be considered. Address, etc.

The young man, it appears, who had a year before met with the accident which had deprived him of his right leg, was extremely sensitive about his misfortune, and could not be convinced that he was not an object of pity to everyone with whom he became acquainted, especially women.

He therefore hit on the novel plan of advertising for a partner similarly afflicted in order that he might be sure that she was not marrying him in pity. He had a large number of replies from girls who were pretty and sound in wind and limb, who declared themselves perfectly willing to marry a one-legged man and look after him all the days of his life, but these generous offers the young man threw aside at once. Then came applications from correspondents who, though they had certainly met with painful accidents, were not afflicted in a manner similar to the advertiser.

One girl had lost her right hand, another an eye, a third her nose, and so on. These offers were also rejected. Among the batch, however, were four who had each lost a leg; but as two of these were over 40 they were also laid aside as unsuitable.

The remaining two were asked to appoint a place of meeting, which they did, and the young fellow interviewed them. One turned out to be a negress, which debarred her from securing the prize, but the last appeared to be just the girl the advertiser was looking for. She was young, healthy, pretty, bright, and—she had lost her left leg. The young man gave and received "full particulars," which turned out so satisfactorily that the two are now man and wife. The marriage is said to have turned out a particularly happy one.

One can hardly believe that the fact of having lost a finger, and that the little one, would so prey upon a man's mind as to induce him to contemplate self-destruction, yet this was the case with William Driege, a man who was employed at one time on a farm in Kent, England, and who lost his digit in a threshing machine. After the accident Driege became so depressed and melancholy that his friends had some fears of his losing his reason. In vain he was joked about his accident and asked if he hadn't nine good fingers left, but his melancholy only increased. Then one day his brother, who was trying to arouse him from his depression, lost his temper and declared that he ought to receive a good hiding instead of sympathy.

"Look at Mary Wells," he exclaimed, indignantly; "she lost her finger the other day in a guillotine at the bookbinders' where she's employed, and she don't go snuffling round about it. I'll bring her round to see you, and if she don't make you ashamed of yourself I give it up."

He was true to his word and next evening brought the young woman round. She was the liveliest girl William Driege had ever met, and she succeeded so well in cheering up the melancholy one that he begged her to come again. This she did, and several times after, until William was so much improved that Miss Wells suggested that there was no further need for her visits.

This, however, was by no means to William's taste, and he there and then asked her if she would continue her visits indefinitely, which, after some hesitation, she agreed to do. William has since been heard to say that the loss of his finger was the greatest piece of luck he ever had, since in return for it he obtained the prettiest little hand that one could possibly desire to possess.

Big Traffic in Cocaine.

The United States is buying 30,000 ounces of cocaine a year at about three dollars an ounce. Of this only a small proportion is used legitimately. It robs its victim of his mental faculties and destroys his moral responsibility in shorter time and in greater degree than any other drug.

NEW MARKET'S LOSS $3,500

TIMELY ARRIVAL OF PLAINFIELD FIRE DEPARTMENT SAVED PROPERTY.

Chief Doane and his fire apparatus made the run from this city to New Market in record time yesterday. From the moment the double five fire alarm signalled until the Plainfield department had its first stream playing on the buildings twenty-seven minutes elapsed. The buildings, two barns and a store house were in ruins when the Plainfield firemen arrived and the time was spent in wetting down adjoining houses which were in danger from flying sparks carried by a high wind.

The barn of William Smith, which was the first to catch, was built about a year ago at a cost of $2,500. It was insured for $700. The damage to the other buildings would bring the total up to about $3,500.

—A grass fire on Harrison avenue, that threatened to spread to barns nearby, required the attention of the borough firemen shortly before noon today.

—The Wesleyan Glee and Mandolin Clubs were at Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, New York, last night, and were well received. Tonight they will be at Monroe Avenue church.

—First steps in the actual moving of the borough fire apparatus to the new house were taken Saturday. The steamer was shifted to the new house and the West End cart was brought down from Harrison avenue to the old house.

According to custom, there will be no seats reserved previous to the sale, but all will have an equal chance. It is expected that tickets will go very rapidly.

SALE OF CLARKSON PROPERTY

HANDSOME RESIDENCE TO BE DISPOSED OF AT AUCTION.

The William R. Clarkson property on East Front street, opposite Berkman street, is to be sold at public auction on Saturday, April 16. This will be one of the most important realty transfers that have taken place in Plainfield for some time. East Front street property has been held very closely for many years, and has sold above or around $60 per foot on the north side of the street.

The Clarkson place is one of the most beautiful in Plainfield. Stately shade trees, expansive lawns and a running brook make it an ideal country home. The house cost to build somewhere between $15,000 and $20,000, and is in spendid shape.

The property has a frontage on East Front street of 210 feet and extends to a depth of about 566 feet. An adjacent vacant lot of the same size will be sold separately at this sale.

The hour set for the sale is 3 o'clock on a Saturday afternoon in order that it may be convenient for New York business men to attend it.

SOCIAL REALM.

Former Senator and Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. Reed's father and sister, Hon. A. A. Clark and Mrs. Mack, who are now enjoying a sea voyage to Venezuela, are expected to reach home on April 11.

Mrs. O. T. Elliott, an enthusiastic bowler at the Park Club, has eclipsed Mrs. O. W. McGee's high score of 173 rolled recently, by one of 182. The rivalry among the fair bowlers is intense and other high scores are expected soon.

Mrs. Edwin Hooley, mother of E. S. Hooley, of Washington Park, has purchased the Percy Brown property on Sycamore avenue. The price was $5,600. Mrs. Hooley will make the house her residence. She now lives at Truell Court.

Interment of Rev. Dr. Morse.

The remains of Rev. Dr. Frank Rogers Morse, of New York, were brought for interment to Evergreen Cemetery in Plainfield avenue Saturday noon. Rev. Dr. Robert MacArthur, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, New York, of which Dr. Morse was the associate pastor, conducted the service at the grave.

Furnishing Firemen's Quarters.

Members of Warren and West End Companies are busy decorating and furnishing their new home in the See building on Somerset street. All the furniture and relics belonging to the volunteers are being placed effectively about the two rooms. When the decorations are all in place the club will have cosy quarters.

Gift to Firemen.

Even before they were quite through with their effective work at the New Market conflagration yesterday, substantial recognition of their service was accorded the Plainfield firemen by "Mayor" Bill Smith. He placed a check for $25 in the hands of Chief Doane, as a contribution to the pension fund.

Contract Cases.

Suit has been instituted in the Supreme Court by Counselor F. J. Blatz, for the Trenton Abbatoir Co. against Caroline Millward for $1,000 damages, on contract, and also against Francis A. Bartlett for $1,000 damages, on contract.

The Security of Magnitude

Consider, first, the importance of KNOWING that your Trading Stamps will be redeemed. Consider, next, the value of the premium you will receive for your stamps.

In them are employed nearly 5000 men and women. If these stores were all brought together under one roof it would require a building ten times the size of the Capitol at Washington.

The Sperry & Hutchinson Company has a paid up cash capital and surplus of $1,250,000 with assets of many times that sum and no liabilities. It spent last year $6,000,000 for premiums for redeeming its "S.& H." Green Trading Stamps.

MAN MADLY ATTACKS A 'PLAINS WOMAN

Stephen Tanquer Violently Assaults Mrs. Lamar, Using Pistol and Knife.

A TERRIBLE STRUGGLE

HE IS DISARMED AND THRUST FROM DOOR.

A Fine of $10 on Charge of Disorderly Conduct—The Aggressor and Victim are Neighbors.

In a desperate hand-to-hand encounter, Mrs. Annie Lamar, of Terrill road, better known as Mrs. Hoffman, saved her life Monday night by disarming a temporarily mad man first of a loaded revolver and then of a butcher knife. Her assailant was Stephen Tanquer, a neighbor, who pointed the revolver directly at Mrs. Lamar and pulled the trigger, the fact that it refused to snap the cartridge giving the woman a chance to struggle for its possession.

Before Tanquer could make the second attempt, Mrs. Hoffman was upon him, and after a terrible struggle wrested the weapon from his hands. No sooner had she removed the cartridges from the revolver than Tanquer was again attacking her. He seized a large butcher knife from a table and only the heroic efforts of his would-be victim prevented him from stabbing her. When she had once more disarmed him, her hands were badly cut and her body bruised by blows. Tanquer was thrust out of the house, and left for home vowing vengeance.

Mrs. Lamar went before Justice Clark and swore out a warrant for Tanquer's arrest, Constable Walpole locating the Frenchman at his home. Yesterday morning the prisoner was arraigned before Justice Clark charged by the complainant with assault and attempt to kill. The Frenchman denied that he intended to do murder but acknowledged that he had had trouble with Mrs. Lamar over money matters. His claim was that the plaintiff had owed him money for some time and that the quarrel arose when he tried to collect it Monday night.

The court decreed that inasmuch as Tanquer pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct he would eliminate the other charge as long as the complainant acquiesced. Tanquer was fined $10 and costs. He paid.

Tanquer has a farm adjoining Mrs. Lamar's on which he raises violets for the New York market. Mrs. Lamar raises vegetables. Her home has been the scene of a number of exciting events during the past twelve years.

HANDBALL TOURNAMENT.

Three Matches Played in Y. M. C. A. Championship Contest.

Three matches were played in the Y. M. C. A. championship handball tournament last night. Collier defeated Scull, 21-6; W. V. Carolin, Jr., defeated Frank Neal, 21-6; Harry Thompson defeated Luther Sheppard, 21-9. The results of the matches already played leave Koons, Carolin and Thompson in the second series of games to start probably next week. Finishing the present series, William Mundy and W. E. Neal will play tomorrow night, Manning and Aalholm will meet Friday night, and Scull and Collier will have another trying-out Saturday.

Tack Injured Eye.

Mrs. Arthur S. Giles, of West Fourth street, is at Muhlenberg Hospital under treatment for recent injury to her eye, which happened in a peculiar manner. She was putting some tacks in a carpet, when one flew up and struck the eye-ball. At first Mrs. Giles paid little attention to the injury, but the pain increased so that she was obliged to summon a physician. He had her taken to the hospital at once. It is not believed that the sight of the eye will be permanently injured.

Co. K's Dance.

Company K is planning a dance complimentary to its friends who helped them in making their recent fair a success. The non-commissioned officers of the company will give a dance next Monday night. Sergt. Charles Peterson is at the head of the committee in charge.

William Godown, arrested for quarreling, upon complaint of Mrs. Rean Allen, was fined $3. Richard John and Bergman Hoffman, who fought on Somerset street Saturday night, were fined, the former $15 and the latter $5.

THE YOUNGER SET'S DANCE

JUNIOR SOCIETY FOLK HAVE DELIGHTFUL TIME AT THE CASINO.

A delightful subscription dance at the Casino last night was participated in by about 125 of the younger society set. It was given by a committee consisting of Robert Abbott, chairman; DeWitt P. Brokaw, John D. Haughey, Hugh G. Baldwin and Roger T. Wilcox, members or graduates of Leal's School. The decorations for the cotillion of the preceding night were retained and the Casino floor presented the same scene of brilliancy. Green and yellow predominated in the decorations.

The patronesses were Mrs. C. F. Abbott, Mrs. E. T. Barrows, Mrs. J. B. Blake, Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. A. Day, Mrs. Pinto, Mrs. F. Meade, Mrs. F. B. Clark, Mrs. John Leal, Mrs. F. S. Martin, Mrs. Clifford McGee, Mrs. G. P. Mellick, Mrs. D. H. Rowland, Mrs. William B. Wadsworth, Mrs. R. T. Wilcox. Music was by Schweinfest's orchestra, of Newark. A collation was served by W. W. Warnock. The carriages were in charge of Frank Hedden, of East Fourth street.

ANOTHER NEW TROLLEY LINE

DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN JERSEY CITY AND PHILADELPHIA.

The New Jersey Short Line Railroad Company has filed articles of incorporation with the State Secretary at Trenton, the object of the company being to extend the line of the Trenton and New Brunswick Railroad Company from their present terminus at Milltown to Elizabeth. The idea is to shorten the route from Philadelphia to Jersey City by fourteen miles of distance now lost in going by way of Bound Brook and this city.

The capital stock of the company is $3,000,000. The route is to cross the Raritan near Weston's mills and go to Metuchen and Rahway and Elizabeth, where the line will connect with the present line of the Public Service Corporation.

The entire length of the road is to be fifteen and five-tenths miles, and the road is to be built in Middlesex and Union counties. The terminus at Elizabeth will be near the western boundary of the city. The company was incorporated under the railroad act of 1903.

An agreement has already been entered into between the promoters of the new company and the Public Service Corporation by which the cars of the Public Service Corporation will use the road as soon as it is built. The trolley excursion fare from Trenton to Newark is to be $1.50 and the single fare eighty cents.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

Council Finds That Hydrant Estimate Must Remain Part of the General Fund.

It was believed that the Common Council would this year be able to take the fire hydrant account from the fire fund and put it in the general fund. This cannot be done, however, as the general fund has reached the limit allowed and the account will have to stay as it is for the year, at least. This sum amounts to about $4,700 and officials are agreed that the general fund, when sufficient, should be drawn upon instead of the fire department, which adds that much more to the expense of maintaining it.

EASTER SOCIAL.

The committee in charge included E. D. Young, chairman; Miss Annie Searing, Miss Lucy Coriell, William Trembath, Frank Bach, Miss Bertha Richards, Miss Anna Randolph.

Co. K's Banquet.

Company K will hold its annual banquet the latter part of the month. George Apgar is chairman of the committee in charge.

Stephen Blazier, of Chatham, has been spending several days with relatives here.

WHY PLAINFIELD LOSES ITS TEACHERS

Local School System Handicapped by Meagre Salaries Paid to the Pedagogues.

COST OF LIVING IS HIGH

INCREASED RENUMERATION IN OTHER CITIES OF NEW JERSEY.

Only Teachers of Refinement Are Wanted Here, and There is Great Difficulty in Keeping Them in Plainfield.

An authority on education has given The Daily Press his views on the situation which has confronted the local Board of Education for several years responsible to a great extent in this city continually losing able school teachers. The explanation is considered of general interest and for that reason is published in full. It follows:

"Schools like those of Plainfield require the highest grade of teachers. They must be women of refinement, of education, and attractive personality. They must dress well in order not to lose the respect of many of their pupils and patrons. Teachers with such characteristics are hard to find, and when found must be paid salaries sufficient to support them in a condition that corresponds to their education and refinement. In order that they may do the work that we expect of teachers, they must have a boarding place where they may obtain such food as is suited to their taste and such surroundings as will make life pleasant.

"Such boarding places are hard to find in Plainfield. The expense of living is steadily increasing. It is difficult for a teacher to find a place suited to her taste at a rate of board which is commensurate with her salary. A number of them have had their board raised the past year. If they live as other people of similar taste live, with the salary we now pay, they have but little left at the end of the year. Quite a number have felt compelled to board themselves under these conditions.

"Other places have been raising the salaries of their teachers, which enables them to draw away our teachers. In Jersey City, the maximum salary is $936; in Newark, $750; East Orange, $725; Long Branch, $700; Passaic, $700; Montclair, $725, or more; Rutherford, $750. Formerly we were able to keep our teachers very well, because the conditions of work in Plainfield are very pleasant, but the increased cost of living and the increase in salaries in other places now make it very difficult to retain a good teacher. Each year we lose more or less who would like to stay in Plainfield, but feel compelled to accept positions elsewhere because of pecuniary advantages offered. A report sent by Supt Maxson to the State Board last June shows that 19 of our teachers had been in service but one year; thirteen, two years; and five, three years: i. e., half of our teachers had been in the service of Plainfield only three years or less. This constant change makes it very difficult and well nigh impossible to keep up the standard of the work, and, of course, it causes much loss to the children.

"In the past ten years, living expenses have gone up from thirty per cent. to fifty per cent., while the maximum salary of our teachers has been increased only about nine per cent., so that they are practically working at from twenty-five to forty per cent. less salary than the teachers were ten years ago. Public school education cannot hold its own with civilization unless the teacher, who is the keystone of the education, is enabled to keep herself in a condition to render the best service.

"The remuneration of teachers is usually overestimated because their pay is spoken of 'by the month.' It looks large to wage earners to think of a woman getting $60 a month, but this salary really covers but nine or ten months, yet she must live the whole year, and two months that she is not in school are of no value to her in the matter of wage earning. To get a true estimate of her wages, therefore, her year's salary should be divided by 313 days. When this is done, it will appear that the best paid grade teacher in Plainfield, who now receives $600 a year, is actually getting but $1.90 a day, while very many of them receive only $1.60 a day, which is about the price that is usually paid by our housekeepers to a washwoman or a scrubwoman, but the teacher in order to earn this salary, must spend four years in the High School and two or more years in the Normal School, losing all opportunity to earn money during these six years, and paying out hard cash in addition.

"A woman with less than a High School education may come out from a school for professional nurses and obtain $3 a day for her services. One of the graduates from the High School, a few months after graduation, went into an office as typewriter where she received at the start a salary of over $600, with the prospect of an early increase to $750. Her starting salary is the salary which Plainfield pays teachers who have been in her service twenty years or more. Two other girls who graduated from the High School a year or two earlier are receiving in other offices $800-$900 a year, which is from twenty-five to forty per cent. more than a grade teacher can obtain in Plainfield no matter how long she has taught."

GLEE CLUB WELL RECEIVED

WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY BOYS RENDERED AN ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME.

Warm welcome was extended to the Wesleyan University Glee and Mandolin Clubs at the Monroe Avenue church last night. As on their previous visit here, the Methodist college men were entertaining from the first number to the last, and applause was loud and frequent. The audience entirely filled the church, and a substantial sum will be divided between the Men's Association and Adam Neuman's Bible class, under the joint auspices of which the clubs appeared.

The programme was well chosen and all the numbers were exceptionally rendered. All the numbers were encored, but the Glee Club was the prime favorite, especially with the tuneful bits of foolishness so beloved of college singers. R. L. Foreman, the reciter, made a decided hit with three of Edmund Vance Cook's humorous juvenile poems.

In the District Court.

In the District Court at Elizabeth the case of Cannon against William C. Tracy was decided by a verdict for the plaintiff, in which he was awarded a clear title on goods replevined and an additional verdict of $34.40 for goods not recovered when the writ of replevin was served. William Newcorn, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, and Codington & Swackhamer represented the defendant.

Nonagenarian Buried.

The remains of the late Isaac P. Brown, Sr., accompanied by the relatives and a few friends, were interred in the family plot at Union, near Springfield yesterday. The pall-bearers were Alburtis Brown, Wm. Brown, Allen Brown, Willard Brown, of New York; Edward Brown, of this city, nephews of the dead man, and Mr. Hamilton, of New York, also a relative.

Volunteer Firemen Active.

Warren Engine Company, ex-volunteers of the borough, held a meeting last night to discuss the organization of an exempt association. Ex-Chiefs Stahl, Debele, Bodine and Fairchild spoke. A joint meeting will be held tonight by Warren and West End to complete the organization. Provisions will be made in the constitution for the admission of associate member.

A Cobweb Social.

A successful cobweb social was held last night at the home of J. H. Freeman, 1280 Park avenue, for the benefit of Maroonnier chapel. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Reighton and Mrs. Eugene VanCourt. There were about fifty persons present and a goodly sum was realized for the chapel treasury. After enjoying the "cobweb" features, refreshments were served.

Tickets for Performance.

The first opportunity to purchase seats for the amateur production of "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino will be given this evening at 6 o'clock at Armstrong's drug store, North and Park avenues, when the sale of seats will begin. No seats will be reserved in advance of the sale. The dates of the performances are May 5 and 7.

Annual Entertainment.

The Monday Afternoon Club will hold its annual entertainment on Thursday night, April 28, and the annual business meeting on Monday, May 2. Both events will be at the Casino.

Supervising Principal.

Edward E. Sage, of Gallia, has been appointed by the school board as supervising principal of the five schools of Warren township.

HILLSIDE CLUB PLANS $7,000 IMPROVEMENT

Arranges to Double the Size of Its Home, the Architects Plans Being Approved.

FOR A COUNTRY CLUB

TROLLEY CARS TO BE RUN CLOSE TO CLUBHOUSE.

Fifteen Active, Eight Associate and Some Minor Associate Members Are Added—Meeting at Mr. Waring's Home.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, the leading athletic and social organization of the city, is about to make improvements to the clubhouse which will aggregate an expenditure of nearly $7,000. It is proposed to transform the place into a country club, in every sense that the name implies. Plans for these improvements have been underway for some time and at a monthly meeting of the club held last night at the home of Lewis E. Waring, the plans as drawn and submitted by Evarts Tracy, were examined and a lengthy discussion had concerning them. It has practically been decided to go ahead with the work. Already certain improvements by the way of an addition to the clubhouse has been made, exclusive of plans for further improvements.

The front of the clubhouse which faces Plainfield will be torn out and the dimensions of the house will be just doubled, as will also the kitchen. A comfortable smoking room will be a feature, while on the second floor there will be a number of sleeping apartments, making it possible for members and friends to remain at the club over night.

By increasing the size of the house it will allow the much-needed room for social events and dances. These have been features at the club, but owing to the limited space the list of invited ones has necessarily been small.

In connection with the general improvements to be made by the club, it can be stated that the Public Service Corporation has agreed to extend its tracks from the present terminus at the entrance to the golf grounds, near the cemetery, through the roadway passing the course up to a point close to the clubhouse. The tracks will then be run through private lands to Park avenue and thence to Metuchen. There have been rumors as to this improvement, but an official of the club is authority for the statement that the tracks will be extended right away and that the club will be given satisfactory service.

At the meeting there were elected fifteen active, eight associate and several junior associate members. It is believed that when the club's improvements are made the membership will be increased by fully two hundred. The success of the club and its steady progress is a source of gratification to the officers and members and from now on a season of unparalleled success seems assured.

SOLDIER BOYS' PROFITS.

Co. K Realized $565 at Its Recent Bazaar in This City.

Company K's treasury was materially swelled by the receipts of the recent bazaar. The full reports of the committee in charge were turned in at the meeting Monday night, and they show that the organization netted close to $600.

The gross receipts were over $800. The expenses were not heavy, and the net gain was over $565. This money will more than pay for the recent improvements of the company's armory.

Committees for this year were appointed by Capt. Martin. D. W. Littell was put at the head of the Ways and Means Committee; George L. Apgar is chairman of the Entertainment Committee and Lieutenant Kitchell is head of the Finance Committee.

Sentences Suspended.

Sentence was suspended upon two culprits in the city court yesterday morning. Michael Donko promised he'd never get drunk any more and as he had behaved himself fairly well in the past Judge Runyon was lenient. William Cohen, arrested for violating a junk ordinance, was shown his error and allowed to depart.

Mr. Maxson to Speak.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson, of the local public school system, will make an address at the meeting of the Public Educational Society at Somerville Monday night.

MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS

WOMEN THE GUESTS OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH ORGANIZATION.

A more than usually pleasant entertainment was given by the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, last night. The women of the church were the guests of the club. Frank O. Bristol, humorist, told funny stories that were new and bright with a command of facial expression and brogue that was capital. His fiance, Miss Mary R. Spellman, gave several charming child impersonations, receiving recalls for each one. Mr. Bristol is a former member of the Congregational Men's Club, now a resident of Brooklyn.

A lecture on "The Yellowstone Trail," beautifully illustrated, was given by James R. Joy, of North Plainfield. The wonders of the National park were graphically pictured, Mr. Joy lending a personal note by detailing some of his own experiences in it. Music, refreshments and a social time followed the programme.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS MET

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETY CHOOSE OFFICERS AND HEAR REPORTS.

Officers were elected and encouraging reports presented at the annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church, held in the chapel, last night. These officers were chosen: President, Fred. Lounsbury; vice president, Miss Burroughs; recording secretary, Miss Leah Hammond; corresponding secretary, Miss Mabel Conover; superintendent Junior Society, Mrs. Poinier; assistants, Mrs. Ralph K. Miner, Miss Beatrice Miner and Miss Bertha Hill.

The chairmen of the various committees were also announced:

Lookout, T. E. Burroughs; prayer-meeting, Miss Mabel Conover; social, Miss Beatrice Miner; missionary, Mrs. John S. Johnston; flower and visitation, Miss Bertha Wilcox; good literature and temperance, John S. Johnston.

The various reports presented showed improvement and an increase in the interest and attendance. The treasurer reported all bills paid and a substantial balance on hand. The membership of both the senior and junior societies has been increased during the year.

NEW GUN CLUB.

Members of Hillside's Organization Associated for Shooting Competitions.

A gun club, composed of about thirty members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has been formed and on Saturdays and holidays the members meet at a point near the golf clubhouse, where clay pigeon shooting is enjoyed. The club has located a suitable house back of G. P. Mellick's bugalow, an ideal spot for shooting and already the members are becoming proficient in the sport. Later on its is expected that there will be prize shooting and various competitions will be arranged.

CHANGES ITS NAME.

Central Building and Loan Association New Title of Local Concern.

To meet the requirements of a law passed last year, the character of the Plainfield District of the New Jersey Homebuyers' League has been changed. The organization has been localized under the title of the Central Building and Loan Association.

The new law is designed to discourage State institutions, in which the money of the stockholders is scattered in investments all over the State, with attendant danger to the solvency of the concern. The branch offices are not absolutely forbidden, but a prohibitive fee is placed on them. The Homebuyers' League is the only one affected here.

The books of the District have been changed, and practically all the passbooks have been transferred. The Central's officers are as follows:

President, J. D. Loizeaux; secretary, J. F. McDonald; treasurer, H. B. McDonald. The directors are: F. DeL. Hyde, J. A. Hubbard, W. M. Stillman, John F. Dunn, F. J. Viewig, Charles H. Dunham, H. C. VanEmburgh, J. F. Daly, David M. Runyon.

The New Directory.

Mr. Wand and his assistants started today to canvass for the new city directory. He has left it as late as possible this spring so as to enable movers to get settled and thus make the directory as complete as possible.

POSTOFFICE BUILDING ESTIMATE TOO SMALL

An Appropriation of $100,000 Not Considered a Sufficient Sum for the Purpose.

MUST BE INCREASED

At Least $40,000 is Needed to Purchase a Desirable Site—The Fixtures Cost Approximately $20,000.

Now that the first feeling of jubilation over the introduction of the matter into Congress has worn off, those who are interested in the proposed erection of a Government postoffice building here are beginning to figure out just what can be done with an appropriation of $100,000. All the men in position to calculate intelligently on the matter are agreed that the sum is much too small for the purpose. Figures arrived at after careful survey of the whole postoffice situation impel the conclusion that the appropriation, if it is to be adequate to the needs of the postal business in this city, should be almost double the sum named by Senator Kean in his bill.

Nearly half of the appropriation asked for will have to be spent for a site. At least $40,000 must be expended for the ground before a cent can be spent for the building itself. No section but the business portion of the city, and the heart of that section at that, can be considered for the site. Property in that part of the city is naturally higher than anywhere else here, and the regulations of the Government compel the purchase of a site much larger than a private structure would require. The Government requires its buildings to stand between twenty and twenty-five feet clear of adjacent structures, and a lot of sufficient size to meet this regulation could not be bought for anything less than $40,000. This estimate, if anything, is low.

In the furnishing of its buildings the Government insists upon the highest character of quality and workmanship. Only the best of fixtures and decorations can be put in it, and this item of expense can not be less than $20,000, and might very easily be more.

This leaves $40,000 for the building proper. The sum is completely inadequate for a structure that is designed to meet the requirements of the postoffice business, according to men who know just what those requirements are.

Records of such matters all over the country show that a postoffice building in a growing city like Plainfield should be built as much for future expansion as for present business. It is not too much to say that a building of that character should be planned for the needs of fifty years ahead.

If a $40,000 building is put up here the men will be crowded almost as soon as they go into it. New Brunswick has had bitter experience with parsimonious calculation on postoffice building, that points the danger of a faux pas in the local improvement. The New Brunswick structure was completed last year, and before the first of January the rural free delivery carriers were compelled to work in the cellar, in a room originally designed as a carrier "swing" room. At the present time the postoffice here has more room at its disposal than the one in the Middlesex Capitol.

These facts, taken altogether, compel the conviction that $100,000 should be expended upon the building alone. It is understood that influence will be brought to bear on Senator Kean and Congressmen Fowler and Lanning, to secure a proper increase of the appropriation, and friends of the proposed structure are hopeful that they will readily agree to introduce the necessary amendment and work for its passage at the next session of the National Legislature.

Resigns as President.

Vice Chancellor Bergen has resigned as president of the Somerville Dime Savings Bank and at a meeting held Monday William H. Taylor was elected president to succeed him. Hon. L. A. Thompson was chosen vice president and Nelson Y. Dungan, director and counsel. The other officers remain the same.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Andrew Nolan has secured a position in the factory corner of East Fourth and Washington streets.

William Skinner, of the Potter plant, will take his annual spring vacation a month earlier this season.

Seven hundred members of the Asphalt Workers' Union have decided to stop work in Manhattan and the Bronx today and to remain out until the employers recognize the union.

Coal has advanced $1.20 a ton at Des Moines, Ia., since Saturday night. The price of soft coal is now $5.20 per ton, and, owing to the strike, it is almost impossible to procure it at that price. Manufacturers are preparing to close down their establishments.

It was officially announced yesterday that the Delaware and Hudson Company will soon build a large car repair shop at Wilkesbarre, Pa. The shop at Carbondale is rushed with work, and as Wilkesbarre is the end of the division and the terminus of the line in this State, the railroad officials found it the most convenient place to build the shops.

The New York City Mason Builders' Association and the emergency committee of the Building Trades Employers' Association announce that upon no consideration will they yield to the demands of the bricklayers and laborers or consider any proposition until the strikers return to work. The employers say that if they yield now they might as well go out of business.

William Shaeffer, of West Front street, is suffering from a badly burned hand. Mr. Shaeffer was at work in Cadmus's mill on South Second street early Saturday morning, and as he was crossing a beam he slipped and fell, the lantern which he was carrying exploded and set fire to his garment. In attempting to put out the flames the young man's hand was severely burned.

WHY 'PLAINS TEAM DISBANDS

SALARIES DEMANDED BY THE PLAYERS CONSIDERED TOO HEAVY A DRAIN.

After supporting one of the fastest baseball teams in this section of the State for the past three years, the Scotch Plains Baseball Club has decided not to place a team in the field this season. The action of the club came as a surprise to the local supporters and rooters as plans arranged at the several other meetings were beginning to develope and every one believed that a team was an assured thing.

Manager Johnston, who has guided the club so successfully in the past, announced two months ago that unless there was a guaranteed sum raised each week so as to assure him that in signing players he could guarantee them a season's play, he would not care to take the management. This amount would have to be much larger than it had been in seasons of the past for baseball talent costs more. The same team that carried the local colors for $40 per week last season would cost $65 and expenses this year. Clubs that were willing to play on a fifty per cent. basis in the past wanted $75 and $100 guarantees. This would bring the weekly expenses of a team up to nearly $150. The weekly guaranteed amount has failed to materialize so the members have decided that it is better to live on the successes of the past than the almost certainty of a failure in the future.

As no regular schedule had been arranged as yet the disbanding of the club will not effect any of the other teams, only in a financial way, for the rivalry between Plainfield, Westfield and Scotch Plains on the diamond has been keen and games between these teams have always been money makers and have no doubt been the salvation of all from a financial standpoint. Several weeks ago it was rumored that Manager Mumford, of the Alis, and Manager Denman, of Westfield, had made an argeement to bar the locals out for the season. This was denied by the Alis management.

A meeting of a business nature only will be held in the near future when it will be decided what shall be done with the money in the treasury, and to wind up several other matters pertaining to the club.

LITERARY.

Some of the most beautiful and artistic specimens of photographic work are to be found in the April number of Burr McIntosh's Monthly. This magazine is unique in many ways and occupies a field in which it has no fear of competitors, Mr. McIntosh's fame being such that others would be deterred from venturing to compete him in the work. All the portraits and scenes are worthy of handsome frames. The magazine is to be had at your newsdealer's.

The Popular Science Monthly for March contains the following articles: "Aerial Navigation," by O. Chanute; "The Metric System; Shall it be Compulsory?" by Professor W. Le Conte Stevens; "The Conservation of Energy in those of Advancing Years," by Dr. J. Madison Taylor; "The Royal Prussian Academy of Science, Berlin," by Edward F. Williams; "Education and Industry," by Professor Edward D. Jones; "Evolution not the Origin of Species," by O. F. Cook; "The Imperial University of Tokyo," by Nachide Yatsu; "Some Historical Aspects of Vegetarianism," by Professor Lafayette B. Mendel; "Immanuel Kant;" "Recent Progress in Study of Radioactivity;" "New Buildings for the Department of Agriculture at Washington."

AMUSEMENTS.

Repeatedly the time of "The Virginian" has been extended, and now, with a run of more than a hundred performances to its credit, and with the demand for seats greater than ever, it stands as one of the most pronounced successes of the season with no indication of a termination of its stay at the Manhatten. It undoubtedly will run out the season there and still be so popular that it might continue indefinitely when the usual time for closing theatres for the summer arrives. "The Virginian" evidently has all the elements that go to make a perennially popular play. It pleases all sorts and conditions of theatre goers, and persons who never have read Mr. Wisters' romance from which its as taken seem to be as delighted with it as are the thousands familiar with the book.

—A new, wide carriage typewriter has been sent to the postoffice by the Government.

—D. F. Stewart, well known as the former janitor of Hope chapel, has embarked in the express business.

—Funeral services for Ruth L. Moore, daughter of Mrs. Maria C. Terry, were held Monday afternoon from the late residence 331 East Third street. Rev. Lester Leggett, of the East Third Street chapel, conducted. The interment was in the Plainfield avenue cemetery.

CANAL COMMISSION.

Admiral Walker and Party In De Lesseps' Quarters.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION AT COLON

Board Will Go Over the Whole Panama Route, Note the Work Done and Take In the Entire Situation.

COLON, April 6.—The Panama Railroad company's steamer Alliance has arrived here with the United States Panama canal commission on board. The commissioners have established themselves in the De Lesseps quarters. The arrival of the commission caused much enthusiasm at the canal company's headquarters here.

The commission is composed of Rear Admiral John G. Walker, chairman; Major General George W. Davis, William Barclay Parsons, William H. Burr, Benjamin M. Harrod, Carl Ewald Grunsky and Colonel Frank J. Hecker.

MAJOR GENERAL DAVIS.

It is accompanied by a score of representatives of mining and dredging concerns, who will look over the ground and make estimates of the cost of digging, dredging and masonry work with the idea of obtaining contracts. Nothing will be done, however, in the way of letting contracts or organizing a working force until the members of the commission have thoroughly sized up the situation.

Rear Admiral Walker and his fellow commissioners will first go over the whole route, noting the work done, planning improvements and arranging for the sanitation of the entire canal zone.

The vice chairman of the commission, Major General Davis, will probably be designated governor of the canal strip. He has a distinguished record as a soldier and administrator. He is one of the many successful soldiers who did not have the advantage of a West Point education. He enlisted in the volunteer service during the first year of the civil war and in 1866 was mustered out with the rank of major.

Conspiracy Against Uncle Sam.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—In the United States district court here former Deputy Sheriff William T. Nash, Thomas K. Dempsey and Hom Toon, a Chinese, were convicted of conspiracy against the government. They were found guilty of deporting old Chinese anxious to return to China instead of young men who had attempted to evade the immigration laws and who had been ordered deported. The testimony showed that about $250 had been paid for each case of substitution. Deputy Sheriff T. T. Burnett, also indicted for the same offense, turned state's evidence after securing a separate trial for himself.

President's Message Will Be Read.

HAVANA, April 6.—No session of the house of representatives has yet been held, but the party leaders have tacitly agreed to hold a session today, at which the president's message will be read. The Bravolsta party candidates from Santiago insist upon taking their seats forthwith on the ground that they have been declared elected by the provincial board of scrutiny. The members of the board, however, are now in jail on charges of making fraudulent returns.

Seizure of Cayman Turtle Ships.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 6.—According to official news received here, six Cayman turtle schooners were seized by the Nicaraguan government last week and their crews arrested and conveyed to Gracias a Dios. Immediately on receipt of the news the Cayman commissioner forwarded a dispatch to the government here, and the latter is now communicating with the British foreign office on the subject.

JAPAN HOLDS KOREA

Occupation of Wiju Ends First Stage of Campaign.

WITHOUT VERY SERIOUS FIGHTING

Fusan and Konje Island Have Been Strongly Fortified, the Latter to Protect the Port of Masampo.

LONDON, April 6.—Advices from Seoul say the Japanese first army, consisting of 45,000 men, including the imperial guard and the Second and Twelfth divisions, which had been concentrated at Anju, advanced on Wiju by three routes and have taken possession of it. Thus eight weeks from the opening of the war sees Japan without any real fighting apparently in complete possession of Korea and the first stage of the campaign ended.

It was the advance guard, composed of 450 infantry and cavalry, which repulsed 600 Russians and occupied Pingju, sixty-five miles southeast of Wiju. Lieutenant Kato and four Japanese were killed on that occasion, and Captain Kurowaka and eleven men were wounded. The Russians had ten men killed.

Small infantry garrisons, with hospitals, etc., make Pingyang the tertiary and Chinampo the secondary bases.

The horses, 5,200 to a division, were landed in bad condition. The necessity for leading each horse reduces the strength of the fighting force. Many of the soldiers are suffering from the effects of frozen feet.

The Russians overestimated the strength of the Japanese force at Anju and consequently retreated without making use of the natural advantages of the country to oppose the Japanese advance.

There are persistent rumors here of the landing of Japanese troops on the Liaotung peninsula and in the vicinity of Newchwang.

Czar Declines Servian Recruits.

BELGRADE, Servia, April 6.—The committee which has been enrolling volunteers in Servia for service with the Russian army in the war in the far east has been dismayed by the receipt of a telegram from the emperor of Russia thanking the members of the committee and the volunteers for their Russian sympathies, but declaring, however, that the services of the Servians would not be required. The emperor's telegram came as a complete surprise. One thousand applications from volunteers had already been received.

Chinese Suspected of Explosion Plot.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 6.—A bomb containing two pounds of powder, heavily charged with nitroglycerin and containing a box of 100 detonating caps, was found on the guard rail of the steamer Albany of the Western Transportation company's line while at her dock here. The fuse had burned almost to the caps, but had gone out. Had the bomb exploded the Albany would doubtlessly have been completely wrecked. From the fact that a quantity of Chinese tissue paper and a white sock such as is worn by Chinese was wrapped round the bomb it is thought that a plot to destroy the steamer was evolved by Chinese. The transportation company has persistently refused to employ Chinese.

Centenarian Negro Burned to Death.

OLEAN, N. Y., April 6.—John Bird, a negro said to be 104 years old, was burned to death here. Bird's cottage was destroyed by fire. A boy tried to get the old man out, but Bird while trying to escape fell against the door, and the boy was unable to open it. Bird's cries for help could be heard as the flames closed about him.

Pennypacker Declined.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 6.—Governor Pennypacker has declined to be a candidate for justice of the supreme court. Shortly afterward the announcement was made that the delegates from Philadelphia and Allegheny counties had indorsed former Attorney General John P. Elkin of Indiana county for the position.

Mrs. Cleveland's Easter Trip.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 6.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland has arrived in Princeton after a pleasant trip to the White mountains, where she spent the Easter season with friends. She was met at the railway station here by her mother, Mrs. Perrine, and her children. She is feeling better after her recreation.

Pacific Squadron's Cruise.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Announcement was made at the navy department that the cruisers of the Pacific squadron would start soon on a cruise for Honolulu, Kiska island and possibly Dutch Harbor, in the Aleutian islands. It will be a practice cruise, such as was made last year by the squadron.

Former Senator Confessed Fraud.

WINSTED, Conn., April 6.—Former State Senator Burton H. Mattoon, until recently treasurer of the Watertown Savings bank and treasurer of the town of Watertown, has pleaded guilty on four counts to an indictment for falsifying the books of the bank. Sentence has been deferred one week.

Kansas City Republicans Elected.

KANSAS CITY, April 6.—Jay H. Neff (Rep.) for mayor and the entire Republican ticket were elected by 1,000 plurality. The Republicans will probably control the new council.

NEW JERSEY GETS THE CUP.

Mrs. M. D. Paterson of Englewood Golf Club the Champion.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 6.—The women's championship event in the united north and south championship tournament has ended. Mrs. M. D. Paterson of the Englewood Golf club of New Jersey winning the final round for the cup from Miss M. Eleanor Freeman of the Montclair Golf club of New Jersey, 5 up and 3 to play.

In the finals Miss Eleanor Freeman of Montclair beat Mrs. William West of the Camden Country club of New Jersey, 1 up; Mrs. M. D. Paterson, Englewood, beat Mrs. H. S. Denny, Pittsburg, 6 up, 5 to play; Mrs. Paterson beat Miss Freeman, 5 up, 3 to play.

National Tennis Tourney.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Six of the series of ten matches for the national court tennis championship have been decided, and of the twelve men who entered six are left in the tournament. These are Joshua Crane, Jr., and Austin Potter, Jr., of Boston and O. S. Campbell, E. A. Thompson, C. S. Sands and J. H. Morgan of New York. In the second round Campbell will play Sands and Crane will meet Potter. The winner of these matches will play Morgan and Thompson respectively tomorrow, and the survivors will meet in the final match on Saturday afternoon.

Racing at Bennings.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The card was an ordinary one at Bennings. St. Juvenal was the only favorite to win, the remaining events going to four second choices and to an outsider. Mrs. Frank Foster, always a popular entry at Washington, won her first race of the season. City Bank, who is entered for some of the big handicap events in the east, showed considerable improvement over his previous running here this season. James F. in the sixth, with odds of 20 to 1 for a place, finished second.

Long Priced Horses Won.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Long priced horses won at Oakland, Matt Hogan being the only favorite to land. The handicap over the Futurity course was the feature of the card, and it proved a lively betting affair. Hagerdon got away flying and, racing with Atwood all the way, beat him easily by over a length.

Hjalmar Lundin Won.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 6.—Hjalmar Lundin defeated Alois E. Gonthier of Montreal in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling contest in this city last night, winning the first and third falls in twenty-four and sixteen minutes respectively. Gonthier took the second in fifteen minutes.

Yale Was Shut Out.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Crumley was invincible in the Georgetown university game with Yale and shut out the visitors without a run, thus duplicating his performance in the contest with Princeton on Saturday. Apperious made a home run. Score—Georgetown, 9; Yale, 0.

Celebration Broke a Record.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 6.—Masedo was the only favorite that finished first at Ascot. There was no special feature to the programme excepting the breaking of the track record in the last race, six and a half furlongs, Celebration going the distance in 1:21½.

Americans Won Third Game.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—The St. Louis American league team defeated the St. Louis National league team in the third game of the local championship series, making the second they have won. Score: Americans, 3; Nationals, 2.

Montreal Lost Again.

RICHMOND, Va., April 6.—Montreal lost again to Brooklyn here because of too much fumbling. Score—Brooklyn, 9; Montreal, 7.

Menu of Igorrotes Curtailed.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—After investigating and holding a meeting to discuss the expressed intention of those having in charge the savage Igorrotes from the Philippine Islands to furnish the savages with dogs for food during the world's fair the Humane society of St. Louis has formally given notification that prosecution would follow every attempt to furnish dogs as food. The society said that if the Igorrotes must have dog meat it must be imported in cans.

Giant Hassan Ali For St. Louis.

BOSTON, April 6.—Abdul Hamid Bey Abaza, representing the Egyptian government as custodian of the Egyptian exhibit at the St. Louis exposition, has arrived here on the Romanic, which left Mediterranean ports fifteen days ago. She brought 125 packages, which constitute the Egyptian exhibit. Among the passengers was Hassan Ali, an Egyptian giant.

Paper Mill Destroyed by Fire.

WALPOLE, Mass., April 6.—Much valuable machinery was ruined in a fire which has destroyed the paper mill of the Hollingsworth & Vose company at East Walpole. The loss is $100,000, fully insured. The company manufactured heavy grades of paper, and a hundred hands are thrown out of employment.

Rose Re-elected Mayor.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 6.—Mayor David S. Rose (Dem.) seems to be re-elected beyond a doubt. Forty precincts out of 114 give Rose 9,303, Goff (Rep.) 3,419 and Berger (Social Dem.) 3,817.

Republican Ticket Elected.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 6.—The Republican ticket, headed by J. E. Johnson for mayor, has been elected with one exception by a plurality of 1,200.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

FASHION HINTS.

Skirts Without Trains—The Vogue of the "Ready Made" Suit.

The skirt of the moment for street wear is cut round and full. It just clears the ground when worn with high heels, and it is a little shorter, if anything, in the back than in the front.

Boleros are of every variety, long or short, loose or fitted in at the waist. They sometimes even lose distinction as boleros by having tiny basques added to them.

Nowadays many of the most smartly gowned women buy their costumes ready made. This is a very good idea unless one can afford the most expensive tailors. The simple and yet wholly smart tailor made is a product of the best houses. The cheap tailor cannot give the same irreproachable fit, and so he seeks to hide this by much trimming. On the other hand, at the shops one can often find for a reasonable sum copies of French models, which with slight alterations may be made to fit almost if not quite perfectly. Nowadays, too, the styles are so intricate that it is not always possible to see from descriptions or drawings how they will suit the figure. For these and many other reasons ready made garments are finding more and more buyers.

Brown has been and is still the rage in Paris, especially those shades which verge on the bronze and even on the yellow.

The flowered ribbons with gold threads woven in the border will be very fashionable for sashes. Perfectly charming is the girdle shaped sash of soft silk adorned at the back with three large flowers—roses, pansies or poppies—the ends being finished with flowers also.

The illustration shows an evening dress of black flowered mousseline over black taffeta. The trimming is of chantilly lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SMART MILLINERY.

Hats to Be Worn With Tailor Mades Are of Rough Straw.

The hat to be worn with tailor made costumes will be of rough straw. This is trimmed with wide, soft ribbon scarfs.

The narrow floral toque seems to be a great favorite among well dressed women. It is particularly attractive made of white roses, with the top entirely composed of their shaded green leaves.

Hats of fine black straw will be enriched by a curtain of fine black chantilly lace, and under this may be concealed one or two red roses. The black hat of the summer season will be a lacey affair, having a high crown banded with velvet and jet.

A FRENCH HAT.

Ecru lace picture hats will be trimmed with wide ruffles of lace and chiffon and rosettes in blue and pink pastel shades.

Tricorne shapes in all varieties of straw are trimmed with ropes and bands of tiny roses.

Tailor made shapes trimmed with a single pale blue or white sea gull are extremely smart.

Cloth trimming will be found on everything, from silk to homespun. A very charming example was a summer frock of willow green relieved with black chantilly, on which white cloth bands formed a lattice, the bands being finished with small gold buttons.

The picture shows a French hat of ecru leghorn. It is trimmed with roses and twists of pale blue ribbon.

OAKS FROM ACORNS GROW.

Mount Vernon Oak in Czar's Garden Supplied White House Tree.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—A historic oak sapling will be planted in the White House grounds tomorrow. Secretary Hitchcock has supplied the tree and in connection with it told the president a pretty story. Many years ago Charles Sumner sent to the czar of Russia some acorns from a stately oak which overhangs the tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon. The czar caused the acorns to be planted in the grounds of the Peterhof palace in St. Petersburg. One of the acorns grew into a magnificent oak, which yet stands in the palace grounds.

While in St. Petersburg in 1898 as the United States ambassador to Russia, Mr. Hitchcock collected a handful of acorns from the historic offspring of the Mount Vernon oak, sent them to this country and had them planted in the ground at his Missouri home. Some of them developed into fine saplings, and it is one of them that is to be planted in the White House grounds tomorrow. The planting, which is to be done at the instance of President Roosevelt, will be without ceremony.

FIVE DROWNED AT TAMPA.

Methodist College Party Meets Disaster In the Gulf.

TAMPA, Fla., April 6.—Five persons, members of a pleasure party from the Florida Methodist college at Sutherland, have been drowned in Clearwater bay, near Anclote lighthouse, off the coast here.

The dead are: Mrs. Walker, wife of the president of the college; Miss O'Connor of Atlanta, Miss Slaughter of Sutherland, Miss McCray of Sutherland and Mr. Bouland of Sutherland.

President Walker and Miss Newton reached the beach alive. The bodies of Mrs. Walker and Miss O'Connor have not yet been recovered. The bodies of the other three who lost their lives were washed ashore and recovered.

President Walker had taken the party out for a cruise to the lighthouse, but met rough weather, and the boat was overturned in the gulf.

WESTON, Mass., April 6.—The attention of the state and local police, who are trying to bring about the arrest of the murderer of Miss Mabel Page, has been directed to an investigation in the neighborhood immediately adjacent to the Page homestead. Two hours were spent in conference with the nearest neighbors of the Page family—Miss Susan Cutter and her sister, Mrs. Helen Tyler, who live with their uncle, Charles Cutter, about a quarter of a mile from the scene of the tragedy. At the conclusion of the interview State Detective Whitney said: "We are returning to Boston, and no arrests will be made. Anything that has been said to intimate that any member of the Cutter house was connected with the death of Miss Page has been without foundation and is absolutely unsubstantiated."

A Defeat For Johnson.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6.—The Democratic state central committee met here and decided to hold the state convention at Columbus on May 24 and 25. R. L. Starr, editor of the Bryan Democrat and a supporter of W. R. Hearst for president, was selected for temporary chairman and W. S. Beebe of Mount Gilead temporary secretary of the convention. There was a spirited contest over the selection of a temporary chairman. Many politicians are inclined to regard the outcome as of more significance in state than national affairs, claiming that it is distinctively a defeat for Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, who has controlled the state committee since 1902.

Summoned the Victim's Specter.

CHICAGO, April 6.—Pretending to summon the specter of Cornelius Van Zandwick into court to testify against George Freeman, charged with murdering Van Zandwick, Assistant State Attorney Barbour created a dramatic scene in Judge Chytraus' court. In closing an address to the jury Mr. Barbour pointed to the empty witness chair and said he had summoned the murdered man from the grave to confront the slayer. Mr. Barbour pointed to the spot where he pretended to see Van Zandwick sitting and counted and described the wounds on the body of the dead man.

Armed Men Hold Possession.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., April 6.—The dispute between Leonard Jacobs and the town of Oyster Bay as to the ownership of East beach, which has been going on for a year and which has caused armed men from both sides to hold possession of the property, is now in the courts. Both sides will continue to maintain forces at the beach until the preliminary fight is decided.

First Boat Across Lake Erie.

CLEVELAND, O., April 6.—The big steamer City of Detroit has arrived here from Detroit, being the first boat to cross Lake Erie this season. She made the run between the two cities in about schedule time. Very little ice was encountered on the passage, the vessel being compelled to slow down only once on that account.

Al Adams to Remain In Prison.

OSSINING, N. Y., April 6.—Al Adams, the former policy king of New York, will have to serve the remaining nine months of his sentence, the board of parole, which has considered his application for a conditional release, having decided not to parole him.

CHICAGO ELECTION.

Republicans Have Eighteen and Democrats Sixteen Aldermen.

CHICAGO, April 6.—In the municipal election here the Republicans elected eighteen aldermen, the Democrats sixteen, and one independent Republican who repudiated the "machine" in the Sixth ward was chosen a member of the council. The last council was composed of 36 Republicans, 32 Democrats, 1 independent Democrat and 1 Socialist. The next council will be formed of 36 Republicans, 31 Democrats, 2 independents, one of whom is a Democrat and the other a Republican, and 1 Socialist.

The chief interest in the election, however, centered in the vote on proposed municipal ownership of the street railways. In this connection what is known as the Mueller law passed by the last legislature was submitted to the people. The law authorizes cities in Illinois to construct, own, operate and lease street railways and to provide the means therefor. On this proposition the vote stood 152,434 for the proposition and 30,104 against. On the proposition that the city should at once take over the street railways into its control the vote stood 120,744 for and 50,893 against.

MAY BE CHINEE.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 6.—It became known here that the Rev. George W. Nicholson, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the victim of a clever pickpocket some time during the special Easter musical service in his church on Sunday evening. The Rev. Mr. Nicholson's church is one of the most fashionable churches of the Baptist denomination in Bridgeport.

The pastor refuses to discuss the subject excepting to say that a big roll of money was taken from him during the service and that it was in a lower pocket of his vest. He also refuses to state the amount of the roll.

A committee of members of the church has been appointed to investigate the affair, and it is reported that they are of the opinion that the pickpocket got in his work during the service, in which six Chinamen were baptized. For many years Chinamen have come to the church in classes, and the teachers, daughters of well known business and professional men, have been successful in converting them.

Judith Berolde Dying.

BUFFALO, April 6.—Judith Berolde, the actress, is not expected to survive the night. Her father, Nathan Boasberg, and her sister are at her bedside. She was in a semiconscious state throughout the day. Cecilia Loftus, who is at the Children's hospital suffering from an attack of scarlet fever, is reported to be progressing favorably.

Stafford Block Burned.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 6.—The Stafford block at Lestershire, a suburb, has been destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $7,500. Mrs. Beagle, a tenant, was badly injured while escaping.

SPORTING NEWS.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The last in the series of boys' athletic events of the Y. M. C. A. took place Saturday afternoon. The events were a potato race and running broad jump.

HANDBALL.

In the only handball game played Saturday night in the Y. M. C. A. championship tournament, C. B. Koons defeated Sebring, 21 to 9.

Two matches were played in the Y. M. C. A. handball tournament Friday night. Luther Sheppard lost to Harry Thompson by a score of 21-13. Arthur Aalholm defeated Jerry Manning 21-14.

GOLF.

The golf season will open at the Cranford Golf Club on Saturday with an 18-hole handicap for a cup to be presented by George A. Morrison. This will be medal play and continue Saturdays up to and including April 23. There will be Class B and C competitions also for cups under the same conditions. On April 23 there will be a women's putting contest, 24 holes, for a prize, and on April 30 there will be mixed foursome, entrance fee one golf ball.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Y. M. C. A. and Hope Y. M. A. teams will bowl on Hope's alleys Thursday night, April 14.

The Y. M. C. A. five will take the 7 o'clock trolley for Westfield tonight to bowl the Wednesday Night Club a return game.

The medals to be awarded first and second place winners in the Y. M. C. A. bowling tournament have been received from the jeweler's by Director Heywood. They are handsome affairs in silver and bronze.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Plainfield High School baseball nine will play the Boys' High School, of Brooklyn, Saturday.

The Alis Club will open its baseball season on Saturday, May 7, on Crescent Oval, with the Aeolians, of Garwood. The event will be made a memorable one.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball nine has decided to engage the Myrtle avenue grounds permanently for this season and if possible to secure funds will erect a grandstand.

Pastor, who played the last of the season last year for Westfield, failed to make the Chicago American League team this year. It is understood that he will be released to Nassau, of the Connecticut Valley League.

The Westfield Baseball Club will open the season on Saturday, April 23, with the Seventh Regiment team. It has been arranged to have present a number of county dignataries, one of whom will toss the first ball over the plate.

It is expected that the baseball management of the Alis Club will announce the line-up and schedule for the season within a short time. All preliminary details are now concluded and a successful season is confidently expected.

A report has reached here that Waller, who occupied the points for Westfield last year, is likely to return to Rochester this year, and that he has not decided to play at Westfield. He played at Rochester at one time and was very popular.

The new uniforms for the High High School nine have arrived and are very natty affairs. They are of white and gray mixed, with the P. H. S. monogram on the left side. The team has been without regular uniforms for the past two years and the new ones are appreciated. Caps are expected to arrive later.

The Westfield-Plainfield High School baseball game scheduled for this afternoon on Crescent Oval has been cancelled at Westfield's request. A game with another team will be substituted if possible. If the game is arranged it is likely that the High School line-up will include Davis, catcher; Smith, pitcher; Collier, first base; Thompson, second base; Bogart, third base; Craig, short stop. This was the line-up at yesterday's practice.

A report has been in circulation here for several weeks that George H. Johnson, former manager of the Scotch Plains baseball team, is planning to play Sunday ball at the Plainfield Driving Park, believing it would be a paying venture. It is also said that J. Wesley Johnson, the owner of the proprety, is adverse to Sunday ball there and will not lease the grounds for the purpose. This proposed new venture on the part of Mr. Johnson, it is said, is responsible for his lack of interest in the Scotch Plains team.

Manager H. C. Smith has partially completed the baseball schedule for the Orange Field Club team, of which George McVoy is the captain. As the club has no diamond, all the games will be played away from the city. The team promises to be stronger than ever. These games have been arranged: April 6, at Rahway; 23, at Dunellen; 30, open; May 7, Reform Club; 4, at New Market; 21, at Cranford; 28, at Rahway; 30, at Red Bank; June 4, open; 11, open; 18, at New Market; 25, at Cranford; July 2, at New Market; 4, at Red Bank; 9, Plainfield A. A.; 16, Morristown High School. Later other games will be scheduled. Teams in search of games should address H. C. Smith, Scotch Plains.

GUN CLUB COMPETITION

GOOD SCORES ARE MADE ON THE MAPLE AVENUE RANGE.

Some good scores were made at the postponed shoot of the Independent Gun Club Monday afternoon. There was a large variety of events, and the shooters turned out in force.

Besides the regulasion rifle and trap contests, the scores of which go on the running record kept by the club all through the year to determine the championship among the members, there were several sweepstakes and walking shooting matches. In the regular contests Drs C. M. Luckey and C. W. Leonard won out. The latter takes the lead in the rifle tournament, and the former heads the trap shooters. The contest is not over by any means, however, and several of the gunners are still possible winners.

Interest, aside from the standing rifle and shotgun contests, centered about several sweepstakes, with bluerocks for targets. Dr. Luckey, Dennis Gavin and Lewis Van Dyck won first money in these, with Charles Emmons, C. W. Krausse, Charles Jensen, Henry Haurand and Dr. Leonard close behind with good scores.

In one of the walking matches Emmons and Haurand divided first money. Dr. Luckey landed second honors, with Dr. Leonard third. The other walking match was won cleanly by Haurand, Emmons and Gavin dividing second honors. C. W. Krausse was third.

Christopher Stoeckel gave a fine exhibition with his new Winchester rifle, making unusually high scores. Kaeding also made a star showing as a rifle shot, making 144 out of a possible 150.

It is expected that the club will hold another shoot on Pfingst-Montag, a day generally observed by the Germans. It falls on May 23. This will be a special event. The next regular shoot will be held on Decoration Day.

Fifteen years ago she moved to Dunellen, where she continued her residence until the time of her death. She was a faithful and consistent member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. A son, W. C. ELKS' GALA TIME AT INSTALLATION

JOLLY GOOD FELLOWS

ENTERTAINMENT AND REFRESHMENTS AS FEATURES.

District Deputy Everson Installing Officer—William N. Runyon is Again the Exalted Ruler—The Programme.

It was playtime for the Elks last night. They never do much except gambol, but the play last night was of the superabundant sort, because the Benevolent and Protective brethren had an installation of officers to celebrate.

All the members were out, and visiting brethern from out of town helped to make the occasion joyous. The affair passed off in true Elk style, with much song and jollity.

These were the officers installed: Exalted ruler, City Judge William N. Runyon; esteemed leading knight, A. D. Findlay; esteemed loyal knight, L. I. VanAlystine; treasurer, L. B. Woolston; secretary, Walter H. Freeman; tiler, Edward C. Searing.

Exalted Ruler William H. Everson, of New Brunswick Lodge, No. 224, was the installing officer. He was assisted by Louis Wolfson and H. P. Garretson, also of New Brunswick Lodge.

Trustee for one year, C. A. Reed, being out of town, could not be installed.

Exalted Ruler Runyon announced the following appointive officers: Esquire, Thomas Hanna; inner guard, John Bowman; organist, George Schoonmaker.

After the brief business of the installation fun and frolic held the boards until a late hour. Pedelous served an elaborate collation that more than met the high standard set by the noble Elks in such matters.

There was an impromptu programme of song and story, with a few light dance steps to lend variety to the entertainment. Plainfield Lodge is rich in talent, and under the guidance of the exalted ruler, whose sobriquet is the Prince of Entertainers, the members did things that would make a musical extravaganza seem weak and unsatisfactory.

The lodge has come pretty close to finding itself, and every meeting brings it nearer to the first rank in membership and standing in the eastern section of the order.

BIG INDIANS AT POW-WOW

GREAT CHIEFS OF DEGREE OF POCOHONTAS GUESTS OF IONA.

The Board of Great Chiefs of the Degree of Pocohontas were guests of Iona Council, No. 14, at a special meeting last night. Among those who were present were Great Pocohontas Mrs. Stella B. Ragan, of Paterson; Great Wenonah Mrs. Ray Waddell, of Jersey City; Great Keeper of Records Mrs. Sarah T. Rellstab, of Trenton, and Great Keeper of Wampum Mrs. Harriet Whitmore, of Oceanic. Past Great Sachem Dr. W. S. Whitmore, of Oceanic, and Past Great Sachem William Newcorn, of this city, were also present and spoke. A soprano solo was rendered by Miss Justina Smith, recitations by Miss Josie Murphy and Dr. Whitmore and a song by Mrs. Charles L. Holstein.

The festivities closed with a debate between Messrs. Newcorn, Whitmore, Holstein and Montross on the subject "A Man Had a Dollar." The question was somewhat mystifying to the ordinary mind. A man had a dollar, spent eighty-five cents of it for a drum, and ten cents for drum sticks. He then boarded a trolley car, gave the conductor five cents for his fare and the conductor put him off the car. Why did he do it? The question was not settled last night but will be brought up for final argument at the meeting of Miantonomo Tribe of Red Men tomorrow night.

The committee in charge of last night's entertainment consisted of Mrs. I. H. Boehm, Miss Ella Sebring and Mrs. Edward Bowman.

Decision Reserved.

Decision in the case of Joseph Hager against Thom & Houston was reserved until Saturday by Justice Mattison this morning. V. W. Nash, Jr., Esq., represented the plaintiff.

DEFEATED THE Y. M. C. A. FIVE

WESTFIELD AGGREGATION WON MATCH ON ITS OWN ALLEYS.

After somewhat erratic work for both teams, the Wednesday Night Bowling Club, of Westfield, won out from the local Y. M. C. A. five last night, three games to one. The match closed the series between the two, and left the Plainfield boys one game in the lead for the total. The games were played on Westfield's alleys. Arndt, for Westfield, made the best scores of the night, 186, 182 and 175. Menzenbach was high man for the visitors. Plainfield started in well winning the first game easily and losing the second by a narrow margin. After that it was easy going for Westfield. Linbarger's back was slightly wrenched in the second game, though not enough to prevent his finishing. The scores:

Fire Department Mascot.

Along with the new house and new apparatus the borough fire department is to have a mascot, in true professional fire fighting style. The mascot is a pert little fox terrier, yclept Towser, owned by Lieutenant Campbell, of No. 1 Hose Company. Towser has been living around the old engine house on Somerset street for the past few days, and knows now what the sound of the tapper means. Every time the bell sounds he has a species of canine hysteria that last until the apparatus rolls out.

PLAINFIELD'S STORY, PAST AND PRESENT

SCHOOLS UNSURPASSED

HISTORIC SPOTS WITHIN AND WITHOUT THE CITY LIMITS.

Article in The Suburbanite Signed H. E. B.—A Progressive Community — Some of its Attractions.

The current number of The Suburbanite contains the following story on "Plainfield as seen by an old resident," signed "H. E. B.," who is presumed to be Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue.

"Plainfield is one of the most progressive cities in New Jersey. Beautifully situated on a plain below the Watchung Mountains, it is rapidly growing in wealth and population. It is indeed 'the Colorado of the East'—the title which it long has borne. Only twenty-three miles from New York, its citizens come and go from the great Metropolis in little over half an hour.

"Probably no city in New Jersey presents a gayer appearance morning and afternoon on the departure and arrival of the through express trains. It is the usual thing for nearly a thousand passengers to board a morning train. In the afternoon North avenue sees at times 100 to 150 private carriages awaiting the arrival of their various owners. Saratoga and Newport at the height of the season in this respect have a close rival in Plainfield.

"Very different was the time less than half a century ago when a single train left Plainfield in the morning, returning at night. A bell was rung before the departure of the train to let the people know that it was about to go. The station, a rude affair, was in charge of one man, who officiated as ticket-agent, baggage-master, freight-handler and bell-ringer. As far back as 1870 there were only three public hacks in town, while today there are over fifty, to say nothing of the four lines of trolley cars.

"Plainfield, with her sister city, North Plainfield, has a population of about 25,000, and it is growing rapidly. Hundreds of new families arrive every fall and spring to make it their permanent home. New York and Brooklyn lose many of their best citizens, who come to Plainfield to enjoy the numerous advantages that can be obtained here in the way of churches, schools, public library, golf and tennis clubs and other attractions.

"Beautiful and costly residences line its broad streets and avenues from old Scotch Plains to the Netherwood Heights and through Grant and Clinton avenues towards Dunellen.

"Plainfield has many historical places within its boundaries, notable among which is the Harburger place, where Washington once made his headquarters. At Washington Rock, on the Watchung Mountains, from which one at night can see the flashlight in the lighthouse at Barnegat, Washington in the Revolutionary War watched the marching of the British troops to Trenton. The old Quaker meeting-house, built in 1788, looks just as it did when it was erected and is good for another century or two in its barnlike simplicity.

"Plainfield is ruled from its club cars. For many years the 'Roosters,' as the old, stay-at-home Jerseymen were called, have made way for the 'Commuters.' Here, on the way to and from the city, are held the quiet caucuses of leading bankers, brokers, merchants and business men of New York, which have resulted in making Plainfield what it is today.

"Years ago the political cry was:
"'No king, no clown
Shall rule this town'—
And that is the reason why political 'bosses' are held in disfavor and only come to the front to be overthrown. It will be a long day before her patriotic people will allow Plainfield to run in debt, their demand to the City Fathers being 'pay while you go;' and 'A national debt being a national blessing'—the old Civil War inspiration of Jay Cooke—finds no favor among the taxpayers of Plainfield.

"The people, too, are liberal spenders. No public schools in the country can rival those of Plainfield. The St. Louis Exposition in April will show to the nation what is being done in fine work by the children of this famous city.

"Muhlenberg Hospital, owing to the generosity of the Plainfield people, rich and poor alike, has carried on a noble and useful work. Their generous contributions are fast aiding in completing this grand institution.

"Plainfield, while a city not set upon a hill, sheds her influence world-wide. It almost seems that nothing happens of importance in this hemisphere without some Plainfielder, directly or indirectly, being mentioned. No other city in the State receives so much notice in the metropolitan papers. Readers of the New York Herald often remark at the first-page headings of the cities where it is represented: New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Philadelphia and Plainfield—that this town must be quite a city to be so named.

"It is, therefore, not surprising that the stranger loves to linger long within its gates. Here life is worth living. Nothing is too good for Plainfield, and what she has not is not worth having."—The Suburbanite.

BESLER'S PROMOTION.

Report Has It That Plainfielder Will Leave Central Road to Accept Presidency of Erie System.

An unconfirmed rumor set afloat in railroad circles yesterday afternoon was to the effect that W. G. Besler, general manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, is slated to succeed F. D. Underwood as president of the Erie Railroad.

It is reported that the change will be made within a month.

Two members of the Executive Committee of the Erie Railroad and a high official of the company denied yesterday that F. D. Underwood is to resign as president of the corporation.

METHODIST LEADER ON LONDON'S POOR

Rev. Mark Guy Pearse's Absorbingly Interesting Talk at the Crescent Avenue.

DEPLORABLE CONDITION

PAINTS VIVID PICTURE OF THE DOWN-TRODDEN WORKINGMAN.

Strong Plea to Arouse Christian Aid in Relieving Distress—600,000 Live in One-Room Dwellings.

Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, of London, known as one of the great leaders of Methodism in England, a widely read author and a leader in work among the poorest classes of London, addressed a large gathering at the Crescent Avenue church last night. Mr. Pearse is a fascinating speaker, direct, epigrammatic, original, with a full command of humor and pathos. He presented the scenes of London slums, the usefulness and need of the work among them, so strikingly as to capture the complete sympathy of his hearers, and to make the hour or more during which he spoke pass like five minutes. Rev. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, presided over the meeting, and Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, of the First M. E. church, introduced the speaker.

The work done to improve conditions in West London was the subject of Mr. Pearse's address. London with its population of six and a half millions has a bigger slum problem than almost any other city in the world. A million people in the city are living under conditions which the law condemns as unsanitary. Six hundred thousand are living in one room dwellings. In some cases three families exist in a single room, one having possession for the first eight hours and the other two following in their turn.

Individual instances were given to show the horrors of the ways in which a large portion of the "other half" lives. Many of them never know a bed, sleep in their working clothes; one boy, when he first placed himself gingerly between sheets, exclaiming that it was like lying on cold treacle, the English for molasses.

Children barely out of arms labor for six pence a week. The workingman in the poorest classes spends a third of his salary for rent. There is no brighter outlook for him, little hope of improving his condition, unless the churches and their institutions can see his need and stretch out a hand in fellowship. He has no place to go for recreation except to the public house. The public house is open six nights in the week, and made attractive to him. The churches are closed. He cannot conceive of having an enjoyable time without getting drunk.

Mr. Pearse made a forceful plea for less of self-complacency and selfishness among church-members. His idea was that the Christian is a man who receives the good and passes it on to his less fortunate neighbor. The work of the churches should be active among the unfortunate classes.

The naturalness of the poor man's hatred and envy of everything of wealth was illustrated. New York, London, Chicago and the other large cities of the world are built on volcanoes, he said, and the thing to do is for the churches to wake up; substitute for the socialism of hate the socialism of love, and change the socialist's cry of "down with everything that's up" to "up with everything that's down." The church should get out of its rut and welcome new ideas.

The danger of selfishness in religion was the dominant note in the greater part of Mr. Pearse' speech. The "aristocratic" aloofness of church people who pride themselves on their godliness, he condemned. "I know what makes blue blood," he said. "It is blue with cold." It scorns to mingle with the "riff-raff," to distribute its benefits when such distribution calls for sacrifice of personal comfort and disagreeable work with poverty and evil. "If the devil himself should give me a match, I'd rather light the gas with it than be in the dark," he said.

Increasing Membership.

After holding a rehearsal for the minstrel show to be given in Reform Hall, the Hope Y. M. A. elected two new members Tuesday at a business meeting. The annual donation to the trustees of the church was made.

GEORGE T. POWELL'S TALK

TELLS FRIENDS' SOCIETY OF THE DESTRUCTIVE SAN JOSE SCALE.

The various trees and plants of the city, insects that are destructive to them and the relation of birds to plants and trees was the subject of an interesting lecture given last night by George T. Powell, of this city, at the Friends' meeting-house, under the auspices of the Young Friends' Association.

Mr. Powell owns a farm of one hundred acres in New York State and this is covered with fruit trees. He has made a very close study of tree and plant life, as well as the insects that destroys it, and at present is giving a source of lectures on the subject in New York. Last night he illustrated his subject with a series of painted charts. In his local investigations he finds that the San Jose scale is the most troublesome and dangerous insect to plant and tree life here. It is so minute that it can scarcely been seen until the destruction is apparent. He gave the full history of this scale. Mr. Powell also spoke of the cultivation of plants and trees giving an idea of the best soil in which to plant. In speaking of the relation of birds to the protection of plants, he said that he found the birds to be of great benefit, oftentimes saving valuables trees and plants from total destruction. He urged the protection of all birds, claiming that they are in many ways of incalculable benefit.

THE MARTENS HAVE COME

SURE SIGN OF SPRING IS THE ADVENT OF THE BIRDS.

One of the surest signs of spring is the return of the martens from their long absence during cold weather. It has been custom for these birds to visit their home on Front street, opposite W. W. Coriell's residence on April 6, of each year. They seldom vary from this date, occasionally being perhaps one day late. Yesterday fifteen of these birds put in an appearance and they routed the sparrows who have been living in their home. To the older residents, who have watched these birds, their return is a welcome sign. During the past year Frank Linke erected two bird houses in front of his place and the birds have ample accommodations.

Rush for Tickets.

A crowd thronged Armstrong's drug store last evening just previous to 6 o'clock when the sale of seats for the amateur production of "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino began. While the first performance does not take place until May 5, there is much interest shown and the seats promise to go very rapidly. In the first two hours of the sale 150 tickets were disposed of. The diagrams for both nights are now to be seen at Armstrong's drug store.

Weller to be Sentenced.

"Jack" Weller, the burglar, who plied his trade industriously in this vicinity, during the past winter, and who has been in the Somerset County jail since his arrest, will be sentenced tomorrow. It is said that he is likely to get a good term. Since Weller's incarceration it has been learned that a well-known person here has been trying to get the prisoner off with a light sentence. The evidence against the man seems to be too strong to permit such action.

Mrs. Saunders Buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucinda Saunders, wife of Patrolman James A. Saunders, took place yesterday afternoon from the late home in Berckman street. Chief of Police P. S. Kiely and Patrolmen Saffron, McGinley, Myers and Higgins were present and the members of the police force contributed a large pillar of flowers. The King's Daughters, of Mt. Olive church, were also represented by a committee in attendance and sent a beautiful floral tribute. Rev. E. E. Jackson officated. The pall bearers were the deacons of Mt. Olive church and Superintendent Pollard of the Sunday-school. Mrs. Saunders is survived by her husband and three children.

Daily Press Rural Delivery.

The United States Senate yesterday, after a protracted discussion, adopted the amendment reported by the postoffice giving the rural free delivery carrier the right to carry merchandise for hire and to collect subscriptions for newspapers, magazines, etc., whenever it does not interfere with their official duties.

LIBRARY DIRECTORS MEET.

Major Miller Loans Copy of The Fredericksburg Herald of 1815.

Major W. D. W. Miller's offer to give his copy of "The Fredericksburg Herald" of 1815 into the care of the local Public Library was accepted last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the institution. General library bills and bills from the Babcock fund were ordered paid.

Another Lecture.

Rev. Mark Guy Pearse so delighted his audience at the Crescent Avenue church that he has been secured for a lecture in the First M. E. church this evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be: "Some Old Folks at Home." The lecture will be a humorous and graphic delineation of scenes in and characters in Cornwall, England. The admission will be free. A plate collection will be taken for Mr. Pearse's work in London.

Honors for Mr. Squires.

Charles A. Squires, son of Henry C. Squires, of Watchung avenue, has been appointed as one of the resident staff at Presbyterian Hospital, New York city. He stood third in the competitive examination and so secured choice of branch of service whether medical or surgical. Among the competitors were seventeen men from the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Lectured on Shakespearian Play.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. J. R. Truell, of Truell Inn, Edgar C. Abbott, of Boston, gave the last of his Shakespearian lecture-recitals at the Inn this morning. His subject was "King Lear." The striking passages were rendered with strong dramatic power. "Hamlet" and "Othello" were the subjects of the other lectures in the course.

SNAP SHOTS.

Plainfield's petition for rural free delivery, which was granted last year, was one of 197 that have been filed from this State so far. Of these, 151 have been granted, and 26 have been adversely reported upon. 148 routes have been established, and 20 are now pending. There are 21,660 of the R. F. D. routes in the country.

When municipal street sprinkling was adopted it was done so with the understanding that by keeping the macadam streets well sprinkled during the dry season it would preserve the roadbed and lessen the cost of repairs and maintenance. There is no doubt but what it has done this, although the street committee thus far has not been able to figure the gain to the city in dollars and cents. Street Commissioner Gavett declares that with well sprinkled streets patching is an easy matter and the repairs stand the wear better.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I have never had any more idea or intention of "landing" the chairmanship of the Democratic State committee than you have, and would not take the office if it were handed to me on a "golden platter." The suggestion that I am plotting for it is ridiculous and absurd, as is also the much quoted report that I am a Bryan-Hearst boomer. I never was a Bryan boomer, and as for Hearst, I have had no more to do with his boom or with him than Grover Cleveland himself has had. As chairman of the Union County committee I have observed an absolute neutrality as to "booms," but simply because I have not rent the air with yells against Hearst, a lot of people jump to the conclusion that I am a red-hot boomer of his candidacy. As a matter of fact I am simply trying to play fair, in order that, when the State convention is over, neither Hearstites or anti-Hearstites will be able to assert or claim that they did not get a square deal in this county.

PASSES JEROME BILL

Assembly Has Put Through Antigambling Measure.

VANDERBILT ET AL. MUST TESTIFY

ALBANY, N. Y., April 7.—District Attorney Jerome's gambling bill, also known as the Canfield bill, has passed the assembly by a vote of 93 to 47.

The passage of the bill was forecasted by the defeat of an amendment by Mr. Ware which would kill it by a vote of 85 to 57.

The bill grants immunity to witnesses who testify in gambling cases and will enable the district attorney to call Reginald Vanderbilt and others to testify against Richard Canfield and others.

District Attorney Jerome arrived at the capitol early in order to witness the final struggle on the bill. He expressed satisfaction at the outcome.

As soon as the Jerome bill was taken up Mr. Wade of Chautauqua rose to a question of personal privilege. He read from a newspaper the statement that if he opposed the bill his opposition would be looked upon as expressing hostility on the part of Speaker Nixon. He declared that he represented only himself and that the speaker had never asked him to support or oppose any bill.

He also denied the statement that there was some connection between the voting machine interests and the gamblers. He said there was no foundation for it, but he admitted that he was interested as a stockholder in a voting machine company. He thought he ought to be free from such "base insinuations."

Mr. Wade said he cared nothing about Canfield, but he did care of giving the pardoning power to a district attorney. So far as concerned the difficulty of obtaining convictions, the same could be said of murder, larceny and many other crimes.

Mr. Carew characterized the decision of the court of appeals in the Lewisohn case as a decision in favor of wealthy lawbreakers. He praised Mr. Jerome as one fearless in the performance of his duty.

Mr. Moreland said the moral sentiment of the state demanded the bill.

Mr. Ogden called attention to the fact that the lawyers in the assembly seemed to be about evenly divided on the bill, and the laymen could afford to go with the moral sentiment of the state.

Under a close of the house the bill went upon final passage. Mr. Wade offered an amendment providing that the powers granted by the bill should be invoked only at the order of the supreme court in each case.

Mr. Wainwright declared that this would kill it, and Mr. Palmer also opposed it. The latter ridiculed the claim that the bill was unconstitutional, calling attention to the fact that the same provision existed in the constitution in the prohibition against passes for public officers, in the antitrust law and in an election bill passed on Monday last.

The bill has already passed the senate and now goes to the governor for final determination. It is believed that he will sign the measure.

Christian Party's Convention.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—Notification has been sent out by William Rudolph Benkest, national chairman of the United Christian party, that the national convention, which will be held in St. Louis May 1, will not convene in the world's fair grounds, but will instead occupy the Coliseum because more space is required than can be furnished by any hall in the exposition grounds. In issuing this notification a general call is issued, as follows: "All patriots who believe in Jesus and Christian government by and for the people governed by the Golden Rule are welcome to take part in the convention regardless of nationality, sex, creed, color or previous politics. Special prayer is requested for this convention throughout every state and nation."

A Storm of Locusts.

BERLIN, April 7.—Fabulous swarms of locusts have devastated the valleys of Usumbara, in German East Africa. They were first noticed coming from Wombo. It is semiofficially stated that the most terrible snowstorm would not give any idea of the numbers of the locusts. The trees on which they settled have broken down, and banana and mulberry trees have been stripped, even the bark of the mulberry trees being eaten. Scarcely a green blade or leaf has been left in the forests or on the farms, except in the case of coffee plants, which the locusts tried, but disliked.

Boer War Exhibit at St. Louis.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 7.—General Cronje and 200 Boers, accompanied by 120 British soldiers, who saw service in the Boer war, fifty women and children and twenty Zuzuls kaffirs and Zembezis, have arrived here on the steamship Doune Castle from Cape Town. The Burghes in the party were with Cronje at Paardeburg. General Viljoen awaits the party at St. Louis, to which point the exhibit is now being moved by special train.

York Carriage Plant Destroyed.

YORK, Pa., April 7.—Fire of unknown origin has totally destroyed the large plant of the York Carriage company, entailing a loss of about $200,000, partly covered by insurance. Two hundred and sixty men are thrown out of work. Several adjoining properties were damaged.

WORSE EVERY YEAR.

Plenty of Plainfield Readers Have the Same Experience.

Don't neglect an aching back.
It will get worse every year.
Backache is really kidney ache.
To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.
If you don't other kidney ills follow—
Diabetes, Bright's disease.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years. I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back, and relieved the other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a wonderful medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD has been recommended by physicians and used by actresses, singers and women of fashion for more than twenty-five years. It is the only preparation known to medical science that will round out with firm, healthy flesh, thin cheeks, neck and arms.

One or two boxes are often sufficient to restore a breast lost through nursing or sickness to its original fullness and beauty. The same quantity will also show a decided improvement where the natural growth has been impaired. We have thousands of testimonials. What it has done for others it will do for you.

For removing wrinkles or crow's-feet about the eyes or mouth it acts like magic. Wrinkles which have been years in forming often disappear after a few applications.

Regular price $1.00 a box, but to introduce Dr. Charles Flesh Food into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us one dollar. We would thank you to send your order to-day and mention this paper.

FREE—A sample box and our book, "Art of Massage," illustrated with half-tone pictures of living models showing all the different movements for removing wrinkles, developing the bust and other beauty hints, will be sent free to any lady sending 10 cents to pay for cost of mailing.

PRISON FOR BURTON

Kansas Senator Sentenced to Six Months In Jail.

MUST ALSO PAY A FINE OF $2,500

Judge Adams Declared Jury Found a Just Verdict—Accused Declined to Make Any Explanation or Comment.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—United States Senator J. R. Burton of Kansas has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment in jail and to pay a fine of $2,500 for using his influence before the postoffice department in behalf of the Rialto Grain and Securities company of St. Louis and for having received payment from the company for his services.

When Senator Burton, accompanied by his attorney, came into the United States district court Judge Adams spoke of the motions that had been filed for a new trial and for arrest of judgment. The court, after briefly reviewing the motions, overruled them both. The court then said to the defendant:

"Have you anything to say as to why sentence should not be passed upon you?"

Evidently suppressing his emotions with a strong effort, Senator Burton stood leaning with both hands on a chair back as he said:

"Your honor will please allow me to respectfully decline to say anything."

The courtroom was almost empty with the exception of a few persons who had remained out of curiosity, and the silence was almost oppressive as Judge Adams, in a low tone, said:

"After a fair and impartial trial by a jury of exceptional intelligence you have been found guilty of the offense charged in the indictment against you.

"A motion for a new trial in your behalf has afforded me an opportunity carefully to review and consider the evidence. As a result of this I am satisfied that the jury reached a just and true result. The evidence abundantly warranted their verdict, and I find no reason, either in the law governing the case or in the proceedings attending the trial, for disturbing it.

"Your conviction necessarily results in your punishment. Its importance, in my opinion, is not confined to its effect upon you.

"Your exalted station in life and the character of your offense give unusual significance to your condition. It demonstrates that the law of the land is equal to any emergency and that it can be administered regardless of the station of the accused. It also demonstrates to all the people that public office cannot be prostituted to self serving purposes and that public office is not a sure or safe passport to private thrift.

"The humiliation attending your conviction and the statutory disqualifications resulting therefrom, which forever incapacitate you from holding any office of honor, trust or profit under the government of the United States, are in themselves heavy punishment for your offenses and leave but little in the way of severity which could be added.

"It is neither my pleasure nor purpose to impose any unnecessary punishment. I think the majesty of the law will be sufficiently vindicated and the public welfare sufficiently safeguarded by imposing a single sentence, warranted as it is, on any of the six counts, indictments on which you were convicted.

"This sentence will be that you be confined in the Iron county jail for a period of six months and that you pay a fine of $2,500."

At the conclusion of the sentence Senator Burton, who had not taken his eyes from the court and who had scarcely moved as he supported himself by the chair back, turned and sat down, with his head bowed and his eyes on the floor. His attorney, Judge Krum, immediately filed a bill of exceptions in the case and offered a bond for $10,000, which was accepted.

Senator Burton walked to his hotel. He declined to discuss the sentence, but said he would leave at once for his home in Kansas.

"Land of English a Good Country."

BERLIN, April 7.—A Herero writing to relatives in German Southwest Africa from Banksdrift, near Kimberley, in the Transvaal, said: "The land of the English is a good country. There are no mistreatments here, and the whites and the blacks stand upon the same footing. If a white man beats you or otherwise breaks the law he is punished. Here there is much work and money." The missionary who translated the letter ventured the opinion that any one of the 700 Hereros employed in British Africa could make the same contrast.

Plainfield, N. J., April. 7, 1904.

The announcement of plans for the enlargement of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club's club house is not exactly a surprise for the increasing membership and general success of the organization has demanded that some steps be taken in that direction. The club is a popular attraction among the society people of the city and borough and is a credit to the community.

In an interesting article from The Suburbanite reproduced in these columns today, the writer makes a statement to the effect that Plainfield is ruled from the 'club car.' As such a declaration would perhaps caused an erroneous impression, it may not be amiss to say that Plainfield has never been "ruled" by the commuters although many of them have taken a deep interest in the municipality and some have given valuable service to the community in executive positions.

Not only his fellow townsmen, but everybody along the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, will join in hoping that the report that W. G. Besler will resign the vice presidency of the road to accept the presidency of the Erie system is without foundation. The present excellent condition of the Central road is due to the wise and progressive executive work of Mr. Besler. He took charge of the road at a critical stage in its history; at a time when there were loud protests against the poor service and unsatisfactory administration for which Vice President Charles H. Warren was alleged to be responsible. The commuters and the public in general appreciate the work Mr. Besler has accomplished and would sincerely regret his departure.

FANWOOD COUNCIL, R. A., 21 YEARS OLD

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD.

THE GRAND VICE REGENT MAKES AN ADDRESS.

Entertainment of a High Order—Dancing Had Not Been Forgotten—History of the Flourishing Organization.

Fanwood Council, Royal Arcanum, celebrated its twenty-first anniversary last night, by tendering a "coming of age" entertainment and dance in Excelsior Hall.

Standing room only was available long before the curtain rung up for the opening of the programme. This was furnished by Chantrell and Schuyler, a vaudeville team from Brooklyn. Their several numbers, which included "Hamlet Up-to-Date" and "Matrimonial Jars," convulsed the large audience with laughter.

James Rogers, grand vice regent of the State, was introduced and gave a short but pointed talk upon the work of the order and the amount of good it was doing in providing safe fraternal insurance at a small monthly cost to its members.

At the close of the entertainment the floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed, this pleasant feature was continued until a late hour. The only intermission being at midnight, when refreshments were served. Many guests were present from Plainfield and other nearby places. The committee in charge were James H. Buckley, chairman; Charles Kyte, Howard D. White, William Noble, William E. Collins.

Fanwood Council, No. 744, was organized March 16, 1883 with a small charter membership, the first regent being the late George Kyte. The Council has steadily grown until today it numbers 115 loyal members working under Regent J. Edward Ruth.

—Henry Leifke, of West Front street, who several weeks ago fell and fractured his left forearm in two places, had the splints removed on Tuesday, the breaks having mended nicely. In a short time Mr. Leifke will again have the use of the arm and hand.

Mrs. August Windham, of Fairview avenue, has returned home after an operation performed at Muhlenberg Hospital.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 10.

Topic.—How the world's standards conflict with Christ's.—Matt. v, 43-48; I John ii, 15-17.

That there is a difference between the standards of the world and of Christ cannot be denied. The world in this sense is of course the carnal world, the hearts and lives of unregenerate men, the world of false business principles and standards, the world of sinful pleasure, the world of selfishness and of sin. Christ recognized the difference referred to, and He and the apostles laid emphasis upon the fact that Christ's people were to come out from the world and be separate from it, not conformed to it, but transformed by the Spirit of God.

The beatitudes of Christ are an illustration of the difference between the standards of Christ and those of the world. Christ said, "Blessed are the poor;" the world says, "Blessed are the rich." Christ said, "Blessed are they that mourn;" the world says, "Blessed are they who are free from affliction and mourning." Christ said, "Blessed are the meek;" the world, "Blessed are the strong and aggressive." Christ, "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst;" the world, "Blessed are they that have plenty to eat and drink." Who can read these beatitudes of Christ, who can understand the Christ spirit and the world spirit, and not be convinced that they are as far apart as the east from the west? Christ was in the world, but not of the world, and so His disciples, though in the world, should not be of it.

But since the standards of the world and Christ differ, how do they differ? They differ in their very spirit and foundations, which determine their external character. The difference is internal and then external. Christ's kingdom is founded upon love, unselfish, self denying love; the world kingdom upon selfishness, retaliation and hate. The world says: "Love those who love you. Hate those who hate you. Mistreat those who mistreat you." Its law is that of retaliation and its rule "Do unto others as they do unto you." How different the standards of Christ—"Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you and pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute!" Why? That we may be like God, who blesses the just and the unjust alike. But is the standard a possible one? Can we give love for enmity, blessings for curses, goodness for hate and prayers for mistreatment? It seems incredible, and yet by the grace of God it is possible, and for that grace we should pray and labor if it is not already ours. An unloving, selfish, retaliating professor of Christianity is one of the most pitiable objects in life and a stumbling block in the way of others. Let us shun the world standard and cultivate the Christ standard. "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world, * * * for the world passeth away and the lust thereof, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

Oregon's President.

John A. Rockwood, president of the Oregon Christian Endeavor union, is a native of New York and a graduate of Amherst college. He has been a teacher and is now connected with the Oregon Railway and Navigation company. He is a Congregationalist and has the distinction of having been a member of the second Christian Endeavor society formed in Oregon. He has put his business tact and earnest enthusiasm into Christian Endeavor, and the splendid strides the society has made in Oregon are due in no small part to his efforts. Mr. Rockwood was chosen state treasurer in 1901 and elevated to the presidency in 1902.

JOHN A. ROCKWOOD.

Your Own Soul Fired First.

You can't have too much organization if you have life enough to vitalize it. Get the life that is "hid with Christ in God." Christian Endeavorers. Get your own soul on fire, and then you will have some life to give to others.—Dr. F. E. Clark.

Quiet Hour Comrades.

An interesting accession to the comrades of the Quiet Hour is a list of nineteen sent from the French Evangelical church of New York city.

Nuggets From Dr. Clark.

Let me give you these three watchwords for this year: Organize. Vitalize. Evangelize.

We are only half organized in our church work—that is, we are organized in a slipshod way. God can use an organization in the religious world.

The difference between a mollusk and a man is a matter of organization very largely.

"Giving every one something to do" is the ideal of Christian Endeavor.

The very worst mistake is never to attempt anything for the Lord. Better attempt and bungle in it ever so badly than never to attempt at all.

There are new fields to conquer, new victories to win, more young people whom we can win. New generations are constantly coming forward. Are you looking after them? Are you reaching out for them?

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 10: "Two Standards of Life."—Matt. v, 43-48; I John ii, 15-17.

Necessity for food, clothing and shelter drives men to work. This physical demand lies at the bottom of arts, science and trade. Progress in these develops other demands of the nature. The pleasurable and ornamental satisfy the cravings for the beautiful and harmonious and have as legitimate a place as the merely useful. Even potatoes are more than tubers and have a value other than for food, else foliage and flowers were needless. The world is beautiful. To him who has eyes to see and ears to hear there are pictures and music. Beauty and sublimity, melody and harmony, pervade it. There are sweet things and luscious tastes. There are cooling and invigorating drinks, breezes and perfumes. Sensations of exquisite pleasure are awakened by these things. Health and happiness come in their train. Well being is possible to us in a world made as this world is.

If only one might know how to use it! Eyes are good for seeing and ears for hearing, and each power of our being has its proper function. In the world around us are multitudes of things and powers which appeal to these powers of ours, and through our senses and other faculties reveal to us the great, complex world about us, of which we are part. But there is more than this to it. Things and their activities are not all there is. In it all and beyond all there is One who is cause of the whole. Deeper and deeper goes the conviction within us as the horizon broadens around us that all this doing is not only caused by Him, but is full of purpose. Because our activities and the world within us are directed by rational intelligence and a purposeful will we say the world without us shows God everywhere imminent and transcendent. We say so because we see and hear and know Him. Whatever other creatures may know or fail to know of Him, however the world may appear to them, this is what it means to us. All power is His power. All activity is manifestation of His will. All order is His law to being. All beauty and harmony are revelation of His nature.

And we can understand these things. We can know the language. Through sights and sounds God talks with us. We think His thoughts, comprehend His purposes, feel the thrill of His pleasure, catch the impulse of His activity, share in His work and nature and, awakening, cry, "My Father!" Doing this we master the world mystery and know that in all changes we shall abide with Him forever.

Failing this, what then? We eat and drink and dress and sing and dance and die. We love and hate, get and give, but know only the things which pass. All thought and care placed on the visible and present matters of the world, we never come to the vision of Him who makes all worlds. We know about His, but never come to know Him. "Lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God," we never attain to His pardon, peace and life.

This life is worth much or little according to the way we use it. If used only to gratify the cravings of eyes, flesh and vainglorying spirit it is of little value. If the standard be the perfecting of manhood after the pattern of the divine it has eternal and infinite worth.

Spiritual Beauty.

Beauty of character makes it winning and lovely. There may be soundness of doctrine in a narrow bigot, there may be rectitude and justice in an unlovely zealot, there may be purity in one whose virtue lacks all human warmth and sympathy, there may be conscientiousness that is cantankerous and moral uprightness that is altogether devoid of the beauty of holiness. Spiritual beauty comes from the heart. The character may be noble or strong or even grand when its chief element is the loyalty of the will to conscience, but in order that it may be beautiful it must have both feeling and freedom. It must have sympathy and spontaneousness. The virtue of Jesus was always beautiful. It was so full of human feeling and of divine power. It was not hard for Him to be good, and His goodness was never hard. His truth, His purity, His fortitude, His justice, were always filled with His love. His moral strength was always infinitely graceful. His divinity was human in its manifestation.—Northern Christian Advocate.

Inflexible.

There is no sure road to invariable right opinions, acts and words save the road of habit. No man can be sure of thinking, acting and speaking right at any one time who is not in the habit of doing it at all times, and the only way to attain the habit is not to err in the act. To acquire the habit of temperance, for example, the man must never in one act venture to excess. To acquire the habit of veracity he must never in one word depart from the truth.—Robert E. Speer.

Look Within.

The divine principle of work is the vital principle. God works from within, outward. When God wishes to bless His people He has first to get into the hearts of His people. It is when He is enthroned there, when He dwells there, that the life of blessing is fully known. If we therefore would prepare the way of the Lord we must prepare our hearts; if we would discover stumbling blocks we must begin our search here.—Rev. G. H. C. MacGregor.

A Man's Wealth.

The wealth of a man consists in the number of things he loves and blesses and in the number of things he is loved and blessed by.—Carlyle.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

Elaborate Handwork on the Simplest of Them—Soft Materials.

The best trimmings, except those of oriental stuffs, used on pongee are in soft tones. Some of them resemble the work done on old samplers, and in general a quaint old world effect is aimed at.

The new blouses are apt to strike terror to the heart of the woman with the small purse, because they are all of them, even the plainest, so expensively covered with handwork and embroideries. Even the simplest flannel shirt waists are enriched with heavy wool or silk embroidery.

WHITE MULL WAIST.

A dainty crepe de chine waist recently designed for a young matron in the smart set was of a delicate biscuit shade, trimmed with bands of pale blue and shirrings of white ribbon edged with black chantilly. Another very dainty blouse was of coarse gray lace trimmed with crossway folds of gray linon de soie.

White mull, white and ecru nets, crepe de chine and chiffon cloth are favorite materials. Openwork bands of taffeta and of chiffon embroidery, both in black and in white, are very pretty trimmings, although in colors they lose somewhat of their richness, and dyed lace is to be preferred.

The newest materials for stocks are cross stitched canvas, mummy canvas and coarse linen, with Russian and Hungarian embroidery effects in the vivid national colors.

The illustration shows a waist of white mull, trimmed with fine tuckings and openwork bands of fine taffeta embroidery. JUDIC CHOLLET.

TONES AND MATERIALS.

Coarse Alpaca Canvases and Hopsacking—Pale Colors.

Coarse alpaca and canvases are excellent for hard wear, and voile, too, of a heavier make will be used for tailor mades of the dressier style. Canvases promise to be more fashionable than cheviots. Hopsackings in gobelin blue and dull green will be worn all summer long. They are being trimmed with bands of taffeta and fancy buttons.

The dressy spring tailor mades are of pale colored cloth, heliotrope, champagne and gray. They are trimmed with dyed lace and self colored embroideries.

PALE GRAY TAILOR MADE.

Brown will continue popular for some time to come, for leading dressmakers are even making silk tailor mades of it for summer wear.

Bright shades of periwinkle and electric blue are giving way to darker blue tones, which are always smart for country and seashore wear.

A great deal of old fashioned embroidery is being used on bands of taffeta in pastel shades. These form panels and yoke pieces on silk or crepe de chine gowns.

Pastel toilets, soft combinations of pale pink, pale blue and pale yellow or pale green are particularly becoming to brunettes and lend themselves well to the Louis XV. fashions now in vogue.

The cut shows a pale gray cloth tailor made. The blouse has a [illegible] yoke, coming well over the shoulders. The fullness gathered into this yoke over a wide belt. The skirt is very full and has an odd button trimmed panel. JUDIC CHOLLET.

PAGE MURDER.

Alleged New Clews In Weston Mystery.

WESTON, Mass., April 7.—The Massachusetts state police have subjected Edward Page, the aged father of the murdered Mabel Page; her brother Harold and Amy Roberts, servant in the Page household, to a third degree examination and then interviewed Miss Susie Cutter, a neighbor and friend of the murdered girl.

It is now intimated by the police that the note supposedly written by Mabel Page was in reality forged by her slayer. This is the most promising clew so far discovered by the police. Again, it is said that the blood stained handkerchief found in the yard beneath Mabel's window is not hers, as was thought, but the property of one of her intimate woman friends.

Another piece of evidence which strongly points to a certain person as the slayer was found in the Page house by John A. Bruce, who was called to embalm the body. Bruce and the state detectives will not reveal the nature of this evidence, but it is said to be certain blood marks lately found.

Bruce makes the startling statement that he discovered Mabel Page had been murdered at 11 o'clock at night and so informed her father and brother hours after Medical Examiner Mead had viewed the body and decided the case one of suicide.

"There was a motive, and a rational one, for the murder," Bruce declares. "It was not the insane freak of a mad man or woman. Mabel Page was killed for the purpose of removing her from some one's path."

MORMON MANIFESTO.

President Smith Has Issued a Proclamation Prohibiting Polygamy.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 7.—A notable feature of the closing session of the seventy-fourth annual conference of the Mormon church here was the official declaration by President Joseph F. Smith on the subject of polygamy, as follows:

"Inasmuch as there are numerous reports in circulation that plural marriages have been entered into, contrary to the official declaration of President Woodruff of Sept. 26, 1890, commonly called the manifesto, which was issued by President Woodruff and adopted by the church at its general conference Oct. 6, 1890, which forbids any marriage violative of the law of the land, I, Joseph F. Smith, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, hereby declare that no such marriages have been solemnized with the sanction, consent or knowledge of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and

"I hereby announce that all such marriages are prohibited, and if any officer or member of the church shall assume to solemnize or enter into any such marriage he will be deemed in transgression against the church and will be liable to be dealt with according to the rules and regulations thereof and excommunicated therefrom."

This statement received the full indorsement of the church members assembled, who unanimously adopted the following resolution, introduced by Apostle Francis M. Lyman:

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in general conference assembled, hereby approve and indorse the statement and declaration of President Joseph F. Smith, just made to this conference, concerning plural marriages and will support the courts and the church in the enforcement thereof."

A committee was authorized to take steps toward the erection of a suitable building as a monument to the memory of Prophet Joseph Smith. Although Utah abounds with memorials of Brigham Young, there is at present not a single monument or building in honor of the founder of the church.

Mormons to Stop Polygamy.

KIRTLAND, O., April 7.—The fifty-first general conference of the reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has opened here in the old Mormon temple, with nearly 500 delegates in attendance. There is a strong sentiment in favor of stopping polygamy. Some express the opinion that if it is proved that Reed Smoot recently has practiced polygamy he should not be allowed to take his seat in the senate. Much attention will be devoted to missionary work.

Hopes For a Settlement With Tibet.

LONDON, April 7.—Indian Secretary Brodrick has received a dispatch from Colonel Younghusband, the political agent with the British expedition to Tibet, in which the colonel says he expects to reach Gyangtse, sixteen miles from Lassa, the capital of Tibet, within a week and there meet the Chinese representatives and high Tibetan officials and make a settlement by which further bloodshed will be prevented.

WANT NEWCHWANG

Russians Expecting an Immediate Attack on the Town.

KUROPATKIN REVIEWED GARRISON

LONDON, April 7. — A Newchwang report says that the Russians are expecting that the Japanese intend to make an attack on Newchwang.

General Kuropatkin, commander in chief of the Russian military forces in the far east, has arrived at Newchwang and reviewed about 4,000 troops on the parade ground outside the fort. One battery of horse artillery, parts of four regiments of Siberian rifles and detachments of Cossaeks and regular cavalry participated.

General Kuropatkin, commander in commander here, who has been praised on account of the order and discipline prevailing at Newchwang, says he is prepared for a Japanese attack, which it is evident the general staff expects.

"All is quiet on the Yalu" is the report which General Kachtalinky has telegraphed to General Kuropatkin, who forwarded the message to the emperor.

The report added that an exchange of shots occurred between Russian cavalry and Japanese skirmishers near the Yalu. The Russians sustained no losses. Five Japanese were killed.

The stores of a Russian village near Yongampo, south of Wiju, on the Yalu river, Korea, have been wrecked and burned by a detachment of Japanese infantry numbering 300 men.

General Kachtalinky reported that opposite Turmitchen, on the island of Matuzeo, in the Yalu river, some Russian volunteers had a skirmish with a Japanese outpost from Wiju. There were no casualties on the Russian side. Six Japanese were killed.

A Tokyo dispatch says a conference has been held at the imperial headquarters before the throne, at which Lieutenant General Terauchi, minister of war; Vice Admiral Yamamoto, minister of the navy; commanding officers in the army and navy, Major General Ishimoto, vice minister of war; Rear Admiral Saito, vice minister of the navy, and a number of the elder statesmen were present. It is understood that the recent naval campaign was discussed, and detailed reports of Vice Admiral Togo's operations were reported.

It is reported from Harbin that the Japanese intend to land at Takushan, fifty-five miles west of the mouth of the Yalu river, on Saturday night under cover of another bombardment of Port Arthur.

General Kuropatkin has reported that the Japanese have reached Wiju, on the right bank of the Yalu river. No surprise is expressed here, as it is thoroughly understood that the Russians have no intention of making a stand in force east of the Yalu river.

A Port Arthur report says a high personage closely connected with the emperor of Korea, who has left his native land because of the administrative reforms introduced through the influence of the Japanese, apparently reflecting the views of the emperor, has stated:

"I saw the Japanese actions. It is an attempt to apply to Korea the policy which the British have adopted in India. My country has reason to sympathize with the Russians, knowing the justice of their policy toward the natives of Amur, where many Koreans labor."

The sailors of the fleet who distinguished themselves in the recent Japanese attacks have been decorated with the Cross of St. George by Vice Admiral Makaroff in the presence of Grand Duke Cyril, cousin of the emperor.

Valuable Hedge Destroyed.

Part of a particularly valuable hedge about the John Taylor Johnston estate at 843 East Front street was destroyed by fire last night, an alarm from box 18 calling out the firemen at 10:15 o'clock. The hedge is about four feet high and years of labor have been spent in bringing it to a symmetrical shape. About forty feet of the hedge burned in front of the house, catching fire probably from a lighted cigar or cigarette. The flames were blazing as high as a telegraph pole when the firemen arrived but were extinguished in short order. Pierre Malli occupies the estate at the present time.

The Security of Magnitude

Consider, first, the importance of KNOWING that your Trading Stamps will be redeemed. Consider, next, the value of the premium you will receive for your stamps.

In them are employed nearly 5000 men and women. If these stores were all brought together under one roof it would require a building ten times the size of the Capitol at Washington.

The Sperry & Hutchinson Company has a paid up cash capital and surplus of $1,250,000 with assets of many times that sum and no liabilities. It spent last year $6,000,000 for premiums for redeeming its "S. & H." Green Trading Stamps.

HEARST'S BOOM IS LAUNCHED HERE

A Mass-Meeting in Central Theatre Attracts Those in Sympathy With Him.

J. E. MARTINE SPEAKS

FARMER-ORATOR AVOIDS ENDORSING RADICAL MAN'S CANDIDACY.

Democratic Regular Organization Unrepresented—The New York Speakers Fail to Appear—Mr. McAleer the Chairman.

William Randolph Hearst's candidacy for the presidential nomination was boomed in approved style at the mass meeting of the Hearst Club at the Central Theatre last night. The club was disappointed by the New York speakers advertised, but James E. Martine and a substitute orator from the Metropolis woke enthusiasm for the New York editor.

As far as the audience went, the meeting was successful, but it was almost a fizzle at the platform end. The regular party organization here was totally unrepresented. After waiting vainly until almost 9 o'clock in the hope that the advertised speakers would put in an appearance, the meeting was opened, with Samuel Bell Thomas, who was sent out from New York to take the Hon. O. J. Kindelon's place, as the orator of the evening.

There was close to 200 hundred men in the audience when Secretary J. D. McAleer, of the Heart Club, who acted as chairman, called the meeting to order.

Of the long list of vice presidents named in the advance notices of the meeting practically none appeared to take their places on the platform. Besides the speakers and Chairman McAleer, the only ones on the stage were Frank Shattle, the Hearst leader here, F. M. Bacon and James Jiovino, in whose shop on Watchung avenue the club was started.

Mr. Bell devoted most of his time to proving that Mr. Hearst has made and is making no effort to secure the nomination for the presidency. The speaker said Hearst was a noble minded young man who worked for the people and the Democratic party, and the people themselves had aroused of their own accord to sweep him into the nomination and the presidency. Statements painting Hearst as a self-seeking hunter for the nomination were declared by the speaker to be malicious lies.

Mr. Martine carefully explained that he was not there to endorse Hearst's candidacy, although he knew him to be a "modest, intelligent, dignified and honorable young man." In the course of a characteristic assault on the trusts and the high protective tariff he reiterated his position of neutrality as to candidates several times. He spoke so highly of Hearst, however, that the faithful were frequently encouraged to applaud loudly.

THE W. C. T. U. PLANS

MEDAL CONTEST, SOCIAL AND BIBLE READINGS THE EVENTS SCHEDULED.

Several events were arranged for at the business meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, yesterday afternoon. It was decided to hold a medal contest on Thursday night, April 28, and a cake sale will be held in May. It is also proposed to have Mrs. Cassie Smith, of Staten Island, give a series of Bible readings, to mark Sabbath Observance week.

Thursday afternoon, April 14, a clipping social will be held in the rooms. The members are asked to bring their scissors and good reading matter for clippings to be sent to soldiers and sailors. Reports were also recieved concerning the local work and Miss May Howlett reported for the State conference on the L. T. L. held this week in Burlington.

A Choir Change.

Commencing May 1, a paid quartette will take the place of the chorus choir at the First M. E. church. Miss Jessie Utter, the organist, will remain, but Charles L. Lewis will resign. It is believed that Mrs. Thomas MacDonald will be the soprano. The other members of the quartette will be announced within a short time.

—Fresh and tender vegetables offered by Neuman Brothers, include asparagus, green beans, wax beans, green peas, tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, lettuce, rhubarb, egg plant, water cress, etc.

BESLER IS LIKELY TO LEAVE

GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT HE WILL BECOME HEAD OF ERIE SYSTEM.

While the report published yesterday to the effect that W. G. Besler, of this city, vice president and general manager of the New Jersey Central, is about to be chosen president of the Erie Railroad, has been characterized as a rumor and in certain circles is not generally credited, there seems to be good reason to believe that the change will take place within a month. The report has been heard more or less during the past few weeks, and those in a position to know believe that Mr. Besler will go to the Erie.

There has also been talk concerning Mr. Besler's successor and two persons are prominently mentioned—General Superintendent Huntington, of Elizabeth, and General Traffic Manager Koons, the latter of Sandford avenue, this city. In either hands the present excellent management would be continued, in fact the change would not materially affect the operation of the road. Both men are popular with the employes of the road and being thoroughly experienced, either one would fill the position in a capable manner.

The recent attack on the Erie Railroad by reason of the very poor service given is considered as one of the most important reasons for a change and Mr. Besler's excellent work with the New Jersey Central has brought him prominently to the front as one of the best men to take the leading position with the Erie.

WEST END CLUB'S SCHEDULE

MAKEUP OF TEAM WHICH WILL USE ST. MARY'S DIAMOND.

A Plainfield baseball nine that will make things interesting for its competitors in this and surrounding cities is the West End Field Club managed by William F. Walters. A likely bunch of ball-tossers have been signed for the season and a schedule of games with strong teams has been started. The team will use the St. Mary's grounds for practice and home games. Players signed are Stites, catcher; J. Galvin and "Art" Jacot, pitchers; John Jacot, first base; "Dick" Scott, second base; John Emery, third base; John Martin, short stop; "Bill" Magne, left field; "Chill" Parent, centre field; and Jacot or Galvin, right field.

Galvin on the slab is reputed among the best of the local twirlers. He formerly occupied the box for a college nine and is said to have mastered all the mysteries of speed, change of pace and curve. Stites, his companion spell-binder, is a graduate of the borough High School and Plainfield A. A. nines. Jacot on the first corner has had experience on the Plainfield A. A., and Martin at short has been connected with the same team for two years. He has a bright future in front of him, is a strong hitter as well as a sure fielder. He is expected to equal the record of his brother "Britt." Magne has proved his fielding ability with Hope and Clinton Avenue. Other men whom Manager Walters expects to sign are Fred Winn, George Taylor, George Kean and "Al" Squiers.

Games have been scheduled with the Clinton Avenue and Reform Clubs, of this city, the Marions, of Newark, Jeffersons, of Orange, and Essex and Anchor A. C. nines of Jersey City. Negotiations are also being made for a game with the General Electrics, of Newark. The team will open its season Saturday, April 16, with Clinton Avenue, and will play its first game on the St. Mary grounds the following Saturday, April 23. The date for the first game with the Reform Club is May 7. A practice game will be held tomorrow with a team from Pond's Tool Works.

Doolittle, of Dunellen; George Oakley and William Shackelty, of Elizabeth, together with recitations by Miss Stelle and Miss Kinsey, composed the programme at the second anniversary of the Rescue Mission, held last night. After the programme refreshments were served.

Business Change.

Jacob Wolff has purchased the bicycle and musical instrument business at 224 West Front street from S. Frucht. Horace Martin, Jr., will be in charge of the repair department.

Totten Purchases Grocery.

James E. Totten has purchased the grocery store on Watchung avenue that was owned by Engelbert Bantle, who died two weeks ago.

MARTIN O'LOUGHLIN, A CRACK GOLF PLAYER

HOLDS COURSE RECORD

IN TWO YEARS, HE IS BUT ONCE DEFEATED.

Lad Has Made a Seventy on Local Greens—His Reputation is Widespread—He Refuses a Very Tempting Offer.

From a humble beginning as a caddy, Martin O'Loughlin, of this city, has risen in four years to be one of the best as well as one of the youngest golf players in North Jersey. His services as golf professional at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club have been secured for the coming season, his preparation for the position consisting of two years' of professional play during which he has lost but a single match.

O'Loughlin is but sixteen years old. Four years ago as a caddy at the Hillside Club he began his practise at odd moments after hours, his natural bent for the game gradually bringing him out into a proficiency that attracted much attention. Last year he was made caddy master at the club.

Last summer O'Loughlin broke two of Reinhart's records for the Hillside links. When the Princeton champion established a record of 78 for the course, O'Loughlin made a score of 75. This mark was in turn lowered by Reinhart who made 71 on the same day that the young professional established his final triumph with a score of 70. O'Loughlin is a popular boy with the members of the club and is as modest as he is skillful.

In addition to his work on the Hillside links, O'Loughlin has made a name for himself throughout the county. He played three matches with David Honeyman, a well known Westfield professional, on the Union County Club course, winning two and tying the third. In the tie match, Honeyman had the game all but won when O'Loughlin made a sensational shot through an opening in a tennis net for the last hole and a tie score. The gallery, needless to say, went wild over the exhibition, though O'Loughlin modestly says it was mostly a good luck shot.

Another record that O'Loughlin has made is on the links of the Inwood, L. I., Golf Club, where he lowered the mark from 91 to 88. He has also had success on the Baltusrol Club course.

O'Loughlin has recently received a very flattering offer from Columbia College, South Carolina, to act as professional coach for the institution, a position now held by Eugene McCarthy, formerly instructor at Hillside. This offer the boy decided to decline on account of his youth.

The Hillside Club management expects to send O'Loughlin as its representative in the national professional championships the coming season.

GERMANS PLAN TO REBUILD

GESANG AND TURN VEREIN TO TAKE ACTION ON ARCHITECT'S DRAWINGS.

Something definite in regard to the erection of a new hall will be done by the Saengerbund next Thursday night, when a special meeting to discuss the matter is to be held.

The architect has completed the plans of the new structure and the designs will be submitted at that meeting. Several members have seen the plans and approve of them, and it is expected that they will be accepted with few if any changes.

It is likely that the matter of insurance on the burned building will be finally settled at the same meeting.

At the monthly meeting last night two members were proposed.

Another German Organization.

Arrangements have been completed for the formation of a local branch of a German beneficial association known as the Allegemain Unterstutzung Verein. There are fifteen charter members pledged, and final steps in organization will take place next week.

STRIKING PAINTERS' CO-OPERATIVE SHOP

EMPLOY 75 PAINTERS

PLANT TO BE CONDUCTED ACCORDING TO UNION RULES.

Harry Moulton is Chosen Supervisor—The Strikers Enthusiastic Over Scheme—To Share the Profits Equally Among Them.

To fight the bosses on their own field, the striking painters have decided to open a co-operative shop. This move was decided upon at a meeting of the union yesterday morning.

Steps for the execution of the idea were taken at once. The store at 219 West Front street has been rented and Monday morning will witness its opening. A full line of painting and decorating materials will be in stock, and the shop will take all the jobs offered it.

The men anticipate a great success. They believe that popular feeling is with them, and expect that the greater part of the work in the city will be turned over to them. There are seventy-five men, all expert workmen, in the union, and all of them will hold their services exclusively for the union shop. With this force the union expects to be able to handlee practically all the work that the town may turn out. There is, according to members of the organization, between five and six hundred dollars in the treasury, a sum ample for the purpose of starting the shop.

The shop will be run on a strictly business plan. Harry Moulton will supervise it, and four other members of the union will be chosen to act as assistant foremen and canvassers for work. The profits will be shared equally by all the members of the union.

MRS. S. A. ANGLEMAN DIED THIS MORNING

The Mother of Winfield S. Angleman Passes Away at Age of Sixty-Four Years.

FUNERAL ON SUNDAY

SHE LEAVES A HUSBAND AND FOUR CHILDREN.

Pleuro-Pneumonia Was the Cause of Her Death—Lived in This City All Her Life—Interment in M. E. Cemetery.

Mrs. Sarah A. Angleman, aged sixty-four years, died this morning about 5 o'clock at her home in West Front street. She had been in poor health for several years and about a month ago she contracted pleuro-pneumonia from which in her weakened condition she was unable to rally. Mrs. Angleman lived in this city practically all her life.

She is survived by a husband, Abraham Angleman, a daughter, Miss Ida Angleman, an assistant editor in the Methodist Book Concern, New York; two sons, Winfield S. Angleman, a practicing lawyer here and Charles H. Angleman, who is city clerk of Rahway. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary J. Clarkson, who lived with her.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 from the late home and the interment will be in the Methodist cemetery in Plainfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wadsworth and family, of New York, former residents of Plainfield, were prominent guests at the marriage on Wednesday of Miss Anna Blakeman Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Lewis to Arthur Henry Vesey. Miss Emma L. Wadsworth was maid of honor and Dr. Augustus Wadsworth was one of the ushers. The ceremony took place in Grace church chantry, New York.

Suits Begun Here.

BOARD OF TRADE THANKS SENATOR KEAN

Appreciates the Interest He Manifests in Endeavoring to Secure Postoffice Building.

DISCUSS THE PLAN

T. O. DOANE BELIEVES AMPLE APPROPRIATION SHOULD BE MADE.

V. W. Nash, Sr., Expresses Opinion That a Supplementary Appropriation Can be Obtained—The P. S. C. is Scored.

By a unanimous vote last night, the secretary of the Board of Trade was requested to convey to Senator Kean a vote of thanks for his efforts in getting a postoffice building for this city. The gratitude of the Board was also given to Congressmen Fowler and Lanning for their co-operative efforts, which, it was hoped, they would continue.

Much discussion was given by the Board to the article appearing in The Daily Press of Wednesday regarding the adequacy of the sum of $100,000 for a building such as will meet the needs of a growing city like Plainfield. T. O. Doane thought that the article revealed good sound sense. "I am tired and sick," he said, "of seeing things done in Plainfield just for today." The Chief disagreed with V. W. Nash, who expressed the belief that with the passage of a bill providing for a $100,000 building, it would still be possible to obtain an additional appropriation if the need for it developed.

Postmaster Bird spoke in uncomplimentery terms of the New Brunswick government building, which he said was no credit to the city. It did not provide as much floor space as the local office has at the present time in the Babcock building. President Woolston thought that to advocate a higher appropriation would be ungrateful in view of Senator Kean's efforts. In regard to the expense for a lot, Chief Doane spoke of the wonderful advancement in price that would follow the announcement that the government was looking for a site.

The Public Service Corporation came in for its usual share of "knocking." The delay in the work on the tracks along West Front street below Clinton avenue was the leading source of complaint. The members regarded the time taken for the repairs, three weeks, as unwarranted by the conditions of work to be done. They voted to send a communication to the street commissioner stating that the Board of Trade protested against the condition of West Front street as left by the P. S. C., and requesting that it be put in proper condition by the corporation at once. Charles Runyon expressed the idea that it would be a good thing if the Elizabeth cars were put through to Bound Brook instead of having the terminus at Dunellen.

The Vermoth Car Fender Company, of Elizabeth, asked permission to give a practical test of its fender which is designed to take a man up instead of throwing him down and under the car. The matter was referred to the Public Service Corporation with the request that the test be allowed.

A communication was received from the St. Paul Board of Trade asking for the privilege of exchange of rooms for members visiting in one city or the other. It was voted to extend assurance of the exchange of courtesies.

The New York Board of Trade and Transportation asked that the Plainfield Board pass resolutions requesting Congress to pass the bill to re-establish a deep sea marine service. The communication was favorably acted upon.

SHOOK PRESIDENT'S HAND

THE Y. M. C. A. BOYS HAD GREAT TIME AT THE CAPITOL.

After shaking hands with President Roosevelt, meeting Secretary of the Treasury Shaw and Treasurer J. H. Roberts, and gazing upon the classic features of Senator Depew, of New York, and Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, and others of our distinguished law-makers, the delegation of boys from the local Y. M. C. A., led by Seretary Robbie, returned to this city yesterday afternoon tired but greatly edified by their extensive sight-seeing. Though awed by the Presidential teeth, the boys were much impressed with the firmness of Mr. Roosevelt's demeanor and his great cordiality. They were all privileged to shake his hand.

The boys visited the White House Wednesday, inspecting the East room and the President's office. They were shown about by T. F. Pendel, who told them that he had shaken the hands of all three of the country's martyred presidents. They were much interested in a couple of $10,000 vases, the gift of President Loubet, of France.

The delegation was present at sessions of both Senate and House of Representatirves, being specially fortunate in securing admission to the members' gallery in the House. A picture of the combined State delegations was taken on the steps of the Treasury building. W. H. H. Smith gave the boys a talk on the navy department. W. D. Goddard described "Cataloguing in the Congressional Library," and C. F. Nesbit gave them a history of Washington. A mock trial was held Wednesday night with Charles Eoff acting as judge.

OLD FOLKS IN CORNWALL

REV. MARK GUY PEARSE ENTERTAINS BIG AUDIENCE IN FIRST M.E.CHURCH.

"Some Old Folks at Home," was the subject of an entertaining address given in the First M. E. church, last night, by Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, of London. This great leader of Methodism in England attracted a very large audience and for over an hour he held the closest attention of all, telling of the quaint and peculiar characters to be found in Cornwall, England. The speaker had lots of genuine wit and every one of the many stories related touched both the pathetic and humorous.

On Wednesday night Mr. Pearse spoke in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, presenting scenes among the lower classes in London. His work has been among these classes and in his address last night her brought out the amusing side of life among these persons. Two or three times the speaker made an effort to stop, but so great was the enthusiasm he was induced to continue. After an offering was received for the work in England, Mr. Pearse was prevailed upon to speak again and he concluded with a couple of interesting stories.

DANCE AT THE PARK CLUB

THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE SPEND AN ENJOYABLE EVENING.

The annual Easter dance held at the Park Club last night attracted one of the largest assemblages of the season, there being fully three hundred persons present, including a great many out-of-town guests who are spending the Easter vacation days here. The programme of dances was very attractive and it held the merry dancers until 2 o'clock this morning. About midnight light refreshments were served.

These were the patrons of the dance: Mrs. John B. Dumont, Mrs. Edward H. Booth, Mrs. Joseph H. Howell, Mrs. A. B. Hooley, Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., and Mrs. Walter M. McGee.

O. F. F. C. Dance.

The O. F. F. Club held its third and final dance of the season in Company K's armory last night. It was an informal affair arranged by the eight members of the club. There were thirty-five couples on the floor. Music was by musicians from Newark and Elizabeth. Refreshments were served.

Sure to be a Success.

Everything points to a very successful production of "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino May 5 and 7. The rehearsals are going forward with regularity and earnestness while the seats are selling rapidly despite the fact that the performances are a month away.

HOPE CHAPEL'S ANNUAL MEETING

Membership and Revenue of the Flourishing West End Church is Increasing.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS

THERE ARE 620 PUPILS PUPILS IN THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

Thirty-Three Have Been Added to Church Roll During the Year—Robert Slorah Chosen Treasurer.

In all branches of work at Hope chapel, prosperity was evidenced by the reports submitted at the annual meeting of the chapel last night. The election of treasurer and assistants took place. Robert Slorah was chosen treasurer, and Fred Wharton, Thomas Hendry and Donald McInness, assistants.

The report of the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard indicated that for the year ending April 1, 1904, thirty-three members had been received in the chapel, twenty-seven by confession of faith and six by letter. There had been twenty-six baptisms, six of adults and twenty of children. The losses were three by death and eleven by letter. The offerings for the year showed an increase of about $30.

Superintendent Squires, of the Sunday-school, reported a membership of 620, an increase of twenty and stated that the condition of the school was the best in its history. The average attendance was about 330. The treasurer's report for the Young People's Society was read by Miss Mabel Firstbrook for Mrs. A. B. Lewis. More than $60 was raised during the year, $14 being left for the new young people's society, $25 being applied to the kitchen fund and the rest for mission purposes.

Other reports received were from Miss Annie Thain, secretary, and Mrs. L. R. Howard, of the Ladies' Aid Society; Mrs. George Radford, secretary, and Mrs. Joseph Brown, treasurer, of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society; Miss Gertrude Hunter, of the Wednesday evening Bible class; W. T. Schneider, of the Choral Club; Mrs. P. B. Cregar, of the sewing class; Miss E. B. Tracy for the Jolly Workers; Henry Pierce for the Boy's Athletic Club; Peter Sweeney for the Boy's Friday Night Religious Club; Vice President J. F. Horton, for the Young Men's Association, and additional reports for the Sunday school Bible classes, Mrs. Walter Bradford, for the women's class and Donald McInness for the men's class.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION

FIFTH DISTRICT REPUBLICANS TO SELECT NOMINEE AT TRENTON, MAY 10.

Trenton was selected as the place for the holding of the congressional convention of the Fifth district for the nomination of a candidate to stand for the House of Representatives next November, and also for the choosing of two delegates and two alternates to the National Republican convention to be held in Chicago in June at a meeting of the congressional committee of the district in the Dix building in Elizabeth, yesterday.

The convention will be held on May 10, at 10:30 o'clock, on the same date as the State convention will convene. This accounts for the fact that Trenton, though outside of the Fifth district, was the choice of the committee for the place of the meeting, considerable time and expense being saved by having both conventions on the same day and in the same city.

The committee prepared a call to be issued to the Republican voters of the district to meet in primaries to elect delegates to the congressional convention at times and places to be designated by the various county committees.

The basis of representation in the convention will be one delegate for every 200 votes cast at the last gubernatorial election, and one for every fraction thereof. Under this basis Union county is entitled to fifty-one delegates; Morris county thirty-two and Warren county fifteen.

Each of the three counties in the district have two representatives on the committee, as follows: Union county, Charles J. Fisk, Plainfield; Dr. Holmes, Rahway, Morris county, George E. Pool, Daniel S. Voorhees; Warren county, Dr. Edward M. Beesly, J. Watts Ingham.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Charles Luygarde, of the Perrin Freres glove factory, has removed from the borough to Orchard place.

William Motley, of West Second street, is convalescing after a recent injury in the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

John McClelland, who has recently arrived from Belfast, Ireland, has taken a position at the Campbell Press Company's plant. Mr. McClelland is a brother of Andy McClelland, of Watchung avenue.

James Scott, of Muhlenberg place, is laid up at his home with a badly injured foot. Scott was at work on Stites' new house on West Front street near the old "eight row" when his foot came in contact with a rusty nail, injuring him severely. It will be several weeks before he will be able to use his pedal extremity.

Bricklayers and laborers, who returned to their work in New York yesterday after a strike of five weeks' duration, are estimated to have sacrificed wages aggregating $1,500,000. Nearly 15,000 workmen were involved and the whole trouble is still to be settled by arbitration, pending which the men will not be asked to work overtime. There was much joy among the workers over the end of the strike, as fears had been growing of another disastrous season in the building trades like that of 1903. Large builders now express the belief that this will be the busiest season in New York's history.

Advertising Staples.

"That was the idea we started to disprove, and we have by no means exhausted the list of staples that will be exploited. Let me tell you something—the immense advertising of Uneeda Biscuit was done by setting aside a fraction of a cent on each package. Yes, the old idea that certain things will not stand advertising is passed. Men are advertising today who told us five years ago that advertising would do them no good. Others who now say the same thing will themselves be advertising in another five years. "Why," concluded Mr. Ayer, with a smile, "there were some who told us when we started that this business could not be run successfully from Philadelphia. Think of that!" That this theory has long since been exploded is well witnessed by the enormous success of N. W. Ayer & Son, which has made the name of Philadelphia and a Philadelphia firm known from one end of the United States to the other.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

The following of interest just now is taken from the city ordinance granting a franchise to the trolley company, now the Public Service Corporation: "Sec. 9. All tracks of the street railway company now laid or hereafter to be laid, are to be copiously watered throughout their entire length and for the space of two feet on each side thereof, twice in each day, from the 15th of May to the 1st day of October in each year; once before 11 a. m., and once after 2 p. m."

The ignorance of country people for whose benefit "don't blow out the gas" signs are necessary is only exampled by the equally marvelous lack of knowledge that dwellers in cities possess when it comes to a question of someting outside of the round of their daily activities. A woman who had lived in New York for twenty-one years was a recent visitor at the home of a Plainfielder. She was accustomed to electric lights. Her hostess's house was illuminated by gas. "What's the matter with your lights?" queried the New York woman on the first night of her visit. "I turn them on repeatedly and they don't light." "Why," returned her friend, "how do you expect to get a light out of a gas burner without using a match?"

Nineteen years ago on an Easter Sunday, New Market was visited by its biggest fire, recollections of which have been called forth by the blaze of Monday. A tailor shop and dwelling belonging to Henry Dunham were swallowed up in the flames as was also C. T. Rogers' grocery store. A curious incident of Monday's fire was the manner in which Frank VanNuis received notification of the fact that the barn of his father-in-law, Stanley Day, Sr., was on fire. A letter addressed to Mr. Day and slighted scorched on one side was deposited at Mr. VanNuis' feet at his home, the fact becoming apparent that it had been driven there by the wind, a distance of more than a mile. Mr. VanNuis "put two and two together," concluded that one of his relative's buildings was on fire, and on driving to the scene found that he was right.

Harrison, who will respond to the toast, "The University of Pennsylvania;" Edgar F. Smith, vice-president; Dr. Edward Martin, Dr. Edward Kirk, Robert Grant Lowrey and Thomas B. Donaldson, of the General Alumni Society. Nine counties of North Jersey are represented by 150 graduates. There are thirty-eight undergraduates from these counties, and some of them will attend.

RUINING PLAINFIELD TREES

An examination of the trees and shrubs which adorn the city reveal the fact that the San Jose scale and the oyster shell bark are playing havoc to one of Plainfield's most attractive features. Indeed, it is found that hundreds of trees along the streets of the municipality have been literally ruined by these pests. Unless steps are taken to stay the destructive work of these insects, it is alleged that the foliage which beautifies the city will be a thing of the past at an early date.

George T. Powell, of East Sixth street, who is an authority on subjects relating to agriculture, made a minute examination of many trees about the city yesterday, without regard to locality, and he says that a deplorable condition exists. To a reporter for The Daily Press, he exhibited several specimens of branches which had been killed by the insects and he supplemented this by showing others which were nearly dead.

In Mr. Powell's opinion there is but one way to prevent futher damage and that is for the municipality to have all the trees sprayed. This he says can be done at very little expense. His suggestion is that the work be done by the fire department. A large pump could be used for the purpose and he believes that the work would consume very little time. In a short time, he predicts that the beneficial results would be apparent. The San Jose scale is particularly harmful. The farmers have come to realize the great loss they are sustaining by the ravages of this insect and already have taken steps to fight it. At the present time, little attention is being paid to the harmful scale in the various municipalities of the State, but it is claimed that unless something is done it will be well nigh impossible to rectify the condition.

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Hope chapel will hold its annual congregational meeting tonight.

The Easter music of Grace M. E. church will be repeated next Sunday night.

The Epworth League, of the Grace M. E. church, will hold its annual meeting Friday night.

The infant department of Grace church Sunday-school will hold Easter exercises Sunday afternoon.

A few voices have recently been added to the First Baptist church choir, strengthening the chorus.

The annual parish meeting of the First Baptist church will be held at the church Tuesday night, April 12.

The Enterpean Glee Club will give a concert in the Presbyterian church, Bound Brook, the latter part of this month.

Regular prayer meeting will be held tonight at the East Third Street chapel. The subject will be "Your Purpose."

There will be a special meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E., of the First Baptist church, after the Sunday-school meeting Sunday afternoon.

Clifford Braider and the quartette of the First Presbyterian church, have signed contracts for the coming year, and the same satisfactory music is assured.

Through the generous response of its members, the appropriation for music this year at the First Presbyterian church has been materially increased.

The choir at the Church of the Heavenly Rest has been reorganized under the direction of Garret T. Dunham, organist, and the music is now a feature at the various services.

The special preacher at Grace Episcopal church on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock will be the Rev. Dr. James Hewett Steele, vicar of Trinity church, Broadway and Wall street, New York city.

William Holmes, baritone of the First Baptist church choir, has during the past few weeks, assisted the chorus choir of St. Mary's church with its music, occasionally rendering a solo.

A string quartette, composed of Ernest Wilcox, flute; Arthur Mosher, violin; Kenneth Shupp, 'cello, and Clifford Braider, pianist, has recently been formed and frequent rehearsals have been held with considerable success.

It is quite likely that next year Clifford Braider, organist at the First Presbyterian church, will be found in a similar position in one of the Metropolitan churches. One church in Greater New York has been seeking his services.

On account of the lecture of the Rev. Mark Guy Pearse at the Crescent Avenue church Wednesday night, the scheduled meeting of the Grace M. E. Sunday school was not held. The annual election of officers of the school will be held Sunday afternoon.

Miss Florence Wohlfert, the talented violinist, a pupil of Francis Kaltenborn, whose renditions at the Easter services in the First Baptist church, last Sunday, were greatly enjoyed, will open the musical service at the above church Sunday morning with a violin selection.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist church, will unite in the regular covenant meeting to be held at the church tomorrow night. Last night there were several baptisms and several persons will be received for membership tomorrow night. The communion service will be held Sunday morning. Thus far since January 1 there has been fifty-seven persons received into the membership of this church.

Hilda E. Gaul, the child, girl cornetist, will be the special musical attraction at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting next Sunday afternoon in the association hall. She has wonderful ability with her instrument and has won laurels for herself before numerous Y. M. C. A. audiences. The meeting will be addressed by Rev. E. E. Roberson, a strong speaker. An additional attraction for the meeting will be the singing of several soprano solos by Miss Florence R. Bennett, who is a particular favorite with Plainfield audiences. The combined attractions should make the meeting one of the most notable of the year for the association.

CLASS MEETING.

Sunday-School Organization Holds Annual Session and General Good Time.

Class 15, of the Trinity church Sunday-school, held its annual meeting and sociable at the home of C. Frank Platts, of West Fourth street, last night. Mr. Platts was elected president, A. L. Schomp vice president, William Trembath secretary and Clarence Rittenhouse treasurer.

The retiring secretary, A. L. Schomp, and retiring treasurer, William Henry, made excellent reports for the year. Refreshments and an informal programme of entertainment were enjoyed after the session.

Live Newspaper Man.

Herbert A. Pierson, of Elizabeth, who is correspondent for a number of metropolitan newspapers and press associations, has purchased a handsome locomobile. Mr. Pierson will hereafter cover his stories in an automobile, and his newspaper brethren are expecting him to score many beats. He is the first newspaper man in New Jersey to invest in such a machine.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

At the meeting held by the members of the Presbyterian church last night for the election of trustees, the resignation of Frank Touzeau was received. Mr. Touzeau was elected a trustee a year ago for a term of three years, but owing to his removal from town, a few days ago, it was impossible for him to serve longer. The terms of Travis Sutphen and Joe Degroff expired at this meeting and they were both elected to succeed themselves for a term of three years. Harry Swackhamer was elected to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Touzeau's resignation. Reports were received from all of the various societies connected with the church and most of them were found to be in a prosperous condition.

While in an intoxicated condition yesterday, one of Dunellen's "sports" tried to board the 1:10 p. m. east bound train after the train was in motion and it was not fault of his that he was not seriously injured. As it was the young man was thrown into the ditch and quite scratched up. Marshal Mohan happened to be a witness of the accident and he at once warned the "sport" to leave town, which he did.

Officers of Court Dunellen, No. 1123, I. O. F., will go to Plainfield on Saturday night where they will meet the high officers of the State. The object of the meeting is to make arrangements for the thirtieth anniversary of the lodge, which will be held in the Casino the latter part of next month.

Several men are busily engaged in putting the depot park in shape for the coming summer. Dunellen has one of the nicest parks along the line of the Central, and it does credit to the town as well as the railroad company.

Miss Katie Sickle has returned to her home in Glen Gardner after spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. James Touzeau, of Front street.

Rumor has it that C. D. Sugars is trying to rent a house on Front street and expects to start housekeeping in the near future.

Clement Dixon has resigned his position as brakeman on the Central and has accepted a position with Levering & Garrigue.

When the "inner man" had been attended to dancing was resumed and continued until a late hour.

The Cooper-Riley encampment of gypsies, who have pitched their tents on Mountain avenue, are making preparations to attend the funeral of Mrs. Riley, the famous gypsy queen, which will be held at Hillside cemetery Monday morning.

Chantrell and Schuyler, who appeared at the entertainment of Fanwood Council, R. A., on Wednesday night, proved to be the best team of vaudeville artists who have ever appeared before a local audience.

Miss Emily Tracy, of Plainfield, will give a talk on birds in the library rooms on Monday afternoon. The lecture is under the auspices of the C. B. C., of the Methodist church. A silver collection will be taken.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

President Roosevelt Present as the Honor Guest.

"BEST KNOWN AUTHOR IN AMERICA"

"Freedom Cannot Exist Without a Sense of Responsibility"—Sternburg Testifies to Wide Field, Covered by Our Periodicals.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A representative and distinguished company attended the dinner of the Periodical Publishers' Association of America given at the New Willard hotel last night. President Roosevelt was the honor guest. To his right sat Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, dean of the diplomatic corps, and on either side of them were Mr. Hay, the secretary of state; M. Jusserand, the French ambassador; Baron von Sternburg, the German ambassador; Justice Peckham of the supreme court, William B. Howland, president of the association; Hamilton W. Mabie, the toastmaster, and other distinguished members of the society. The Chinese and Japanese ministers sent letters of regret.

The president arrived about 10:30 o'clock and remained throughout the reception which followed the dinner.

The menu cards were in the form of miniature magazines and in addition to the bill of fare contained "The Bill of Company," a list of members of the association.

When President Roosevelt arose to speak he was given an ovation, the entire company rising and cheering him repeatedly. Toastmaster Mabie introduced him as "the best known author in America today, the author and illustrator of American ideals." He spoke as follows:

"It is always a pleasure to a man in public life to meet the real governing classes. I bid you welcome to Washington and to say but a word of greeting, and that word shall take the form of a warning and a hope. I did not speak in justice when I alluded to you as representatives of the governing classes. I think that we of the United States cannot keep too fresh in our minds the fact that the men responsible for the government are not the representatives of the people, but the people themselves and that therefore heavy is the responsibility that lies upon the people and upon all those who do most toward shaping the thought of the people. Now, in the days of my youth I was a literary man. I have recently in reading a book been immensely struck by the thought developed in it by one of our greatest scholars who was speaking of freedom and of the fact that freedom could not exist unless there went with it a sense of responsibility, and he used a phrase somewhat like this, 'That among all peoples there must be a restraint; if there is no restraint there is for an inevitable result anarchy, which is the negation of all government.'"

Baron von Sternburg, the German ambassador, when called upon by Mr. Mabie said:

"During my wanderings in foreign lands I frequently have been struck by the wide spreading of the American periodical not only among the English speaking people, but also among the people belonging to all races and nationalities. Some years ago when in Samoa I was discussing with a Samoan chief the history of his islands. I was surprised by the intelligence of the man and by the interesting knowledge he possessed relating to the past of his people. When I asked him from where he had gained his information and if his islands had any written records of their past handed down by his ancestors the chief smiled and said no such records never existed because Samoans had no written language. 'But,' he continued, 'there is a foreign book which has told us all of our past history.' Saying this, he opened an old ship's chest, recovered probably from some derelict, which held his few humble possessions, and handed to me a number of an American magazine containing a lengthy article on Samoa and the Samoans. 'This,' he said, 'is the only record our islands ever possessed, and it has taught us many things which we ourselves had long ago forgotten.'

"It has become a common question in these days of bewildering literary expansion:

"What is the secret of power of certain publishers and writers among the readers and thinkers in general?

"The answer to me seems a simple one if we examine the records of those who in the ever rising tide of letters are seen riding on the crests of the billows which mercilessly are ingulfing myriads of others less fortunate. The secret of the power of these chosen few is merit and merit alone. The book and the paper which deserves to succeed is bound to find its reader even if he be squatting in the primitive palm hut on a Pacific isle. No amount of pushing and exploiting will in these days of enlightenment be able to replace merit. Your merit, gentlemen, lies in your efforts to educate the public to a higher standard. That there is an ever increasing demand for a higher standard is the clearest proof of your success, on which I am happy on this occasion to congratulate you. May this meeting add to the peaceful development of nations by fostering a truer and closer understanding between them. I wish the members of the Periodical Publishers' Association of America the success they deserve for their great and noble work."

JAPS ENTER YALU.

Gunboats Cover Movements of Advancing Army.

RUSSIAN FORTS ARE NOT EFFECTIVE

LONDON, April 8.—A dispatch from Seoul says that Japanese transport steamers are safely entering the estuary of the Yalu river and are landing their men and stores at various points on the Korean shore. It is presumed there that the movement of these steamers is covered by Japanese gunboats.

If this is true, the Russian forts erected upon the Chinese side of the Yalu river are evidently not effective.

Another Seoul dispatch says that an American missionary who has just returned from northern Korea reports having seen a fleet of forty transports, some of which were very large, off Haiju, fifty miles north of Chemulpo. It is supposed that the transports are carrying a part of the second Japanese army, the first three divisions of which are said to be destined to land at Yongampo.

General Sir Ian Hamilton, General Sir William Nicholson and Colonel James A. L. Haldane, the British officers who will be attached to the Japanese army, have been received in private audience by the emperor at Tokyo.

Advices from St. Petersburg say the admiralty has received information that a Japanese squadron is cruising off Port Arthur.

The Japanese had not been seen in the vicinity of Port Arthur for several days until the fleet appeared. It is believed the ships have been at the secret rendezvous getting a supply of coal and ammunition preparatory to a new bombardment of the Russian stronghold.

From Shanghai it has been learned that the Russians have planted submarine mines off the coast of Takushan, about fifty miles west of the mouth of the Yalu river, as well as in the estuary of the Yalu.

The Japanese army now in Koreh is reaching the south bank of the Yalu river at different points. Refugees who have arrived here from Korea assert that the fear that the Japanese may land at Possiet bay, about sixty-five miles southwest of Vladivostok, is causing a general exodus inland. Even the Russian garrisons in that locality are retreating, leaving only small outposts behind them.

While the first line of defense against the Japanese advance from Korea is a strong position, selected by General Kuropatkin, near Fenghuangcheng, it is believed the Russians intend to hold out so long as possible at Antung, which commands the Peking road. General Kuroki's army, according to Russian advices, is strung out along the line of the Yalu. For seventy miles the river is 500 fathoms wide, and at Yongampo it is ice laden and barred by islands, whence the Russian sharpshooters can harass the Japanese advance.

The Russians have intrenched themselves heavily near Haicheng to block the progress of the Japanese in case they succeed in landing at the head of the Liaotung gulf.

Russia recognizes that Japan now has preponderating naval strength in the far east. Therefore it is essential to reverse the present Japanese preponderance. This will be attempted by two distinct moves.

First, urgent efforts will be made to have a naval concentration at Port Arthur, the Baltic, Red sea and Vladivostok fleets joining Vice Admiral Makaroff's command if possible, and thus giving the combined fleets preponderance over Vice Admiral Togo.

Second, it is foreseen that it will be difficult and probably impossible to effect this concentration, as Admiral Togo may intercept the Baltic fleet before its arrival at Port Arthur. In that event the Baltic fleet, which is comparatively small, will attempt the perilous task of engaging the large Japanese fleet in the hope of disabling some of the Japanese ships and thus reducing the Japanese effectiveness.

According to the Russian calculation the Baltic fleet may suffer annihilation in such an unequal combat, but it will have served a valuable end if it is able to cripple a sufficient number of Japanese ships to reduce Admiral Togo's naval strength below that of Admiral Makaroff.

Telegrams received from Seoul say that the Russians are occupying six of the largest border towns on the Tumen river, in northeastern Korea.

A Korean prefect has sent in a report that the Russians and Chinese who were at Yongampo, Korea, have withdrawn to Antung, across the Yalu river. Only a few merchants remain at the former place.

The Japanese authorities have no confirmation of a reported engagement between Russians and Japanese at Kwisung.

J. N. Jordan and H. N. Allen, respectively ministers to Korea of Great Britain and the United States, have requested the Korean government to give protection to the British and American mines in the country. This request is a mere formality, as the Japanese authorities have given assurances of protection from local uprisings.

Mr. Jordan says the Japanese have been extremely considerate with regard to the British mines. They have no desire to hamper mining operations, they promised not to make heavy levies of food upon the farmers of the surrounding country, and they agree to facilitate the passage of specie for payment of wages and even to supply specie for this purpose. They will also safeguard the transportation of bullion from the mines to the coast.

Good Arrangement For Japan.

BERLIN, April 8.—Mr. Inouye, the Japanese minister here, does not share the view that the sale of the Hamburg-American line steamship Furst Bismarck is a breach of neutrality. "From one viewpoint," said the minister, "we are glad to see the Russians buy good ships. The Russians buy them, and we capture them."

Attorney General Parker Visited the Bereaved Home at Weston.

WESTON, Mass., April 8.—So extraordinary is the case of the murder of Miss Mabel Page judged to be that State's Attorney General Herbert Parker, making a move unprecedented in the history of the commonwealth, took it upon himself to visit the scene of the crime to make a close scrutiny of the premises and to examine personally the members of the Page household. He was accompanied in this investigation by George A. Sanderson, district attorney of Middlesex county, and Joseph Shaw, the chief of the Massachusetts district police. The day was otherwise made notable by the active participation of five members of the state police in the investigation, instead of two as formerly, the assignment of additional detectives being made upon the recommendation of Governor Bates.

When the day's efforts were ended General Whitney, one of the state police, said:

"There have been no developments of a helpful nature whatsoever. We are no nearer a solution of the mystery than we were before."

Arrived at the Page house Attorney General Parker and his companions made a careful examination of the dwelling, the barn in the rear and the land adjacent. Every room in the house was examined, particularly the chamber in which Miss Page's body was found. The door in the rear of the home on the ground floor was examined with reference to the possibility that the assailant escaped in that direction instead of by the front door, which was found ajar by Mr. Page when he returned home last Thursday.

Mr. Parker then closely questioned Edward Page, the father; Harold, his son, and Amy Roberts, a servant, regarding their movements on the day of the tragedy. The elder Page was examined particularly as to the discovery of the body and his subsequent conversations with persons in the house and in the roadway.

Before boarding the train for Boston Mr. Parker said:

"I have visited the scene of the crime in connection with my duties as attorney general. I have examined the premises and talked with the members of the Page family. I do not care to discuss my opinions."

Following the departure of the state officers, the deputies with rakes scraped over the ground in the rear of the dwelling and on either side of the brook which flows through the fields just back of the Page barn. The brook itself was carefully raked. This was evidently in an effort to find the knife with which Miss Page was stabbed.

Fatalities In Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 8.—Two fire fatalities, two suicides and a death by drowning are reported in Connecticut. In a fire which destroyed the small house in which he lived alone in Woodbridge George Scranton, fifty-five years old, was burned to death. It is supposed that he accidentally upset a lighted kerosene lamp. Lillian Martin, four years old, received fatal burns while playing around a bonfire near her home in Winsted. The body of an unknown man was found floating in the water at Ocean beach by duck hunters. It was apparently that of a man about forty years old, but there was nothing in the clothing by which to identify it. George Rucktaschel, despondent because he was out of work, drank carbolic acid at his home here.

Kidnaping Bill Passed.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 8.—The so called Apgar kidnaping bill was passed by the assembly. It makes the law more strict than at present and provides that if a child is kidnaped for the purpose of stealing any article about or upon its person the punishment shall not be more than fifteen years' imprisonment. If the crime is committed for reward or to abuse or injure the child, life imprisonment may be imposed, but the imprisonment shall not be for less than three years. This is to make allowance for the cases where parents with some provocation and justice kidnap their own children. The senate has also passed the Thompson Niagara, Lockport and Ontario power bill.

Historic Oak Planted.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Near the east terrace of the White House the historic oak sapling grown by Secretary Hitchcock from an acorn taken from the famous George Washington oak on the grounds of the Peterhof palace in St. Petersburg was planted by President Roosevelt and Mr. Hitchcock. The sapling had been placed in an excavation previously prepared for it, and the president and Secretary Hitchcock shoveled earth about the roots of the little oak.

Friends Fear Foul Play.

NEWBURG, N. Y., April 8.—James E. Hargraves, a Newburg merchant, started for New York city on the night boat Monday to buy supplies. He took $2,000 with him. Nothing has since been heard of him, and it is feared he met with foul play.

SANG A DEATH SONG

Indians Killed and Injured In Railroad Wreck.

CHIEF SMOKED WHILE DEATH CAME

Chicago Fast Mail Struck Car Full of Red Men of Buffalo Bill's Organization Bound For New York.

MAYWOOD, Ill., April 8.—The Chicago and Northwestern fast mail, during a dense fog, ran into the Oregon express not far from this place and wrecked a car in which were sixty-three Indians. Three of the Indians were killed, three were fatally injured, and twenty others were more or less hurt.

The Indians were members of the Buffalo Bill organization from Rushville, Neb., and at New York were to embark for England. Kill Head, skull crushed; Philip Irontail, body crushed, and Thomas Comelast, body crushed, are dead.

The injured are:

Luther Standing Bear, crushed about body and head, will die.

Annie Gooseface, crushed about body, will die.

Mrs. Thomas Comelast, wife of one of the killed, cut about head and shoulders.

Tommie Comelast, six years old, son of the dead man, head bumped and believed to have been made temporarily insane from fright.

Sammy Lone Bear, head cut and body bruised.

Abraham Good Crow, cut about head.

Little Elk, head cut and bruised.

Charge the Enemy, head cut and body bruised.

Head Chief High Bear, at the head of the delegation of the Sioux, severely crushed about the body.

The coach containing the Indians was a light day coach. It was smashed, and the rear end of the coach ahead was damaged. After the collision the passengers in the other coaches of the two trains hurried to the rescue and after a hard struggle pulled the survivors from beneath the wreckage.

Chief White Horse, in charge of the Indians, was fatally injured. The bodies of those who had been killed outright were laid on the prairie beside the track, Chief White Horse being carried with them. He said he knew that death was near and requested that he be placed near his dead companions. The chief was propped up and sat stoically while physicians worked over him. He smoked a pipe quietly and showed no signs of the pain he must have been suffering.

After the bodies of the dead had been removed from the wreckage and placed in a row on the prairie beside the tracks an incident probably unparalleled in railway records took place. The uninjured among the Indians gathered about and, led by Chief Irontail, solemnly chanted the Indian death song.

The collision unquestionably was the result of a dense fog which stretched from Lake Michigan many miles westward. In addition to the fog clouds of escaping steam enveloped the wreck and added to the difficulty of rescue.

A moment after the crash there was not a sound from the ill fated coach. Then one by one those surviving the crash regained in part their senses and began shouting for aid. A terrifying series of yells from the Indians were heard by the passengers jumping from each side of the cars ahead. All the men passengers and many of the women on the two trains hastened to the aid of the injured. The fact that one side of the rear car fell off with the impact undoubtedly saved the lives of many of its inmates, who were thrown out on the prairie.

No Attack Made on Alfonso.

LONDON, April 8.—Julius G. Lay, United States consul general at Barcelona, telegraphs as follows: "An explosion of gas occurred here yesterday, giving rise to a report that a petard was exploded as King Alfonso was leaving the exhibition. The explosion, however, took place half a mile from where the king was." A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Barcelona says it has been definitely ascertained that the explosion, which took place when King Alfonso was leaving the exhibition, was due to an escape of gas and that no importance is attached to the incident.

Pick Struck a Cartridge.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., April 8.—Antonio Amditiro was killed and Pascaelo Geodoig was probably fatally injured by the accidental explosion of a dynamite cartridge. Three others were slightly injured. The men, all Italians, were excavating for a cellar when Amditiro's pick struck a cartridge that had been left unexploded in a rock.

Cowherd Elected Chairman.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Representative W. S. Cowherd of Missouri was elected chairman of the Democratic congressional committee without opposition. About thirty members of the congressional committee were present at a meeting in the minority room at the capitol. Mr. Cowherd was not present.

Commissioners at Work.

COLON, April 8.—The United States canal commissioners went to Gatun and after inspecting that section of the canal route returned to Colon.

Another Word About Our Special Department.

Many people keep their savings accounts out of town; in New York, Philadelphia, or some other remote place, then when they wish to transact their business a liberal expenditure of both time and money is necessary.

How different if the account is carried with this Company. It is then always at their immediate disposal and deposits may be made with a minimum loss of time, and therefore with greater regularity.

We will attend to the transfer of an out-of-town account without charge.

OVER GYPSY QUEEN'S GRAVE

STONE COLUMN TO MARK GRAVE OF MRS. ZIBBIE RILEY.

A handsomely carved stone column about three feet long lying horizontally on a large base has been prepared to mark the graves of the gypsy queen, Mrs. Zibbie Riley, and her husband, after the funeral services of next Monday afternoon. It was prepared by L. L. Manning, of West Front street, and is now being placed at Hillside cemetery. It bears this inscription: "Zibbie Riley, born at Bristol, Somersetshire, Eng., May 20, 1824; died February 3, 1904.

"Dearest mother, thou hast left us,
And our loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God who has bereft us.
He can all our sorrows heal."

Alis Club Incensed.

Editor, The Daily Press:

We desire to refute and contradict a misleading article published last night in the Courier-News headed—"Johnson May Manage Alis." In the first place Mr. Johnson is not and never has been a member of the club, which fact would prevent him under the by-laws and constitution from taking the management. Neither has any proposition been made to him by the club to assume such management. Why such a misleading article should be published without the authority of the club, cannot be accounted for except it be to injure the club in its baseball season. We desire to inform the baseball loving public and friends of the club that the club will be represented on the diamond this season by one of the best teams in the county and will be found at the head of the list when the season closes. The committee feel that it would not be prudent at this time to publish the lineup. This will be done at the proper time and the team will not be found wanting. Thanking the public for past patronage and trusting to merit it in the future, we remain,

J. J. Slevin, chairman.

Mrs. Mary Wyckoff Dead.

Mrs. Mary Wyckoff, colored, died this morning at her home on West Fourth street. She was the mother of Mrs. Alonzo Hill, Mrs. Charles Scudder and Smith Wyckoff.

Dust Flying in Business Centre.

Merchants along Front street, Park and North avenues were complaining over the absence of the street sprinklers. The dust in the air was thick.

Mrs. Wilbur P. Henderson, of West Front street, who is in Muhlenberg Hospital under treatment for a serious case of blood poisoning, shows signs of improvement.

SOME FAKE BASEBALL TALES

GEORGE JOHNSON DENIES YARN THAT HE WILL MANAGE ALIS.

George Johnson, the expert who has steered the Scotch Plains baseball team so successfully for several seasons, is laughing at the stories going about certain circles hereabouts regarding probable managerial berths for him. One yarn has him at the head of the Alis combination and another makes him promoter of Sunday games at the old Driving Park or somewhere else near this city.

Johnson put the kibosh on both tales last night. "Not a grain of truth in either of 'em," he said to a Daily Press reporter. "Nobody has ever mentioned a word to me about managing Alis. There hasn't been a hint of it as far as I know, and I have never given the idea a thought."

"Would you take the manage ship if it were offered to you?"

"Oh, that's another thing. We'll think about that when it happens."

"Is there anything at all in this Sunday baseball story?"

"Not a thing," emphatically.

"Then you are out of the game this season?"

"That's not so certain. I may go into something later on. There will be news for you a little further on in the season perhaps."

Mr. Johnson would not give any further information on the berth he had in mind. "I'll tip you off when the time comes," he promised.

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

The Master Mason degree was conferred at a special communication of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., last night.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. will meet tonight. Several candidates will be initiated into the mysteries of the order.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, will hold a meeting Saturday night in their rooms in the Babcock building. The new by-laws will be adopted and other important business will be transacted.

At Chicago ten thousand members of the Royal Arcanum one night last week, sat in silence while a choir sang ritual music, and solemn oaths were administered to 8,100 candidates for membership in the order. The occasion was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the order in Illinois. Never before, it is said, has such a large number of men been inducted into any fraternal order at one time. Members of the councils of the order from ocean to ocean had come to witness the ceremony.

I. C. T. DANCE.

Affair Given Under Social Organization a Decided Success.

The I. C. T. Club gave one of its popular dances last night. There were fifty-two couples on the floor, including guests from Elizabeth, Somerville and Brooklyn. The efforts of the committee, V. W. During the intermission for refreshments, songs by the Hope chapelq uarteste, W. N. Runyon, John H. Cose, Leonce Texier and M. D. Sweeney, were a feature. Music for dancing was by O'Reilley's orchestra.

GYPSY BANDS BURY THEIR BELOVED QUEEN

A DIGNIFIED SERVICE

1,500 CURIOUS PEOPLE, MOSTLY WOMEN, DISTURB THE MOURNERS.

Gypsies from all over the East gathered at Hillside cemetery yesterday afternoon to attend the burial of Mrs. Zibbie Riley, who was recognized as their queen for more than half a century before she died a short time ago near Philadelphia. Brown-skinned nomads, men and women, were there from places as far West as Ohio and a far South as Kentucky and Florida, to pay a last tribute to the dead ruler. There never was such a gathering, and never such an occasion, before in Plainfield's history.

Fully three hundred of the restless Romany folk were at the grave. Quiet and subdued, their wonted animation stayed by the solemnity of the occasion, they silently bade a final farewell to the one they had all called "Mother."

Nine families were represented in the gathering. The great majority of the mourners were from the Harrison, Riley and Cooper families, who roam over nearby places. They were led by Naylor Harrison, who lives at Madison, the head of the Harrison family, whom the three families named recognize as chief. The Stanley's, a great clan, were largely represented, headed by Richard Stanley, who lives in Brooklyn.

Sightseers were there in force. Not less than 1,500 curious spectators thronged the Hillside slope to see the gypsies bury their queen. So heavy was the traffic over the Arlington avenue line that the half-dozen or more extra cars were inadequate.

At the cemetery the behavior of the crowd seriously interfered with the burial. The sightseers crowded about the mourners in such numbers that the undertaker and the clergyman were compelled to ask them to keep back several times.

At 2 o'clock the gypsies went to the vault where Mother Riley's body lay, to pay the last act of homage. The swarthy band gave evidence of deep emotion as the solemn procession proceeded.

The behavior of the crowd at that point was such that Funeral Director E. E. Runyon indignantly rebuked the pushing, swaying mass of people that pressed insistently about the mourning gypsies. Most of the sightseers were women, well-clad and refined looking to a very great extent, but Mr. Runyon felt compelled to remind them sharply that they "were not at a show."

From the vault the queen's body, resting in a casket that quite befitted her rank, was borne to the grave by six of her grandsons: William Harrison and Leonard Harrison, son of Naylor Harrison; William Harrison, his nephew; James Cooper, Heenan Harrison and William Harrison, a son of the noted James Harrison, who died three years ago. When the eager crowd was pushed back sufficiently to allow the burial to proceed, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace P. E. church, read the last words over the body, and the casket was lowered at the foot of the handsome monument described in Saturday's Daily Press. About the grave were the near relatives of the dead queen, including her granddaughter, Mrs. Posey Harrison, who succeeds her as ruler of the clans.

Mrs. Posey Harrison, mentioned as the dead queen's successor, is the daughter of Naylor Harrison, who married Mother Riley's daughter. Four years ago, when the "Mother's" health began to fail seriously, she said she desired her granddaughter to follow her as queen, and the wish was respected even then. By vote of the clans, the granddaughter was named as the queen to-be, and she was hailed as ruler when Queen Zibbie died.

Queen Posey is a handsome young woman, beloved and respected by all the Eastern gypsies. She is the wife of "Buckey" Harrison, who is wealthy. She lives with her husband "on the road."

There was a report that "Father" Riley's body, which is in a vault in Auburn, N. Y., would be buried at the same time as that of his wife, but Chief Naylor Harrison denied that there had been any such intention. "That will be done later," he said.

DISTURBANCES AT STATION

COLORED PEOPLE'S CONDUCT COMPLAINED OF BY RAILROAD COMPANY.

Officials of the New Jersey Central have notified the pastors of the various colored churches in this city that they would like to have their co-operation in preventing the weekly Sunday night disturbance at the North Avenue Station. Many colored persons congregate there during the evening after church services and their loud and boisterous talk and actions has caused much annoyance. The colored pastors have been informed that unless the practice is stopped the offenders will be taken to the city jail and a charge preferred.

Rev. Scott Wallace and "Deacon" Spencer Conway, of the Calvary Baptist church, have taken the matter up and announcement of the fact was made on Sunday. They told the congregation that there is no need of the colored people assemblying at the railroad station and they wanted them to stay away or suffer consequences.

MAY FORM A POST HERE

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR VETERANS TALK OF ORGANIZING.

Talk of the formation of a post by the Spanish-American War veterans in this city, which arose last year, has been revived. There are more than enough volunteers here to organize a good-sized post, and several of the young men are striving to bring one into existence.

Between forty and fifty men are eligible to membership here. There are perhaps twenty-five who enlisted in the army, most of them in the Third New Jersey Regiment. The other eligibles are the ex-members of the naval militia, most of whom served on the auxiliary ship Badger.

J. D. Macnab, instructor at the High School, is the one most actively interested in the proposed post. He served in one of the New York regiments. Mr. Macnab broached the idea last year, but it did not receive a very cordial reception from the Plainfielders. None of the latter reached the front, and by far the greater number of them feel that under the circumstances the formation of a post would be rather silly and vainglorious than otherwise. Some of them characterize the idea of a post composed of "veterans" who never had a chance to get near the enemy and were never in the slightest danger of being wounded as ridiculous.

SHOW POSTPONED.

Concert and Festival at Calvary Baptist Church to be Held April 21.

The concert, broom drill and festival at the Calvary Baptist church has been postponed from Thursday, April 14, to Thursday, April 21 at 8:15 o'clock. An elaborate programme will be presented. Two North Plainfield members are in the lead for prizes for selling tickets.

The officers and committee in charge are as follows: G. H. Jones, president; Mrs. Lulu Scott, vice president; Rev. Scott Wallace, pastor; Miss Eliza Cohen, Mrs. Sallie Thornton, Mrs. Martha Rogers, Mrs. Catharine Venable, Mrs. Agnes Holmes, Mrs. Louis Miller, Mrs. Manfield Robinson, Miss Fanny Scott, Miss Laura Waller, Miss Abbie Holmes, Miss Mayetta Whilington, Deacon Spencer Conway, Will Johnson, Samuel Caldwell, Richard Harris and Mrs. Anna Williams.

Y. M. C. A. Nine Ready.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball nine will hold its first practise of the season Saturday afternoon on the Myrtle avenue grounds, the weather of last Saturday necessitating a postponement. The work of preparing the grounds for play will begin probably tomorrow. Manager Symons has received challenges from the Dunellen A. C., Plainfield A. A., and other teams of the vicinity. Games will undoubtedly be arranged with the school nines.

J. H. Cose Sues.

J. H. Cose, trading as J. W. Cose & Son, has sued A. J. Winans, on contract, in Justice Smalley's court. The litigation is over the price of roofing work. The case will be heard April 21. Walter Hetfield, Jr., of Hetfield & Hetfield, represents the plaintiff.

COUNTRY DANCE.

I. C. T. Club Plans to Hold Grotesque Affair on April 28—The Committee in Charge.

Country dances have become a regular feature of the I. C. T. Club season. Another of the popular grotesque affairs has been planned for April 28

It will be a regular old-fashioned shindig, with barn-like decorations, and refreshments to match the character of the occasion. As at former dances of this sort, attendance in other than distinctly "rube" costume will be discouraged. The orchestra will be garbed as farmers, and play from a straw-made bower.

The committee in charge of the affair is made up of Raymond McVoy, Burlin Banks, V. W. Nash, Jr., Leonce Texier, George B. Cose, Edward Heartle, Charles Heartle.

FRIENDS OF HOSPITAL GUESTS OF MR. FISK

President of Board of Governors Host at a Banquet at the Casino.

PROMINENT MEN THERE

AN ELABORATE AFFAIR AND AN ENJOYABLE TIME.

List of Toasts and Those Who Responded—Handsome Decorations and Splendid Music—Mr. Fisk a Genial Host.

For the purpose of bringing together those who have much to do with Muhlenberg Hospital, former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, as president of the Board of Governors, gave a dinner to his colleagues and the members of the medical staff, in the Casino, last night. It was an elaborate affair, no expense being spared in the arrangements of various details.

The tables were arranged in the oblong fashion, the centre being filled with plants, palms and flowers and in the centre of the foliage was a small table hidden from the view of the guests. Soon after they were seated, Frank Dwyer, a member of the "Wizard of Oz" Company, suddenly appeared on the table and gave a lively dance. The floral decorations about the stage were also attractive, and here Brooks & Denton's banjo and mandolin orchestra of six pieces, discoursed popular airs while the dinner was being served by John W. Holland, of Philadelphia. Another pleasure was the singing by William Richter, of New York.

There were unique features about the table decorations. In front of each guest stood a small French doll, representing a Red Cross nurse. In one hand she held the menu card, bearing the familiar Red Cross sign, and in the other a package of cigarettes.

After the very excellent menu was enjoyed, there were several speeches. Mr. Fisk acted as toastmaster and after a few introductory remarks, others were called upon to respond. In each speech hearty appreciation was extended to the host for the pleasure afforded and his unselfish and untiring labors in behalf of Muhlenberg Hospital were recounted by all.

Others who spoke and their toasts were:

Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, "Founders of the Hospital;" Dr. F. C. Ard, "Eye-opener;" Charles E. Brooks, "Our Nurses;" Dr. E. W. Hedges, "Our Medical Staff;" Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, "Our Assistant Medical Staff;" Evarts Tracy, "Our Architects;" Craig A. Marsh, "Our Legal Advisor;" Ernest R. Ackerman, "Our Ladies' Auxiliary;" former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, "Our City."

Mr. Fisk took occasion to refer to the early days of the city, when there were two doctors here. The town was then known as a health resort. He said that he did not care to have any business with physicans, unless they had money to put out. He would then give them a good rate of interest.

These persons were present:

Charles Joel Fisk, Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, Alexander Gilbert, John B. Dumont, Dr. F. C. Ard, Dr. B. Van D. Hedges, Mr. Sanderson, H. M. Stockton, Dr. T. S. Davis, Mason W. Tyler, Craig A. QUALITIES NECESSARY IN A SUNDAY-SCHOOL

The Requisites for An Ideal Teacher Outlined by Rev. Dr. Smith at Grace P. E. Chapel.

AS TO COMMON SENSE

DECLARES TOO MANY INSTRUCTORS LACK "HEAD."

Secretary of Sunday-School Commission of Diocese of New York—An Authority on the Subject.

Beginning a series of lectures on training for Sunday-school work, Rev. Walter Smith, M. D., of New York city, addressed a good-sized gathering of religious instructors at Grace P. E. church chapel last night. Rev. Mr. Smith is secretary of the Sunday-school Commission of the Diocese of New York, and is recognized as a high authority on Sunday-school matters all over the country.

He set the highest possible ideal for his hearers. He held that the proper Sunday-school appeals as much to the intellectual side of the children as to the spiritual side, and that the teachers must build not merely a "character, but a character efficient for the best. A character that leads to right being, right thinking and right doing."

He dwelt at some length upon the proper qualifications of a teacher, who, he said, must have "liberty enough, time enough, heart enough and head enough to be a master in the Kingdom of Life."

Enlarging on the "liberty enough" aspect, he declared that a teacher who did not wholly believe in all the doctrine of the church whose children he or she taught, had no right to teach in that church.

Dr. Smith said some pungent things respecting the teacher who lacks "head" and common sense enough to do efficient work.

PROGRESIVE LEVY BROTHERS

FREEHOLD MEN WHO ASSUME CONTROL OF THE LEDERER STORE HERE.

Levy Brothers, who have purchased the stock and old established business of Isaac Lederer on West Front street, assume control this week The firm is now preparing for a gigantic sale throughout the store, to begin Saturday. In the meantime the millinery department will be open for business as usual.

This firm has for many years conducted a large dry goods store at Freehold, and The Freehold Transcript, one of the leading newspapers in that place, has this to say regarding the firm:

"Ten years ago Messrs. Levy started in Freehold and by strict attention to business, which they have always conducted on highest principles, and progressive methods they soon outgrew their quarters, and about five years ago their premises were increased to double the original size by erecting a building on the adjoining lot and tearing out the dividing wall.

"This firm enjoys unusual facilities in the wholesale market, they being associated with Messrs. Sickles Bros., of Perth Amboy, and Jos. Salz, of Red Bank, in a buying syndicate which enables them to pick up many good things that can only be had at advantage in qualities."

AFTER THE DANCERS.

The Deacon to Watch for Church Members Among the Waltzers.

"Deacon" Spencer Conway declares that he will attend the masquerade dance to be given in T. A. B. Hall Thursday night under the auspices of several colored persons of Calvary Baptist church and if he finds any of his church members present he will take their names, have them read off in church and they will be dropped from the roll. He says that he finds a number of church members who intended going to the dance have decided not to attend.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE LUNCHEON

DELIGHTFUL REPAST IS SERVED AT THE PARK CLUB.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Exchange, a large and most successful luncheon was given yesterday afternoon at the Park Club. There were no special features, except that the luncheon was a delightful one and the 120 women present fully enjoyed it as well as a game of cards subsequently. The menu was arranged and served by Steward Johnson, of the club.

The Executive Board of the Exchange had the affair in charge, Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell, assisted by Miss Anna Murphy, being the leaders. It is believed that about $70 will be realized as profit. The Exchange is at all times in need of financial assistance, owing to the fact that it is not self-supporting and a great deal of work is required to manage it successfully.

WM. H. HILLMAN BURIED

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES, AT WHICH TWO MINISTERS OFFICIATE.

Beautiful floral tributes from the many friends of William H. Hillman at his funeral yesterday attested the wide esteem in which he was held. The services took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the late home, 923 West Fourth street. Rev. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, was in charge, assisted by Rev. George Mooney, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church.

To mark their appreciation of his services at various social affairs and his faithfulness in behalf of the church, the members of the Young Men's Bible class, of Monroe Avenue church, sent a floral tribute. "We Never Say 'Good-bye' in Heaven" was sung by Elmer E. Runyon, and "Some Time We'll Understand," by Charles Lewis. The interment was in Hillside cemetery and the bearers were George H. Fountain, George Hillman, of this city; Fred Nearing, of Brooklyn; Mr. Thurston, of Middletown, N. Y.; John Hillman, of New York, and Thurston Hillman, of Rahway.

MILITARY DANCE.

Enjoyable Affair Held by Company K Boys Attracts a Big Crowd, Fully Two Hundred Present.

Unqualified success attended the first dance of the newly formed non-commissioned officers' organization of Company K last night. The affair was held at the armory after the weekly drill, the military men remaining in uniform.

Fully two hundred people were present and the dance passed off delightfully. The music excellent.

The "non-coms" in charge of the dance were Sergt. Charles Peterson, chairman; Corps. Stephen Stover, C. H. Bilyeu, George L. Apgar, and Arthur Phillips. It is not likely that the organization will hold another dance this season, but several will be planned for the fall.

L. A. OF Y. M. C. A. GROWING.

New Members Are Added to the Women's Organization.

Eight new members were added to the roll of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the association rooms. Mrs. H. M. Maxson presided. The devotional exercises were led by Miss Miner. Reports from the committees showed that they were all in good working order. The social committee is preparing for an entertainment to replenish the treasury and also to assist in the arrangements for the boys' banquet which will take place probably in the gymnasium some time during the present month.

The VanEps Attraction.

Plainfield people always delight to hear the banjo and mandolin performances of Fred and William VanEps and they will have another good opportunity when the brothers appear at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Thursday night. They will be accompanied on the piano by W. E. MacClymont. The Labadies, who will appear the same night, are reputed to be artists in their particular branch of dramatic work.

May Elect Assistant Pastor.

The officers and members of the Calvary Baptist church are contemplating the advisability of appointing an assistant pastor to Rev. Scott Wallace, whose duties have increased largely, with the growth of the congregation. There is also some idea of enlarging the church itself.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Ask an experienced traveller which is Plainfield's best hotel. He will tell you it is the Kensington.

Food values are greatest in the goods of John Wirth, the popular West Front street baker. You will find the truth of this in a single trial.

A first-class shave, hair-cut or shampoo are features at E. B. Maynard's tonsorial parlors on North avenue. Only expert men are employed to do the work.

Before selecting your wall-papers visit the painting and decorating store of J. M. Cahart, of Park avenue. He has received all of the latest designs and in the most popular colors. The painting materials and supplies are all of first-class quality.

The New Jersey Loan Company, of Newark, has met with considerable success here in loaning money, taking furniture and other household goods as security. The borrower has the use of the money and goods at the same time, paying a fair sum for the accommodation.

Unprecedented bargains in goods and trading stamps are offered this week by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company at its store on West Front street. The management of the store is determined to have its customers satisfied. Full weight for all goods is always guaranteed them, and if any article is not entirely satisfactory an exchange will be effected or the money refused. The prices are the lowest and the purchaser gets the best chance to fill his book with trading stamps.

A REPUTATION.

How it Was Made and Retained in Plainfield.

A good reputation is not easily earned and it was only by hard, consistent work among out citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Plainfield residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for two or three years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the trouble disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

LITERARY.

"The White Father of Ungava," by Clement M. Keys, is a striking story in the April Red Book. Mr. Keys shows some of the same power that made Gilbert Parker's stories of the Canadian North so fascinating when he was confining himself to that field. Labrador in winter is the scene of the present story, which is rendered especially timely by the interest in the fate of Leonidas Hubbard, the young explorer whose death in that lonesome land has just been reported. Howard Heath's pictures are of special merit.

Four years ago Miss Ritchie was singing in "The Cadet Girl," when she succumbed to the hot weather, and sent word at the last moment that she could not appear. A chorus girl who had never understudied the part regularly, offered to take her place. And that is how little Bessie Wynne, who is now the Tom Tom in "Babes in Toyland," became a principal. She made her first big success in "The Wizard of Oz," which played for months at the Majestic.—The Players, Everybody's Magazine for April.

The American Boy for April presents a front cover that will attract boys, it being a striking picture of a young Indian. And who has a better right to claim to represent young America, after all, than the Indian boy. The stories in this number are The Silver Mine, by Harriet Prescott Spofford; The Blue Dragon, by Kirk Munroe; Three Yankee Boys in Ireland, by the Editor, and Arty's Guardian, by George H Coomer. The editor in his "Just Between Ourselves" page talks of various things boys are asking about, some serious, some playful—but always interesting.

—The landlord and tenant case of J. F. Wilson against William Lloyd, before Justice Mattison, has been settled out of court.

'PLAINS BIG POULTRY FARM

There is a poultry farm in Scotch Plains that is noted for containing some of the finest fowls in existence. It is the property of William Cook & Sons and is situated on the Springfield road about a mile and a half from the village.

William Cook is the original breeder of the famous Orpington fowls, ducks and pigeons, which take their name from his house and village in England. These fowls are generally recognized as the best in the world. They are remarkable layers, producing large, brown eggs and are said to be without equal as table fowls. The bring the highest prices in the New York market.

In 1903, Mr. Cook and his son, Peter Cook, came to this country with 120 fowls which they exhibited at the New York show. They showed in twenty-six classes and won twenty-four first prizes, nineteen seconds and many thirds and fourths. In several of the newspapers it was stated that the fowls were the finest ever seen at the poultry show.

The Cook farm is always open for inspection and visitors will invariably find its attractions interesting and instructive.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

At a recent meeting of the Educational Council of New Jersey at Newark, State Superintendent Baxter gave an address in which he referred to the school laws acted on by the last Legislature. Among the bills which had passed Mr. Baxter mentioned Senate 84, which amends section 76 of the school law. The section limited the term for which school boards in cities could be issued to thirty years, and did not provide for a sinking fund. The amendment extends the limit to fifty years and authorizes a sinking fund of at least one per cent. a year. Assembly bill 279 made the salaries of county superintendents uniform at $2,000. This passed the house, but was defeated in the Senate. Mr. Baxter seemed to think that this should have gone through. At present $1,800 is the minimum salary paid to county superintendents and $2,000 the maximum. Assembly bill 63, which is now a law, provides that whenever two municipalities have heretofore voted to consolidate and acted as one school district, they shall continue to do so, without the necessity of a further vote. House bill 251 was also passed, and this amends the school law so as to allow a district to have a board of nine, five or three members.

An improvement is being made on West Front street directly in front of Michael Higgins' property. Two or three large trees that have not only at times been a menace to pedestrians, especially in severe storms, are being cut down. Their removal will allow the sunlight to reach the street and effectually put a stop to the dampness that always prevails at that point during wet weaher. It is hoped that other nearby property owners will follow the above example. A large number of limbs on these trees are dead ones and in high winds are apt to break off and cause considerable damage.

Princeton has a new mascot in the shape of a large Royal Bengal tiger, lately presented to the university by Edward A. Wood, of Pittsburg, a strong Princeton man.

An opportunity for a career similiar to that of the army or navy is afforded to young men of Plainfield who are ambitious and can pass the required examinations for the revenue cutter service. Senator Dryden has been advised that there are fifteen vacancies as cadet, and the examination for eligibles will be held on April 26, 27 and 28 at New York city, Philadelphia and Washington. The salary of a cadet is $500 a year and one ration, equivalent to $100 a year. After three years' service the cadet may be appointed as a third lieutenant, and the salary is $1,400 a year. A captain receives $2,500 a year. Upon arriving at the age of 64 years the commissioned officers are retired with 75 per cent. of the pay of the rank upon which they are retired. Applications must not be less than 18 years of age nor more than 25 and 5 feet 3 inches in height.

W. MacCready Sykes, Esq., of Scotch Plains, is being constantly called on to speak at Princeton reunions and in some cases when the distance precludes his acceptance, as for instance at a reunion in Nebraska, his unique account of the Yale-Princeton football game has been given in his absence. In the last number of the "Green Bag," a law magazine published in Boston, Mr. Sykes has written a sketch of Judge Parker, of New York, from the legal, rather than the political point of view. The article has been widely quoted from and some instances copied entirely in the West. The Pittsburg Leader, under date of March 26, contains an extended account of a reunion of Princeton men in that city. Mr. Sykes related his amusing football story to the delight of the 200 Princeton men.

Flossie is six years old. "Mamma," she called one day, "if I get married will I have to have a husband like pa?"

"Yes," replied the mother, with an amused smile.

"And if I don't get married will I have to be an old maid like Aunt Kate?"

"Yes."

"Mamma,"—after a pause—"it's a tough world for us women, ain't it?"—Exchange.

Sacrifice of FLOOR COVERINGS

BARGAINS OF NEVER EQUALED MAGNITUDE.

The outcome of an immense amount of labor—of going into the market at the right time—of buying up manufacturers' entire surplus stocks and gaining concessions right and left on thousands of dollars worth of highest grade carpets, rugs, mattings, linoleums and oilcloths. Cost of raw materials has advanced since last season, the wage scale is higher, and regular prices are from 10 to 15 per cent. more than were being quoted twelve months ago. All-over markings on the following described floor coverings are from one-quarter to a third and not infrequently double those named by us during this, the most remarkable sale in the history of our famous fourth floor dept.

A CRIME CONFESSED

University of Pennsylvania Club Murderer Captured.

OLD EMPLOYEE, A WEST INDIA NEGRO

Lawrence Gibson Quickly Arrested For the Murder of Aged Watchman—He First Denied Then Acknowledged His Guilt.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12. — The mystery surrounding the murder of John Thomas, the aged night watchman at the Houston club of the University of Pennsylvania, has been cleared up by the arrest and confession of Lawrence Gibson, alias John Oakley, who was for a number of years employed as a utility man at Houston hall. Gibson is a West Indian negro and says he is a native of Jamaica.

Gibson was arrested at his home early in the day and denied all knowledge of the crime until late in the afternoon, when he broke down and confessed to the murder. Self defense is his plea. Gibson says he went to Houston hall to call on Thomas. The watchman, Gibson says, evidently mistook him for a thief and attacked him. In the struggle he unintentionally killed the old man.

The police do not believe the story. Superintendent of Police Quirk is of the opinion that revenge for being dismissed from Houston hall was the motive for the murder, although he has not entirely discarded the theory of robbery. Gibson, whose complexion is so light that he easily passed as a white man, misrepresented himself as a student at the university and married a white woman three weeks ago.

When the deception was discovered he was discharged from Houston hall. How he expected to get revenge and his reason for attacking the watchman the police decline to say.

Botha Wants "Buffoonery" Stopped.

KRUGERSDORF, South Africa, April 12.—General Botha has been requested by the Transvaal Farmers' association to cable the directors of the St. Louis exposition asking them to prohibit the proposed Boer war "buffoonery" during the exposition because it will be "an outrage upon every true patriotic instinct." General Delarey, the former Boer commander, in addressing a congress of farmers, expressed his regret at the forthcoming representation of scenes from the Boer war at the St. Louis exposition, which would be "a shameful production." At the same time General Delarey said he wished to bring to the notice of the world the fact that the Boers had abandoned all vindictive thoughts toward Great Britain and that it was now their privilege to work in peace.

British Warship to Protect Cayman.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 12.—Acting under instructions from the imperial government, the British cruiser Retribution is now proceeding to Bluefields for the purpose of settling the dispute between the Nicaraguan authorities and the Cayman turtle fishermen and also for the purpose of arranging for the release of the schooners seized by the Nicaraguan government and the crews undergoing imprisonment at Gracias a Dios. Six Cayman turtle schooners were seized by the Nicaraguan government and their crews arrested and conveyed to Gracias a Dios. Immediately on receipt of the news the Cayman commissioner forwarded a dispatch to the government at Kingston, and the latter communicated with the British foreign office on the subject.

Motor Car Injured Roman Children.

ROME, April 12.—Miss Humphreys of New York, while guiding a motor car in which were St. John Gaffney and Miss Tupignac of New York and Captain the Marquis Paolucci, although going at a slow rate of speed, ran over two children, injuring one somewhat seriously. The accident happened in the most populous quarter of the city, and a crowd surrounded the automobile, threatening its occupants. The police interfered and protected the automobilists, whom they took to the police station, where they were released after being interrogated with regard to the accident.

A Woman In the Case.

NEVADA, Mo., April 12.—Edwin Griffith, son of the postmaster at Great Bend, Kan., has been arrested for stealing a registered package of $5,000. Griffith has confessed. Griffith was an employee of the Great Bend postoffice, and after taking the $5,000 he fled to El Paso, Tex. He came to Nevada to give part of the money to a woman. The woman turned the money over to the inspector.

Body of William Joyce Found.

BROOKFIELD, Mass April 12.—The body of William Joyce, who had been missing from his home since Friday, has been found in the meadows near Tanney brook. The man had been drowned in two feet of water. Mr. Joyce was seventy-two years old. Medical Examiner E. W. Norwood of Spencer said that death was due to accidental drowning.

Corbin Wants Big Parade.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Major General Henry C. Corbin, commanding the division of the Atlantic, sent invitations to the governors of all of the eastern states and of Texas to take part in the joint field exercises of the regular army and of the organized militia within the department to be held near Manassas, Va.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printers' Ink.

Plainfield, N. J., April 12, 1904.

The enterprising Asbury Park Press has commenced to issue a Sunday edition, called The Shore Press. It is chuck full of local news.

Who says a little advertising doesn't pay? The bare announcement that the gypsy queen would be buried yesterday afternoon induced a crowd of about 2,000 local people to attend the obsequies.

Printers' Ink has always held that newspapers which carry the largest number of want advertisements are closest to the hearts of the people, and are for that reason not only prosperous, but of a distinct profitableness to an advertiser.—Printers' Ink.

Philadelphia may be slow, but the summary ways which are employed in the Quaker City to get rid of hair-brained anarchists and general disturbers may well be copied in other cities. When Emma Goldman was ready to make one of her speeches there on Saturday night, the police lined up in front of the hall and refused to allow her friends to enter the place.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Senator Dryden is mentioned as possible chairman of the Republican National Committee in an article printed in a morning paper yesterday. It it stated that Governor Murphy is considered out of the race.

Union County Republicans have all buried the hatchet, according to latest intimations from both the seats of war, and at the next election, it is intimated, three Republican Assemblymen will be elected in the places of the three Democrats who served this year. Be all this as it may, there are not a few Republicans in Union County who are quite free to say that Assemblymen Hague, Gunn and Moffett, Democrats though they are, have represented the county as well as any Assemblymen the Republicans have sent to Trenton within the last seven or eight years, and much better than it was represented by several of those who were elected within that period of time. These men were careful of their conduct, cautious in the introduction of bills, influential, for minority members, in securing whatever legislation their constituents needed, and their records on the measures that were of State importance are clean and creditable. Union County is normally Republican, and in a Presidential year it is more than probable that the whole Republican ticket will be successful, but for all that the county has in times past chosen much less creditable legislative representatives than Messrs. Hague, Gunn and Moffett.—Newark Evening News.

It was decided to assume the support of the girl for another year.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Charles Dodwell, of Front street, the popular conductor of the 8:20 o'clock in the morning New York express, has a reputation of being one of the most successful gardeners in Dunellen and he declares that he will maintain his reputation this season if possible. There is little doubt but that he will do as he says as he is always up with the birds and can be seen, almost any clear morning, busily engaged in his garden while most of the boroughites are taking their last nap. Charlie expects to make tomatoes, cucumbers, lima beans and eggplant his specialty this season, but he will also have a good assortment of nearly every kind of vegetable raised in this section. A number of small boys are already making plans for an attack on his watermelon patch, but with this timely warning he will probably be prepared to meet all intruders.

The Watchung baseball team is now fully organized and the first practise will take place next Saturday afternoon on the Lincoln avenue ball grounds. They will play their opening game on Saturday, April 23, with the Orange Field Club team, of Plainfield.

The repairs being made to the Presbyterian parsonage are being rapidly pushed and it is expected to have everything in readiness for the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Castleberry, in a few days.

After spending her Easter vacation with her parents, of Washington avenue, Miss Amy Sampson, has returned to her studies at the State Normal School in Trenton.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Miss Tracy, of Plainfield, gave an interesting talk upon birds in the library rooms yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The lecture was held under the auspices of the C. B. C., of the Methodist church, the proceeds being for the benefit of the library. The rooms were nicely filled with an appreciative audience which enjoyed Miss Tracy's talk upon the American songsters.

The work of putting up the stone wall along Park avenue, near the mill, has not been started yet. The winter storms have cut a gully through the sidewalk several feet deep. This makes the place a dangerous spot for pedestrians. Should an accident occur, the North Plainfield township would no doubt have a heavy suit for damages to defend.

The Cooper-Riley tribes of gypsies, who are camping on Mountain avenue, near the bridge, attended the funeral services of their late queen, Mrs. Riley, held Monday afternoon in Plainfield. Nearly the entire membership of both tribes turned out to pay their homage to their late leader, only a corporal guard being left to take care of the camp.

The borough is still without a Justice of the Peace. Borough Collector Charles Sheelen, who was elected at the spring election, refuses to qualify, so the residents will have to look to Scotch Plains again when they are seeking justice.

Judge Clark fined Anthony Schwalbach $4 for swearing on the street Saturday morning. Schwalbach was feeling the effects of holiday potations when the Judge passed by, and the latter ordered him under arrest.

The proposed trolley extension from Park avenue, Plainfield, to Oak Tree and Metuchen does not bring very much satisfaction to South Plainfielders.

Four new wells will be driven by the Middlesex Water Company at the pumping station as soon as the machinery can be placed there.

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

IN WOMAN'S REALM.

Novelties In Parasols—Trimmings of Gold and Silver Braid.

Pastel shades are pretty trimmed with gold or silver galloon.

Many of the pretty new house frocks are trimmed with plaited muslin or chiffon and loops or buttons of gold braid.

Scarfs of embroidered chiffon will be used with thin summer gowns to protect the shoulders.

There is nothing very new in parasols. The return of the hat with a crown is probably responsible for the longer handles. Shaded parasols promise to be in vogue again. Checked taffeta parasols, blue and white, brown and white, black and white and red and white, are ultra smart for morning wear. They are trimmed with borders composed of a narrow band of satin about a third of an inch wide.

WIDOW'S GOWN.

The handles are of finely polished wood carved quaintly to resemble flowers.

Black and white parasols are going to be a good deal used this summer, as always, and also coaching parasols of solid brown.

Our old friend the shirt waist has not deserted us this year. Whatever modistes may say, this dainty little piece of tucking and stitching will remain with us just as long as we continue to wear coat and skirt costumes. Of course the shirt waist has its place. A well dressed woman wears an entire gown for the theater or a reception, but for comfort and smartness on the street in summer or winter nothing can compare with the shirt waist worn with a neatly fitting tailor made. The new shirt waists are long on the shoulder and a trifle fuller in the lower part of the sleeves. Some of them, indeed, have a tight fitting under seam piece, into which is fulled the upper half from the elbow. Clusters of tucks are much used and also the flat box plaits carefully stitched.

The illustration shows a widow's gown of cashmere trimmed with crape.

FASHION NEWS.

Colors Now Being Worn in Paris. Quaint Trimmings For Dresses.

Hats of rose straw are among the spring novelties. These are trimmed with straw roses and loops of straw.

Blue is much worn from the darkest to the lightest shades. Pale green will become more and more popular as warmer days approach. Mauves and purples relieved with cream white are the fashion in crepe de chines and foulards. The darker grays in soft silks, relieved with cut steel buckles and buttons, promise to be even more the fashion than the lighter shades.

Some of the new light cloth gowns show old fashioned black velvet trimmings, and others have equally old fashioned decorations of kilted taffeta outlined with gold or silver thread and set into a floral design.

CREPE DE CHINE WAIST.

Gold and silver braid and buttons are to be seen on many costumes this season, both on dressy ones and on serges and cheviot. Chief among those seen recently was a pongee made with many tucks and a suspicion of oriental embroidery. The wide girdle was clasped with a wide gilt buckle, and tiny beautifully worked gold buttons appeared on the waist and sleeves.

The picture shows a crepe de chine waist trimmed with fagoting and heavy medallion lace.

NEWCHWANG PANIC

Russian Garrison Opens Fire on Merchant Ships.

RESISTING SUPPOSED NIGHT ATTACK

Defenders of Town Had Been Warned to Expect Japanese Warships. Russia Protests Against Jap Officers In Chinese Army.

LONDON, April 12.—A Newchwang dispatch says some heavy firing was done by the forts during the night. The garrison misunderstood flash signals made at the mouth of the river for the purpose of enabling ships to go to sea. Thinking the signals came from the enemy, the fort opened fire upon the pilot boats and merchant vessels outward bound, causing much excitement on board and among the troops ashore.

An official explanation of the firing of guns from the forts is that, owing to the fact that the officers of the garrison did not understand the system of customs flash signals used for the purpose of signaling the depth of the water on the bar to enable ships to put to sea, fire was opened at some pilot boats and outward bound merchantmen. These vessels were sighted by the forts after midnight, and at 12:30 the artillery opened fire.

During the excitement among the troops a sentry fired and killed two Chinese sampan men opposite the foreign settlement, three miles from the forts. The two had become alarmed at the firing and endeavored to cross the river.

In view of the reports received here of Japanese activity in Korea and of the arrival of Japanese troops on the Yalu river it is understood that the troops of the garrison had been fully warned that it was possible the Japanese would make an attack on this place. Citizens hearing the firing supposed that the attempt was being made last night.

A St. Petersburg report says M. Lessar, the Russian minister at Peking, has made strong representations to the Chinese government on the subject of the Japanese military instructors in the service of China and the Japanese officers with General Ma's army, demanding the issuance of orders for their dismissal. Russia regards their continued presence a most serious threat to her.

M. Pavloff, recently Russian minister to Korea, has returned to Tientsin. He will proceed to Mukden on Tuesday next for the purpose of assisting Viceroy Alexeieff.

Exceptionally reliable information regarding the Russian military plans is that the plan of campaign will not mature until late in the summer. They are of far greater magnitude than is generally believed abroad and take into account all possible contingencies.

General Kuropatkin, remembering the experience of Russia during her war with Turkey, when the Russian army of 30,000 placed in the field at the beginning had to be more than doubled, has insisted that the men and guns to be placed at his disposal shall cover the extreme limit required to settle the fate of the campaign.

The Russian plans are to be worked upon Napoleon's dictum that "God fights on the side of the heaviest battalions," and they are being planned and timed so as to apply to a superiority of numbers on land and sea simultaneously. The army is designed to attain the enormous total of half a million at the time scheduled for the reenforcement of Vice Admiral Makaroff's fleet with the Baltic squadron. The Seventeenth and Tenth army corps now drafting are expected to reach Manchuria by the middle of June. The mobilization of four other corps, at least two of which will be from the Volga, will be announced by the middle of next month and will start eastward a month later, reaching their destination at the end of August.

Rear Admiral Rojestvensky will hoist his flag as commander of the formidable Baltic squadron early in July and will sail immediately for Port Arthur with a large and powerful fleet.

General Kuropatkin intends to have the Caucasian mountaineers operate in Korea, which they will enter when it is considered that the decisive moment has arrived to drive out the Japanese, which will not be before August.

A Seoul dispatch says it is believed that the Russians north of the Yalu are not sufficiently numerous to withstand the Japanese advance for any considerable distance beyond the river.

Heavy rains have flooded the railways and blocked the roads throughout southern Manchuria. The field telegraphs have been interrupted, and the country is impassable.

Russian officers at Newchwang consider that Japan lost the chance of occupying that town, where the defenses are now amply sufficient to repulse attacks.

Government Grafter on Trial.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The case of J. M. A. Watson, formerly a clerk in the office of Auditor Petty of the District of Columbia government, indicted for embezzlement of District funds, was called for trial in the criminal court. Two of the three indictments were consolidated to expedite the trial. The session was devoted to the impaneling of a jury, and eighty additional talesmen have been summoned.

Must Have Been Insane.

DELHI, La., April 12.—Henry McDaniel, colored, went to the house of his father-in-law, Rev. A. B. Flood, a well known minister, and, calling his wife to the door, shot her dead. He then shot his mother-in-law fatally and finally sent a bullet through his own heart.

BELL DEFIES COURT

Adjutant General Says Soldiers Will Protect Him.

"REIGN OF MILITARY DESPOTISM"

Judge Stevens Regretted Governor Was Not Before the Court, as He Was Equally Guilty With the Two Officers.

OURAY, Colo., April 12. — District Judge Theron Stevens has declared Adjutant General Sherman M. Bell and Captain Bulkley Wells to be in contempt of court for not complying with the writ of habeas corpus which required the officers to bring before the court Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, whom they are holding in confinement at Telluride.

General Bell, through Assistant District Attorney David Howe of Telluride, excused his failure to produce Mr. Moyer on the ground that he deemed it unsafe to bring Moyer to Ouray or to reduce the military force in San Miguel county by so doing and that the governor had ordered him to disregard the writ.

Judge Stevens said:

"The people of Ouray will rightly resent the imputation that General Bell or Captain Wells could not come alone and in safety with President Moyer before this court.

"A very grave question is presented as to whether it is the striking miners or the governor of Colorado and the national guard that are engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the laws of the state.

"If there is to be a reign of military despotism in this state and civil authority is to have no jurisdiction, the latter might as well go out of business."

Judge Stevens refused to permit the filing of the return to the writ, ordered that Charles H. Moyer be discharged from custody, issued an order of attachment against General Bell and Captain Wells, assessed a fine of $500 each and expressed regret that the governor was not before the court, as he held him equally guilty with General Bell and Captain Wells.

A Telluride dispatch says that when General Sherman M. Bell was informed that Judge Stevens had ordered himself and Captain Wells confined in the Ouray county jail for contempt he said:

"If Sheriff Corbett takes us to Ouray, it will have to be over the dead bodies of all the soldiers under my command in this county. He has not men enough to do that. The situation demands that we stay in Telluride.

"Mr. Moyer will never be produced in court until Governor Peabody orders me to produce him, unless he escapes and gets over the range on snowshoes."

Fay Planned the Whole Game.

CHICAGO, April 12.—With the arrest of Eddie Fay, postoffice Inspector James E. Stuart thinks the mystery as to the identity of the men who some months ago robbed the Chicago postoffice of $74,000 in stamps has been fully cleared up. Inspector Stuart said that he was sure Fay planned the whole affair and profited most by it. Fay is now in jail at Superior, Wis., and is to be tried for robbing the postoffice there. Of the others implicated in the robbery "Bud" Houlihan is in the penitentiary at Raleigh, N. C., Tom Burke and "Australian Mac" are at large and Joe Hopkins is dead, having been killed by Dan Kipley in a fight over a woman. Inspector Stuart says it is not likely that any of the stolen stamps will ever be recovered.

Charged With Robbing Harvard Men

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 12. — J. L. Bancroft and Stanley E. Estabrook, each twenty-three years of age, were arrested charged with breaking and entering and larceny at Harvard university dormitories. Two others, Kenneth H. Wade and Thomas A. J. Hodgson, had been previously arrested on similar charges. All four men were arraigned in the district court, but the case was continued until April 23. The police said that they had recovered $1,000 worth of jewelry and other articles from the rooms of Bancroft and Estabrook.

Shot Others; Himself Shot Dead.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 12.—E. P. McDonald, a well known young man, of prominent family, who has killed two men and figured in several sensational shooting affairs, was shot and instantly killed by Alex Lawson, an employee of the L. and N. railroad, in a street fight here. Lawson was also shot and badly, though not fatally, wounded. The affair has created a sensation.

Bank Not Sure of Paying 33 Per Cent

PONCA CITY, Okla., April 12.—The Citizens' bank here has closed its doors, on which the directors posted this notice: "On account of sudden withdrawals of deposits and a failure to make collections we deem it best to close the bank so as to give all a fair chance." It is thought that the bank will be able to pay 33 cents on the dollar, but this is not authentic.

Mrs. Carnegie's Offer.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Mrs. Andrew Carnegie has offered to equal the highest donation to the Speedwell Country Homes' society for the opening of a tuberculosis camp for the poor children of the tenements within easy reach of New York city. D. I. Reid has promised to be one of twenty to subscribe $5,000.

James W. Hinkley Dead.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 12.—James W. Hinkley, former chairman of the Democratic state committee, died suddenly at his home in this city last night of apoplexy.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Bert Moore, who played with the Alis Club ball team last year, will be seen with the Somerville team this season.

Manager H. C. Smith, of the Orange Field Club nine, still has a few open dates and would like to hear from uniformed teams.

The Plainfield High School is scheduled to play a game of baseball with the Newark Academy team tomorrow. The latter team is one of the strongest among the State school nines.

The High School baseball nine will play Newark at Newark tomorrow. The first home game for Plainfield will be played Saturday on Crescent Oval with a class team from Rutgers College.

George Mallon, captain of the Westfield baseball team, has been doing great things with his Poughkeepsie team this season. Mallon has been with this team five or six years in the forepart of the season and it gives him good practice for the rest of the year.

Amos Rusie, at one time the best known baseball pitcher in the country and a member of the New York National League team, is now working in the West as a carpenter for $1.50 per day. It is claimed that owing to his avoidupois he will probably never play baseball again.

Manager Charles H. Denman, of the Westfield baseball team, reports that his team is in fine condition and ready to open the season on April 23 with the Seventh Regiment team, of New York. Mr. Denman says he hopes that the Alis Club will have a strong team so that there will be plenty of rivalry between the two towns.

John Ramsey, who made an enviable record last season pitching for the well-known High Bridge baseball team, is now with the Jersey City Eastern League team. This week he has been getting into condition by daily practice. It is believed that he will continue his good work in the league and prove a valuable pitcher.

A person who is constantly in touch with baseball matters at Scotch Plains, says that that town may yet have a team, notwithstanding recent action. He says that there are a few live sporting men in the town who are anxious to go ahead and get a team. Grounds have been leased and there is a good sum in the treasury which those in charge are not disposed to divide among those who apparently would like to get the money and have no team.

St. Mary's Baseball Club is still marking time. There is talk of meeting every twenty-four hours, but for a week nothing in this direction has been done. Murmurs of dissatisfaction are beginning to be heard from the rank and file, who see danger of a complete fizzle in the delay. If the wise ones know the truth of matters, there is certainly danger that St. Mary's will have a lot of trouble now getting good semi-professional players. All the good ones seemed to have been signed. It is beginning to look as if the club must go in with the Hobokens.

Attractive literature is being sent out by the Westfield Baseball Club announcing the various games to be played. The team is referred to as "The Big Show, bigger, brighter and better than ever." also that the association has "prestige, plant, players, popular plan and permanency." The opening overture will be on Saturday, April 23, with the Seventh N. Y. Regiment team. On April 30 the Chathams will play at Westfield and on May 7, the Murray Hills will oppose Denman's "colts." After that there will be "a stretch of the best all through the 'good old summer time.'"

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Fifteen entries have been received for the Y. M. C. A. championship tournament which will close the bowling season for the association.

Arrangements have been made for a bowling match between the Hope Chapel team and the Y. M. C. A. rollers tomorrow night. The match will be rolled at the chapel.

ALIS CLUB MATTERS.

Directors Meet, But Don't Tell What They Discuss.

The directors of the Alis Club held a special meeting at the clubhouse last night. According to the by-laws and constitution of the club George Johnson, not being a member of the club, could not be chosen manager of the baseball team even should the members want him. It would require two weeks at least to make him a member and as yet his proposition has not been received. It is certain that the club will put one of the strongest teams in the field, one that will in every way be a worthy foe of Westfield and other like teams.

Row at Jensen's Hotel.

Walter Vanetto, colored, was arrested in Jensen's Hotel on Somerset street last night, after a row with the landlord, Charles Jensen, in which Jensen was thrown to the floor and severely manled. The negro became aangry over a dispute at the pool table and resisted the proprietor when the latter attempted to eject him. It is charged that Vanetto bit Jensen in the arm twice. He will be arraigned in the borough court tonight.

Fake Pictures.

No greater "fake" has ever been perpetrated on the reading public than is represented in the war pictures that are appearing daily in the newspapers throughout the country. Most of them are drawn by incompetent artists in back rooms in New York city and syndicated at prices that the materials of which the cuts are made would bring in the average junk shop.—Trenton State Gazette.

DRUGGISTS' MEET IN ANNUAL SESSION

Union County Association Chooses Frank Rowley, of This City, As Its President.

THE NEW OFFICERS

DISSCUSION OF STANDARD COMBINATION OF DRUGS.

Trade Journal to be Supplied Each Member—Mr. Cadmus is Elected to Membership—The Organization is Prosperous.

Dispensers of pellets and pills from all over the county gathered here yesterday afternoon to attend the annual meeting of the Union County Druggists' Association. There was a good-sized and representative gathering, which met in the Y. M. C. A. building.

As usual, the Plainfield pharmacists were prominent in the session. T. S. Armstrong, who has been president for three years, and B. J. Shaw, who served as treasurer for the same period, were tendered renominations, but excused themselves from further service.

Another Plainfield man, Frank Rowley, was elected to the presidency. George Horning, of Elizabeth, was made vice president; J. C. Smith, of Rahway, was elected secretary, for the fourth time, and William Reickert, of Elizabeth, was elected to succeed Mr. Shaw as treasurer.

A lot of routine business was transacted. Usually a part of the meeting is devoted to some scientific paper and a discussion on its contents, but the press of business was so great at yesterday's session that no time was available for this feature. Trade matters, such as the make-up of prescriptions and standard combinations of drugs, were discussed at length.

It was voted to make the "Apothecary and New England Druggist" the official paper of the organization. This publication is conducted by practical pharmacists, and is controlled by an organization including over a 100 drug men. The Association voted to subscribe it for every druggist in the county.

Mr. Cadmus, the senior member of the firm that succeeded E. S. F. Randolph in the drug business at Watchung and North avenues, was elected to membership.

During the past year the association has held its own, several new members taking the places of those who died. Financially the organization is strong.

DR. R. R. SINCLAIR WEDS

NUPTIAL CEREMONY AT WESTFIELD, DR. ARD BEING BEST MAN.

Miss Beatrice Merwin Hanan and Dr. Robert Rees Sinclair, both of Westfield, were married there last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Orth, in the presence of a large number of guests. The home was attractively decorated with the season's flowers. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, formerly pastor of the Methodist church, Westfield, but now presiding elder of the Jersey City District, assisted by Rev. Dr. G. F. Greene, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Mrs. George Taylor, of Westfield, as matron-of-honor, and these bridesmaids: The Misses Banker, of Elizabeth; Miss Mabel Grove, of Philadelphia, and Miss May Innes, of Easton, Pa., while Miss Dorothy Day, of Westfield, was flower girl.

Dr. F. C. Ard, of this city, was best man, and the ushers were S. R M. Englis, of Danbury, Conn., and H. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield. The bride was given away by her brother, Richard Hanan.

A reception followed the wedding and later in the evening the couple left on a honeymoon trip. When they return they will live in Westfield, where Dr. Sinclair is a successful practicing physician.

Sides had been taken by the members of the society, one captained by Mrs. N. W. Pike and the other by Mrs. L M. French. Mrs. Pike and her followers were victorious, adding forty-three to the membership list to twenty for Mrs. French's workers. The defeated side will, according to agreement, tender the victors and the new members a luncheon Wednesday, April 20.

The train will consist of three sleepers, a dining car and baggage car and about 100 are expected to make the pilgrimage. Many side trips have been provided for and no detail which will contribute to the enjoyment of the trip has been overlooked by those in charge.

MEMORIAL DAY FOR PYTHIANS

CRESCENT CO., NO. 13, U. R., K. OF P., MAKES ARRANGEMENTS FOR DAY.

First steps in the arrangements for the approaching memorial day annually observed by the uniformed knights were taken by Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. P., at a business meeting last night.

Memorial Day will be on June 19. As in previous years the knights will march in uniform from cemetery to cemetery, in this city and Scotch Plains, to decorate the graves of dead Pythians.

It was voted last night that the command go in a body to Portchester, N. Y., on June 5, to decorate the grave of Harvey L Patterson. He was killed in the Westfield wreck.

INCREASED LICENSE FEE PLEA TUESDAY

WANT A RAISE TO $600

DELEGATION OF NORTH PLAINFIELDERS TO BE PRESENT.

Liquor Men Have Not Organized to Oppose Council's Movement—Judge Schenck Informed on the Question.

Every arrangement has been made by Corporation Counsel Reed, of the borough, for his appearance before Judge Schenck in the county court in Somerville to plead for an advance in the saloon license rate in North Plainfield, in accordance with the strongly worded resolution recently passed by the Borough Council. Mr. Reed will ask the court to set the fee at $600.

Next Tuesday is the date set for the hearing in the matter. The day was chosen by Judge Schenck himself and he will come to court prepared to give the question full and careful consideration. Judge Schenck has not been in ignorance of the sentiment in the borough and the action taken by the Council, and he has posted himself pretty thoroughly on the question of license advance already. It is believed that favorable action is certain.

Corporation Counsel Reed said last night that he, for one, was confident Judge Schenck would consent to the increase. Coming with the weight of an unanimous vote of the Council back of him, Mr. Reed is sure that his arguments for the increase will have a lot of weight with the Court. More than the action of the Council, however, is the undoubted preponderance of sentiment in the borough in favor of the advance, of which Judge Schenck can scarcely be unaware.

It is extremely probable that Corporation Counsel Reed will be accompanied by a delegation of representative citizens who are actively in favor of the increase. Although no arrangements have been made for the organization of a delegation, several well-known men, including Councilman Lee, have declared their intention of being in court when the matter comes up.

No action in regard to the proposed increase has been taken by the liquor men, at least as far as can be seen. They have made no utterances, individually or collectively, and if they are working against the advance their moves are being made with the greatest secrecy.

MAD DOG CAUSES TROUBLE

BIRD FAMILY HELD AT BAY UNTIL THE SAVAGE CANINE IS SHOT.

Chased about the house and finally driven outdoors by a mad dog, the family of Lewis Bird, of Duer street, was thrown into a lot of excitement late last night. Nobody was bitten, but the brute had things pretty much his own way until Officer Sherman ended its frenzy with a bullet.

The dog, a family pet, went mad suddenly at about 10 o'clock. It leaped about the room, frothing at the mouth, yapping and snapping wildly. Mr. Bird tried to quiet it at first, but the dog was completely crazed, and rushed about the house in the traditional manner. Terrified by the animal's actions, the family finally bolted for the street, and left the dog in complete control of the house.

Officer Sherman was brought to the scene a short time after, and he went in after the brute with drawn revolver. The dog wasn't hard to locate, and the unterrified cop shot it dead before it could reach him.

Then the Bird family heaved a concerted sigh of relief, and resumed possession of their home.

TWO YOUNG MEN DISAPPEAR FROM HOME

The Absence of Briant Johnston and Thomas Sellers Worries Their Relatives.

A HASTY DEPARTURE

THE PRESENT WHEREABOUTS OF THE PAIR UNKNOWN.

Not the Result of Dime Novel Reading—Neither Took Very Much Money—Home Life of Both Said to be Pleasant.

Wearying probably of the tameness of life in quiet Scotch Plains and possessed by a desire to see something of the world, two young men of the village have strangely disappeared. Without saying a word to their families, Briant Johnston and Thomas Sellers left their home Monday and no word of their whereabouts have been received by their much worried parents. It is said that the pair confided to their friends that Philadelphia was to be their first stopping place, that from there they intended to go to several other cities, possibly never to return.

Both boys are nearly twenty years of age. Johnston has always been quiet and industrious. He has been learning the trade of his father, William D. Johnston, mason and contractor Sellers is the son of Mrs. George Dorne and has been variously employed about town. His pranks have several times brought him before Justice Clark, though he has never been charged with any serious offense. The home life of both has been pleasant and neither has been a dime novel reader.

The last seen of the boys was when they took a car for this city about 11 o'clock Monday morning. It is said that, while waiting for a car, they told some companions they were bidding good-bye to the 'Plains and starting out to see the world. It is known that they did not carry a very large amount of money with them.

VANNETTO'S SENTENCE.

Colored Disturbance Maker is Given His Just Dues by Recorder Doud in Borough Court.

Unable to put in any defense against the charge of disorderly conduct made by Charles Jensen, the hotel keeper whom he struck and bit Monday night, Walter Vannetto, colored, whose arrest was noted in yesterday's Daily Press, was fined $15 or fifteen days by Recorder Doud in the borough court last night. Vannetto has been up before the court several times before, and the Recorder scored him severely in passing sentence. He was told that if he appeared in the borough court again his sentence would be much heavier. Vannetto had no money last night, and if the fine is not paid by this afternoon he will be taken to Somerville.

EXEMPTS' EVENT.

Plainfield Firemen Make Merry in Their Park Avenue Headquarters by Holding a Smoker.

A jolly time of strictly informal nature was enjoyed by the Exempt Firemen's Association in their hall on Park avenue last night. The old firefighters spent a couple of hours in a smoker arranged by President V. W. Nash. Capacious clay pipes were passed around, and a plentious store of tobacco was handy. Chat was enjoyed while the pipes burned up the sweet and soothing granulated weed, and the Exempts had as much fun out of the comfortable little smoker as a long programme and much speech-making could have afforded.

The International Convention.

The international Y. M. C. A. convention will be held this year at Buffalo, N. Y., from Wednesday, May 11, through Sunday, May 15. There will be a large number of delegates from this city, it is hoped. Among them will be Stepehn Cahoone, president of the association, F. H. Andrews and William D. Murray. All part of North America will be represented at the gathering, and also China, Japan and India.

The Boys' Banquet.

The second annual banquet for the members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., will take place this year at the association building, Tuesday, May 3. It is probable that addresses will be made by several interesting speakers and every effort will be made by Secretary Kenneth Robbie and those assisting him to give the boys a memorable evening.

GARBAGE COLLECTION MEASURE TOO LATE

Draft of Bill Allowing City to Raise Funds by Taxation for the System Not Introduced.

PRESENTS ONE BILL

MEASURE FILED ALLOWING TAXATION FOR POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Understood That Purpose of Latter Proposed Act is to Bring About Needed Relief From Burden on General Appropriation.

For the special benefit of Plainfield and with the apparent purpose of assisting the Common Council in the solution of the municipal collection of garbage, Assemblyman Moffett introduced a bill in the Assembly yesterday providing for a tax of one-quarter of one per cent. in cities for maintenance of police departments.

It is believed here that the purpose is to provide money for the maintenance of the police department and allow the money now appropriaed from the general fund for that department to be applied to the work of municipal collection and disposal of garbage. It is said that this would afford one feasible method of securing this improvement for Plainfield and the police department would be cared for by a direct tax.

Evidently believing that the special session of the Legislature would last more than one day, those interested in the bill which was drafted by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh at the request of the Council to be introduced at this session of the Legislature, failed to get the proposed measure into the hands of Assemblyman Moffett until this morning. The draft of the bill was left at Mr. Moffett's home last night while he was in Trenton, and of course nothing could be done regarding it.

The measure provides that the city shall have the right to raise and appropriate money for the municipal collection of garbage and that there shall be no Legislative restriction as to the amount beyond the limitations of the State law.

FORMER FIREMEN ELECT

NORTH PLAINFIELD VOLUNTEERS COMPLETE ORGANIZATION.

Organization of the North Plainfield Firemen's Exempt Associattion was completed last night at a meeting of the ex-members of Warren and West End Companies. There is a charter membership of over forty, and twenty-five or more are expected.

Officers were elected as follows: President, George Fairchild; first vice president, Charles Keller; second vice president, J. J. Stahl; treasurer, Jacob Higgins; financial secretary, William Debele; recording secretary, David Bodine. Trustees: Dennis Baglin, Lambert Bodine, William Pasch. Representatives to the State organization: David Bodine, William Demarest, Charles Keller.

The association will meet on the second Tuesday of each month. Benefits will be paid to exempts. Later the organization will affiliate formally with the State association.

WORKING FOR A SCHOOL SITE

BOROUGH BOARD ALSO MAKES PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT.

More discussion in regard to the proposed new school was held by the North Plainfield Board of Education at a special meeting last night. It was decided to go into the matter of site location thoroughly, and the building committee and other members of the Board were authorized to secure options.

The date for commencement is June 17. Prof. Louis Bevier, of Rutgers, a speaker of remarkable eloquence and force, has been secured as the orator of the occasion. The exercises will be held, as heretofore, in Y. M. C. A. Hall. September 13 was set as the date for reopening after the summer vacation.

Miss Wood's Wedding.

Invitations have been issued by Francis Wood, of Franklin place, to the marriage of his daughter, Miss Minnie Wood, to Ralph K. Harvey, to be celebrated on Saturday, April 30, 12 o'clock noon at the Church of the Ascension, New York.

SETTLING OF RICE'S ESTATE

WASHINGTON HALL BUILDING A PART OF THE MURDERED MAN'S PROPERTY.

It is expected that on Tuesday, April 19, the affairs of the estate of the late W. M. Rice will be settled in the Somerset county courts, and soon afterward work will be started to put Washington Hall building in thorough repair. This valuable piece of property, located on West Second street, belongs to the Rice estate, but nothing can be done with it until the certain matters are settled in the court.

Just now the local representative for the hall is Borough Collector George F. Brown and he is looking after the interests of the property, under the direction of Former Judge Bartine, of Somerville, one of the executors of the estate.

LINDABURY FOR CHAIRMAN

SELECTED TO PRESIDE OVER THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic State committee will meet in Trenton tomorrow night and is expected to decide upon the men who will go before the convention as delegates at large.

Former Senator Smith is slated for chairman of the State delegation to St. Louis. He will be one of the delegates-at-large. His associates as such will probably be Robert Davis, of Hudson; Johnston Cornish, of Warren, and either former Judge Howard Carrow or State Senator Thomas M. Ferrell, as the representative of South Jersey.

In the selection of Richard V. Lindabury for the chairmanship of the State convention tomorrow, at which the delegation to the St. Louis convention will be named, some Democrats believe they can forsee a desire on the part of the party leaders to bring Mr. Lindabury forward prominently at this time so that he may be called upon, perhaps, to become the standard bearer of the party in the gubernatorial fight of this year.

Mr. Lindabury is one of the foremost lawyers in the State and is a former resident of this city.

All the delegates to the Democratic State Convention for the election of National Convention delegates in this county will meet for caucus in Elizabeth tonight. The Plainfield delegates is expected to be there to a man.

Of the nine men from here, seven are recognized as Hearst supporters. These seven will be led by Frank Shattle, the engineer-in-chief of the Hearst boom in this city. The majority of the delegates throughout the county are claimed by the Hearst men, according to J. D. McAleer, an ardent Hearst supporter, but the real fact is that the Congressman's few friends were badly beaten.

The delegates will go to Trenton tomorrow, when the convention is to be held. The Plainfielders will leave early in the forenoon.

At a meeting of the Hearst Club Friday night the delegates will report on the proceedings of the convention. It is probable that the club will take steps for another mass meeting in the interest of its candidate.

REPETITION OF PROGRAMME

AUDIENCE AMUSED BY TRINITY REFORMED JUNIOR ENDEAVORERS.

There was a big turn-out for the repetition of the entertainment of the Junior C. E. Society, of Trinity Reformed church last night. The affair was originally given March 17 and proved so amusing as to make the demand for having it repeated general. The young people all did themselves proud.

The feature of the entertainment was again "The Sniggles Family," a humorous sketch in which Mrs. Sniggles and eight daughters in comical costumes figured. The parts were cleverly taken as follows: Mother, Annie Randall; daughters, Ida Tier, coquette; Violet VanWinkle, hay fever patient, Helen Smith, Beulah VanWinkle, Edna Force, Ida VanArsdale, Cora Gano, Edna Dilts. The other numbers on the programme consisted of songs, two soprano solos were very pleasingly sung by Miss Florence R. Bennett. Miss Violet VanWinkle, president of the society; Harold Schenck, vice president, and Mrs. J. M. Tier, the superintendent, were in general charge of the entertainment. A silver offering was made for missionary purposes.

—Miss Mabel Stewart has resigned her position with the Crescent Embossing Company to take a place as typewriter in New York.

POSTPONEMENT OF PARK'S THEATRICALS

Plays to be Produced by Amateur Talent on Tuesday Night, April 26.

CASTES ANNOUNCED

PROCEEDS TO BE USED FOR CLUB-HOUSE FURNISHING FUND.

Mrs. Charles A. Reed Supervising Arrangements—The Gypsy Dance to be a Prominent Feature —The Plays.

Instead of holding their theatricals last night as originally intended, the members of the Park Club will give the entertainment Tuesday night, April 26. The programme will be the same as announced for last night, excepting that "My Turn Next" a comedy by Thomas J. Williams, will be played instead of John Kendrick Bangs' farce, "The Bicyclers."

"My Turn Next" is said to be a laugh-producer of exceptional merit. It is for laughing purposes only, although giving excellent opportunities for good comedy work. That these opportunities will not be neglected, the following competent cast is proof: "Taraxicum Twitters," a village apothecary, Walter M. McGee; "Timbolus," his professional assistant, C. E. Murray; "William Strap," a traveller, Clarence Case; "Farmer Wheatear," from Banbury-Utility, S. F. Weaver; "Lydia," Twitter's wife, Mrs. S. F. Weaver; "Cecily," her sister, Mrs. E. T. Wilson; "Peggy," Twitter's maid, servant and housekeeper, Miss Mabel Vandeventer.

The other play, a short sketch, will be given as originally planned. Its title is "Too Many Cooks" and it is a breezy little farce, cleverly written. It is really a duologue, the merits of a specific servant girl problem receiving an excited discussion from "Mrs. Ingleby," a part taken by Miss Helen Phillips, and "Miss Maude Cheney," acted by Miss Isabelle Milne. This will serve as a curtain-raiser.

Between the plays, as already announced, there will be a gypsy dance, performed by eight men and eight women. The dancers are being trained by Miss Davenport, of Newark.

The entertainment is planned for the benefit of the fund to pay for the club's new furnishings. It is in charge of the entertainment committee, most of the cares of preparation being assumed by Mrs. Charles A. Reed. Dancing will follow the theatricals with music by Westervelt's orchestra, of Newark.

W. G. BESLER NOT TO LEAVE

HIS LEASING ANOTHER HOUSE IN NORTH PLAINFIELD IS SIGNIFICANT.

W. G. Besler, the Central Railroad vice president and general manager, has made arrangements to move from former Mayor Fisk's house at 16 Rockview avenue to a house owned by W. J. Buttfield on the same street, opposite Mr. Buttfield's own residence. The change will take place the first of the month.

This action on Mr. Besler's part is taken to indicate that he has positively decided to continue in the Central management, although he has not definitely announced this in connection with the reports that he is to become the president of the Erie road.

Another nail in the coffin of the Erie rumor was driven by President Baer, of the Jersey Central, yesterday. He denied positively that Mr. Besler is to leave the Central.

July 4th Plans.

Albert Perry is steadily planning the details of the Prideville Fourth of July celebration announced two weeks ago. All the G. A. R. and U. V. U. posts in this section will be invited, and a patriotic address will be delivered to them at 1 o'clock in the grove. A dancing platform is to be erected, and the young people will have music to keep them interested after the Independence Day programme is completed. It is expected that a parade by the veterans will be a feature of the celebration.

Birthday Surprise.

A pleasant birthday surprise party was given in honor of Miss Ethel VanNess at her home on Watchung avenue, Monday evening, April 11. The evening was spent by playing various games and dancing. Refreshments were served at a late hour. There were thirty-five guests.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Tom Breese, of West Second street, has resigned his position from the Potter plant.

Walter Babcock, of Clinton avenue, has taken a position at the Scott Press Company's works.

Gus Williams, of North avenue, who has been severely ill for the past three weeks, is convalescing.

"Frankie" Droll, of Stebbins place, has resigned his position from the Potter Press Company's works.

Erick Erickson, formerly an employe at the Potter plant, has taken a position at the Pedrick-Ayer shop.

The miners in Latrobe, Pa., are still on strike. The coal operators allege that the men will return to work by Thursday.

At the bi-weekly meeting of the International Machinists Union Monday night two new members were elected and one was reinstated. Several applications were received.

AMUSEMENTS.

Following "The Girl With the Green Eyes," another Henry W. Savage offering will be the attraction at the Grand, making the third of the great American manager's shows that has been seen over here this season. "Peggy from Paris," that clever successor to George Ade's initial effort "The Sultan of Sulu," will be the bill and it seems sure to repeat the splendid impression created by "The Sultan" and "The Prince of Pilsen." With the engagement of "Peggy From Paris," at the Grand, week of April 18, there will be four Savage shows playing in New York, and each one a hugh success.

Richard Carle and his new musical comedy, "The Tenderfoot," have had their run at the New York Theatre extended indefinitely. This bright yoo comedian and his play have made one of the great hits of the year in New York and the theatre in which they are appearing is packed at every performance. The engagement was originally for six weeks and Wright Lorimer in "The Shepherd King" was to follow. The packed houses and the demand for seats far in advance showed that a genuine hit had been made and Mr. Lorimer was transferred to the Knickerbocker Theatre. It is confidently predicted that Mr. Carle and "The Tenderfoot" will run far into warm weather.

"The County Chairman," at Wallack's Theatre, New York, will reach its 175th metropolitan representation with the matinee performance today. The long run of George Ade's capital comedy has shown a singular evenness in the matter of attendance—a fact due mainly to the limitations of the auditorium, which, large as it is, has been almost invariably tested by crowds of eager spectators. This, apparently, is a season when most persons seek entertainments producing laughter, and "The County Chairman's" extraordinary popularity is undoubtedly based upon the incessant mirth that marks its progress from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

Judge Parker as a Boy.

"Resolved, That statesmen help us more than warriors." Judge Parker had the negative in that debate. He wasn't a judge then—just a country schoolboy. The facsimile of the minutes of that meeting of the school debating club in the handwriting of "A. B. Parker, Secretary," is an interesting feature of the life of Judge Parker, told in photographs in next Sunday's New York World. There are lots of other interesting features—how up to-date doctors restore the dead to life, how a woman won $3,500 at Monte Carlo. If Henry Ward Beecher was alive today would he be a Christian Scientist? His granddaughter says he would. She tells why in next Sunday's New York World.

—Arthur Freeman, of Sandford avenue, is now assistant manager of Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort.

—The officials of the Park Golf Club are busily engaged making preparations for opening the season.

—A gang of Italians have been at work repairing the trolley tracks on West Front street, near Grant avenue.

—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a clipping social in the rooms in Madison avenue, tomorrow afternoon. Each woman is requested to bring good reading matter and a pair of scissors. The clippings will be sent to soldiers and sailors.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

If Hearst should happen to be elected, Arthur Brisbane would be president of the United States.—Trenton State Gazette.

Loafing down Market street one day last week, shabby, half-drunk, but one remove from a tramp, was a man who a few years ago was a leading member of the Assembly, from a rural county. He was one of those who came to Trenton with good standing at home and abilities which were patent to all. But he imagined he was smart enough to be a rascal and keep his reputation also, and he became known in the Assembly as a man who could be bought—for a race-track bill, or by a pigeon-shooting club, or by a railroad. He has found his mistake now. There are members of the Legislature of 1904 to whom this man's career is suggested as a melancholy warning.—Newark Sunday Call.

LITERARY.

In the April-June Forum H. Litchfield West's review of the quarter's events in "American Politics" estimates the career of the late Senator Hanna, and discusses the situation in both the parties in relation to the Presidential election. Mr. West reaches the conclusion that "there must be a shaking up of dead bones if the coming campaign is to possess anything of old-time interest and vigor."

The Popular Magazine for April, now on sale, presents as its piece de resistance, a new serial by Max Pemberton, whose previous work as a writer of adventure fiction has won for him an enviable place in literature. The story is entitled "Beatrice, of Venice," and has as a scene Venice at the time when Napoleon was seeking to add it to his growing empire. It is a field particularly adapted to Mr. Pemberton's power of handling situations strong in love and romantic adventure. The number also contains a clever novelette by William Wallace Cook, entitled "Wanted, A Highwayman," and fourteen other fiction features.

The Popular Science Monthly for April contains the following articles: "Recent Discoveries in Radiation and their Significance," by Professor R. A. Millikan; "Evolution of the Human Form," by Charles Morris; "The Arequipa Station of the Harvard Observatory," by Professor Solon I. Bailey; "The Royal Prussian Academy of Science and the Fine Arts, Berlin," by Edward F. Williams; "The Influence of Liebig on Development of Chemical Industries," by Dr. Carl Duisberg; "The Conservation of Energy in those of Advancing Years," by Madison J. Taylor; "The Caucasian in Brazil," by Thomas C. Dawson; "The Air of the Luray Caverns," by Dr. Guy L. Hunner.

The essential unsoundness of practical Christian Science lies here; that a philosophy is proposed which assumes man made purposely for perfect happiness in this dispensation—an assumption at once gratuitous if observation base philosophy, and groundless if Holy Writ be the standard. It is not, as Dr. Wace said in a very different connection, that things ought not to be so explained, but that they cannot be. Mrs. Eddy's opposition to the spirit of the Bible is even more fundamentally heretical than her contradictions of its letter; and the evidence of infidelity to professed standards, corroborating the evidence of historical, philosophical, and scientific weakness, points to the fact—or, if knowledge may never get higher than probability—to the extremely well-founded probability, that Christian Science is, at the best, a long, long way from the truth.—John W. Churchman, in the April Atlantic.

SOCIAL AT THE GRACE M. E.

GOLDEN RULE CIRCLE, K. D., AFFORDS A PLEASANT TIME.

Success in large measure attended the sociable of the Golden Rule Circle, King's Daughters, of Grace M. E. church, last night. It was attended by many of the church members and their friends.

The affair passed off most delightfully. There was no formal programme, and the pleasant informality that characterized the sociable was greatly enjoyed. Round games and music were the features of the forepart of the evening, and a sale of ice cream and cake was the closing feature.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Anna Most, Mrs. Dyckman Winckler and Mrs. Charles Harden. They were assisted in serving the cream and cake by the following young ladies: Miss Steiner, Miss Clara VanFleet, Miss Grace Clark, Miss Della Voehl, Miss Mary Hoagland, Miss Bertha Stevens, Miss Elizabeth Herman, Miss Ida Fountain and Miss Carrie Tingley.

Miss Hyer, of West Front street, has returned from a visit with relatives at Flemington.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Miller, of East Ninth street, are spending a few days at Atlantic City.

NEGRO IN CONGRESS

Race Question Again Injected by Scott of Kansas.

GROVER CLEVELAND AS A CANDIDATE

Williams Defended Attitude of the South—Names of Parker, Williams and Hearst as Presidential Candidates Brought In.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The race question again was injected into the proceedings of the house of representatives when Mr. Scott (Kan.) delivered a long address, in which he referred to his previous statement that it was current in Kansas that ex-President Cleveland had dined C. H. J. Taylor, a Kansas negro politician. He read several letters from Kansas citizens that it had been Taylor's boast that he had received such social attention from Mr. Cleveland. He also said that Mr. Cleveland while governor of New York had signed a bill providing for mixed schools.

In a spirited reply Mr. Williams (Miss.), the minority leader, defended the attitude of the south toward the negro and said that discussion of the race question by the Republicans was an old game by which when the Republican party found itself confronted with issues that threatened its supremacy it began to wave the bloody shirt.

Mr. Williams, referring to Mr. Bartholdt's statement that President Jefferson had dined a negro, provoked laughter and applause when he said that "every man knows that if the nigger ate at Monticello he ate in Jefferson's kitchen and not at Jefferson's family table." The people of the south were going to lift the negro race gently, sanely and in the proper way. It had the kindliest feeling for the negro.

"You can't deflect us from live pending issues," concluded Mr. Williams. God, he said, had given the colored man to the south as a trust, and that trust should be kept. There was not to be a hybridized south. He wanted the country to know that he was speaking as a southerner, with the best interest at heart of both the white and black inhabitant.

At the instance of Mr. Bartlett (Ga.) a letter from ex-President Cleveland was read, as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Bartlett—I have received a number of inquiries similar to yours touching my invitation to Fred Douglass to a wedding reception and signing while governor of New York a bill providing for mixed schools.

"I do not suppose that Mr. Thomas E. Watson believed or had any reason to believe either of the allegations when he made them. At any rate, they are both utterly and absolutely false.

"I cannot afford to devote a great deal of time in denying such foolish tales. I shall therefore attempt to cover every phase of the subject now and for all time. It so happens that I have never in my official position, either when sleeping or waking, alive or dead, on my head or on my heels, dined, lunched or supped or invited to a wedding reception any colored man, woman or child. If, however, I had decided to do any of these things neither the fear of Mr. Watson or any one else would have prevented me. When I was governor a movement was made in the legislature to abolish separate colored schools in New York city. I opposed the measure, and it failed. I do not find that I interposed a veto and have forgotten the course the matter took, but I know that whatever I did was in favor of maintaining separate colored schools instead of having them mixed."

After its reading Mr. Bartlett said that whenever Mr. Cleveland's name was suggested as a possible candidate of the Democrats for president the Republicans seemed to get very much excited and afraid. Mr. Bartlett added: "I know he will not be nominated. I know, too, that he does not desire to be nominated."

He said he also knew that the Democratic party would nominate some one who was a true Democrat, and he added with some deliberation:

"It is not very difficult now to state who that will be."

"Does the gentleman know who it will be?" inquired Mr. Dalzell.

"Yes," said Mr. Bartlett; "the whole country knows. Judge Parker of New York," which elicited Democratic applause.

Mr. Lacey (Ia.) asked Mr. Bartlett if he was not discourteous to his colleagues, Williams (Miss.) and Hearst (N. Y.).

"I withdraw in the interest of party harmony," ejaculated Mr. Williams, amid a laugh.

Mr. Hearst was not in his seat.

Tucker Is Confident.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 13.—Thomas F. Vahey and Charles H. Innes, counsel for Charles L. Tucker, who is charged with murdering Miss Mabel Page, visited the young man at the Middlesex county jail here. As Mr. Vahey passed from the jail after a conference of an hour or more with Tucker he said: "I found Tucker in the best of spirits. He is absolutely confident that he will be cleared of this charge, and he does not worry about it."

Her Work For Indians Ended.

APPLETON, Wis., April 13.—Miss Caroline Jones, who as an Indian missionary in the fifties worked alone among the wild tribes of this state, particularly in the Lake Winnebago and the Fox river territories, is dead at the age of eighty-one. She narrowly escaped death by fire at the hands of Indians several times and was more than once in captivity.

One best bet—Alton B. Parker.

The North Avenue railroad station is not going to be a lovers' lane for the colored people if the Central's officials can help it.

When the calcium is turned on the Hearst boom at the Democratic convention it will have a yellow effect for the "long green" will be missing by that time.

Senator Childs, of Somerset, refrained from voting on the pigeon bill. It might be well for his constituants to refrain from voting for him when the time comes.

The Hearst contingent is talking of booming James E. Martine as a candidate for delegate to the National convention. That's a bad sign for the Hearst boom, considering the farmer-orator's reputation as a winning number.

A dealer in trunks in Chicago credits his large local and general trade to the fact that he is the only trunk man in town who advertises extensively in the daily papers, says the Philadelphia Record. "I think," he says, "that the custom of travelers alone (due almost exclusively to the newspaper advertising) fully pays the cost of newspaper space."

Interest in the proposed horse show is by no means dying out. Plainfield will have the exhibition at the scheduled time or we miss our guess. Let the promoters of the scheme call a public meeting and interest the business men in it. Let the Board of Trade take hold of the subject and lend its aid in furthering the scheme. Such a show would be a big ad for the city and of the kind that Plainfield needs.

Wanted—Someone who can discover my brains. Address Hearst, care of the Democratic morgue.

Wanted—A running-mate and a National chairman. Also a little cash. Address Strenuous Teddy, Washington, D. C.

Wanted—A few more men to dig up my past history and embellish me as the man of the hour. Address Hill's Aesopus, Near Albany.

Wanted—A specific for political gout. Address Miss Democracy, Nowhere.

If the Alls Club proposes to make a change in its baseball management at this time, would it not be the wisest course to select some local old time fan in whom the people as well as the club members themselves would have perfect confidence? There is apparently no limit to the number of men in Plainfield who have considerable knowledge of the game and have followed it for years and among them are many with shrewd business judgment. For instance Charles W. Runyon or S. P. T. Wilbur might be prevailed upon to accept the position and there is no question but that the club would be particularly fortunate with either. We do not know that either one would assume the position, inasmuch as their time is well occupied but we make the suggestion anyway

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

J. G. Brokaw, supervising deputy of the Fraternities Accident Order, of Philadelphia, was in town last night and was in conversation with a number of boroughites in regard to forming a True Blue Lodge in Dunellen. Before leaving town Mr. Brokaw said that he has decided to give a smoker and entertainment in Apgar's Hall in the near future to which he will invite all the leading citizens and explain to them fully the many benefits derived from such a lodge. Judging from the views of those to whom he explained things last night, there will be no trouble in getting a sufficient number of men with which to start a lodge.

At the Democratic caucus held in the Town Hall last night, J. Y. Wilson was chosen to represent Dunellen at the Democratic State Convention, to be held in Trenton tomorrow.

Rev. L. E. Livermore, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, officiated at the funeral services held yesterday afternoon for the late Mrs. Josephine Dunham, of Picataway.

The new Presbyterian minister, W. W. Castleberry, formerly of Haddonfield, N. J., has arrived in town. He will take charge of the church on Sunday.

John Rinehart has accepted a position with the Aluminum Plate and Press Company.

John McMahon has returned home after a visit with friends in Newark.

Miss Nellie Dodwell has recovered from an attack of rheumatism.

NEW MARKET.

New Market will be well represented on the diamond this year, and Capt. "Abe" Nelson has decided to have the team line up as follows: "Al" Squires, p; W. Voorhees, 1b; Walter Nelson, 2b; F. Fletcher, 3b, Joe Waglow, lf; William Pennington, cf, and Monroe Squire, rf. Captain Nelson will play behind the bat and this leaves only one position, that of ss, to be filled. There does not seem to be any of the right kind of material in town with which to fill this hard place, and an out-of-town player will probably be hired. With Squires in the box, the players are full of confidence and they will probably put up a rattling good game. The season will be opened on May 7 with the Millstone A. C. for opponents.

The Daughters of Liberty will hold a sociable in Friendship Hall on Tuesday, April 26.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Briant Johnston and Thomas Sellers left Monday for Philadelphia without informing their families of the intended trip. For a time some anxiety was felt for them by their parents, but some of their companions who had been let in on the secret, told of their destination and their fears were somewhat allayed. Up to Tuesday night no tidings had been received from either.

The carelessness of a resident of the borough in burning up old papers several days ago came near giving the borough a conflagration. As it was the underbrush in the woods caught fire and gave the volunteer department considerable work before it was put out.

Fanwood Council, R., A., held a well attended meeting in its rooms last night. The entertainment committee made its report on the Council's entertainment and dance held last week and considerable other business was transacted.

The weekly study meeting of the Bible class was held last night. Interest in these weekly meetings of those who enjoy Bible study is very encouraging. The class has gradually increased until it now numbers 15 members.

YALE WON CLOSE GAME.

University Struggle Ended In Defeat For Columbia.

NEW YORK, April 13.—For the first time in five years the baseball teams of Yale and Columbia universities met on a local diamond. The game was played at the Polo grounds and resulted in a victory for the New Haven players by the closest margin possible—1 to 0.

When the college teams meet the fielding is always best, while the batting is not anywhere near the mark, and in the game there was no change in these well expected conditions. For seven innings no score was made, but in the latter half of the eighth Yale earned a run on a triple by Metcalf, followed by Huiskamp's double.

The contest was pretty clear of errors, only three being made, and none of them was responsible for the winning run. A double play in the seventh inning robbed Columbia of a good opportunity to score, and a lack of coaching at a very important stage prevented Columbia from making a run in the following inning.

Luralighter Got Handicap.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 13.—Luralighter galloped home an easy winner in the Chickasaw Club handicap, winning by half a length from Rankin, who beat Safety Light out a nose for the place. Safety Light and Potheen, the Hildreth entry, were favored in the betting at even money, but they were never prominent. Bright Girl, second choice in the steeplechase, took the event from Theory, the favorite. Eight horses started. Early in the race Ball Hornet ran out of the force, and Salamagundi stumbled at the tenth jump and threw H. S. Wilson. Wilson was kicked severely and was carried from the field.

Court Plaster Held His Lead.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—F. Ambrose Clark's horse Stroller, ridden by its owner, won the amateur cup gentlemen riders' six furlong race at the Bennings track. The steeplechase, which was the best of the meeting, went to Imperialist. The Bowery, the favorite in the first, finished winner by a head in a field of fourteen. Court Plaster, the favorite in the second, had the lead at the start and was never headed. Carmack rode Elsie E., the second choice in the third event, to win, beating the popular favorite, Mrs. Frank Foster.

Lou Cliveden Led All the Way.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Long priced horses were again in evidence at Oakland. A field of fifteen met in the first race, and the play was divided. Lou Cliveden got away well and, going to the front, led all the way, beating Tannhauser and Judge Voorhies.

Americans Won, 4 to 3.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—The Philadelphia Americans defeated the Philadelphia Nationals by a score of 4 to 3, making the series for the local championship stand five victories for the Americans to two for the Nationals.

Populists Failed to Nominate.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 13.—The Populist state convention met here and adjourned without making any nominations. The delegates will meet in Topeka again on Aug. 3, at which time an effort will be made to fuse with the Democrats. A state convention of Democrats will be held here on the same date. This result was not reached until the issue had been well fought. The middle of the roaders strongly insisted on nominating a state ticket without reference to anything the Democrats wanted. The other element tried to patch up a deal to nominate two supreme court justices, governor and one or two other state officers, have these indorsed by the Democrats at their convention next August and then permit the Democrats to name the remainder of the ticket. Adherents of this scheme were in the majority, but the opposition threatened to bolt and nominate a straight Populist ticket in case such an arrangement was to be made, and this killed it.

Two Locomotives Demolished.

WESTON, Mass., April 13.—Two passenger trains on the Central Massachusetts division of the Boston and Maine railroad were in collision near the local station here. The locomotives of both trains were demolished, one of them being thrown from the track and over a twenty foot embankment. None of the passengers or trainmen was dangerously injured, though many received cuts and bruises. There is only one track at this point, and the trains pass each other on a siding. The train bound for Boston ran by the switch and, failing to take the siding, crashed into the outbound train, which was standing on the main track.

A Gambling "Clearing House."

CHICAGO, April 13.—Linemen sent out by the Chicago Telephone company destroyed a switchboard governing telephone which, it is alleged, was used for gambling purposes. This switchboard was part of one of the biggest "clearing houses" for race information existing in Chicago. On instructions from Mayor Harrison licenses of eight saloons have been revoked. The keepers of the saloons are accused of having permitted gambling on horse races.

Wind Demolishes Jefferson Bust.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—A heavy gust of wind has blown down and demolished the staff bust of President Thomas Jefferson at the world's fair. The bust, five feet in height, ornamented a pedestal at the exposition. It is probable another bust will be made.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and warmer; west winds.

MAKING OF ORIENTAL RUGS.

American Taste Now Dominates the Output of Artistic Product That Is Centuries Old.

"From an artistic point of view it may seem absurd, but it is nevertheless true that American taste dominates the output of Turkish rugs," said a man who has made a study of these beautiful products of the orient, to a Philadelphia Record reporter. "Any importer will bear me out in this. Of course, inasmuch as the Armenians and Turks who make these rugs have no power looms on which to reproduce exact copies, it would seem ridiculous to suppose that more than one rug of the same pattern and design could be turned out. But the American dealer has learned to know pretty much what sort of rug appeals to the American buyer, and he says to his agent on the other side: 'Make me a lot of rugs that look as much like this as possible.' So the native weavers, on their hand looms, do their best to copy the colors of a special design that is put before them. This handicaps them, for these untutored artisans have their own ideals, just as a painter of pictures has, and it is galling to be thus restricted. It is also not very gratifying to realize that the rich American, who is often the parvenu, with no idea of art, should dictate the output of an artistic product that is centuries old. But the rich American is the greatest buyer of oriental rugs, and must be considered."

WED ON WHOLESALE PLAN.

Rebellion would convulse any state in America if the law or custom should order that all marriages should be solemnized together on one particular day in the year.

Such is the strange rule in that queer section of Brittany near Brest, where stand the little towns of Plougastel and Daoulus. Besides, the young women of this section know nothing of the joys and the heartpangs of courtship.

The inhabitants seem to be either of Spanish or Asiatic origin. In each village is a matchmaker, called the "bastalaine," who arranges marriages. He needs only the approval of the parents of the parties most interested.

The marriages being arranged, all the brides, however unwilling, and all the bridegrooms, however unhappy, meet at the church door, the women flocking on one side, the men on the other. The brides and bridegrooms join each other before the altar in turn.

After the wholesale wedding there is a common banquet, which 2,000 guests attended this year, coming from all the countryside.

VIXENISH WOMEN OF COREA.

Ever Ready to Slap a Handful of Stars Into Eyes of Husbands or Tourists.

The women of the commonalty are voluble and vixenish, and ever ready to slap a handful of stars into the eyes of a husband—or into those of a timid and shrinking tourist—should the occasion arise, says Outing. The women of the upper class are rigorously excluded from masculine eyes and a hearty vote of thanks is due the committee who fathered this unwritten law. The dainty little Japanese musmee, teetering along in sandals or on wooden geta, is a genuine relief to the eye after a view of the uncomely Corean female, and it is a pleasing reflection that Nippon is slowly but surely spreading her standard over the hermit realm.

Until Corean boys are married and acquire the pseudo dignity of the topknot, their hair is worn girl fashion in twin plaits down their backs. So much do they resemble girls that it is sometimes difficult to determine the sex, and one is oftentimes uncommonly surprised to observe what he is positive are two girls sprawling and viciously fighting in a Corean street.

BLOOD IN THE BEARINGS.

Hindoo Thieves Would Not Steal the "Doctored" Oil Used in American Machinery.

The prejudice against blood that is a part of the religion of the Hindoos has been made to serve a useful purpose. When the American engineers were building an electric power station in the Mysore territory in southern India they found that something was wrong with the lubrication of the machinery. The oil disappeared. They discovered that a Hindoo must, by his religion, take a periodical bath in oil. The workmen had drained the bearings for bathing purposes.

How to stop the thieving was a puzzling problem until some one solved it. The Hindoo does not eat meat and he will not touch anything that has blood in it. Two or three animals were killed, therefore, and blood was dripped into the bearings. There was no more stealing of oil, however many other things were stolen.

The Hereros.

The Hereros, now in rebellion against Germany, have a pretty fair opinion of themselves and of their chief. One of their songs begins: "What is the king of England, what is the king of Germany compared with thee, O Mahereo, first among all princes? Have they so many cattle as thou? No! Who is so mighty as art thou?" The Hereros despise Europeans. The name for a European is "otyirumbo"—"white thing."

PARIS FASHIONS.

Checked Taffetas Vie With Soft Materials—Louis XVI. Styles.

The pointed Marie Antoinette bands are now so elongated that the corsage itself is arranged into a deep point in the front. The Louis XVI. tendency is clearly visible in modes as well as in fabric, and the tints of pale blue, pink and yellow are the same as in this day.

Waistcoats of flowered material are to be seen on many of the more elaborate tailor mades.

The new coats are trimmed with flat silk braids and beautiful enamel buckles and buttons.

Black and white dresses are often relieved with a wide belt of pale blue and touches of the same color on the yoke.

Very fine soft cloths, voiles and woolens, which drape and fall well, adapt themselves to the full skirted styles which are now prevalent. The new soft taffetas, however, are gaining a foothold with Parisiennes. They come in tiny checks in lavender and white or pink and white, such as were worn forty or fifty years ago.

The long shouldered effect has come to stay, and nearly every garment of fashion suggests to us the 1830 period.

The picture shows a blue cloth dress trimmed with red embroidery and having undersleeves of red and blue mull.

SKIRTS WITHOUT TRAINS.

Tailor Mades For Street Wear—Short Coats the Vogue.

Silk tailor mades will be about the smartest thing this summer. They will appear principally in navy blue, black and gun metal gray. The jackets will hang loosely and be made up with flat folds simulating tucks. The skirts will just clear the ground and will be quite full, with a trimming of folds simulating tucks, as on the waist. With such a costume fancy buttons either of cut steel or of handsome enamel are used.

BLACK SILK COAT.

Coat and skirt costumes for street wear are much smarter if they clear the ground than if made with trains. This applies to costumes of silk or fine cloth as well as those of the rougher weaves. Afternoon dresses will soon be the only ones with trains, and so shirt waists and morning dresses are cut with their skirts clearing the ground.

We have at least reached the era of common sense. Pongee dyed in heliotrope, gun metal and brown will be very smart for little coat and skirt costumes worn over lace waists.

The short bolero or blouse will predominate, and this must be cut so as to hang loosely over a wide belt.

The picture shows a black silk coat made with ruffings both on the coat proper and on the undersleeves. The vest is of jetted cream lace.

A DIVER HELD FAST

Prisoner Down Seventy-two Feet In Jersey Reservoir.

LEG PINNED DOWN BY TONS OF LEAD

Hope of Rescue Given Up by Comrades of Submarine Worker For Water Supply Company at Boonton, N. J.

BOONTON, N. J., April 13.—Pinned down by his foot by two tons of lead in the darkness and silence of seventy-two feet of water at the bottom of the big reservoir of the Jersey City Water Supply company at this place, a diver has lain since 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. At intervals during his imprisonment he has signaled to the men at the air pumps on the shore of the reservoir, letting them know that he was still alive. The movements of the signal line have become weak and irregular, and it seemed to the men at the surface that the unfortunate man had weakened and might even be signaling in his death struggle.

Forty men, including two expert submarine divers, have been working trying to rescue the imprisoned man.

That he was still alive at noon was known by repeated signals that came up the life and signal lines. In the hope of releasing the man from his predicament before he collapses from exhaustion or starves to death his partners are working with might and main.

Thus far there has been no interference with the imprisoned man's air supply. Gangs of four relieve one another at the pumps and keep up a regular pressure. All through the night the rescue gangs remained on duty, and more divers were sent for from New York.

The reservoir where the man is incaged beneath sixty-five feet of water is near here. It is owned by the Jersey City Water Supply company, and a conduit leading to that city is being constructed. Last week it was found that one of the valves did not work.

To shut off the water in the conduit so that the valve might be fixed a huge wooden ball, weighted with lead, was sunk, with the idea that it would fill the opening to the conduit. It did so partially, but seemed to fail to work properly. It was to put this ball in place that the diver was sent down.

This was at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. At 5 he signaled "Trouble." Another man with whom he had been working went down to find out what was the matter. He found his mate caught by one leg between the huge ball and the mouth of the conduit, and every effort made to free the imprisoned man was of no avail.

Since then attempts have been made repeatedly to move the ball, the divers working in relays, but in vain. From time to time the man in his living tomb would signal to those at the air pumps for more or less air, as he needed it. His signals became fainter and fainter and at 11:55 yesterday ceased altogether.

Convinced that the case was hopeless with the crew then at hand, Superintendent Blake and Chief Engineer Honness telephoned to the headquarters of the water company in Jersey City and asked for aid.

A special train was secured at the yards of the Lackawanna railroad at Hoboken at once. Two expert divers were procured, and at a few minutes after 5 o'clock the train, with the divers and their outfits on board, left Hoboken and reached this place at 6 o'clock. In another half hour the divers were at the reservoir, and at 7 o'clock one of them had descended.

With an electric lighting apparatus he found that the great ball of lead had slipped into place suddenly and that the diver's foot had been caught between the ball and the edge of the aperture leading into the pipe. The second driver went down at once, and an effort was made by the two to dislodge the ball. Their puny strength was as nothing, and after hours of work at short intervals, with rests between, they conveyed the knowledge to the imprisoned man of the present hopelessness of his condition and went to the surface.

More divers were called for from Jersey City, and the first train out to Boonton carried four more divers. Upon reaching the dam and learning the great depth of the water to be worked in and of the danger from the suction of the pipe, two of these men refused to descend. More divers were sent for at once and arrived shortly before noon.

In addition to the extra divers sent for the man who went down to help his partner have continued work right along. One became so exhausted that he had to be taken ashore. Ordinarily a diver will work only for an hour and a half in more than twenty fathoms of water, but this one in efforts to save his partner went down repeatedly and spent the greater part of twenty-four hours below the surface.

Dr. J. L. Taylor, who has been at the scene day and night, believes the imprisoned diver is dead.

The last diver brought to the surface was unconscious when hauled up. When he had been revived he said that he thought the man below had been dead for some time.

The first of the rescuing divers to succumb is in a serious condition. His hands are swollen to twice their normal size. He had been working almost unceasingly from 5 o'clock and had had nothing to eat during that time.

It has been learned when it was found that the ball did not fit the pipe the man now imprisoned was sent down with two bags of sand, which he used to stop a leak. He was then raised to the surface and took down two more bags of sand. He afterward made his way again to the other side of the ball, and it was then that he was caught. It is supposed that one of the bags was drawn into the pipe by suction or had been broken and scattered and that the man's leg was drawn into the hole.

The imprisoned diver is William Hoar of One Hundred and Sixth street and Third avenue, New York. He is unmarried and has no relatives here, so far as is known. He was employed by the J. S. Burdick Submarine company. He was sent to the works and was caught in his death trap on his third descent in an attempt to stop the pipe.

Before he went down on his fatal trip to the bottom of the reservoir the diver reported that the job was a perilous one and that the suction at the mouth of the pipe was strong enough to sweep a man off his feet.

When the rescuers first set to work they let down a large bag of sand with a pulley made fast to it. One end of the rope was tied around the imprisoned diver, while the other ran up to the raft. It was found that the bag of sand was not heavy enough, so it was raised and a pulley fastened to a 500 pound anvil was lowered. This was also found to be too light, and a compound pulley was attached to a rock weighing about 1,500 pounds. This was let down, and seven men set to work to release the diver, but failed to budge the ball.

While they worked the rescuing divers below the surface of the water were able to look at the face of their doomed comrade and see the hopeless look in his face as he felt his strength ebbing beneath the pangs of hunger and the strain of suspense waiting for the death that he felt was certain, as through the glass of his helmet he watched the heroic efforts that the rescuers were making to save him and saw every effort fail.

As best they could the doomed man and the determined rescuers communicated with one another by hand grasps and looks. No more could be done, and to the rescuers the task was heartbreaking. What it must have been to the man lying in the darkness awaiting his end can only be surmised.

Expert divers express the opinion that it could not be possible for Hoar, sturdy and powerful as he was, to withstand the terrible strain under which he has been so long. It is believed that his wonderful constitution enabled him to hold out until noon, as it seemed that he signaled feebly up to that time.

Men are still watching at the lift line, but there has been no signal from below.

KNOX TAKES A HAND.

Government Will Oppose Intervention Asked by Harriman et Al.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 13.—A surprise was sprung soon after the opening in the United States district court of the Northern Securities distribution suit, when it was announced that the United States government, through Attorney General Knox, had taken a hand in the affair and opposed the intervention asked for by E. H. Harriman and Winslow S. Pierce.

Messrs. Harriman and Pierce object to a pro rata distribution of Great Northern and Northern Pacific stock among holders of Northern Securities stock.

The first point decided by the court will be the right of Harriman and Pierce to intervene, and if that be granted the suit will follow.

The defendants are represented by Elihu Root, former secretary of war; John G. Johnson of Philadelphia, Francis Lynde Stetson, counsel for J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.; George B. Young, Frank B. Kellogg and C. A. Severance, also C. M. Bunn, general counsel for the Northern Pacific railway, and F. D. Grover, general counsel for the Great Northern railway. The United States government is represented by District Attorney C. C. Houpt, who presented an objection to the intervention under the direction of United States Attorney General Knox.

This intervention was something of a surprise to the petitioners, who were not aware of it until after Mr. Evarts had opened the case for the plaintiffs and Judge Sanborn had asked him if he was aware that the United States government objected to the intervening petition. The court then directed Mr. Houpt to read the objection of Mr. Knox, which is as follows:

"I respectfully submit to the court that notice has been served upon me that Edward H. Harriman, Winslow S. Pierce and the Oregon Short Line Railroad company will apply to the judges of this court for leave to intervene in this cause and to proceed and be heard in respect of the final decree of this court entered on April 9, 1903, as affirmed by the supreme court of the United States and for such other or further or different order or relief as to the court may seem fit.

"The United States neither admits or denies the allegations of the petition, but objects to the proposed intervention."

Motion Favoring Burns Denied.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 13.—Counsel for State Senator David E. Burns, who is being tried here for bribery in connection with the Lake Michigan water scandal, moved that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of not guilty. Counsel argued that while the indictment charged that Burns accepted $200 for his vote the testimony tended to show that the alleged payment was only for introducing a bill in the legislature and that under the laws of Michigan this was no crime. The motion was denied.

MALTA, April 13.—The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with Emperor William on board, sailed last night, escorted by a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, for Syracuse.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FIGHTING ON YALU

Russians Surprised Japanese Near Wiju.

A DETACHMENT WAS WIPED OUT

Japanese Were Shot, Bayoneted and Drowned—Czar's Troops Occupy Right Bank In Great Force to Bar Passage of the River.

LONDON, April 13.—A St. Petersburg special says General Kuropatkin in a dispatch to the emperor reports that General Krasnalinski on the night of April 8 ordered a detachment of sharpshooters to cross to the left bank of the Yalu opposite Wiju. The sharpshooters landed on the island of Samalind and surprised a patrol of fifty Japanese scouts just as the latter were approaching the east side of the island in three boats.

The Russians allowed the Japanese to land and then fired on them. Nearly all the Japanese were shot, bayoneted or drowned and their boats sunk. The Russians sustained no losses.

On the night of April 9 four Russians crossed the Yalu to Yongampho and made toward a Russian village, where they found a squadron of Japanese cavalry. They remained there twelve hours, when they were betrayed by Koreans and found themselves obliged to swim the river, their boat having stuck on a sand bank. One Russian soldier lost his life. The Japanese pursued the Russians in a boat, but were in turn attacked by a Russian boat which had come to the rescue of the swimmers. The Japanese were all killed and their boat sunk.

Thus fighting has commenced on the Yalu river.

The position of the Russians is strong, and, while it is doubted that they will be able to prevent the Japanese from crossing the river at all points, it is regarded as certain that they will offer great opposition.

Foreign military observers have been directed to hold themselves in readiness to move, and it is expected that they will leave for the front in a few days.

General Kuropatkin's report to the emperor of the annihilation of Japanese detachments on the Yalu river is a matter of general satisfaction in official circles in St. Petersburg. Again, in the view of the authorities, the Russian soldier has proved his superiority in strategy and in the manner of attack, which left no chance for a single enemy to escape.

One feature of the message which is not pleasing to the authorities is the action of the Koreans in revealing to the Japanese the presence of the Russians at the Japanese post, an act of treachery to Russia.

Pingyang Missionaries All Right.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, has received a cable from Pingyang, Korea, dated April 9, stating that "Pingyang and Syenchun are all right" and that goods that had been ordered should be shipped. Dr. Brown thinks that if the missionaries of these northern stations are "all right" there is not the slightest ground for anxiety regarding those in the central and southern stations.

Was Friend of Lincoln and Grant.

CINCINNATI, O., April 13.—Word has been received of the sudden death at Marysville, O., of Charles Albert Beecher of this city. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Beecher was a close friend and confidential adviser of Abraham Lincoln, and he was a delegate from Illinois to the national convention which nominated Lincoln in 1860. From 1858 to 1868 he was a member of the Illinois Republican state central committee. It was he who in 1861 assisted in obtaining for Ulysses S. Grant a commission as captain in the Illinois volunteer service.

Searching For Pinckney's Slayers.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 13.—Sheriff Lipscombe and posse of Walter county are still searching for the negroes who, it is alleged, killed Tucker Pinckney, brother of Congressman Pinckney. The negroes of that part of the Brazos bottoms are said to have left their homes and to be in hiding. Feeling continues high, as Mr. Pinckney was popular.

Staff of Life In Chicago Five Cents.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Impelled by an increase of a cent in the retail price of bread, 200 Chicago grocers have organized to be their own bakers and to oppose the United Master Bakers' association by manufacturing bread and selling it at the usual rate of 5 cents a loaf.

Some of Exhibit Have Trachoma.

PIGEON BILL BECOMES LAW

AFTER BATTLE IN SENATE MEASURE ALSO PASSES HOUSE AND IS SIGNED.

The bill to end the shooting from traps of live pigeons, was passed last evening by both branches of the Legislature, assembled in special session at Trenton. The measure was first successful in the Senate, and later in the House. It was put through both branches under suspension of the rules.

It was introduced in the Senate by Mr. Bachelier, of Essex. The measure offered is as follows:

"Any person who uses a live pigeon, fowl or other bird for the purpose of a target, or either to be shot for amusement or for skill in marksmanship, or shoots at a bird used as aforesaid, or is a party to such shooting, or leases any building, room, field, or premises, or knowingly permits the use of either, for the purpose of such shooting, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a penalty of $60 for each violation of this act, and to an additional penalty of $25 for each pigeon, fowl or other bird shot at or killed in violation thereof; but nothing in this act shall be held to apply to the shooting of game."

As soon as the measure was before the Senate it was viciously attacked.

The fight on the bill when it reached final passage under suspension of the rules was a hard one.

During the debate in the House, this memorial was addressed to "the member from Somerset," Mr. Swackhamer:

"Prophet say I, thing of evil,
Prophet still it may or devil.
By that Heaven that bends above us,
By that God we both adore.
Tell this soul with sorrow laden
If the wretched sport-cursed pigeon,
Shall receive our recognition
In this Legislative year."

The bill was signed by Governor Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Corning, of Baltimore, have been visiting Mrs. Corning's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Valiant, of the borough.

SERVANT'S TIMELY ACT.

Prevents Serious Fire at F. C. Harder's Home by Presence of Mind.

But for the prompt action of a domestic at the home of F. C. Harder, 833 Madison avenue, a serious fire might have resulted last night. In lighting the gas, the girl set fire to some portieres which were in a blaze in a second, scorching the molding and frame work of the doors. The girl threw the portieres outside, and when the firemen appeared in answer to a still alarm, there was nothing for them to do. Had the frame work above the portieres not been solid, it would have been impossible to prevent a serious loss from the spreading of the flames to the upper story.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN WITHOUT ANY DEBT

Congregation Quickly Wipes Out Incumberance and Raises a Surplus.

MANY GOOD REPORTS

THE ELDERS, DEACONS AND TRUSTEES ARE SELECTED.

Receipts for Year $7,920—Vote of Thanks for Ladies' Aid Society Work — To Increase the Sexton's Wages.

All the debt on the First Presbyterian church was wiped out in an enthusiastic five minutes of collection at the annual meeting last night.

Treasurer W. H. Shotwell reported that the $1,000 deficit that faced the church last year had been raised up to within $15. It was voted to hold the congregation until the needed sum was raised, and three members, to stimulate the giving, offered to give $15 to start a surplus fund if the deficit was met. Within two minutes the money was handed in to Mr. Shotwell, and warm handclapping greeted Chairman Cave's announcement that the last vestige of debt had been wiped out, and a surplus fund was in the hands of the treasurer.

Two meetings were held, the church session and the congregational meeting. At the former E. M. Cave and J. M. Bettman were re-elected elders, and A. V. Searing and A. G. Remsen were re-elected deacons. It was voted to separate the sessional and deacons' funds, which were consolidated in 1890. The latter arrangement did not work to the entire satisfaction of all the members.

Treasurer Shotwell's report at the congregational meeting stated that $7,920 had been expended during the year. The receipts exactly balanced.

J. A. Haynes, C. E. Bond and T. J. Pruden were re-elected trustees. A vote of thanks was extended to the Ladies' Aid Society for an Easter offering of $315 to the debt-raising fund.

The pastor's salary was set at the same figure as last year. By vote of the meeting the board of trustees were asked to consider the raising of the sexton's wages. The music appropriation was referred to the music committee. All the societies made excellent reports.

SOCIETY WOMEN AT BOWLING

PARK CLUB DEFEAT ELIZABETH CLUB ON LOCAL ALLEYS.

The woman's bowling team of the Park Club, in the third series of games with the team from the Elizabeth Town and Country Club, on the Park alleys, won out by a good margin. In the other two series the Elizabeth women were victors, but the local aggregation has greatly improved in its game and was too much of a match for the visitors last night.

The Parks took two of the three games, the first by a score of 589 to 545 and the second by a score of 580 to 449. The last game they lost by a score of 608 to 601. Miss Ball and Miss Valiant rolled high score for the Parks, each putting up a tally of 154, while for the visitors Miss Keys rolled high score, 182, in the last game.

CHARLES K. STILLMAN WINS A HIGH HONOR

He Passes First in Competitive Examination for Membership on Bellevue's Staff.

SIXTY-FOUR IN CONTEST

A SENIOR AT COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

A Graduate of Brown University —A Son of Late Dr. Charles F. Stillman and Nephew of William M. Stillman.

Charles Kirtland Stillman, son of the late Dr. Charles F. Stillman, and brother of William M. Stillman, of this city, has just passed a brilliant examination for a position on the staff of physicans at Bellevue Hospital in New York.

Out of sixty-four physicans competing, he stood highest in the examination, with a grade of one hundred and so received the appointment number one, this entitles him to the choice of service on the staff for the next two years.

Dr. Stillman graduates from the College of Physicans and Surgeons in New York this spring after a four years' course.

He was graduated from Brown University and in both these institutions he made a fine record.

The many people in this city and vicinity who remember his father and grand-father, the late Dr. Charles H. Stillman, will be pleased to learn of his success.

HOPE BOWLERS ARE ROUTED

Y. M. C. A. FIVE PUTS UP A SUPERIOR ARTICLE ON THE ALLEYS.

Although handicapped in a measure, owing to the absence of Manager Koons, the Y. M. C. A. bowling team made some creditable scores in a game with the Hope Chapel five last evening. The match, which was rather one-sided, owing to lack of practice on the part of the Hope men, resulted in a decided victory for the Y. M. C. A., which took the first game by a margin of 161 pins, the second by 99 and the third by 296.

Dilts and McComb were high men on Hope's team. The feature of the evening's play was Linbarger's third game of 205, which brought the team score for the Y. M. C. A. up to 829 for that game. This is probably the record Y. Y. C. A. score for this season and will give the team avearge a good lift.

The scores for the games follow:

COMMON COUNCIL FIXES TAX BUDGET

For General Purposes it is Agreed That $47,500 be Raised.

ENFORCE MARTIN ACT

COLLECTOR SMITH ORDERED TO SELL DELINQUENTS' PROPERTY.

Cost of Small-Pox Case $1,253 —Another Drinking Fountain—An Extension of Sewer System.

The adoption of the tax ordinance fixing the amounts to be apportioned to the various city departments, was the principal business considered at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night. The ordinance should have been introduced at the regular April meeting, but was delayed on account of the press of other business.

The tax ordinance, which was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised, provides that $47,500 be raised for general purposes, as against $46,974 last year. This includes $25,000 for street improvements, and out of that must be paid $6,000 for street sprinkling. Last year $24,000 was appropriated for streets, but deducting the street sprinkling, it made the appropriation $19,000. For street lights, $13,500 is appropriated, an increase of $600 over last year.

The principal on the sewer bond is the same as last year, $5,600, exclusive of obligations to be paid out of assessments and temporary obligations that may come due during the year.

The interest on obligations of the city is $6,640, an increase of $140 over last year. For the poor $5,700, a decrease of $300, is appropriated, while the public library and reading room gets $4,600, as against $4,000 last year. For the fire department $23,750, an increase of $750 over last year, is appropriated. The dog tax is fixed at $2.

These various amounts are exclusive of school, county and State tax. The latter cannot be determined until after the first of May, when the several figures are fixed.

The Board of Health asked the Council for $5,000 for the coming year, but out of this sum must come the expense of the one small-pox case, which was $1,253. The sum requested was appropriated by resolution offered by Mr. Daniel. In accordance with the usual custom, Mr. Daniel offered resolutions fixing $13,500 the sum to be appropriated for lights, $4,600 for the public library and reading room and $2 as the dog tax, and all were adopted and the president and clerk were instructed to certify to the resolutions adopted to the Board of Assessors.

Collector F. H. Smith presented to the Council the complete list of persons who have failed to pay their taxes during the past two years and by a resolution offered by Mr. Daniel, he was authorized to go ahead and sell the various properties, under provisions of the Martin Act, for the taxes. The property is to be sold to the highest bidder.

Mr. Daniel also reported on the matter of Mrs. H. M. Myers and others who purchased the property at 124-128 East Ninth street for $1,650. This property was sold under the Martin Act, but the owners desired to redeem. This they did through their agent, F. W. Yates and the bid offered covered everything down to the closing of the title. Mr. Daniel offered a resolution providing that the proceeds from the sale be applied to paying the taxes, interests and costs and it was so ordered.

Mr. Gloak, as chairman of the streets and sewer committee, offered an ordinance providing for an extension to the sewage system through these streets: Leland avenue, from East Seventh street 1,500 feet south; Arlington avenue, from West Ninth street to Union street; Union street, 500 feet south; Denmark road, south of Berkley avenue; Hillside avenue, from Prospect to Evergreen avenues; Evergreen avenue, from Hillside avenue, 600 feet east. Accompanying this was a resolution fixing Monday night, May 2, as the time when a public hearing will be held on the subject. Other streets through which it is proposed to extend the sewer are South avenue, Leland to Belvidere avenues; Grant avenue, West Eighth street to Sherman avenue; Denmark road, Belvidere to Berkley avenues; Berkley avenue, from Denmark road to Ravine road; Webster place, from Putnam avenue to Berckman street.

Mr. Gloak also introduced a resolution appropriating a sum not to exceed $60 to establish a drinking fountain for horses on West Front street near Grant avenue, and both he and Mr. Lee spoke in favor of the improvement. In response to Mr. Daniel's intimation that the City Park should not be a graveyard for fountains, he assured the chairman of the finance committee that the fountain if erected would never reach the City Park. Mr. Daniel also cautioned the members about the necessity of keeping expenses down. Mr. Lee said that the water company would furnish the water for the fountain free of charge, provided it was a suitable contrivance. The resolution was adopted, all voting in favor except Mr. Bullock.

R. H. Depew and other residents of Evergreen avenue, petitioned for three electric lights, claiming that there is only one light on the avenue. The matter was referred.

In accordance with a request of Assessor H. C. Runyon, an assessment of $375 for 1903 against shares of bank stock owned by C. K. Compton, of Duer street, was cancelled from the Fourth Ward list, owing to the fact that the assessment had been paid in the borough.

Mr. Gloak reported that there had been some delay in getting the municipal collection of garbage bill in the hands of Assemblyman Moffett and that matter would have to lay over until next winter. However, he said the streets and sewer committee would bear the subject in mind and make such progress as is possible. He thought that a further report would be ready a little later.

Mr. Lee offered a resolution that the Clerk be empowered to have five hundred copies of the rules of order published for the use of the Council, it being stated that that number could be printed as cheaply as a less number.

This concluded the business and the meeting adjourned.

NEW "NEAR SIDE" ORDER

CHIEF KIELY ISSUE DIRECTIONS TO LOCAL TROLLEY CARS.

To lessen the danger of accident at the busiest of the city's street-crossings, orders have been issued by Chief of Police Kiely that all trolley cars shall stop at the crossings.

Trolley cars on the Arlington avenue line will be obliged to stop at the West Fifth and West Seventh street crossings in going in either direction. Fourth street cars must come to a halt at Park avenue, and Front street cars going in either direction must make a full stop at Park avenue.

Another crossing which Chief Kiely regards as specially dangerous and at which he has requested a full stop is at Third street and Watchung avenue. Still another danger point as pointed out by the Chief is Richmond and Third streets.

The enforcement of the orders will be strict, the penalty for neglect of them being $20 at the least.

His wagon was upset and he was hurled to the ground. His injuries were painful, though not serious, consisting chiefly of body bruises. Latourette was picked up by Patrolman Higgins and taken to his home in the patrol wagon.

Captured Carrier Pigeon.

A stray carrier pigeon was captured by Mrs. William Krewson in the yard of her home at 80 Manning avenue yesterday morning. Collyer, in New York Bay, and then released to continue its flight.

CHURCH'S EXPENSES FOR YEAR $35,891

BENEVOLENCES $22,336

THE TOTAL MEMBERSHIP OF THE CHURCH NOW REACHES 1,603.

Great Gains in All Departments —A Manse Wanted for Warren Chapel and An Organ for Hope Chapel.

A manse for the pastor of Warren chapel and an organ for Hope chapel were the two most important wants expressed at the annual meeting last night of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and the chapels associated with it. For Warren chapel, F. H. Andrews read a report in which he favored the building of a manse or parsonage for the pastor, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, along with the proposed building of a new chapel.

All three elders of the Crescent Avenue church were elected to succeed themselves. They were John Leal, Andrew J. Gavett and Stephen Cahoone. John Doull Miller and H. Otis Newman were re-elected deacons. The meeting was presided over by Rev. J. S. Zelie.

The congregational expenses for the year included these items: Gifts towards building fund, Warren chapel, $4,525; home missions, including support of chapels, $9,442.43; foreign missions, $4,340; miscellaneous, $515.42; ministerial relief, $781 98; educational, $186 06; church erection, $18,028; aid to colleges, $475.43; freedmen, $201.38; deacons' fund, $1,044.55, publishing and Sabbath school work, $84.92; Bible Society, $35.54; synodical aid, $477; Plainfield charities, $874.63; temperance, $10; general assembly, $142.29.

The total benevolences of the church were $22,336.92 and the total congregational expenses, $35,891.52.

The total membership of the Crescent Avenue church April 1, 1904, was 942, as against 937 for the preceding year. During the year, there were fourteen accessions to the church on confession of faith, and forty by letter. The losses were twenty-four dismissed by letter and fifteen by death.

The membership of Bethel chapel April 1 was sixty-two; for the preceding year, sixty; three accessions by confession; two by letter; one death. For Hope chapel the membership figures were 359, as against 378 for the preceding year. Twenty-seven were received into Hope by confession and six by letter. At Warren chapel, the membership for the year ending last April 1 was 240, the figures for the preceding year being 224. Fourteen entered Mr. McKelvey's chapel on confession, and seven by letter.

There was a gain in membership of church and chapels for the year. The total membership for all four was 1,603 for the year just completed and 1,589 for the preceding year.

Of officers and teachers of Sunday-schools, Crescent Avenue had forty-six; Bethel, twelve; Hope, fifty-five, and Warren, fifty-three. There were 296 pupils at the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school; 257 at Bethel; 563 at Hope, and 362 at Warren. The total memberships were 394 for Crescent Avenue; 269 for Bethel; 618 for Hope, and 415 for Warren; with a grand total of 1,696. This represented a total gain of thirty-two.

Rev. F. D. Tildon, in making the report for Bethel chapel, laid particular stress upon the excellent work done by the training class, with seventeen members receiving weekly instruction. The growth of the primary department for Bethel chapel had been phenomenal.

Besides reporting the need for an organ, Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, referred to the good work accomplished by the evangelist, Lawrence Greenwood, whose exhirtations had resulted in the addition of twenty members of the church. Mr. Howard said the chapel needed someone to conduct a mission band and a young women's sewing club.

Mr. Andrews, for Warren chapel, read reports for the sewing school, cooking class and Christian Brotherhood. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, in explaining affairs at Warren chapel, spoke of the harmony that prevailed and the stability that characterized all the church institutions. He said that more than $540 had been given to foreign missions during the year past.

FRANCIS E. WHITESIDE ORDAINED A DEACON

A Plainfield Reporter Takes Orders in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

HIS FIRST CHARGE

PASTOR OF THE WILLETT STREET CHURCH IN NEW YORK.

Out of a Score of Applicants, Mr. Whiteside is One of the Seven Made Deacons—Bishop Cyrus Foss Officiates.

Rev. F. E. Whiteside, a former newspaper man of this city, of whose remarkable conversion while reporting one of the meetings in the revival campaigns here in 1901, so much has been written, was ordained a deacon by Bishop Cyrus Foss at the close of the New York East Conference of the Methodist church Tuesday night. The ordination took place in the Simpson M. E. church, Brooklyn, where the conference was held.

Rev. Mr. Whiteside was one of a class of seven admitted to the conference on trial, three of whom were made deacons. Nearly a score of applications were considered for admission, and the success of the young Plainfielder in passing, is worthy of more than passing note.

Mr. Whiteside and two others of the class were elected to deacons' orders by the conference in the morning. In the afternoon the three were introduced to the conference and the audience from the platform.

As in the Protestant Episcopal church, the diaconate is the first order in which a candidate for the M. E. ministry can serve. The deacons come up for elders' orders after two years of service. Deacons may act as pastors, but sacredotal limitations separate them from elders.

Rev. Mr. Whiteside was appointed as pastor of the Willett Street church, New York. The appointment, however, is purely nominal, his real position being that of assistant to Rev. Theodore Henderson in the work of the Evangelistic Commission. To place him formally in charge of the new evangelical work, Rev. Mr. Henderson, who is well-known here from the part he took in the gospel campaign referred to above, was appointed "pastor of the East Side Parish," which covers the churches in the slum section of the metropolis. Mr. Henderson was pastor of the Simpson church.

Headquarters of the Evangelistic Commission will be at the Willett Street church, and there Rev. Mr. Whiteside will do the greater part of his work as Rev. Mr. Henderson's lieutenant.

WILSON SUCCEEDS VALIANT

CHANGES MADE IN GRACE M. E. SUNDAY-SCHOOL AT ANNUAL MEETING.

Andrew Wilson was elected to succeed John Valiant as superintendent of Grace M. E. Sunday-school last night. Mr. Wilson served under Mr. Valiant as assistant superintendent.

The election was part of the annual meeting. The other officers chosen are: Assistant superintendents, William M. Warren, W. J. Conroy; the former re-elected; secretary, Benjamin Schuck; treasurer, Louis Bennett; librarian, George C. Nelson. These officers were chosen for the Sunday-school Missionary Society: President, Miss Jessie Billett; vice president, Mrs. M. F. Gano; secretary, Miss Vermeule; treasurer, J. Russell Harden.

It was voted to establish a Home Department. Details of the new feature will be decided upon at a later meeting.

Good reports were handed in by the secretary and treasurer. The membership held its own, and the finances are strong.

Before the Sunday-school meeting the congregation elected three trustees: Jacob Voehl, E. A. Vermeule and William Coombs. They succeeded themselves.

Bible Reader Here.

Mrs. Cassie Smith, of Ocean Grove, a Bible reader of note among the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, arrived here last night and for the next five days will conduct Bible readings. Last night she spoke at the prayer meeting held in the First Baptist church and tonight she will speak at the W. C. T. U. rooms.

CHURCH EDIFICE TO BE ENLARGED

The Congregational Trustees are Directed to Secure Plans for Proposed Extension.

GROWING MEMBERSHIP

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED IN SEPTEMBER.

Clerk, Auditor and Trustees Are Chosen—Receipts $1,800 More Than the Year Previous —A Supper.

Much favorable discussion was given last night to a plan for enlarging the Congregational church, which on many occasions, has proved inadequate to the size of gatherings. Six years ago, there was talk of enlarging the building, and at that time a considerable sum of money was raised and is still in the bank ready for application to its original purpose. Resolutions were adopted last night empowering the trustees to secure the services of an architect to submit plans for an extension and give an estimate on the expense. The resultant report of the trustees will be received at an early meeting.

The attendance at the annual meeting of the church was large. Joseph E. Morse, Morris C. VanArsdale, F. A. Weeks and Alexander Millar were chosen trustees for two years, and E. L. Morgan, Charles Steiner and E. L. Suffern, for one year. D. Foster Updyke was elected church clerk, and Phillip S. Suffern, auditor.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the church will be celebrated next September, and an elaborate quarter-centennial programme will be arranged. A committee to make the preliminary arrangements was appointed: Rev. C. L. Goodrich, Joseph E. Morse and Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux.

For the various benevolent societies, Rev. C. L. Goodrich reported an active condition. It was announced that the church membership was about 200. The treasurer's receipts were about $1,800 more than for last year.

Preceding the business meeting a supper was tendered the congregation from 6 o'clock until 7:30 by the women's association. About 125 gathered about the tables which were prettily decorated with roses and carnations. On the committee in charge were: Mrs. J. V. Beekman, chairman; Mrs. F. A. Weeks, Mrs. Messersmith, Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Mrs. E. B. Morgan, Mrs. H. C. Nomer, Mrs. J. M. Whiton, Mrs. D. Foster Updyke, Mrs. Harold and Mrs. Millard. Brief addresses were made by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, M. E. Dwight, John M. Whiton, Alexander Millar and Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Joseph Robinson and coffee by Mrs. Mackintosh. The waitresses were the Misses Mary Whiton, Rhoda Culbertson, Ethel Millar, Elsie Suffern, Marion Woodcock, Aimee Emmons, Hattie Messersmith, Margaret Weseman, Emily Winant, Ethel Mackintosh, Jessie Mackintosh and Nannie Lockhart.

Financially the church's condition was reported as remarkably prosperous. All bills were paid and there was not a cent of indebtedness for the year. There was a small balance in the treasury.

JOLLY WORKERS' AFFAIR.

Hope Chapel Organization Holds Sale and Entertainment.

With their sale and entertainment yesterday afternoon, the Jolly Workers, of Hope chapel, met with complete success. Baskets made by the members of the club and home-made cake and candy and tea found many pleased buyers. An entertainment and a drill by the children was a feature. Miss Emily Tracy, Mrs. Hubbell, Mrs. George Chapman, Miss May Shrieve, Miss Anna Miller and Miss James were in charge.

THIS MORNING'S SNOW STORM.

The Flakes Fell for Two Hours and Temperature Was Low.

Still reluctant to let go his grip, Winter made another attempt to bind the city in a blanket of snow this morning.

For two days the weather grew chilly and bleak, and shortly before 7 o'clock this morning snowflakes began to fly. The fall did not cease until after 9. The temperature was 28 degrees at 7 o'clock. When the sun came out at 9 o'clock the snow fled.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Fresh, juicy fruits, the best in town at Alex. Lusardi's store on Front street. And the prices the lowest.

Careful work and stylish finish, they are the two points that make Meissner's laundry the best in the city.

Get your meats at M. H. Giles, Park avenue, and get satisfaction at the same time. Vegetables, too, which is handy for the housewifely shopper.

It will cost you less to have your painting, decorating and wall-papering done properly by J. C. Hansen, of East Front street. Try it. It's a sure thing.

The use of Reynolds' Petroleum Hair Tonic is guaranteed to make a natural growth of hair and a healthy scalp. T. S. Armstrong, druggist, of Park avenue.

It is not to be denied that Woolston & Buckle have the reputation of reputations among the painting and decorating firms here. They deserve it, for their work has been right all the time.

The new spring styles in hats are most effectively set forth in the hats from H. A. Bonn's millinery store, West Front street. In shape and trimming and generally artistic effect, Bonn's hats give the most satisfaction. That is why the store is so universally popular.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Perhaps your home is not as orderly or as neat as you would have it; but listen. Your little one is asking a question—something she wishes to know and of great importance to her. She comes to mother for all information; confides in her, believing she is her best friend. But, alas, how often her hopes are blasted. Mother is too busy. She turns away disappointed. She may never ask that question. Again she may remain in ignorance all her life because there was no time to give the desired information. Oh, mothers, do stop and think what responsibilities are resting upon you. God holds you responsible for your neglect of duty. If your child has any inquiring mind feed it that it may grow in knowledge. As soon as winter is gone and the spring, with its warm sunshine balmy air opens upon us we begin to make preparations for flowers. We plant seed. We water the ground. We watch for results. Soon the little shoots come up. We watch them and soon the buds form. Then they burst and we have the beautiful flower. Much time has been devoted to these flowers. We feel repaid, but how much more beautiful that life that God has entrusted to your care that you might mold it into a beautiful life for time and eternity. Only a little while and the bird has flown from the home nest. What will the harvest be? What is the mother of today aiming at? Is it to bring your little one up for the Master? As a mother, I would say keep the dear one under the home, church and Sunday-school influence and teach it above all things to show respect for the Sabbath and God's house. Dear mother, do not shirk your duties. Do not say you have no time, for by and by you will find some one has had time to sow seed that will spring up to your sorrow. Mother.

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

Public Library Notes.

Popular Bird Books in the Public Library.

Do you ne'er think what wondrous being these?
Do you ne'er think who made them, and who taught
The dialect they speak, where melodies
Alone are the interpreters of thought?
Whose household words are songs in many keys,
Sweeter than instrument of man e'er caught.

LEAL'S NINE WON GAME

DEFEATED MONTCLAIR HIGH SCHOOL IN CLOSELY PLAYED CONTEST.

The Leal School baseball team opened the local scholastic season on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon with a victory over the nine from the Montclair High School. The game was exciting throughout and until the last man was out the result was uncertain. Brilliant fielding abounded at times on both sides and many long hits were pulled down by the fielders.

Lovell batted in hard luck, two of his hits which ordinarily were good for two and three baggers, were pulled in by the Montclair outfielders. L. Haughey pitched an unusually good game, being effective at critical times. J. Haughey caught his brother in great style and made a timely single.

The stories from Port Arthur forcibly remind one of Mrs. Langtry. The "farewell appearance" dodge is being worked to the limit.

Although William Randolph Hearst's nerve appears to be equal to his "bar'l," both will fail him if he continues to keep up the pace that kills in seeking a Presidential nomination.

At last the Legislature has eradicated the blot on New Jersey and the inhumane creatures in the Riverton Gun Club will have to go elsewhere if they want to soil the reputation of a State by their brutal practice of killing pigeons.

Q.—What is a good advertisement? A.—A good advertisement is one which contains just what you would say in a personal talk to a customer or a prospective one.

Q.—What is a bad advertisement? A.—A bad advertisement is one in which you and your business are placed in a false light; in which you say things about your business which would make your wife laugh at you. —Ex.

It is generally accepted by the newspapers throughout the State that Edward C. Stokes, of Cumberland County, has the Republican gubernatorial nomination clinched. Mr. Stokes has rendered valuable service as a member of the New Jersey Legislature and been a credit to his party. There is no question that among the dozen of Republicans who have been mentioned for the place, almost anyone would be more capable than the present incumbent, against whom his own party seems to rebel. As for the Democrats, there is a large list of entries and it is a fair race for the nomination. Former President Grover Cleveland has many admirers and is receiving some support from the press but it is extremely unlikely that he would accept a nomination. He believes that "the office should seek the man," but there is no record that he is of the conviction that the man should accept when found. With Mr. Cleveland eliminated, R. V. Lindabury at one time a resident of this city, but now of Essex County, looms us as a possibility. No one will deny his fitness. He is a profound lawyer and a man of unquestioned integrity. As governor of New Jersey there is every reason to suppose that he would discharge the duties of that high office in a most satisfactory manner. But it is argued against him that he represents big corporations. While this fact might detract from his ability as a vote getter in certain districts, it is no excuse for refusing to nominate him. From the general drift in the newspapers, there is a cry for a strong man to fill the gubernatorial chair and either Stokes or Lindabury would answer the requirements.

To Witness Performance.

The Packer Institute Alumni, of Brooklyn, are preparing to give "The Taming of the Shrew." The members of the cast have secured seats for the local performance which is to be given Saturday, May 7, at the Casino.

—An Eastbound trolley car left the tracks on Front street, near Somerset, this morning at 7:45 o'clock. There was no serious delay.

NO SHOW FOR HEARST HERE

BUT JOHN MOODY, OF CRANFORD, WAS NAMED AS ALTERNATE.

Five delegates of the nine elected from this city attended the Democratic county caucus in Elizabeth last night. Hearst's friends, led by Frank Shattle, of this city, made a stand, but were too much in the minority to accomplish anything.

The Plainfielders present were J. D. McAleer, F. J. Shattle, Second ward; Ira Hulbert, Bernard Brady, Fourth ward; J. H. Harkins, Third ward.

James Connolly, of Elizabeth, was named as the county candidate for delegate to St. Louis. Connolly received 26 votes, Keneley, 15, and Nugent, 10.

Frank Shattle placed John Moody, of Cranford, in nomination as choice for alternate. He was unanimously named.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The selection of Richard V. Lindabury, the well-known corporation lawyer, to preside over the Democratic convention, which meets in Trenton today to choose delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis in June, is now said by Democratic leaders to indicate the exact opposite of what it was first thought to mean. When the selection of Lindabury was announced, many jumped to the conclusion that this honor for the noted lawyer was the forerunner of his nomination for Governor. Now it is said that Lindabury has no chance of securing the Gubernatorial nomination, even if he would accept it, which is doubtful. Ex-Senator James Smith and a few others favor Lindabury, but the rank and file among the party leaders, it is known, do not want him. As one of the favorite lawyers for trusts and corporations in the courts of this State they think he would not make a strong candidate before the people, especially this year, when the equal taxation question is to cut so prominent a figure in the campaign.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 17.

Topic.—How Christ transforms lives.—Rom. xii, 1, 2; Phil. iii, 20, 21.

The Christian transformation of a human life is its complete change from sin, selfishness and worldliness to the love and service of God in Jesus Christ. It is the entire consecration of our inward and outward lives to God. The heart is changed, and the life is changed. We "present our bodies, a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is our reasonable service." Moreover, we are "not conformed to this world;" we do not have our lives fashioned after the world, but are transformed, changed in spirit and in life.

That Christ can transform the human life is indisputable. This fact is not only thoroughly testified to in the Scriptures, but abundantly proved in human history. Saul of Tarsus, the unbeliever and persecutor, was transformed into one of the most devout advocates of Christianity; Augustine, the infidel and skeptic, became a true defender of the faith; John B. Gough, Francis Murphy and many others have been turned from the power of strong drink to sober and powerful advocates of temperance and sobriety; prodigal sons and daughters have been changed into most obedient and faithful sons and daughters. Therefore, in speaking of Christ as one who is able to transform lives, we are speaking of a fact and not a fiction. And all unregenerate hearts and lives need to be changed, for "the natural heart is enmity toward God, for it is not subject to the law of God; neither, indeed, can be." It needs, therefore, to be transformed, and Christ alone can transform it.

But how does Christ transform lives? Paul answers this question in Rom. xii, 2, when he says, "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." The word mind here includes the entire psychical being—emotions, affections, conscience, intellect and will. The entire inward man must be renewed, and this is done by the power of the Holy Ghost. It is His especial office work to regenerate the human soul, to renew our minds, to transform the inward motives of life, which will also result in the transformation of the outward life. And one of the most efficient agencies through which we receive the power of the Holy Ghost to regeneration is prayer. Whoever is convicted of the sinfulness of the old life and desires and prays for the new will not be denied. This was the psalmist's experience. Convicted of his sinfulness, he prayed, "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." His prayer was answered, and so will ours be.

But complete transformation is not accomplished in the life. Christ's work of transformation begins here, but it does not end here. When He comes again He "shall fashion anew the body of our humiliation, that it may be conformed to the body of His glory. Now are we the sons of God, but it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that when He shall appear we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is."

A Well Known Endeavorer.

One of the most active and prosperous Christian Endeavor societies in New York has its home in the Marble Collegiate church, of which Rev. Dr. David James Burrell is pastor. Dr. Burrell is a long time Endeavor enthusiast and has espoused the cause with voice and pen. At state and international conventions he has spoken with frequency.

REV. DR. D. J. BURRELL.

A Message From Dr. Clark.

Things I should like to have happen in 1904:

First.—An effort made to start a Junior society in every church where there is a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.

Second.—Five thousand new pupils recorded in the correspondence school, many of them taking the Junior course, which fits Junior superintendents for their work.

Third.—Ten thousand new Christian Endeavor societies started, many in neglected neighborhoods (schoolhouse societies), business societies, mothers' societies (to pray for and help the Juniors), senior societies (of older Endeavorers and others to support the midweek meeting), prison societies, floating societies, school societies. What a variety and what opportunities! Surely I have set the mark none too high when there are such large possibilities.—Rev. Dr. F. E. Clark, Writing From Steamer's Deck at San Francisco.

Dr. Clark In New Zealand.

Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., president of the World's Christian Endeavor union, recently attended a great national Christian Endeavor convention in Dunedin, New Zealand. Hearty greetings were sent to America, and it was predicted by many that this great organization, with its millions of members in all parts of the world, will be a great bond of fellowship between the young people of the world. Dr. Clark had an interesting interview with the premier of New Zealand, who expressed great interest in and friendship for America and Americans.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD has been recommended by physicians and used by actresses, singers and women of fashion for more than twenty-five years. It is the only preparation known to medical science that will round out with firm, healthy flesh, thin cheeks, neck and arms.

One or two boxes are often sufficient to restore a breast lost through nursing or sickness to its original fullness and beauty. The same quantity will also show a decided improvement where the natural growth has been impaired. We have thousands of testimonials. What it has done for others it will do for you.

For removing wrinkles or crow's-feet about the eyes or mouth it acts like magic. Wrinkles which have been years in forming often disappear after a few applications.

Regular price $1.00 a box, but to introduce Dr. Charles Flesh Food into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us one dollar. We would thank you to send your order to-day and mention this paper.

FREE—A sample box and our book, "Art of Massage," illustrated with half-tone pictures of living models showing all the different movements for removing wrinkles, developing the bust and other beauty hints, will be sent free to any lady sending 10 cents to pay for cost of mailing.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 17: "The Transforming Power of Christ."—Rom. xii, 1, 2; Phil. iii, 20, 21.

The character of our religion is clearly shown by the use we make of our bodies. This is true not only of Christianity, but of all religions. In seeking means to satisfy our bodily appetites and needs, in preservation of health and physical life, all recognize their dependence to a great extent on an overruling power. Well being comes from obedience to the will of this Supreme Power outside ourselves. How to obtain favorable notice and benefits from this source is a most important question. On its right answer depends all our happiness and welfare. The answers to it have varied through all extremes of the scale, from the most superstitious self indulgence to the utmost fanatical self torture. Oftentimes, indeed, the opposite extremes have been closely joined.

Being in a world of material things, gratification of appetites has been found helpful to physical health. So men have concluded that good for self and honor to the Power that rules would best be reached by gratifying to the limit all cravings of appetites. So they have by gluttony, drunkenness, licentiousness and every sensual excess tried to reach the pinnacle of earthly enjoyment and good. This was ever and now is largely characteristic of all heathenism. It is forming life according to the world of fleshly lusts and material things. It is conformity to the world. In its nature it is the same whether found in temples of Corinth, parks of Antioch and palaces of Rome in the days of Paul, in heathenism of India or civilized vice of Paris, Chicago, New York and country crossroads of today. It never yields purity nor peace nor pardon. It diseases body and debauches the spirit and ruins society and dishonors God.

Seeing that such results always follow indulgence of bodily cravings to excess and that seeking for the pleasure to be had in such indulgence brings misery, men have tried to find a better way by starving the appetites, by fastings, abstinence, infliction of pains and penances and practice of all kinds of asceticism and self denial. But such bodily excesses have profited little when so pursued, whether in Hindooism or Christianity. The body has been emaciated, but the spirit has not been emancipated from the bondage to corruption. The appetites of soul have not been permanently purified. Peace and pardon do not come so.

Jesus teaches a different method. In this respect Christianity differs from all other religions and gives the only satisfactory way of living. Hence is the only religion adapted to all men and hence the obligation on all who profess it to carry the "good news" to all others possible.

Here we find body and spirit are good for each other. Appetites are indications of needs. Needs are to be properly supplied for the good of the spirit and not for the pleasure found in the act of supplying them.

Here lies the parting of the paths. Body is servant to spirit, ever to be kept as such in subjection. Eat so as to be strong and fitted for work. Make this body the most efficient instrument possible for the soul that is in it and must depend on it for development. Self indulgence for mere pleasure is vicious and sinful, because it weakens the powers of soul, wastes the forces of body needed for real work and often binds in steel fetters of habit both body and soul. This not only injures the man, but defrauds God of the man's service to Him.

Jesus shows service of God to be the only right, good and perfect path for soul life. He gives knowledge of God's will to all who seek. He gives power to all to do it. He gives joy to all who do it. This mind to do God's will instead of seeking mere physical and earthly gratification is a renewing and transforming gift of grace. The aim of life is shifted the diameter of the world. Now the body takes its place as servant of the soul, which is servant of God. It must keep its place and work until fashioned like unto the glorified body of Christ.

Holiness and Humility.

The highest lesson a believer has to learn is humility. Oh, that every Christian who seeks to advance in holiness may remember this well! There may be intense consecration and fervent zeal and heavenly experience, and yet if it is not prevented by dealings of the Lord there may be an unconscious self exaltation with it all. Let us learn the lesson, the highest holiness is the deepest humility, and let us remember that it comes not of itself, but only as it is made a matter of special dealing on the part of our faithful Lord and His faithful servant.—Andrew Murray.

Blessed Errors.

There be some honest errors wherewith I never found that God was offended. That a husband should think his own wife comely, although ill favored in the eyes of others; that a man should think more meanly of his own good parts than of weaker in others; to give charitable, though mistaken, constructions of doubtful actions and persons—which are the effects of natural affection, humility, love—were never censured by God. Herein alone we err if we err not.—Bishop Joseph Hall.

What God Blessed Once.

It's wiser being good than bad,
It's safer being meek than fierce,
It's fitter being sane than mad;
My own hope is a sun will pierce
The thickest cloud earth ever stretched,
That, after Last, returns the First,
Though a wide compass round be fetched;
That what began best can't end worst
Nor what God blessed once prove accurst.
—Robert Browning.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Girl From Kay's," at the Herald Square, delivers the goods, and all New York knows that it does. This is why it draws crowded houses and also why it has made the extraordinary record of seven months of capacity audiences at one of the largest theatres in New York. Its fun is inexhaustible, and its comedians are of the sort that never let a laugh get away from them. It is a musical comedy that appeals as strongly to fun lovers as a four-ring circus does to the devotees of the saw-dust circle. "The Girl From Kay's" taps more genuine fun in one evening than any entertainment New York theatre-goers ever knew.

William Collier has scored a tremendous success in Richard Harding Davis' farce, "The Dictator," which opened at the Criterion last Monday night. It may be said a double triumph was achieved, because Mr. Collier scored not only personally, but the play itself scored signally, and was declared to be one of the most amusing productions ever offered to a New York audience. Crowded houses during the week enjoyed the performances heartily, and enough is known about the public minds' attitude towards it at present, to assure both the star and the play a long and prosperous engagement at the Criterion Theatre.

With the engagement of William H. Crane in "David Harum" at the Academy of Music in New York there has been a return of vast audiences to that commodious playhouse. Not since the early days of "The Old Homestead" has the Academy known a success equalling that which is now being enjoyed by the dramatization of Westcott's novel. Of course it was expected that there would be a very great demand to see Mr. Crane in the revival of this play for there is no denying that it is one of the cleanest comedies of its kind the stage has ever had. Inasmuch as "David Harum" treats of country types and presents rural pictures it must be classed with the rual dramas, but for all this it is as unlike the majority of them as the moon is unlike green cheese.

The extensive preparations and frequent battles in the war between Japan and Rusisa, is giving an excellent opportunity for moving pictures. The Eden Musee has a representative in the field and he has already secured a large number of pictures. Each incoming steamer from the Far East brings a number of pictures and these are on exhibition at the Musee. They show the massing of troops of both countries, drill work, parting scenes and manoeuvers of war vessels including ships in action. An excellent idea of what a modern war is can be gained by seeing these pictures. They were not posed for but are pictures of actual events. Many other interesting pictures have been placed on exhibition, including comic scenes and events in foreign countries. The Buster Brown series is still attracting much attention. The antics of Buster and Tige will make any one laugh. Powell and Magician continues a special attraction.

Unquestionably the biggest hit of the season in New York is Raymond Hitchcock in "The Yankee Consul," at the Broadway Theatre. The spacious auditorium of the Broadway has been filled to its capacity nightly ever since the piece was produced in New York, and the fame of the attraction has spread over Manhattan Island to such an extent that the record for big business made by "The Prince of Pilsen" last spring and summer at this theatre bids fair to be eclipsed by the present offering. It is not hard to understand the reason for the success of "The Yankee Consul." Whatever elements go to make the musical comedy, or comic opera, desirable, are to be found in this production, and all of the best. It seems an extraordinary thing that in a comic opera the leading funmaker should never once play the clown. Screamingly funny and ridiculous as he is throughout the performance, he does not resort to horseplay. In his comedy, he is ably supported by Eva Davenport. Their heart to heart talks are wonderfully droll. Matinees are given at the Broadway on Wednesday and Saturday. The best seats at the Wednesday afternoon performances are $1.50.

—Brooks Carson, the florist, had charge of the decorations at the dinner given at the Casino Monday night by Charles J. Fisk. They were unusually attractive.

—Mr. Fulper, several years ago engaged in the grocery business on West Front street, but now of Orange county, N. Y., has been spending several days in town greeting old friends.

—Alexander Sails, who has been off duty for a number of weeks past on account of an attack of smallpox, has fully recovered and is back to his old position at E. B. Maynard's barber shop.

—A hearing in the case of School Trustee Stevenson, of Cranford, will be held this before Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction Betts, at the office of William Newcorn, of this city.

A REPUTATION.

How it Was Made and Retained in Plainfield.

A good reputation is not easily earned and it was only by hard, consistent work among our citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Plainfield residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for two or three years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the trouble disappeared."

DIAMOND DUST.

"Red" Waller, Westfield's pitcher, occupied the box on Sunday for the Bayside, defeating the Central Islip, 14 to 2. On the same day "Warry" MacLaughlin pitched for Poughkeepsie against Hoboken, and was defeated by a score of 10 to 0.

It has been asked that if the Alis Club want to change its baseball management, why it should be necessary to go out of town to Scotch Plains or any other town and get a manager. It is argued that there are today in this city persons thoroughly competent to manage a baseball team and know fully as much about the games and players as George Johnson, of last year's Scotch Plains team.

Among those capable of taking such a position are Charles W. Runyon, S. P. T. Wilbur, both of the old Crescent Club baseball team management, or what is the matter with getting "Tee Kay" Keller, who was the most successful baseball manager the town ever had. Tom would come back and give the town a shakeup on baseball lines. He knows all of the players and is considered the equal of any league manager.

YOUTHFUL FRIENDSHIP ENDS IN MARRIAGE

Miss Elizabeth A. Runyon Becomes Wife of Isaac C. Dunn, of Stelton.

CEREMONY AT HOUSE

THE MARRIAGE TAKES PLACE IN ISAAC GILES HOME HERE.

Rev. W. T. Dorward Officiates, Being Assisted by Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Ave. Church —The Wedding Reception.

Culminating a friendship that began in childhood in a Piscataway hamlet, Miss Elizabteh Amelia Runyon and Isaac Campbell Dunn were married last evening at the home of the bride's uncle, Isaac Giles, of Grove street. The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Runyon, of Stelton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn, of the same place. For the past seven years the bride has been living with her uncle here. She is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Cuming.

Friends and relatives, mainly the latter, to the number of 100, attended the ceremony. Guests were present from New Brunswick, Metuchen, Rahway, Stelton, Brooklyn.

The bridal party formed in the library at 6 o'clock. The bride, gowned in ecru silk voile, trimmed with chiffon applique, was a charming picture. She carried a trailing bouquet of roses and sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Mary Giles, her cousin, who wore a pretty creation of French blue nun's veiling, trimmed with silk; she carried Easter lilies. There was no best man, but two ushers, Frank Potter, of Rahway, and Edward Potter, of Metuchen, cousins of the groom, were included in the bridal procession.

From the library the party proceeded to the parlor, Mrs. W. T. Dorward, of Stelton, playing Mendelssohn's march. Before a heavy bank of potted plants and flowers, and directly beneath a big bell of Easter lilies, the couple were united by Rev. W. T. Dorward, of the Stelton Baptist church, the pastor of the groom. Rev. A. E. Finn, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, pastor of the bride, assisted. The bridal party marched down an aisle formed of white ribbons.

After the ceremony a collation was served in the dining room, which was decorated in red. The parlor was lavishly decorated with plants and flowers in green and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will enjoy a ten-days' Southern honeymoon trip. They will reside in Stelton.

Many handsome gifts were received from friends and relatives, including bric-a-brac, silverware, cut glass, furniture, articles of vertu and linene.

DATE FOR PRIMARIES SET

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE AGREES ON MONDAY, APRIL 25.

The official call for the Republican primaries in this city has been prepared by O. L. Jenkins, chairman of the city committee, and William Newcorn, secretary. The primaries will be held Monday night, April 25, at 8 o'clock. In the Second ward the primary will be held at the Bryant schoolhouse; in the Third ward at the Casino; and in the Fourth ward at Reform Hall. The First ward primary will be held in some room on North avenue.

Captured Another Russian.

Just because he was a Russian and apparently thought that all pedestrians were Japs, Moses Bender rode a bicycle full tilt along the sidewalk Wednesday, balancing a large sized wash-boiler in front in a way to prevent all possibility of passing. Roundsman Flynn called upon the minion of the Czar to halt, but Moses fixed him with a Vladivostock stare and tried to run him down. The brief skirmish resulted in another Russian disaster. Mose was effectually "bottled up" for the night in Port Kiely, and "blown up" by Admiral Runyon yesterday. He said he was trying to avoid trolley cars and was released on parole.

Gave a Card Party.

Miss Mary Duvier, of West Fifth street, entertained a few friends at cards last night. Refreshments were served after the play.

Miss Bessie Ulrich, of this city, has been spending a week with Job C. Kenyon, of Raritan.

CONGREGATION'S RECEPTION

REV. DR. AND MRS. W. C. SNODGRASS AS GUESTS OF HONOR.

Many pleasant features marked the eighth annual reception given to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass, by the members of the First M. E. church and congregation, last night, in Vincent chapel. The rooms were tastefully decorated with palms, potted plants and flowers. There was a very large attendance of members and friends and the good wishes extended to the pastor and his wife were hearty.

An excellent musical programme consisting of piano solos by Miss Alberta Waterbury, vocal solos by J. Edmund Skiff, organist of the Church of the Holy Cross and violin solos by Martin A. Korff. Several encores were given and each number was well rendered and received by hearty applause.

After the programme, Samuel Bingaman made the address of welcome to the pastor and his wife. His remarks were pleasing and very appropriate. Dr. Snodgrass responded in a happy vein. Other remarks followed by Rev. George Mooney, the new pastor of the Monroe Avenue church; Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp, of Grace M. E. church; Rev. Dr. Whitney and Rev. Dr. J. R. Bryant, each one extending best wishes to Pastor Snodgrass and his wife.

LEAL'S TEAM WINS AGAIN

SECOND GAME RESULTS IN ANOTHER VICTORY, LOSERS WESTFIELD H. S.

The Leal School baseball team won its second game, defeating the Westfield High School nine yesterday afternoon. The Westfield nine game a listless exhibition of the National game, which accounts for the large score of the Leal team. The Leal School team is fast rounding into shape and played good ball. Occassionally the members of the local nine made brilliant individual plays.

Daniels called for the applause of the spectators when he made a fine one hand catch after a long run, from the bat of Abrams. Lovell was seriously handicapped by a split finger which accounts for the ability of the Westfield team to hit his curves. Lovell had his eye on the ball and made two timely singles. Haughey caught his usual good game until a foul fly cut his face. He changed places with Glenney, who is a good substitute catcher. He made a fine catch of Welch's high foul.

SAVED HIS UMBRELLA, BUT NEARLY LOST LIFE

Otto Mueck, of this City, Was Saved From Watery Grave in New York Bay.

THE WORK OF RESCUE

HE IS CHIEF CLERK ON GOVERNOR'S ISLAND.

Unconscious When Brought From the Water—By Striking a Floating Board His Nose is Cut—Taken to Jersey City in Carriage.

In attempting to board the Government tug General Hancock, which plies between the Battery and Governor's Island, Otto Mueck, Chief Clerk of the Military Service on the island, fell into the bay.

He was struggling in the water when the crews of the revenue cutters Hudson, Mackinac and Calumet threw him ropes and life preservers. But Mr. Mueck was so intent upon saving an umbrella that he paid no attention to his rescuers.

Boatswain Peterson, of the Calumet, lowered a ladder over the side of the boat and tossing the man a rope drew him in. Mr. Mueck still grasped his umbrella and Lieut. Kotzschmar, of the Mackinac, decided to take a hand in the rescue. He rushed down the ladder and threw a hitch of the rope under the arms of Mueck and with Boatswain Peterson's help hailed him aboard.

Mr. Mueck was semi-conscious, his head having struck a floating board, and his nose was badly cut.

He later called a carriage and was driven to Jersey City, where he took a train for his home in Plainfield, N. J. His last remark on leaving was: "Well, I saved my umbrella."—New York Evening World.

CHANGES AT MARCONNIER

MR. STOVER RESIGNS AS SUPERINTENDENT OF SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

To fill the vacancy at Marconnier chapel caused by the resignation of Stephen Stover as superintendent of the Sunday-school, the Marconnier committee of the Trinity Reformed church consistory was authorized to act in regard to a successor. Mr. Stover's resignation was due to the fact of his removal from Oak Tree. He has been superintendent since the withdrawal of H. W. Marshall several months ago and has met with much success in the work.

It was announced at the meeting of the church consistory last night that Rev. Mr. Watt would continue to preach at the chapel Sunday afternoons until May 1. His salary was ordered paid until that time. After May 1, evening meetings will probably be held and will be addressed by laymen from this city.

Other business transacted by the consistory last night was mainly routine.

CLEVER READINGS.

The Performance Given by Mr. and Mrs. Labadie Elicits Unstinted Praise.

Judging from the performance at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Labadie deserved all the kind things that had been said of their "original idea" of combining into a couple of play-letters all the best lines of Shakespeare's most famous characterizations and a portrayal of great historical figures. The hall was well filled and the applause that greet all of the efforts of the performers was loud and long.

The musical part of the entertainment was well taken care of by Fred and William VanEps, banjoist and mandolinist, accompanied on the piano by William E. MacClymont. The Plainfielders were popular as ever and their performance as proficient as usual.

W. C. T. U. Clipping Social.

Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., a successful clipping social was held in the rooms on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. A number of women met and clipped interesting articles from periodicals and newspapers. These will be suitably arranged and sent to soldiers and sailors now in the service in various parts of the country. This work is in line with a plan adopted by the committee on soldiers' and sailors' work and the results are usually encouraging.

SAENGERBUND HALL PLANS SUBMITTED

Structure Similar in Appearance to That Destroyed to be Constructed.

ONE STORY HIGHER

THE BUILDING COMMITTEE AUTHORIZED TO SECURE BIDS.

The Interior Plans Differ From the Old House in Many Ways—The Insurance Has Not As Yet Been Settled.

Architect Charles Smith filed his plans for the new Saengerbund Hall at a special meeting of the organization last night. Arrangements were made to let the contract.

The plans were accepted as submitted. They call for a structure similar in general appearance to the burned building, but a story more in heighth. The interior plan has been changed from the old arrangement, ample space for the varied activities of the organization being provided.

The building committee was authorized to secure bids, and it is expected that the body will be ready to submit figures at the next session of the Verein.

Insurance matters were discussed, but the question of settlement was brought no nearer to actual wind-up than at previous meetings. It was voted to put the matter in the hands of a lawyer, and payment of the claim is expected to follow in short order.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

MISS GRACE CARROLL'S CONCERT A HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

High approval was expressed last night by all present at Miss Grace Carroll's song recital at the Casino as to the artistic work of Miss Carroll, contralto, and her assistants, Miss Martina Johnstone, violinist, and Victor Harris, pianist. The Casino was well filled. The applause at the end of all the selections was loud and long.

MRS. BELOFF SEEKS TO RECOVER FROM RAILROAD FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Suit for $35,000 against the Pennsylvania Railroad has been started by William Newcorn, Esq., of this city, for Mrs. Eva Beloff, of Stelton, whose husband, a farmer of that place, was killed on the road last October. The suit is brought in behalf of the widow and next of kin including eight children. It is a Supreme Court case and will be heard in the September term of the Middlesex Circuit Court.

UNION MEN OUT.

Imported Painters Are Compelled to Quit Work Here.

Another surprise was sprung by the striking painters this morning. At their request, a walking delegate from New York came here to spot union men at work for the bosses, and he issued orders that have practically tied the employers up again. It was acknowledge by one of the bosses this morning that most of the men imported from New York to break the strike were unionists. The strikers tumbled to the game a day or two ago and promptly sent word. The delegate ordered the men to quit. The orders were obeyed.

Miss May Christofferson, Sister of Bride, as Maid-of-Honor—Rev. Mr. Henry, of New York City, Officiates.

Miss Nellie Christofferson, daughter of Walter Christofferson, of East Sixth street, and William Heeren, of New York, were married yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the bride's home. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Henry, of the Eleventh Street Methodist church, of New York city.

Decorations of the house were largely floral in a color scheme of green and white, palms and rubber plants making an effective background for numbers of Easter lilies. About fifty witnessed the ceremony, including guests from New York, Philadelphia, Newark and this city.

The bride was gowned in white mohair trimmed with white silk and lace and wore lilies of-the-valley in her hair. She was attended by her sister, Miss May Christofferson, maid of honor, gowned in pale blue Swiss with trimmings of the same color and white roses in her hair. The best man was John Ross, of Philadelphia. The bride received many beautiful presents including silver and cut glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Heeren took the 5:29 train for St. Louis. They will spend the summer months in the West, returning to New York in December. They will reside either in this city or New York.

REPAIR WORK ON SEWER

IMPERFECTIONS OF SYSTEM ON SOUTH AVENUE, EAST OF LELAND AVENUE.

General repair work is being done all along the line of the sewer on South avenue east of Leland avenue. The street commissioner's men are examining it, and wherever repairs are necessary they are being made without delay.

This work is being paid for at the expense of the contractor. The sewer is of recent construction, and a percentage of its cost was held back for just the purpose to which it is being applied in the patching work now going on. Sewers are supposed to last for a generation, and leaks and other imperfections that develop soon after construction must be borne by the contractor. The present trouble is caused by excessive leakage of water from the surface.

INTERNATIONAL SCRAP.

The Boston Animal Whipped French Poodle in Approved Fashion Yesterday Afternoon.

A Boston bull terrior owned by Dr. T. S. Davis was insulted by something S. P. T. Wilbur's French poodle said yesterday afternoon at the corner of Park avenue and Front street, and an international scrap took place immediately. The Gallic canine had his neck full of teeth in less than two minutes, and a glazed and pensive expression was coming into his eye when a couple of sympathizing men pried the bull loose. The poodle was badly rumpled, but sustained no lasting damage. The terrier wasn't even out of breath.

DENMAN STARTED IT.

Agitation for Change in Manager in in Alis Club Begun by Him.

The originator of the suggestion that George Johnson, of Scotch Plains, be manager for the Alis Club baseball team, this season, was Charles H. Denman, manager of the Westfield team. Mr. Denman expressed some fear as to the strength of the Alis team, thinking it would not be strong enough to make good rivalry with the Westfield aggregation. Officials of the Alis Club are not alarmed concerning the strength of the team, and they do not believe that Westfield will have any walkover in the series of games. There will be a meeting of the club tonight.

PETITION FOR A TROLLEY

SOUTH PLAINFIELDERS OBTAINING SIGNATURES TO BE SENT TO P. S. C.

Active steps toward stiring the trolley company to action in the proposed extension of the service from this city to Oak Tree are being taken by residents of South Plainfield. A petition asking the company to make the improvement without further delay is being circulated, and signatures from practically every resident and tax payer in the village is expected to go on the list.

Naturally, the South Plainfield citizens are intensely interested in the extension question. With all the traffic between the two points, the only ways of going between the village and here has been by wagon, wheel or afoot.

When the first reports of the extension were made, the South Plainfield people hailed them with delight. They thought their isolation was coming to an end, and they were content to wait quietly until the improvement should be made. So much time has passed since the promise of the extension came out, however, that the villagers are beginning to feel that something is needed to move the trolley officials to action. The petition is the result of that feeling, and it is expected to waken the Public Service men to some real move in the direction of the much-needed line. William Norman, proprietor of the Lehigh Valley House, is at the head of the movement.

FIREMEN'S EXEMPTION RIGHT

CORPORATION COUNSEL REED TO DECIDE THE QUESTION.

Borough Counsel Reed will be called upon to decide whether or not the members of the old fire department who served less than seven years are entitled to exemption papers. All those who were members of the volunteer system and lacked the exemption certificate have applied for them. Because of the doubt as to the right of some of the applicants to the papers asked for, the officials have decided to refer the matter to Mr. Reed for his opinion.

Mr. Reed was questioned regarding the matter by a reporter for The Daily Press yesterday. He said he had not been asked officially to decide in the matter, but unofficially he had told the borough authorities that the law distinctly provides that when a fire department is legislated out of office all those who have served as long a two years are entitled to exemption certificates. He said he would make this ruling when the question was submitted to him for official opinion.

WOMAN MEETS AWFUL FATE

SISTER-IN-LAW OF WILLIAM A. WILSON IS ROASTED IN A BON-FIRE.

Burned in a bonfire in her own yard, Mrs. Powlison, sister-in-law of William A. Wilson, of Woodhull & Martin's shipping force, was fatally injured this morning. She is lying at the point of death in the General Hospital at Elizabeth, where the accident occurred. Her husband was badly hurt in trying to rescue her.

Mrs. Powlison was working in the yard near the fire, when her skirt caught. Her cries brought Mr. Powlison to her rescue, and he worked heroically to beat out the flames. Mrs. Powlison was mortally burned before the fire was extinguished, and her husband was severely injured. The woman was hurried to the hospital, but there is no hope for her recovery.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants, are showing a very attractive line of spring and summer goods and the firm is sure it can please you both as to quality and price.

Are you in search of perfect livery service? Go to J. D. Frazer, of Somerset street. His rigs are stylish in appearance, and his way of doing business is all that can be desired.

The quality of stationery and writing materials at A. M. Harper's store in Park avenue, cannot be excelled and the prices are low. He also keeps a full line of toys, dolls and sporting goods.

It makes no difference whether you order a sandwich or a full course dinner the quality and service is just the same at Timbo & Co.'s restaurant, on North avenue. This is one of the most popular eating places in the city, chiefly because the proprietors make every effort to please patrons.

There's no better, fresher, more delicious candy made than that sold by H. Mehrten, East Front street.

There is everything to be gained and nothing to be lost by buying your groceries of R. H. Keenan, the grocer and butcher, of East Fifth and Richmond streets. Keenan's prices for Friday and Saturday specials are the lowest possible.

The names Powlison & Jones are a guarantee of satisfaction to the furniture-buyer. There is no store in this section of Jersey so excellently equipped to please all kinds of tastes for furniture as Powlison & Jones'. East Front street.

With the approach of warmer weather, when the vegetable yield is great and the prices of "garden truck" is going down, Neuman Brothers have a splendid variety of vegetables, and the prices of them have sunk to correspond with the general trend of the produce market. There is no better place in this section to buy vegetables and fresh fruit, and the housewife who goes elsewhere makes a grave economic mistake.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Jack Shirley, of Liberty street, has resumed his position at the Potter Press Company's plant.

John Stafford, of Essex street, has returned to his position in the pattern shop at the Pond plant, after a week's sickness.

Joe Robinson, of West Third street, has returned to his position at the pattern shop at the Pond shop, after a recent severe illness.

Otto Reuter his resigned his position at the Potter Press Company's plant. Mr. Reuter will take charge of a retail coffee business in Elizabeth.

John Henry, of West Front street, who has been on the sick list for a month past, has resumed his position as pattern maker at the Pond plant.

Five men were laid off at the Potter Press Company's plant today, owing to slack of work. Unless business picks up there will be another lay off in the near future.

George Linzer, of West Second street, has taken a contract for the plumbing work on two new houses belonging to N. K. Barnes. The houses are located on West End avenue.

Lancaster Mowen, a Cornell student, who is employed at the pattern shop of the Pond Machine Tool Company's works, left yesterday for an unlimited vacation with relatives in Pennsylvania.

Allen B. Laing, the North avenue electrician, has secured the contract to do the electrical work at the new plant of the Aluminum Plate Works at Dewey Park. The new plant will begin operations May 1, the work of putting it in readiness being now well underway.

William Tobin, of South Second street, met with an accident while at work in the pattern shop at the Pond plant, yesterday. While Tobin was cutting a block on a band saw, the block slipped and his hand came in contact with the saw, inflicting a deep gash in his hand. The wound was dressed at the shop.

Tom Comerford, of West Fourth street, narrowly escaped fatal injury at Elizabethport yesterday morning. Mr. Comerford is employed at the Central Railroad shops. Owing to the wreck on the Central yesterday, all early trains were delayed. At Elizabeth, Mr. Comerford boarded the "Singer" train which runs to the Singer yards only. As the train passed the Central shop, Comerford jumped off. The train was going faster than he imagined and he was picked up badly bruised about the body. The injured man had his wounds dressed at the Central shop.

To Sell Clarkson Property.

The auction sale of the W. R. Clarkson property on East Front street, opposite Berkman street, takes place at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon upon the premises. The house and a plot of ground about 210 feet front by about 566 feet will be sold in one parcel, and another lot of equal size, adjoining and vacant will be sold separately. The Westfield trolley cars pass the corner of East Second and Berkman streets one block from the house. The sale is held to close the estate of the late William R. Clarkson, and it is not unlikely that the place will be sold at a decided bargain. It is one of the handsomest places in Plainfield.

F. Boyd Edwards, at one time Y. M. C. A. secretary for various schools and colleges, will address the Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tonight.

County Engineer Dougherty, of Somerset County, was authorized by a resolution adopted at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders held at Somerville on Tuesday, to survey the river road from Raritan to Two Bridges for macadamizing, instead of the turnpike from Somerville to the Hunterdon County line. A petition to macadamize the road from the bridge on North Bridge street in Somerville to the northerly line of Mrs. Martha Kenny's land was filed.

Miss Adele vonOhl, of this city, made a decided hit Monday night, appearing in the leading role in "The Bond of Honor," at the anniversary of the Irvington Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., celebrated in Newark. She received great applause for her admirable work and was many times recalled. There is a movement on foot to give the play at the Casino in the near future. C. Ellsworth Oelrich, of Irving, a talented actor, is interested in the local performance.

John Weler, the gentleman burglar, was removed from the Somerset County jail at Somerville Tuesday morning by County Detective Totten to the State prison where he will serve a five-year sentence. There were eight charges of robbery brought against Weler by residents of Bound Brook. He pleaded guilty to all.

Weler expected to be sentenced for ten years for his extensive robberies, and he expressed himself as well pleased with the leniency of the court. Weler's gentlemanly demeanor after his arrest and the assistance he gave his victims in recovering about $1,400 worth of valuables, which he had pawned, won the admiration of the authorities.

Episcopalians are to have a summer conference for the deepening of the spiritual life. Heretofore many of them have been going to Northfield, Silver Bay and other summer places maintained by other religious bodies. The present project is fostered from this city, and in immediate charge of its details is the American Church Missionary Society, which has headquarters in the Church Missions House, at Fourth avenue and Twenty-second street. Richfield Springs and Cooperstown, in the country made famous by J. Fenimore Cooper in his Leatherstocking tales, have been selected as the location, and the dates chosen are August 4 to 14. The Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the Sunday-school Commissions of New York and Massachusetts, the Lay Helpers' Associations and General Episcopal Missions, have unofficially united in the project. So, too, have Episcopal societies in Columbia, Yale, Princeton and Cornell Universities, in Trinity College and in the General Theological Seminary.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Iconoclasts at Work.

The iconoclast is again at work. Not content with proving that Ethan Allen never carried a Bible, but couldn't even read, and that George Washington drank schnapps and played pinochle with the Hessians between the lines, he now sets up a claim that Noah Raby was a comparative youth when he died. How can a nation acquire a literature under such conditions?—Morris County Chronicle.

S. S. Swackhamer, of Somerset, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the House, and incidentally his friends are working to secure him the nomination for Congress this fall. Swackhamer enjoys the distinction, and it is acknowledged by the Republicans, that he has helped to kill more worthless bills than any ten men in the Assembly. Likewise, he has helped to pass some of the more important ones that did become laws.—Trenton True American.

Plainfield, N. J., April 15, 1904.

Lend your support to the proposition to inaugurate horse shows here. Plainfield must keep abreast, if not ahead, of the times in such matters.

We do not read the New York American but presume that it yells "Fraud" today when relating the story of the New Jersey Democratic convention. Grover Cleveland pleaded for a "safe and sane Democracy" and his cry was heard at the convention yesterday.

There's nothing the matter with New Jersey. She's kicked out those brutes from Pennsylvania who found delight in killing pigeons here and she's knocked the Hearst phantom in the head. It has all taken place in one week. Oh, there's nothing the matter with New Jersey.

There are always a certain number of people in a place who are interested in the article you are advertising; they are either in immediate need of it or intend to purchase it some time in the future, and the name of the article or some thing closely related to it will attract their attention more quickly than anything else, and a good description of what you have to offer will have greater weight with their judgment than any other thing you can say.—Ex.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a short business meeting tonight, in Vincent chapel, followed by a social.

The elders of Trinity Reformed church have selected H. J. Martin and Robert Clark, Jr., delegates to the Classis during the coming year.

H. Wilson Derby, who intended singing this year at the First M. E. church, has decided to become a member of the quartette at the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Cassie Smith, of Ocean Grove, will give a Bible reading tonight in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue and all persons interested are cordially invited.

William D. Murray will address the young people of the First Baptist church tonight, on the subject "How we get our English Bible." The talk will be illustrated by chart.

Rev. O. Lindegren, of Boston, Mass., who was to preach in the Swedish Pilrgim church this evening, has written that he cannot be here. Therefore there will be no meeting.

Mrs. Cassie Smith, of Ocean Grove, will give Bible readings today and tomorrow, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., at the home of Mrs. R. K. Case, on Central avenue, instead of the Union's rooms.

F. H. Andrews will lead the meeting of the Young People's Association at the Crescent Avenue church tonight. Illness will prevent F. Boyd Edwards, who was expected to speak, from being present.

In all probability the young people of the First Baptist church will continue to meet on Friday nights, although the members have voted to reorganize and withdraw from the Christian Endeavor Society. As soon as the committee appointed for the purpose, drafts new by-laws and constitution, plans for the future will be presented.

The thirty-third annual meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth, held in Elizabeth on Wednesday, was largely attended. Mrs. Milliken, of this city, was elected one of the vice presidents and Mrs. D. N. Groendyke was a member of the nominating committee. It was decided to hold the next meeting in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Both the First and Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church were well represented at the meeting.

A Musical Morning.

Yesterday was indeed "a red letter day" to the "Rasores" and a few friends, invited by Mrs. Waldo to her pleasant home on First place. Mrs. Waldo gave a bright, informal sketch of "Beethoven, the Man." He was a bachelor, and a few extracts from his diary like that "June 10, engaged a few housekeepers;" in 1802 "dismissed the housekeepers;" July 3, "engaged a cook;" July 9, dismissed the cook," prove conclusively that the "servant girl problem" with which twentieth century housekeepers are wrestling is by no means a new idea. As illustrations of Beethoven, the musician, were given: 1, trio in Eb, piano, cello and violin; 2, string trio in Eb; 3, Scotch song, "Faithful Johnney," alto voice, piano, cello and violin; 4, Beethovens, "Moonlight Sonata;" 5, "Legends," for violin and piano; 6, Mozart, a song, alto voice, string quartette with piano; 7, grand trio in F, piano, violins and cello.

Humorist Loomis the Attraction.

A new and sparkling comedy by Charles Battell Loomis, the humorist, will be given at the Fanwood clubhouse tomorrow night. It is entitled "A Tramp at Home." Mr. Loomis will head the cast and his support will be as follows: Miss Elizabeth Kyte, TenEyck Beardsley, Hudson Thompson, Miss Bessie Babcock, Miss Florina Nichols and Miss Ethel Kyte.

No Worries for Mayor Bill.

"Mayor" Bill Smith, of New Market, says he has relinquished all interest in baseball matters and the fight now being made over the estate of his sister. He and his wife expect to leave Tuesday on a tour across the continent.

Jolly Party at New Dover.

A housewarming at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Lott, of New Dover, was attended by friends from Elizabeth, Rahway, Metuchen, Newark, Brooklyn and this city. Music was provided by Samuel Frazee.

THE TRAINED NURSE

The Necessary Qualifications

THE profession of trained nurse is one about which girls and even women have plenty of illusions. The picturesque side of it appeals to them, and they see possibilities of romances and "interesting situations" not likely to occur in ordinary life.

"We have three kinds of applicants," said the principal of a large training school. "The young and pretty applicant wants to be a nurse because it appeals to her from the picturesque side, and she sees the possibilities of romance in it. Two months of good hard work usually cure her of that. Second, there is the woman who decides to take up nursing after the best years of her life have been spent in other unsuccessful pursuits and who thinks that by this means she can find an easy way to supplement her defective income. Third, the woman who feels really drawn to it, who is a ministering angel in a sickroom and who, like a Sister of Charity, wants to make it her life work. The last named is the only one who makes a good and useful nurse."

The life of a nurse is, for the three years of training at least, as prosaic as any other profession and certainly a great deal more restricted. First, there are two months of probation, during which she is not allowed to wear a cap and uniform, and she is carefully watched to see if she has the proper qualities to be a nurse. After these two months of probation she receives a cap and uniform, and she is detailed to do assistant ward work, which means that she is at the beck and call of the experienced nurse from morning till night. This continues for a whole year, at the end of which time she gets her first month's service in the operating room.

If the doctors find her services valuable in the operating room she is kept there for a couple of months at the beginning of her second year or maybe longer. It takes a strong constitution to stand the sights and, above all, the continuous and heavy smell of ether, which is warranted to take away what little appetite one has.

The second year is devoted to ward work, with the assistance of a first year nurse to do the running about and the drudgery.

The third year she is made head of a ward, and the last six months she devotes to private patients in the hospital.

Then there are extra courses which she will want to take at other hospitals. She will go for a few months to the large Maternity hospital to learn the thorough care of mothers and infants. Then will follow, if she wants to be thorough, a course in the hospital for contagious diseases—diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc.—so that by the time she has finished she is completely equipped for any emergency.

During all this time she has been getting her board and laundry free, plus the sum of $6 a month for the first year, $8 for the second and $12 for the third. Some hospitals give less, but this is the maximum. When she graduates she is given $100

Private cases afterward bring her in $25 a week, plus her board and lodging, and from $30 to $35 for contagious cases.

Her hours are from 7 to 7, night or day. She must attend class three nights a week, from 7:30 to 9:30. She is free from 7 until 10 every other night save those evenings devoted to class. One night she may have until 12 and one entire afternoon every week.

Anything in the nature of an unprofessional attitude toward the doctors is severely condemned, and she is strictly watched. She is not supposed to know them outside in a society way at all.

The nurse who is not patient, cheery and, above all, sensible stands no show of success whatever. Both doctors and patients will distrust her and refuse to have her around at critical moments. The first thing a nurse must practice is self forgetfulness. She must not mind any sights or sounds during the discharge of her duty. She must preserve the most absolute secrecy as to what she sees and hears, particularly during the delirium of her patients, and she must forget that she has a nerve in her body.

From these things it will be seen that a nurse's life is not exactly one where sentimentality has a chance to flourish, but it is a well paid, reliable and noble way for a woman to earn her living.

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any READING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

AMUSEMENTS.

The revival of "The Two Orphans" at Klaw & Erlanger's New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, will prove the greatest financial, as well as artistic hit of the current season. Its second week, ending last Saturday, showed receipts of nearly $17,000. The receipts its first week—Holy Week—were nearly as large. This generous patronage well demonstrates the really extraordinary public interest which exists in this sterling old play and indicates the attendance of unusually large audiences till the end of its run. As presented at the New Amsterdam Theatre, it is one of the best acted plays seen on the New York stage in many years. Every part is in the hands of a player exactly fitted to it. Such a perfect combination of dramatic virility and ripened talent has never before been seen in this country. It represents that element which must always accompany the best in stage art when it is financially successful—the element, or quality of merit, of being genuinely entertaining. The play tells a story of humor interest and the characters are flesh and blood creations—the actors and actresses making them convincingly real.

The Orange Field Club team will play in Dunellen Saturday, April 23. More candidates will be given a try-out there. April 30 is open, and Manager Smith, of Westervelt avenue, is anxious to close a game with either the P. H. S. or Leal's.

Reasons why the Alis Club baseball committee has not been able to secure Quinby to play on the team, were given out last night by one of the committee. Mr. Quinby would agree to play on the team, provided John Barnes, a former member, would also play. This arrangement could not be made satisfactorily and the committee was obliged to decline Mr. Quinby's services.

The Y. M. C. A. championship bowling tournament will start tonight with fifteen entries.

LITERARY.

Ainslee's is setting a standard in the matter of decorated covers that other magazines will find it difficult to equal. The May number has one designed by Mucha, which, in beauty of composition, grace of drawing, and delicacy and harmony of coloring, is typical of the best work of the great decorator.

The leading story in the May number of Wayside Tales just out, is by Ashton Hillier, the famous English short story writer, whose stories of army life in India are second only to Kipling's. Other stories are by Frank H. Spearman, Eugene Katz, William Emmet Moore, Dr. Axel V. Grafstrom and Frank N. Stratton.

The April Bookman, is, in many ways, the most noteworthy number of that magazine ever published. It opens with the usual Chronicle and Comment on the passing literary and artistic show, with numerous portraits. Then follows an article from a new point of view, by Maurice Macterlinck, on "Universal Suffrage." Then Edwin Lefevre's paper on "The Newspaper and Wall Street," in which the relations of the principal New York papers with the financial world are carefully and interestingly told; an article on "Tastes," by F. M. Colby; a seasonable paper on "Journalism in Japan," by Yone Noguchi, the young Japanese writer; Dr. Cooper's grouping and review of the more notable recent books; a penetrating and clever review of George Bernard Shaw's work; a short biographical sketch of John Sharp Williams and Victor Smith's paper entitled, "Starting a Magazine," in which the amusing experiences of two novices in publishing a magazine are humorously narrated.

SAYS REPUBLICANS ARE BAD

ASSEMBLYMAN SWACKHAMER ADDRESSES JEFFERSONIAN CLUB.

The customary celebration of the Jeffersonian Club, in commemoration of the birthday anniversary of Thomas Jefferson, was held Wednesday night at the clubhouse at Newark, and the feature of the event was an address by Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, on the life of Jefferson and the principles of Democracy which he expounded. He also took occasion to score the Republicans for their legislative record.

The speaker enlivened his speech with many anecdotes, and had his audience in a high good humor. He began by decrying the wholesale and irresponsible attacks made upon corporations because they were corporations, and declared that it was a mistaken policy and tended to alienate the sympathy of the conservative business elements, which played so important a part in political campaigns. He was not in favor of attacking a corporation simply because it was a corporation, because, he averred, there were many honest organizations of this character, whose business was conducted on fair principles, and it was wrong to include them in the denunciation.

Mr. Swackhamer went on to make an onslaught upon certain corporate interests which, he said, had tried to sway the legislators at Trenton at the last session to their way of thinking. He declared that if the coming Democratic campaign was fought on the lines of making exposure of the present and past Republican State administration of public affairs the people's eye would be opened.

"I know what I am talking about," said the Assemblyman, "and I tell you that if the people of this State only knew a small part of the things that have happened down in Trenton this year they would rise and crush the party out of power."

CALLS BRIDEGROOM BIGAMIST

JAMES E. CODINGTON, OF SOMERVILLE, ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

James E. Codington, a wealthy real estate dealer, of Somerville, who married last December Miss Lillian May Wyckoff, prominent in society in Griggstown, was arrested in Philadelphia today on a charge of bigamy, preferred by a woman who represented herself as Mrs. James E. Codington, of Astoria, L. I.

She says he married her at Astoria in 1894 and deserted her in 1902. She stated that her maiden name was Emma Frances Hopper.

Codington was tracted to Asheville, N. C., where he had gone to spend his honeymoon. He and his bride suddenly disappeared from there, and last week were traced to Philadelphia. Codington, who is reported to be worth $50,000, was working as a waiter in a restaurant. He was living with his bride at a boarding house at No. 123 North Seventeenth street. His bride followed him to court and wept bitterly.—New York Herald.

Horace Codington, of Somerville, when seen by a reporter for The Daily Press regarding the story reflecting on his brother, said it was merely a case of blackmail.

James E. Codington is a brother of Freeholder Joel Codington. The accused man until recently owned considerable property in this vicinity but he conveyed much of it away since his alleged marriage to the Astoria woman. It is reported that his alleged wife did not sign the deeds and consequently the titles are claimed to be faulty.

Full credit for the investigation of the case and arrest is due to County Detective Totten, of Somerville, who searched for the man after the warrant was sworn out and finally located him in Philadelphia where he was acting as a waiter in a Childs' restaurant.

Exit the Volunteer.

The last little act in divorcing the old fire department from the new in the borough has been taken. The names "Warren 1" and "West End 2" were painted out from the sides of the hose carts and "Hose Cart No. 1" and "Hose Cart No. 2" were put in instead.

A Donor of Prize.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who is a member of the committee in charge of the Lakewood Horse Show to be held at Lakewood, May 6 and 7, is the donor of one of the prizes which are to be silver cups and pieces of plate instead of money.

Wedding Date Set.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Du Bois and Carl Drange, of Park avenue, will be celebrated Wednesday, April 27, at the home of the bride.

NOW IT IS A LOCAL CONCERN

A PLAINFIELD BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION STARTS OUT ANEW.

The Central Building and Loan Association of Plainfield, is a new building and loan formed out of the Plainfield district of the New Jersey Home Buyers League. The league was doing a nice business here in Plainfield but the building and loan law of 1903 requires State organizations of this class to change their methods. Therefore the Plainfield district deemed it best for all concerned to withdraw from the State Association, and form a local association, embodying the most improved and up-to-date methods required. Their loans here are of the best and their money is well invested. Not only have the majority of the investors already transferred their shares, but quite a number of new members have come in at once. The board of management of the Central Building and Loan are: F. deL. Hyde, J. A. Hubbard, W. N. Stillman, H. C. VanEmburgh, D. M. Runyon, Charles H. Dunham, Fred J. Viewig, J. D. Loizeaux, John E. Dunn, H. B. MacDonald and J. F. MacDonald.

LINCOLN AND DEWEY PARK MAY BE SOLD

New York Realty Company Seeks to Purchase the Twin Boom Towns.

A BIG BUSINESS DEAL

A GREAT DEMAND FOR HOUSES AT BOTH PLACES.

S. D. Drake and Mr. Polhemus in Communication With New York People—Transaction to be Closed in Ten Days.

Attracted by the birth of a big realty boom, New York capitalists have reached out to gather in Lincoln and Dewey Park. Silas Dewey Drake, the founder of both towns, and a heavy holder of Lincoln property, declared this morning that the sale of both places to the biggest realty company in New York was only a matter of a few weeks.

Dewey Park and Lincoln real estate has been on the jump, Mr. Drake says, since the Aluminum Plate and Press Company, actually began the removal of its plant to the former place. Plainfield real estate agents are said to have received fifty applications for small houses up to the present time, and the end of the boom is not anywhere in sight.

These applications, of course, cannot be met at the present time, and the resultant stirring among the real estate men has reached the sharp-eared and sharp-witted men in the New York market. More than two weeks ago a big metropolitan concern opened negotiations with Mr. Polhemus, the New Brunswick capitalist, who owns 400 Dewey Park lots, for the purchase of the entire tract. $35,000 is the price mentioned.

While Mr. Polhemus was considering the offer, Mr. Drake received a proposition from a big real estate combination, a concern backed by the Realty Trust, to purchase Dewey Park and Lincoln bodily. Mr. Drake immediately wrote Mr. Polhemus, asking him to call off the deal with the other people, and join him in completing negotiations with the Trust.

Mr. Drake is confident that the big deal will go through swiftly. He said this morning that the sale would be effected in less than ten days.

If the deal does go through it will be the culminating success of Silas Dewey Drake's remarkable career as a land boomer. It was he who founded Lincoln, and made it one of the most notable towns of its size in this section.

DOING BUSINESS ON SUNDAY

PROTEST AGAINST ALLOWING FOREIGNERS TO KEEP THEIR STORES OPEN.

Action against foreign storekeepers in the borough who violate the spirit of the Sabbath closing ordinance is becoming a matter that requires the attention of the North Plainfield authorities. It is believed that the class of tradesmen referred to are boldly using fake religious "convictions" to cloak Sunday trading.

As far a it goes, the claim that Saturday is their Sabbath is good enough for the law on its face, but the way the "Sabbath" is observed is believed to hold the shopkeepers open to prosecution as violators of the Sunday laws. The law was not designed, as the foreign tradesmen seem to think, to enable shopkeepers to close on a comparatively dull day and do the brisk business that results from the closing of all other stores on another day.

Senior Class Play.

Antigone, the tragedy by Sophocles, will be presented by the senior class of the North Plainfield school graduation week. Those who will take part in the play are Otto Mueck, Leslie Backer, Ernest Powlison, Florence White, Angelina Jackson, Mamie Davenport, Ethel Quipp, Leonard Mantz, Mabel Farlee, Bertha Lindsay, Ethel Daggett, Fannie Wolf and Mary Mair.

JUDGE NEUNAN, OF LIMAVADY, IRELAND, GUEST OF COL. WILSON.

Judge J. Neunan, of Limavady, Ireland, is a distinguished guest at the home of Col. John F. Wilson, "Tunlaw." He will remain here until next Wednesday, when he will sail for home. He is now enjoying a two months' leave of absence. During the past five years he has been a representative of the British Crown, in Central British Africa. He was recently appointed Lord Chief Justice of Western India. This new post puts him under the direction of the home office and is one step higher in the English government.

Judge Neunan is charmed with America and her people and he thinks the home life here is an ideal one. A few days ago he was entertained in Philadelphia by friends whom he met some seven years ago while abroad. He is a delightful personage, genial and very entertaining.

BENEFICIAL SOCIETY ELECTS

HENRY HEARTLE PRESIDENT OF NEW GERMAN ORGANIZATION.

Formation of the new German benefit association, announced last week, was completed Thursday night. Sixteen charter members are on the roster, and a dozen or more new members are expected in a short time.

The organization goes under a German title, which is interpreted as the Workmen's Sick and Death Benefit Fund. It will meet the third Tuesday in each month in the rooms above Schanz's place on Park avenue. The death benefit is $250. Children and wives of members are eligible to election.

The local association is one of a chain that spreads all over the country and represents a total membership of 40,000. Several of the men who have affiliated with the new Fund were members in other places, and worked for the organization here to gather the scattered memberships together. Eight propositions have already been filed for action at the next meeting, and more are looked for.

The following officers have been chosen: President, Henry Heartle; vice president, Max Mothes; corresponding secretary, John Migdat; financial secretary, Frank Haurand; treasurer, Edward Duchesne. Auditors, Gabriel Scivway, A. Stutzenburg, Charles Gaebelor.

NEAL PUT OUT FIRE.

Destruction of a Wagon Prevented by Young Man's Act.

Ignition of a mass of curled hair in the front end of one of Fred W. Dunn's delivery wagons caused much excitement on a small scale at the corner of Park and North avenues about 10 o'clock this morning.

The cushion on the wagon seat furnished the material for the fire which was directly caused as nearly as could be ascertained, by the driver stepping on a match on the floor of the vehicle, which he left not two minutes before. Patrolman Vanderweg and Frank A. Neal sighted the conflagration simultaneously but Neal beat the officer to the scene of action and gently but firmly placed a wooden box upon the flaming stuff which quickly subsided and was thrown into the street.

In the City Court.

Arrested by Patrolman McCarthy for drunkenness, James Williams, colored, was released on suspended sentence this morning by City Judge Runyon. "Allie" Whirrell and George Brandt, accused of vagrancy, promised to leave town if given the chance, and the Judge was willing.

CORDIAL GREETING FOR NEW MINISTER

Rev. George Mooney Receives Warm Social Welcome From Members of His Flock.

OTHER PASTORS THERE

FIVE ADDRESSES BY CLERICS AND PROMINENT LAYMEN.

Cordial Expressions Over Mr. Mooney's Advent—Response by the New Pastor—Music and Refreshments.

Social welcome was cordially extended to the Rev. George Mooney, the new pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, last night by his flock. Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Epworth League a reception of unusually pleasant nature was held.

It was largely attended by the members of the Monroe church, and the pastors of the other two Methodist churches, Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, of the First, and Rev. Dr. Earp, of Grace, were also present, with a number of their parishioners, to make the welcome one from all the Methodists of the city. Rev. Dr. Bryan, a former pastor of the First church, and Rev. Dr. Whitney, another retired cleric, were present also.

Five addresses of welcome were delivered, the speakers being Walter McGee, who spoke for Monroe; Dr. Earp, who spoke for Grace; Dr. Snodgrass, for First church, and Drs. Bryan and Whitney. In different tenor they all expressed the warm pleasure of Methodists over the coming of Mr. Mooney to this city, and promised him hearty and cordial support in his efforts to better the spiritual condition of his charge. Mr. Mooney responded in happy phrase.

Songs by a quartette composed of J. W. Daub, David Jones, Louis Tallamy and John Osborn were features of an enjoyable musical programme. Mrs. David Jones was accompanist and Miss May Brower played a number of piano solos.

After the speechmaking, the ladies took charge of the affair, and a social period ensued. Those who had not met Mr. Mooney took the opportunity to shake him by the hand, and the new pastor was kept busy exchanging coridal greetings. He produced a highly pleasant impression on all those who met him.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by a committee of young men, at the head of which was N. Mansfield Smith. The committee of ladies in charge was composed of Mrs. I. P. Larew, Mrs. Nicholas Brouard, Mrs. Frederick Wenzel.

The church was lavishly decorated with potted plants, palms and ferns being used with attractive effect. The decorations were placed by a committee consisting of Mrs. Mansfield Smith, chairman; Miss Olla Kline and Miss Edith Manning.

Henry Maze Ackerman Fittingly Observes His Fourth Birthday.

Henry Maze Ackerman, in a justifiable burst of pride and hospitality, entertained a number of his young friends yesterday afternoon. The affair was more than justified because it was the observance of Henry Maze's fourth birthday. Games and refreshments in superabundance made the party a highly enjoyable one for all the guests and Henry Maze himself.

Among the young people present were Janet Hand, Margaret Townley, Helen Clark, Willie Townley, Frank Hand, George Ackerman, Jack Townley, Elmer Hand, May Ella Hand, Joseph Clark, Jr., Mrs. Clark, Mrs. F. Hand, Mrs. William Townley, Mrs. Edward Townsley, Mrs. M. Hand, and Mrs. Burns, of Newark, assisted Mrs. Ackerman in helping Henry Maze entertain his guests.

Blaze on Brunson Property.

Less than two hours after their call to Netherwood, yesterday, the firemen were ordered out to another grass fire in the extreme West End. The grass and bushes on the Brunson property, near Clinton avenue, was ablaze, threatening a barn. Hose Company No. 3 went to the scene and laid in a line of hose. The alarm came by telephone.

Another Novelty in Train Schedules.

About two years ago the New Jersey Central inaugurated a schedule of hourly trains between New York and Philadelphia, a train leaving either city every hour from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m., and so successful was the scheme that the management has decided to put in operation a similar schedule between New York and Washington only that trains will leave every other hour from either city—that is at 8, 10 a. m., 12, 4, 6 and 7 p. m., from New York and at 7, 9, 11 a. m., 1, 3, 5, 7 p. m. from Washington. An equipment of coaches, parlor, sleeping and dining cars similar to that in use in the Philadelphia service will be used on the New Royal Blue line which with a fine road bed and the shortest route will make the line one of the most popular south.

BOONTON'S TRAGEDY

Reservoir Gives Up Body of Diver William Hoar.

BRAVE WORK BY BROOKLYN EXPERT

Diver Rice, Although Nearly Overcome by Exhaustion, Removed the Holding Weight and Brought Comrade's Body to Surface.

BOONTON, N. J., April 16.—Ninety-five hours after he descended to the bottom of the Boonton reservoir to be trapped and suffer a lingering death the body of William Hoar, the diver, has been brought to the surface. John M. Rice, the Brooklyn diver who repaired the valve sixty-five feet below the water surface so that the suction holding Hoar's body to the bottom was cut off, worked away at the reservoir's bottom and at 1 o'clock gave the signal to the men on the raft to hoist away.

It was a hard pull to drag the weighted diver's armor with its inanimate contents to the water's surface. As soon as it was on a level with the raft it was made fast, and then the helpers seized it and drew it aboard. The glass opening in the helmet was unlocked, but not a sign of life was apparent.

Next Diver Rice was drawn up from the reservoir bottom. The men on the raft signaled the shore as soon as they began to draw up Hoar's body, and Coroner Collins of Morristown and Dr. Taylor of Boonton, who had been kept waiting nearby, at once put off in a rowboat for the raft.

A great crowd had lingered on the shore opposite where the raft was anchored all morning, expecting to see Hoar's body brought to the surface at any time.

Diver Rice was at work early in the morning, and when he went below the surface it was thought that a half hour's work would release Hoar's body. Conditions were so bad, however, at the great depth at which the diver worked that all the morning was consumed before Rice could give the signal to hoist the body. He had to move slightly the great ball of lead and wood intended to stop the escape pipe originally lowered and the weight of which pinioned Hoar at the reservoir's bottom and caused his death.

To move the great ball required hours of prying under disadvantageous circumstances. Several times Rice had to ascend to the surface to rest and recuperate.

By 9 o'clock Diver Rice and his assistant had all repairs made, and the water was shut off from the pipe. The whole time occupied by Rice in stopping the suction was about eight hours. It is believed that if the plan finally adopted had been followed when it was first found that Hoar was caught between the pipe and the ball the man's life would have been saved.

After the flow of water was stopped in the pipe preparations were made for Rice to descend and bring Hoar's body to the surface. There was a high wind blowing, and much difficulty was experienced in getting the raft anchored at the right spot.

At 10:40 o'clock Rice made a descent, staying down twenty minutes. Then he came to the surface and descended a second time at 11:13 o'clock. On the second descent he remained down a long time, arranging around the big ball the ropes by means of which it was to be pulled away from its position at the end of the pipe.

A rope was run from the shore to the ball. After a long wait the men on the raft signaled the men on shore. In response the rope was manned and an effort made to dislodge the ball. Notwithstanding the fact that the suction had been stopped, the great weight of the ball made it a difficult matter to budge it. Time and again the men strained at the rope, but the ball did not appear to move.

At last, after a half dozen attempts, the ball was dislodged and pulled away from the end of the pipe.

Then Bill Hoar's body was brought up.

Whole Family Poisoned.

SOUTH HADLEY FALLS, Mass., April 16.—The state authorities are investigating the sudden deaths of three children of Doria Capistrand, a woodchopper here, and the mysterious illness of the mother. Portions of meat thought to be the cause of the illness were taken away recently for a chemical analysis by the state board of health. All knowledge of what was found is withheld, but after the analysis orders were sent here to have portions of the bodies of two of the children forwarded to the Harvard medical laboratory.

Steamer Colon's Back Broken.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—It is deemed improbable that the Pacific Mail liner Colon will ever leave the beach near Acajutla, on which she was driven to save her from foundering. The Pacific Mail company has received word that the vessel's back was broken. Under some circumstances there might be a chance for a vessel so injured, but far away as the Colon is from proper wrecking facilities the chances are nearly all against her ever being floated.

Sham Defense Bill Killed.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 16.—The assembly has passed two of the Elsberg law's delay bills, one providing for thirty supreme court commissioners in New York and Brooklyn, the other adjusting the practice to the new conditions. A third bill, the so called "sham defense" bill, was killed by a vote of 70 to 46.

Church Notes.

The finest city and village Churches are painted with the Longman & Martinez Paints, and we want every Church to accept our donation whenever they paint.

8 & 6 make 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight of L. & M. and mix six gallons of pure Linseed Oil with it, making actual cost of paint about $1.20 per gallon.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed Oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy other paints in a can with a label on it.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of Linseed Oil mixed therewith.

HERO REWARD FUND

Carnegie Gift of $5,000,000 Made Known at Pittsburg.

TO BENEFIT BRAVE MEN INJURED

Will Be Known as "the Hero Fund" For Those Dependent on Men Losing Their Lives to Save Their Fellow Men.

PITTSBURG, April 16.—It has been made known here that Andrew Carnegie has created a fund of $5,000,000 for the benefit of "the dependents of those losing their lives in heroic effort to save their fellow men or for the heroes themselves if injured only." Provision is also made for medals to be given in consequence of heroic acts.

The endowment is to be known as "the hero fund" and consists of $5,000,000 of first collateral 5 per cent bonds of the United States Steel corporation. The trust is placed in the hands of a commission.

This commission held its first meeting here and made known the project. It is learned that the scheme was conceived by Mr. Carnegie immediately after the Harwick mine disaster, when he summoned to New York Mr. Charles L. Taylor, chairman, and F. M. Wilmot, manager of the Andrew Carnegie relief fund, to discuss with him plans for the relief of the sufferers from this catastrophe.

On this occasion Mr. Carnegie announced to Messrs. Taylor and Wilmot his intention to endow a fund for heroes, outlined his plans and asked that they consider the project and write him regarding it, making such suggestions and giving such ideas as might occur to them. This they did, and just before his departure for Europe Mr. Carnegie forwarded a letter to Mr. Taylor announcing the plan and stating that the certificate of the bonds had been placed in his hands.

In a letter to the hero fund commission Mr. Carnegie outlines the general scheme of the fund, which, in his own words, is "to place those following peaceful vocations who have been injured in heroic effort to save human life in somewhat better positions pecuniarily than before until again able to work."

The field embraced by the fund is the United States and Canada and the waters thereof. "The sea is the scene of many heroic acts," says Mr. Carnegie's letter, "and no action more heroic than that of doctors and nurses volunteering their services in the case of epidemics. Railroad employees are remarkable for heroism. All these and similar cases are embraced. Whenever heroism is displayed by man or woman in saving human life the fund applies."

THE MISSOURI DISASTER.

Board of Inquiry Under Admiral Coghlan Still In Session.

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 16.—The court of inquiry to examine into the cause of the explosion on the battleship Missouri on Wednesday, in which thirty-two officers and men lost their lives, reconvened on the battleship after an adjournment to attend the funeral services. Admiral Coghlan of the Caribbean squadron is president of the court, and the members have been selected as far as possible from vessels of other squadrons. It is not expected, however, by those who are familiar with the circumstances that the court will recommend any proceedings in the case, inasmuch as those who are presumed to be at fault were the turret officers and were killed by the explosion.

The bodies of the victims are being sent away as fast as their relatives make the requests. It is expected that some of the sixteen bodies interred will be disinterred. Developments tend to throw some light on the disappearance of W. J. Bongard, a seaman, who was in the turret. Two seamen who were on the after deck say they saw a man's body blown through the hole in the top of the turret and into the gulf. In the excitement of the moment they made no effort to recover the body, but rushed to fire quarters when the alarm was sounded.

Resumption of Coke Operations.

LATROBE, Pa., April 16.—After being closed down since December the 225 ovens of the H. C. Frick company's plant at Dorothy, a half mile west of this place, will be fired up early next week. The resumption is due to an improvement in the coke trade. The Graceton coke works, the largest plant in Indiana county, will also resume operations within the next two weeks, after a shutdown of four months. Nearly 500 men will be given employment.

Want Sully's Creditors Enjoined.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Edwin Hawley and Frank Ray have filed a petition in the United States district court for a restraining order against Receivers Miller and Taft to stay all proceedings in the matter of the examinations growing out of the failure of D. J. Sully & Co. This motion will be heard April 18. Until a determination of it all proceedings in the Sully matter have been postponed.

Bones of Obedi Parlow Exhumed.

OSWEGO, N. Y., April 16.—Workmen who are rebuilding Fort Ontario have exhumed the bones and tombstone of Obedi Parlow, an Indian chief who died Oct. 24, 1767, aged eighty-three years. They will be sent to the Buffalo Historical society.

Strike Closes Sharon Steel Plant.

SHARON, Pa., April 16.—Five hundred molders at American Steel Foundries company's plant here struck for the restoration of last year's scale. The mill has been closed down indefinitely.

An exchange says:

"It is darkly hinted that at the proper psychic moment Hon. William Randolph Hearst will receive the undivided support of the Tammany machine. Of course Tammany has recently endorsed the Cleveland boom—which, by the way, is a good deal of a joke—but it is some time before nomination and it is understood that the jury has been packed."

It is real news to learn that Tammany has "endorsed the Cleveland boom," and as for the New York tiger shifting to Hearst, the editor who announces that must be "on the inside"—of a delusion.

It is interesting to note the statement in the Plainfield Press that Mayor Newton B. Smalley had declined to accept the nomination for Sheriff next fall. We would like to inquire to whom the declination was sent so promptly, and why was action taken so early. It would be well to make a record of the fact that an office had been declined by North Plainfield—an unprecedented event.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

Senator Childs, of Somerset, refrained from voting on the pigeon bill. It might be well for his constituents to refrain from voting for him when the time comes.—Plainfield Press.

But Senator Childs had just received a petition signed by 500 citizens of Somerset County, urging him to vote against the pigeon bill. He presented the petition to the Senate and possibly thought he had better refrain from voting either way under the circumstances. We confess to a curiosity to know from what section of the county these signers come. Senator Childs had no knowledge of the petition until he received it. We regret, however, that Somerset did not cast a decisive vote against trap shooting.—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

Senator Childs should have had the courage to discharge his duty according to what he considered the best interests of Somerset County. Surely Somerset does not favor pigeon slaughtering. He washed his hands of it in a way that reminds one of a Biblical story.

While they are apparently observing the letter of the law, the foreigners who keep their stores open in the borough on Sundays violate the intention of a much abused statute. It is reliably reported that some of them spend Saturdays in New York purchasing supplies for their establishments and do not observe the time as a Sabbath day. When a merchant closes up his shop and suspends business on Saturday because he desires to conscientiously observe the day, it is right that he should be allowed to do business on the day which he does not consider holy. But this is not the case either in the city or the borough. Self actuates the foreigners in most cases and they use a religious doctrine as a cloak. There is a good excuse, we believe for a creamery, drug store, or ice establishment to be open on Sundays, but why so-called candy shops and other business houses should be allowed to be running is not exactly clear to us. It is suggested that the Borough Council give the matter the attention it deserves. Let the police department be ordered to make arrests when there is a clear violation of the intention of the statute and then the Council will be able to make a test case.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The announcement in a local paper a few days ago that Bert Brandon, the champion long distance walker of Dunellen and vicinity, was ready to meet all comers in a cross country walk, has caused much comment among the members of the Leap Year Walking Club, and they wish to announce that Lewis Churchill has a reputation of being one of the best walkers in this vicinity and he is willing to meet Brandon at any time and at any distance. There are a number of long distance walkers in the club, and if Churchill cannot defeat Brandon, Percy Abbott will be matched against him.

A large number of shareholders attended the annual meeting of the Dunellen Building Loan Association held in the Borough Hall Thursday night. After the transaction of routine business an election for four directors and three auditors was held with the following results: C. H English, Thomas P. Cady and J. R. Dunham were elected directors to serve three years, and William Wyckoff was elected director for one year, to fill the unexpired term of the late R. J. Swackhamer. George T. Schenck, C. A. Coriell, Jr., and H. B. Wyckoff were elected auditors for one year.

NEW MARKET.

There will probably be a large crowd at Osborn's race track this afternoon to witness the two-mile foot race to be run between Barney Scanlon and Mitchell Sullivan. These men are both excellent sprinters and with a fat purse to urge them on there will, no doubt, be great excitement and a good race.

Miss Laura Dent has returned home after a visit with relatives in Easton, Pa.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The residents of the borough will not have to come to Scotch Plains when seaching for justice. Charles Sheelen, who was elected as Justice of the Peace at the spring election, while refusing to qualify for the office, has coonsented to take the appointment as borough recorder. The boroughites are agitating the erection of a jail and when this is done they will be able to keep their troubles all to themselves.

At the last meeting of the borough Council a new sidewalk ordinance was passed. The ordinance will require all property owners to build new sidewalks in front of their property. Failing to do so, the borough will have the work done at the owner's expense.

The quest of the appropriate title is one of the most difficult tasks that fall to the lot of the author and editor. The late Paul Leicester Ford, on being asked one day by a friend if a certain story was ready for the publishers, replied that one third of it was complete. "The text is finished," he added, "but I haven't found my title. That represents two-thirds of the work, you know." There's a story in the May Popular Magazine carrying a title that should make everybody read it. It is called "The International Disappearance Syndicate, Ltd." Just weigh the attractiveness of this title. What a marvelous lure for those who like their fiction filled with the sinew and strength of adventure. And the best part of it is, the first installment repays the fiction lover fourfold.

CARTER HANDICAP.

Great Race at Aqueduct Won by Beldame Hands Down.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The Carter handicap was the attraction that drew between 15,000 and 20,000 persons to Aqueduct, when the Metropolitan racing season was opened in a fitting way. Newton Bennington's filly Beldame carried off the handicap and in doing so practically led from start to finish. She was never in difficulties, and O'Neil, who had the mount, had only to shake her up a bit at the end to win easily. Peter Paul, the public favorite, was second, driving, and Wotan, who came out of the bunch in the stretch, was third. The time, 1:27, was within a second of the record for the stake.

The track was in first class condition, but the weather was cold. Of the twenty-two carded to go in the handicap five were scratched, leaving seventeen of the best to face the starter. There was a long delay at the post owing to Rosetint's bad actions, but finally Starter Fitzgerald let them go to a poor break. O'Neil shot his mount, Beldame, to the front, opening up a gap of two lengths in the first quarter. Spring raced to the second place, with Peter Paul third and the others trailing badly. Rounding the far turn Beldame was leading by daylight from Peter Paul, with Rosetint in third place, Spring having dropped back beaten.

As the field swung into the stretch the crowd began to yell for the favorite, Peter Paul, and, although Hildebrand was riding hard with hand and heel, he was not able to catch the flying leader. Abreast of the betting ring Wotan shot out of the bunch and made a bold bid, but the effort soon told, and he hung in the last few strides. Meanwhile O'Neil was urging on Beldame, and she responded gamely, going under the wire a length and a half in front of Peter Paul, who beat Wotan three lengths for the place. Both horses were heavily played, Beldame at sevens and Peter Paul 7 to 2, and the ring suffered accordingly.

Texas Claims World's Record.

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 16.—The twelve inch gun crew of the battleship Texas now holds the world's record for fast and accurate work, snatching the laurels from the battleships Wisconsin and Alabama, between which ships there was a dispute as to the championship. The Texas has concluded her practice in the gulf and came into the harbor, when it was made known that she had an average of about 89 per cent hits, which is about 2 per cept better than that of the Wisconsin, which vessel has been heralded as possessing the prize gun crews of the navy. This record is also better than that made by the Alabama, which was thought to be the world's record and far ahead of the flagship Kearsarge.

Senators Buried the Hatchet.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 16.—One of the most dramatic and most unexpected events of the closing hours of the legislative session occurred in the senate committee on judiciary immediately after adjournment, when Senators John Raines and Edgar Truman Brackett "buried the hatchet," became reconciled and clasped hands in friendship for the first time in years. The bitterness between these men has been very great, beginning four years ago over Senator Brackett's plan to have the railroad commission increased and to have former Sheriff Worden of Saratoga made a commissioner.

Hereros Kill Germans at Okatumba.

BERLIN, April 16.—According to a dispatch received from Windhoek, German Southwest Africa, a captain, a first lieutenant and six men were killed and a lieutenant and seven men severely and five men slightly wounded in a battle with the Hereros at Okatumba, five miles southwest of Katjapia. The enemy's right flank retired to Okatumba after the battle of Onganjira.

President and Party See "Every Man"

WASHINGTON, April 16.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. St. Gordon of New York, Mr. Putnam, the librarian of congress, and Mrs. Lodge, wife of Senator Lodge, occupied a box at the Columbia theater last night, witnessing the production of the fifteenth century morality play "Every Man" by Mr. Frohman's English company.

Trout Streams Are Frozen.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., April 16.—The trout season does not open auspiciously in northern New York, many brooks being still frozen throughout the Adirondacks. There was a heavy snowstorm here last night.

LANDSCAPE PHOTOGRAPHY.

This Is the Most Encouraging for a Beginner—A Study in Light and Shade.

The most encouraging out-of-door subjects for the beginning are landscapes, says the Philadelphia Record. The most important part in the photographing of a landscape is the selection of it; the choosing of a bit of scenery which, when translated to black or white, will form an interesting picture. You must always bear in mind that the beautiful colors which you see in nature and upon the ground glass will not be present in the photograph, which must rely for its beauty upon form and light and shade. When you wish to photograph a landscape take plenty of time to think about it. After you have chosen your subject determine the point of greatest interest and then decide whether the picture will look best with this point directly in the center, to one side or toward the top or bottom.

If you live near the spot you intend to photograph it will pay you to notice at what time of year it is most beautiful. Some landscapes look very commonplace in summer, but make stunning pictures when half-buried in the snow. Waterfalls often look best in early spring, because there is a greater volume of water pouring over them at that time than at any other.

A most interesting series of pictures may be made by choosing a beautiful bit of landscape and photographing it from the same point at frequent intervals throughout the year. The first picture, we will say, is taken when the ground and trees are covered with snow; the second when most of the snow is melted, and the rest lies in patches here and there; the third when the fields are flooded with rains. After these would come pictures showing the trees in bud, in leaf, in blossom, with fruit, and later dismantled with the frosts of autumn.

ETIQUETTE FOR A WIDOW.

What She May and What She Should Not Do.

The period of mourning for a widow is much shortened nowadays, especially in this country and in England. In France, the land of ceremony, the old fashioned rule is still strictly in force, and the widow is not supposed to go into society within a year and nine months or two years after the death of her husband.

The first step toward re-entering society is made by returning calls received. She has of course previously sent cards of thanks for kind inquiries and sympathy. The sending of the cards is usually done a fortnight or three weeks after the death, and the calls are returned two months afterward. After three months a widow commences to go out a little—in the most quiet way, of course. She accepts invitations to afternoon at homes, and after another month she may go to quiet dinners at the houses of intimate friends. These dinners are not formal, and only relatives and friends are present, not strangers. She may also after four months go to matinees and concerts.

A widow is not supposed to act as hostess until after four months at least and then only to invite intimate friends to dine with her quietly. Afternoon teas next follow, but it is not etiquette to give these under six months. At homes and evening receptions should not be given until after the lapse of a year, and a still longer time should precede elaborate evening affairs.

A widow, it goes without saying, should not accept an invitation to a dance until a period of at least a year has elapsed.

The remarriage of a widow should not take place before twelve months. By breaking this canon of good taste she provokes serious comment. A year and a half or two years is a much more decent interval.

A year is the standard time for heavy mourning. The mourning becomes lighter as the social duties are gradually resumed.

Woman's Record In Colorado.

Some time ago Mr. Shafroth of Colorado, who had been elected to congress, voluntarily resigned his seat when he found there had been fraudulent balloting for him. That was honest and admirable of him. But next thing some desperate antisuffragist, grasping at a straw, started out of his own head the story that it was the women of Colorado who had done the illegal voting. Well, here is the exact fact of the case. Note it: Women have been voting in Colorado for ten years. They vote too, quite generally. In those ten years just one woman has been convicted of illegal voting. Now what has anybody to say?

UNDER SHELL FIRE

Port Arthur Again Attacked by Togo's Squadron.

RUSSIAN HOPES NOW IN HER ARMY

Japanese Want Port Arthur, Keep Hammering at It and May Invest the Fortress by Land.

LONDON, April 16.—A late report from St. Petersburg says a telegram from Admiral Alexeieff from Port Arthur to the emperor says that from 9:15 o'clock yesterday to midday the Japanese fleet, in two divisions, bombarded the fortress and the town alternately from the Liaotishan promontory, firing 185 projectiles.

The Russian squadron, including the battleship Pobieda, replied from the anchorage by a plunging fire. The batteries also participated.

The losses on land were seven Chinese killed and five soldiers and three Chinese wounded.

The Russian warships sustained no damage, and there was no loss of life on them.

An official correction just issued says it was the torpedo boat destroyer

ADMIRAL SKRYDLOFF.

Itrashni and not the Bezstrashni which became separated from the rest of the fleet in the early morning of Wednesday last and was sunk by the Japanese torpedo boat destroyers.

A dispatch from Liaoyang says that the Russian intrenchments on the Yalu river have been completed. The center of the line of fortified positions is Antung. The right flank rests on Tatungkau and the left flank on Kiulencheng. Tatungkau and Kiulencheng are ten miles apart, on the west bank of the Yalu.

Advices from St. Petersburg say the disaster to the Petropavlovsk and the loss of the two other vessels ends the hope that the ill fated Port Arthur squadron would be able to become an aggressive factor in the operations before it is re-enforced by the arrival of the Baltic fleet. Until then the aim of the Russians will be to hold Port Arthur and conserve the remaining ships within the protection of its guns.

Temporarily at least all faith in successes at sea died with Admiral Makaroff, and the Russian people now look to the army, in which they have implicit confidence, to retrieve on land the reverses and distress suffered on water.

As a result of the depressing influence produced by the loss of the Petropavlovsk some pessimism is manifested, and in consequence all kinds of wild talk is heard. This is not strange considering the fatalism inherent in the Russian character. The specter of foreign complications has appeared.

It is said that the Petropavlovsk was blown up by a submarine boat furnished to Japan by Great Britain, which, of course, would mean war with Great Britain. In furtherance of this idea it is pointed out that the British parliament has granted permission for Indian troops to cross the frontier of Tibet, which naturally means only that Great Britain is preparing to aid her ally by advancing upon central Asia.

But such talk finds no echo in responsible quarters, where indeed it is remarkable how calm and confident the officials are that a change of fortune will take place as soon as the land operations begin in earnest.

The prevailing belief here is that the Japanese will take advantage of the situation to push matters and make a renewed attack on Port Arthur with the object of sealing the entrance to the port or, considering the Russian fleet to be practically immobilized by its inferiority, proceed with landing troops at the head of the gulf of Liaotung. It would not be surprising if the Japanese attempted to invest the fortress of Port Arthur by land.

The latest reports are to the effect that the Japanese fleet is still in sight from Golden hill.

General Kuropatkin is concentrating his second line of defense between Mukden and Liaoyang. He will have 120,000 men there.

A telegram from Grand Duke Boris, at Liaoyang, gives Grand Duke Cyril's account of his escape from death in the disaster to the Petropavlovsk. According to his story, Cyril fell at the moment of the explosion to the port side of the bridge, and from there he lowered himself to the deck. He was then swept away by an immense wave and sank to a considerable depth, but succeeded in regaining the surface. By his own efforts he caught a floating fragment of the Petropavlovsk's steam launch, to which he clung for about ten minutes, when he was picked up by the destroyer Bezshumi.

The telegram adds that Cyril's aid-de-camp, Lieutenant Vonkube, perished. Aid-de-camp Kedroff, who was betrothed to Vice Admiral Makaroff's daughter, is also among the lost.

Besides Grand Duke Cyril, Captain Jakovleff and Lieutenant Yakovsky, Midshipmen Sylitte, Jenish and Yakomleff were rescued. Reports as to the number of seamen saved are conflicting, one placing the number at thirty-two and another at fifty-one. They were rescued by the torpedo gunboat Gaydamak.

The wife of Captain Jakovleff, the commander of the Petropavlovsk, who escaped death from the explosion, has received a telegram from Rear Admiral Grigorovitch, the commandant at Port Arthur, saying that her husband is wounded in the head and that several of his ribs are broken. He was unconscious for several hours, but is improving.

Lieutenant Jenish, who is one of the officers of the Petropavlovsk who were saved, lost his father when the ironclad Roosalka sank off the coast of Finland Sept. 19, 1893, as the result of an explosion, resulting in the loss of about 200 officers and men.

Vice Admiral Skrydloff, who has been selected by the czar to succeed the late Admiral Makaroff at Port Arthur, entered the Russian naval service in 1862 at the age of eighteen years. As a junior officer he first distinguished himself in the Turkish campaign of 1877. He undertook a day torpedo attack on a Turkish man-of-war, employing a steel launch which had been transformed into a torpedo boat. He had with him Ensign Niloff, now a real admiral in the Russian navy, in command of the naval guards. There also was with him at the time the artist Verestchagin, who went as a volunteer, and who is reported to have gone down with the battleship Petropavlovsk at Port Arthur. Skrydloff was unsuccessful in the torpedo attack, but was rewarded with the St. George cross for his dashing attempt and for personal bravery. He was shot through both legs and was unable to participate further in the Turkish campaign. Subsequently he was promoted to the grade of commander. Skrydloff is regarded as a born fighter and as the late Admiral Makaroff's equal in energy and aggressiveness. While Makaroff was called the "Cossack of the Sea," Skrydloff is called the "Bulldog of the Russian Navy."

At Port Arthur it is said that the injuries to the Pobieda are very slight. The explosion which injured her took place just at the water line. The opinion expressed at the admiralty here is that it was produced by a spent Whitehead torpedo which was floating on the surface of the water and which may have been fired during the torpedo boat fight.

WIRELESS IN WAR.

The De Forest Company Protests to Washington Against Russia.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Regarding the Russian government's notice, just issued, that newspaper correspondents using wireless telegraphy will be treated as spies and shot, the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company has telegraphed to Secretary Hay at Washington to protest against this attitude of the Russian government relative to the use of wireless telegraphy by correspondents in the zone of war. The protestants say, "We claim the right under all international laws to use the high seas for peaceful purposes and demand for our operators, who are American citizens, and for our property the full protection of the United States government."

KOREAN KING BURNED OUT.

The Palace at Seoul Set on Fire by Rebels.

PARIS, April 16.—A cable report received at the foreign office here says that the imperial palace at Seoul, Korea, has been destroyed by fire. The fire was discovered in the evening and burned all night. Only the ruins of the palace remained.

The emperor and his suit succeeded in escaping to a nearby refuge. The report does not mention any loss of life, nor does it give the cause of the fire, but the recent political unrest in the Korean capital leads to fears that the destruction of the palace was the work of the rebellious element.

Iron Works to Open April 25.

PHILADELPHIA, April 16. — Preparations are in progress for the resumption of work at the Pencoyd Iron works in this city. The extensive plant is controlled by the United States Steel corporation and has been practically idle for several weeks. It is expected that all departments will be again in operation by April 25. Among the contracts said to have been obtained by the management is one for fifteen bridges for the Imperial railway of Japan.

Akron Police Head Kills Himself.

AKRON, O., April 16.—H. T. Willson, chairman of the board of public safety and a prominent attorney of this city, committed suicide at his home by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver. Mr. Willson was a stockholder in the Akron Savings bank, which recently failed, and it is supposed that financial troubles caused him to take his life.

First Freight In Four Months.

LEWISTON, Mont., April 16.—The first freight train into Lewiston in four months has arrived here. Never, perhaps, in the history of railroading has a city been shut in so long. A passenger train got through two weeks ago, but the snowplows could not get freight trains through the drifts at that time.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Duquette and McCarthy will be the battery for the Madison team this season.

"Chick" Crusius, who played shortstop for the Scotch Plains team last season, is reported to have signed with the Brighton A. C., for this season.

Edgar George, who pitched for the North Plainfield High School last year, is in the box for the Stevens Preparatory School, of Hoboken. He is doing good work.

Lovers of baseball in Newton, Sussex county, have raised $800 toward supporting a first-class team this season. Jack Rothfuss, formery of Newark, will handle the team.

According to this year's baseball rules a balk will include any movement made by a pitcher to deceive the baserunner. Even an unnatural shrug of the shoulders will constitute a balk.

One week from today the Westfield baseball team will open the season with the Seventh Regiment, N. Y., team and two weeks later Alis will open the season on Crescent Oval with the Aeolians.

"Smiling" Jimmie Montross, the baseball pitcher, has failed to make good in the Albany, Johnstown and Gloversville League, and he will probably be found pitching for semi-professional teams in this vicinity.

The baseball committee of St. Anthony's C. C. would like to hear from Roselle's, Cranford's, Scotch Plains', Westfield's and other first-class teams offering good inducements. Baseball committee, St. Anthony's C. C., No. 1, Charlton street, New York city.

This will be the lineup of the Clinton Avenue A. C. in their game this afternoon with the West End Field Club: Herman, c; Dodd, ss; Beekman1, b; Martin, 2b; Gordon, rf; Mayer, 3b; Jackson, lf; Bolmer, cf; Whitley, p. The game will be called at 3:30

Notwithstanding Manager Denman's assertion that all of the best ball players are signed for the coming season and that there are no good ones left, it is learned that there are players in abundance to be had and of the good fast sort, too. The Alis Club has had opportunities to select players who can discount the Westfield aggregation both in fielding and batting.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Hope chapel's request for a return bowling match has been favorably received by Manager C. B. Koons, of the Y. M. C. A. five, and the arrangements will probably be made later. It is also a possibility that a match may be arranged with the Park Club five on its own alleys.

Tournament play for silver and bronze medals was inaugurated last evening at the Y. M. C. A. alleys, ten of the contestants rolling. Though some of the play was rather erratic, the contest gives promise of considerable interest. Averages of the four high men for the evening follow: Maurice Sutphen, 155; George Whitley, 133; Harvey Linbarger, 141; Arthur Jeffery, 133. On Monday the players will get together for the second round.

BASKET BALL.

A basket ball team from the business men's class of the Y. M. C. A. will play the first or evening class team Monday night.

Bishop O'Connor gave a glowing account of the religious condition of his diocese, and the Pope was delighted to hear of the care taken of poor Italians in Newark. The bishop presented Monsignor Stafford, of Seton Hall College, South Orange, formerly pastor of St. Mary's church, this city, and Father Eugene P. Carroll, director of Holy Childhood, of the diocese of Newark, to whom the Pope gave special benedictions for their communities. Later Bishop O'Connor paid his respects to Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State. He will leave Naples on April 23 for the United States.

LITERARY.

Ainslee's for May opens with a novelette by William Farquhar Payson, called "Debonnaire." The scene is laid in Canada and New York, in old colonial days. Debonnaire is the nom de querre of the hero, who is a typical French officer of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, whose character is well described by the name. It is full of drama of the best sort, that holds the interest, and action that carries the reader along without effort. Maurice Maeterlinck, who is best known as the author of the great play, "Mona Vanna," but who is becoming almost equally well known as an essayist, has a charming and timely essay on "Field Flowers." A story with a delightful French flavor is Mary B. Mullett's "The Report from Maxim's," in which a new view is given of the famous Parisian restaurant.

Don't marry this girl—Who nags; who is lazy; who is a flirt; who can not control her temper; who dislikes children and animals; who is not neat and tidy in her dress; who is deceitful and is not true to her friends; who fusses, fumes, and fidgets about everything; whose highest aspiration has never soared above self; who is amiable to suitors and "horrid" to her family; whose chief interests in life are press and amusements; who lacks thrift, and has no idea of the value of money; who can not bear to hear anyone but herself praised or admired; who thinks more of making a fine appearance than a fine character; who is course, imperious, and domineering in manner and conversation; who never thinks that her mother needs an outing, amusement, or a change; who attracts attention in public places by "loud" dress, and loud talk and laughter; who is indiscreet and says she does not care if people do talk scandal about her, so long as she is conscious that she is all right; who does not think it worth while to read for self-improvement, or current information, but spends her time reading trashy novels.—April "Success."

CLINTON AVENUE DEFEATS WEST END

Good Article of Ball in Which Work at the Bat Happens to Decide the Contest.

SUPERIOR FIELDING

FOUR TO THREE THE FINAL SCORE OF THE GAME.

Whitley Serves Some Puzzling Twists—Dodd and Martin Make Some Nice Hits—The Detailed Scores.

Good and timely stickwork did the trick for the Clinton Avenue baseball combination in its opening game with the West End Field Club Saturday afternoon. The score was close enough to satisfy the losers as far as the losing bunch can be satisfied, 4 to 3 being the final tally, and the contest was pretty enough to keep everybody interested.

Whitley, Clinton Avenue's new pitcher, handed out a long string of unsolvable twists. He passed fourteen helpless victims up to his catcher, and Herman was all there with the goods. He steered a mitt that acted like the twin-brother of Johnny-on-the post, although one ball did get by him.

West End, however, managed to plug the ball safely six times, Barnes landing on it twice. Jacot, the West End serpentine artist, got what was coming to him a little more so, the Clinton Avenues landing nine lusty belts. Dodd and Martin each delivered two cracks to the leather.

For a first performance, both sides did remarkably good work in the field. The going was a trifle slower than it will be later on, when the experts get limbered up, but there was only a total of five errors between them, two for West End and three for Clinton Avenue.

MORBUS SABBATICUS AN EVIL OF THE DAY

A Peculiar Condition Which is an Excuse for the Non-Observance of the Sabbath.

SUBJECT OF A SERMON

REV. DR. SCHENCK ARRAIGNS THOSE WHO BREAK COMMANDMENT.

Present Tendency to Turn a Holy Day into a Holiday—The People Seek Pleasure But Not God.

Man's need to keep the Sabbath day and the meaning of the observance were explained last night by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church, in a sermon on "Morbus Sabbaticus" or the Sunday sickness. This sickness, the pastor said, affects people only at church time on Sunday, the victim being able to stay at home and read the Sunday papers and feeling well enough to call on friends or engage in other social affairs, but lacking the strength to go to public worship. The only cure for the disease is the religion of Jesus Christ and a faithful adherence to the word of God.

With the passage of the winter, said Dr. Schenck, there comes in with the warm season a danger of relaxation from Christian ideals. Pleasant summer weather tempts one to neglect his duties of church attendance. There is a tendency to make the Sabbath a holiday instead of a holy day, a day of selfish pleasure-seeking instead of one of rest and Christian meditation. People on vacations are apt to forget their duty of Dr. Schenck made references, in passing, to Sunday golf and Sunday baseball. He spoke of the fact that a baseball park for Sunday baseball was a possibility for Middlesex county, and that numbers of men in this city and vicinity were hired to play Sunday ball. He exposed the uselessness and wrong of the practise.

The Sabbath day is not a human institution. It is divine, and belongs to God. Government and the institutions of man could not well exist without the day of rest. There is physical need for the Sabbath. Man cannot do his physical or intellectual work without it. In France at one time an attempt was made to establish a day of rest every tenth day, but the falling off in physical and intellectual efficiency that followed taught the French people the wisdom of the Creator in setting apart one day in seven and brought them to return to observance of the Sabbath. Religiously and intellectually, the Sabbath is a necessity.

The action of corporations which force their employes to work seven days in the week was condemned by the speaker. The motorman and conductor, said Dr. Schenck, is practically forced to work on Sunday. His compensation is such that he must do it for the extra money to meet the expenses of life. If he insists upon having his Sunday for rest he is in danger of losing his position.

O. F. C. WINS AT RAHWAY

MONTROSS FIGURES CONSPICIOUSLY IN WELL-EARNED VICTORY.

In a rattling finish, the Orange Field Club baseball nine whipped Rahway High School at Rahway Saturday afternoon. It was a good game despite football weather. Rahway was in the lead from the first inning until the ninth, when the Plainfield boys, with the score six to five against them, pounded the ball for three runs and a victory, eight to six. With two out and two men on base in the ninth, Hellyer made a safe hit and sent in the tying run. Conover then banged out a two-bagger and added two more runs. A close decision at the plate in this inning was made against Orange. Montross pitched a good game and received excellent support. The lineup:

Orange F. C.—Montross, p; Giddas and Hellyer, c; Blimm, 1b; Hamilton and McGinley, 2b; Hook, 3b; Conover, ss; Tobin, lf; McGinley and Giddas, cf; Squires and Hellyer, rf. Rahway High School—Fischer, p; Peacock (capt.), c; Trembley, 1b; VanSant, 2b; Bracher, 3b; Ritter, ss; Morse, lf; Ransom, cf; Buckley, rf.

Score by innings:

Orange F. C.... 0 0 1 1 2 0 1 0 3— 8
Rahway H. S... 2 0 0 2 0 2 0 0 0 —6

Miss A. E. Lincoln returned last night from Philadelphia, where she has been visiting friends.

PLAINFIELDER'S IDEAS READ BY MILLIONS

Editorial Opinions of Arthur Brisbane Most Widely Noted of any in the American Press.

HIS RESIDENCE HERE

A PUPIL OF DAVID HAND AT THE JACKSON SCHOOL.

One of a Number of Great Newspaper Men Who Have Lived in Plainfield—The Chamberlins and Their Work.

Plainfield has always been known as a good news-centre. There not are more than one or two cities in Jersey that figure more prominently in the metropolitan press than does the "Queen City." But the fact is not so generally know that, in addition to supplying news, the city has been an important factor in training the men who present the news and whose editorial opinions on it have their deep influence upon the entire country.

Perhaps no one who has gone out from Plainfield has reached a wider circle of readers than Arthur Brisbane whose opinions expressed in the editorial columns of the New York Journal find an echo in the minds of thousands of readers and receive a respectful hearing even from those of different views. Mr. Brisbane has an incisive way of presenting things and in general a sound and sane good sense that make his articles well worth reading.

Born in Buffalo, Mr. Brisbane came to this city from New York when two years old, living with his parents at the Brisbane farm on Terrill road. His first knowledge from books came at the Jackson school house which he attended until fourteen year old. Then he went to Europe and completed the education that has been the foundation for his astonishing success. He is still the owner of the farm on Terrill road and has not yet forgotten the precepts of his old schoolmaster, "Dave" Hand, whom he quoted in a recent editorial.

The Brooklyn Eagle has put Mr. Brisbane forward as a proper candidate for the presidency in place of W. H. Hearst. It says: "There are those who believe that he has made that other man (Hearst) as the Lord made the world, by the word of His power in the space of six days and all very good or as good as could be expected." The article says further:

"Mr. Brisbane is old enough to be President. His age is said to be 40. If that is correct, he was born in 1863 or 1864. That indicates that he is younger than either Mr. Bryan or Mr. Roosevelt, the first of whom has twice run for the Presidency, and the second of whom, chosen as vice president, acceded to the office on the death of President McKinely.

This description of Mr. Brisbane's method of work is interesting:

"In his method of work Brisbane is unique. He lives much of the time out of town, but a stenographer goes with him everywhere. In traveling he invariably engages a Pullman drawing room, and, armed with a mass of newspapers, begins his work before the train pulls out. He reads quickly and carefully, mapping out work from suggestions and gathering ideas as he does so. When this preliminary task is over he leans back, and dictates editorial after editorial as rapidly as the stenographer can take them. By the time Hempstead or Lakewood is reached, or whatever may be the destination, he has done the tomorrow morning's work. Going back to town the next day he does the same. Not long ago Brisbane took a much needed vacation, but his daily editorials did not lapse. He called his stenographer, and, with an intermission for rest, in twelve hours he dictated sixty editorials, amounting to about 50,000 words—a book in twelve hours!"

Other Plainfielders who have writ their mark deep and large upon journalism are the three members of the Chamberlin family, Wilbur Chamberlin, the famous writer for the New York Sun, who died while returning from China, where he acted as correspondent during the great Rebellion there; Ernest O. Chamberlin, who met with equal success on the staff of the New York World; and another brother, Walter, whose ability was also great.

PLANS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

EXERCISES TO TAKE PLACE IN REFORM HALL ON MAY 30.

The Memorial detail from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., met Saturday night with members of the Woman's Relief Corps, for the purpose of furnishing plans for the observance of Decoration Day. It is stated that Reform Hall had been engaged for the exercises.

It is likely that the Independent Fife and Drum Corps will be engaged to furnish music. It has also been decided to hold a service the Sunday night before Decoration Day in Reform Hall. Among the speakers will be Rev. L. E. Livermore, of New Market, a member of the Post.

TO ENLARGE SUNDAY-SCHOOL

STEPS TAKEN AT TRINITY REFORMED TO MAKE NEEDED ADDITION.

The officers and teachers of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school held a meeting yesterday afternoon and the needs of an enlarged Sunday-school room to accommodate the growing primary department of the school was presented by Superintendent F. E. Smith, and after a full and free discussion of the subject it was unanimously voted more room must be had, and the superintendent was authorized to explain the needs of the enlargement to the school at an early date and solicit financial aid from every member, by classes, and report the amount thus raised for the enlargement, early in June. The further consideration of the subject will then be presented to the consistory of the church for their action.

Plans for a two-story structure in the rear, will be figured out, using all the ground space owned by the church. This will give the needed room for the primary department of the Sunday-school on the first floor and a pastor's study and a retiring room for the choir on the second floor.

POLICE DEPARTMENT NEWS

MANY CASES IN THE CITY AND BOROUGH COURTS.

City Judge Runyon had a busy hour in court this morning. Annie Finnasy, arrested for drunkenness by Patrolman Overbaugh, received suspended sentence. John Temkovitz, of Afton Corners, for the same offense, was also released.

Samuel Lustbadel and Max Roth, of New York, arrested for stealing a ride on the Central Railroad, were given suspended sentence; William Ingraham for disturbance while in a drunken frenzy was summarily fined $5. Two colored boys, Lawrence Mitchel and William T. Robinson, were charged with stealing coal from the Central Railroad. Sentence was suspended upon Mitchell and Robinson paid a $5 fine.

From Saturday night to last night the borough police had their hands full gathering in drunks and disorderlies of various shades. Twelve prisoners in all will face the recorder tonight. These are the cases: George R. Phoebus, who claims to be a lawyer at 10 Wall street, New York, for panhandling and three young man for insulting women on the street; Frank Pusinsky and Moses Oshinsky, for drunkenness; Clarence Waldron, for fighting; George Waldron, for drunkenness; William Godown, for drunkenness and disorder; James Whelan, same charge; Walter Bernardo, for beating his wife, and J. H. Honeyman, for drunkenness.

George Alexander, arrested for disorderly conduct, was brought before Recorder Dond Saturday night. He was fined $5.

CLARKSON SALE POSTPONED.

No Bids Offered and Auction Was Adjourned Until April 27.

No bids were offered at the auction of the Clarkson property on East Front street Saturday afternoon, and the sale was put off until April 27.

Comparatively few people attended the sale, not more than fifteen at the most being present. Those who went there prepared to bid were not ready, apparently, to take on the property except at a decided bargain. Auctioneer Hand announced that the upset price (the figure at which the property would have to start) was $12,000.

Mrs. J. P. Laire, of Crescent avenue, who was seriously ill on Saturday, is reported as being slightly improved, there being a change yesterday for the better.

PLEA FOR RUSSIA IN A LOCAL PULPIT

District Secretary of American Baptist Missionary Union Presents Strong Argument.

ASKS FOR FAIR PLAY

DR. C. L. RHOADES SPEAKS AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Japan's Enemy in Present Strife a Much Maligned Foe—What Russia is Doing for Civilization.

C. L. Rhoades, district secretary of the American Baptist Missionary Union of New York, for over an hour last night, held the close attention of one of the largest congregations gathered in recent years for evening service in a local church.

His talk, the keynote of which was a plea for cool and fair judgment of Russia, dealt with a phase of Russian national growth and character which indicates that power as the chief agent, not only in civilizing, but in Christianizing the whole of Asia. Beginning with the exodus of Christians of the Greek church from Constantinople, when that city fell before the Turks, the speaker drew for his audience a vivid mental picture of successful missionary work among the barbarians of the North, which through the development of a common religious footing, fostered closer commercial and political relations between these people, and gradually evolved a national spirit among them. Stress was put upon the fact that all attempts by Russia to secure outlets upon the sea had been rigorously defeated by other European nations. This fact was shown to be the main reason for Russian conquest and expansion in Asia, where she had a free hand for many years and where her territorial growth has always been accompanied by widespread Christianization of the people who come under her sway.

International jealousy, the same motive which caused the fortification of Heligoland to keep her from the Baltic, was advanced as the cause of the more recent and successful diplomatic moves in Afghanistan, Persia and Turkey and also of the stand now taken by Japan, backed by England. Attention was also called to the growth and internal development which had followed each of these repulses, as well as the feeling of hatred which they engendered among Russians against the rest of Europe. The cruelty and tyranny of which writers are so prone to accuse Russia are held by Mr. Rhoades to be more than anything else, the result of European interference which is responsible for the undeveloped national conscience sanctioning such atrocities as the massacre of defenceless Chinese in Manchuria.

Great strides are to be expected of a nation, he declared, which transplants entire villages to remote sections of its territory and aids them in those lines of agricultural and commercial development to which they are particularly adapted, a nation which builds thousands of miles of railroads through practically uninhabited country at enormous expense, laying open at one stroke, half a continent to successful colonization, when that nation combines with her material strength, the pre-eminent position which is occupied by Russia in Asiatic diplomacy and which bids fair to link her and China together as the rulers of Asia.

Mr. Rhoades closed his discourse with an expression of the hope that the nation holding the unique position of connecting link between Europe and Asia, between the civilization of the West and that of the East, might work out her manifest destiny unassailed by either of those civilizations, both of which would be benefitted by her maturity.

In the course of his talk, Mr. Rhoades mentioned the substantial support given to foreign missions by the Mennonite church of Southern Russia, these people having contributed many thousands of dollars to the work done by Americans in India.

FATHER CLIFFORD AT ST. MARY'S

London Priest Temporarily Assisting Here Preaches to a Large Congregation.

HIS ABLE DISCOURSE

NATIVE OF THIS COUNTRY, BUT EDUCATED ABROAD.

Ordained in London, Where He Has Resided for Ten Years—Sermon on Parable of the Good Shepherd.

Father Clifford, the temporary successor of Father Delahanty in St. Mary's parish, made his first appearance in the pulpit yesterday morning. He was greeted by a large congregation, at the 10:30 mass, on whom he produced a strong and pleasing impression. Father Clifford will act as assistant to Father Egan for two months, when Father Delahanty is expected to return from his health-seeking trip to Europe.

Although announced as from Englewood, where he was staying, Father Clifford really comes here from London. He is a native of this country, but was largely educated abroad, and was ordained in England. He has lived in London for the past ten years.

Father Clifford's initial sermon was a striking and interesting one on the Parable of the Good Shepherd. In substance he said:

As there had been two contrariously opposed views of the Messiah preached for nearly twelve centuries in Israel; the victorious Messiah, with His political ideals, and the despised and misunderstood Messiah, "slowly leading judgment unto victory," so the historic Christ in His own person seemed to unite the same mysterious opposites. Catholicism, so the preacher insisted, which is identified both in intention and in sacramental life with the mystic Christ, who dwells invisibly with His church, appeared to obey the same mysterious law of contrariety.

There was the impression it created in the minds of its more intelligent observers, who viewed it from without; there was the faith and the enthusiasm it inspired in the hearts of those who viewed it from within. To know it from within, it is necessary first of all to live its life, to obey its austere precepts of conduct, to use its sacramental ordinances wisely and discreetly, to steep the understanding in its dogmas, to refresh the heart with all its various lessons of ritual, of discipline, and of Eucharistic life.

Catholicism, so understood, and so apprehended, was none other than the realization in history of that church that one true church, of which the marks were to be Unity, Holiness, Catholicity and Apostlicity. The preacher quoted largely from the thinkers of the past generation, upon whom Catholicism had laid a kind of spell of the imagination without yet winning the allegiance of their faith.

Father Clifford observed in closing, that the best way to assert the claims of that Catholicism in this world was not by controversy, not by angry debate, or by logical fence, not by persecution; but by endeavoring in all loyalty and sincerity of mind to realize it first as an ideal in its own life and so to commend it in its beauty to an observing world.

In doing this, so the preacher contended, the Catholics of today would but obey that same mysterious instinct of zeal, which the early believers fulfilled when they compelled the thinkers of the pagan world, in the days of Marcus Aurelius to confess that those Christians did indeed love one another, that they were not as the common ruck of men, that behind those rapt faces and those half-hidden lives there lay a secret which the clean of heart would understand. That secret was Christ. Christ, so possessed and made personal in one's own life, constituted Catholicism as a concrete force in the world.

Fire at Mrs. Hellstrom's.

An unimportant blaze at 602 Washington street, in the house occupied by Mrs. Hellstrom, called out the fire department last night. A gas jet set fire to some draperies and pictures. It was extinguished by the occupants of the house.

ALIS ANNOUNCES ITS NEW LINEUP

George Johnson is Made Manager of the Club's Baseball Team This Season.

STRONG AGGREGATION

M'LEAN AND GRIFFEN ARE TO TWIRL THE BALL.

Series of Nine Games With Westfield—Johnson to Have Full Charge of the Team and the Schedule of Games.

The new baseball committee from the Alis Club met Saturday night and organized by electing J. J. Slevin, chairman; W. A. Boone, treasurer George Johnson, manager, and Benj. A. Mumford. Mr. Mumford will have charge of the grounds. It is proposed to enclose that part of the grounds extending from both ends of the bleachers and additional seating capacity will be provided.

Manager Johnson will not only have full charge of the team, but also the arrangement of the schedule, which will be altered somewhat. Instead of five games between Alis and Westfield, a series of nine games will be fixed, the dates to be announced within a short time. Manager Denman, of Westfield, was at the club Saturday night, but as he did not have his date book with him the new dates could not be decided upon.

This lineup was announced today by Manager Johnson:

McLean, pitcher; Murray, catcher, Hudson River League; Roche, first base, formerly Manhattan College; Roberts, short-stop, North Ends, Phillipsburg; McArdle, second base, Fleischman, N. Y.; Barry, third base, Murray Hills; Griffen, right field and change pitcher; Gorhmley, centre field and exchange catcher, Pearsalls; Kavanaugh, left field, Everitt College; Daily, extra, Madisons.

This lineup does not include a single member of the Manhattan College team now playing on the college team.

Roberts, who has been signed for short-stop, made a fine record on the North Ends, of Phillipsburg, last year. In four games with the All-Cubans, Vreelands and Ingersolls, he made three runs, five hits and one error. Murray, the catcher, played with Madison last season and in one game with the All-Cubans he caught six out of seven men running between first and second base.

SIXTEEN IN A DRAG HUNT

MERRY SPORT ENJOYED BY PLAINFIELD RIDERS ON SATURDAY.

A good run to hounds was held Saturday afternoon by sixteen followers of the sport. Conditions were favorable for the chase. The ground was dry and it was good going. The chase was unusually satisfactory over the same route cross country as on the preceding Saturday.

The start was at Rockview avenue and Rockview terrace, thence through farms and meadows to Dunellen and New Market and back along Seventh street to the finish at Grant avenue. The gallop home was particularly enjoyable. The hounds followed the scent well throughout the chase. The owners of the Cadmus, McMahon and Sorenson farms kindly allowed the party the privileges of their lands.

Those in the party were Dr. M. O'M. Knott, George P. Mellick, Daniel Runkle, Miss Holly, Miss Noe, of Westfield; Miss Cairns, Miss Tredwell, Miss Cruikshank, Mr. Peterson, Irving Clark, Mr. Bourne, of Cranford; Mr. Bellows, R. A. Shebbeare, Mr. Webster and Charles Ismay, of New York, and Percy Nelson.

The next drag hunt will take place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The start will be at the Crescent Avenue church.

Mrs. M. A. Rogers Dead.

Mrs. Mary A. Rogers, daughter of Herman and Nancy Hull and wife of C. Benedict Rogers, died yesterday at her home in Tampa, Florida. She was born near Utica, N. Y., and had lived in the South several years. She will be buried in Hillside cemetery on Wednesday.

The Bell is Silent.

Boroughites are commenting on the absence of the time ring from the fire bell, which has not sounded the hour for a number of days. The clock has been moved to the new house, and the time will not be rung until the new batteries are installed.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

E. N. Ryder, of Falmouth, Mass., is the guest of Charles Vincent, of West Third street.

David Thoman, of West Dunellen, has resigned his position from the Potter Press Company's works.

Henry Kline, of the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant, is in St. Louis, on business for the firm.

Sam Clouston has left for the St. Louis Exposition where he will be in charge of the Manganese Steel Safe Company's exhibit.

After being closed down since December, the 225 ovens of Frick & Company's plant at Dorothy, Pa., will be fired up this week.

Alexander Muir, of the Pedrick-Ayer plant, will sing a new solo in the Hope Chapel Minstrels, at Reform Hall, tomorrow night. The song is entitled "Blue Bells."

A horse belonging to Dick Thomas, of the Potter plant, died of lockjaw last week. Mr. Thomas recently purchased the animal from Jack Entwistle, of Rockview Heights.

The strike begun two weeks ago by the Elevator Constructors' Union in New York has ended in the acceptance of an arbitration plan and the men have returned to work.

Trade being dull in this city, many of the local machinists are talking of going to St. Louis. It is reported that business in this line is encouraging all through the West especially in the vicinity of the Fair.

Ben. Duvier, of West Fifth street, is slowly recovering from an injury which he received, at the Potter plant, over a year ago. Mr. Duvier fell and injured his knee cap, but did not think anything of the mishap at the time. The injury became worse, and finally a silver plate was ordered by the doctor. At present the lad is able to walk around a little, but it will be some time before he will return to work.

The regular meeting of the Potter Press Company's Mutual Aid Society was held in Knights of Columbus Hall, Saturday night. Thomas Force was elected a member of the auditing committee to fill the unexpired term of Charles Meyer, who has resigned from the Potter plant and is no longre a member of the society. One amendment to the constitution was adopted, which read as follows: "Any member found imposing on the society will be dropped from the roll." The treasurer, David Krymer, reported the society in prosperous condition. Mr. Krymer states that it is in better shape financially than ever.

HEARST MEN STILL ACTIVE

BOLTERS' DELEGATES READY FOR CONTEST AT ST. LOUIS.

Hearst men in this city and throughout the State are still asserting themselves. Their claim now is that some of their delegates were unseated wrongfully. A Trenton Hearst leader asserts that "there were enough Hearst delegates elected throughout the State to have named delegates at large." He said that a fight would be made at St. Louis for each district in which, he alleges, Hearst men were elected and not seated. He makes charges of machine methods and says that Hearst delegates did not bolt the convention. They simply left, he says. A scheduled meeting of the Hearst Club in this city was called off Friday night.

All tickets are good for ten days, with special hotel rates at expiration of hotel coupon. For itineraries and full information apply to Ticket Agents; Tourist Agents, 263 Fifth avenue, New York; 4 Court street, Brooklyn; or Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad street station, Philadelphia, Pa. 4 8 2m

—The Department of Banking and Insurance has filed a schedule with the State Board of Assessors, showing that the amount of tax to be paid by the three New Jersey life insurance companies is $243,204, an increase of about $20,000 over last year.

—W. G. DeMeza, Esq., of this city, is attorney for Henry D. Brewster in contract cases against Charles D. Sollace and Whitkey Brothers, the latter of Seawaren. Both will come up for trial this week before Justice Ross, of Woodbridge. Mr. Stricker, of Woodbridge represents the defendants.

ALBANY CONVENTION

Battle Royal Unparalleled In State Politics.

TAMMANY MAY BE READ OUT.

Assertion Made That Unless Opposition to Parker Delegates Is Withdrawn War Will Be Declared by Hill.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 18.—If the policy adopted by the friends of Judge Alton B. Parker, at whose head stands former United States Senator David B. Hill, is carried out at the sessions of the Democratic state convention opened here today, there is likely to be a battle royal which has not had a parallel in state political conventions for many years. Since the Saratoga convention of 1900, when General Charles N. Bulger of Oswego, representing Senator Hill, putting his finger almost under the nose of Richard Croker, denounced Tammany Hall and its politics, Tammany has waited as an organization to present its compliments to Mr. Hill, and, although it is perfectly apparent that the interests dominated by Mr. Hill control a large majority of the convention's vote, it is a foregone conclusion that such orators as Bourke Cockran, Thomas F. Grady, Charles A. Towne and Victor Dowling on the floor of the convention will personally accuse Mr. Hill of attempting to wreck the party.

These are not statements of mere supposition, for, although Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall will not say a word, and, although former Senator Hill is equally reticent, those who are extremely close to them are making definitely these assertions:

First, in behalf of Mr. Hill that unless Tammany withdraws what he calls a useless opposition to the instruction of the state delegation for Judge Parker Tammany will be practically read out of the convention, delegations in its favor outside of Manhattan refused a seat in the convention and Tammany as a body not allowed to name a national delegate at large.

Second, in behalf of Mr. Murphy, as representing Tammany Hall, that New York has met defeat in national conventions only when it has instructed its delegation and that the fact that the party platform and policy are as yet so vaguely defined that it is unwise to send an instructed delegation; that Tammany, casting the greatest proportion of the Democratic vote in the state, is entitled to name a delegate at large; that a Democratic state committee should not be elected at this convention, but the matter should wait until the fall convention, when state issues are particularly dominant.

Chairman Campbell has received the following reply from Don M. Dickinson of Michigan to his dispatch protesting against Mr. Dickinson's statements relative to Judge Parker:

"I had gone to my country place at the time of the receipt of your very kind and courteous dispatch. I immediately telegraphed the following dispatch to the chief judge and to the newspapers, with copy of your telegram:

"'I beg to withdraw my published statement that you participated in the political campaign of 1888, as I am advised that you were then a justice of the supreme court of New York, elected in 1886 by a unanimous vote. My apology is not needed, but I tender it with the utmost sincerity for making the statement, and by it I wish as well to correct any one who has in any degree been influenced by it to change his and the universal respect in which you have been and are held in the minds of all your countrymen, including myself.'"

It has been intimated for some time that Frank Campbell would retire from the chairmanship and would be succeeded by John N. Carlisle of Watertown. It is said, however, that, while Mr. Campbell could retain the position if he desired, he was not anxious to shoulder the arduous duty of conducting the difficult and exacting state campaign and that Melvin Z. Haven of Syracuse is favored by Senator Hill as Mr. Campbell's successor.

A committee headed by Senator Dowling and including also Joseph Cassidy of Long Island City, Louis F. Haffen and Muller of New York waited on Senator Hill and asked that the up state men who voted on the Merzig matter with Tammany at the late state committee meeting should not be disciplined, inasmuch as they did so doubtless in good faith. Senator Hill in his reply was exceedingly noncommittal and told the committee that the districts would take care of that matter. It is generally believed that the men are slated to go.

Play to Aid Missouri Victims.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, has taken a box for the society play given this afternoon for the benefit of the families of the victims of the Missouri disaster. Although the Russian nation is in mourning for the Port Arthur disaster, the ambassador has consented for his daughter, the Countess Cassini, to take part in the play. The Austria-Hungarian ambassadress also will be in the cast, and practically every embassy and legation in Washington will be represented in the play.

Plot Against Loubet.

ROME, April 18.—Judging from the information which it has received the Italian government considers as groundless the plot alleged to have been hatched by Michael Giovanni and two other Italians who were arrested at Marseilles in connection with a supposed plot to kill President Loubet during his forthcoming Italian visit.

DISASTROUS FIRES.

Indianapolis Hotel and Hospital Burn.

ONE DEAD, MANY INJURED IN PANIC

Occidental Hotel Blaze Threatened Retail District—Guests Had Narrow Escape—St. Vincent Hospital Patients Became Frantic.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 18.—While the city fire department, re-enforced by companies from the suburbs, was being taxed to its utmost fighting the Occidental hotel fire here an alarm was turned in from St. Vincent's hospital. When the first fire company arrived one life had been lost, and several were seriously injured in the panic that followed. Harriet Leahy jumped from the fourth floor and was instantly killed.

The injured are: Miss Kate Beach, believed to be fatally injured by falling from the third floor while trying to escape by means of a rope made of bed clothing; Sister Superior Stella, seriously injured by shock following a surgical operation; Sister Nordica, seriously injured by shock; William Schneider, a patient, who at the time of the fire was undergoing an operation; Henry Nicholas, just operated upon for appendicitis, who ran downstairs.

Several other nurses and attendants were more or less injured in their endeavor to escape from what they thought would be instant death.

The panic that raged on the third and fourth floors continued until long after the fire had been extinguished.

Many of the patients who had recently undergone operations became frantic and made violent efforts to escape. The attending physicians are fearful that fatalaties will result to those whose wounds from operations had not yet healed.

The fire at the Occidental hotel, which for almost two hours threatened to destroy the principal retail district, was discovered at an early hour. Every fire company in the city as well as those from the outlying suburbs was summoned. The house was filled with guests, and a panic was narrowly averted. There were many narrow escapes from flames and suffocation, the inmates being compelled to leave the building clad only in their night robes.

The hotel fronts for half a block on Illinois street. The total loss is estimated at $75,000, including losses to business houses on the ground floor of the building.

Memorial Sermon For Dead Sailors.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 18.—Naval officers, enlisted men and apprentice boys to the number of [illegible] memorial services at the naval training station at Coasters Harbor island in honor of the sailors who lost their lives in the accident on the battleship Missouri. The memorial address was made by Chaplain William S. Cassard, U. S. N. Chaplain Cassard said the men who lost their lives on the Missouri had not lived in vain. "They gave their lives," he declared, "in the cause of perfect marksmanship, and this is a most vital consideration in the development of a powerful and efficient navy—a navy that commands the respect of the world." The chaplain paid a tribute to the action of Chief Gunner's Mate Monson and complimented President Roosevelt on his message of sympathy.

Missouri Disaster Inquiry Court.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The navy department has received a dispatch from Rear Admiral A. S. Barker, commanding the north Atlantic fleet, giving the personnel of the court of inquiry that is engaged in making an investigation of the cause of the recent accident on the Missouri. They are Rear Admiral Chadwick, president of the court; Captain Joseph N. Hemphill, commanding the Kearsarge, and Commander William H. H. Southerland, commanding the Cleveland, with Lieutenant Mark Bristol as judge advocate. It is expected that the court will complete its inquiry the present week, and on its findings will depend whether further proceedings are to be had.

Three Killed on Track.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 18.—George Clauser, aged forty; Edith M. Metzler, aged fifteen, and Stella Knauss, aged seventeen, were struck and instantly killed by a Reading railway passenger train near their home near Macungie. Miss Metzler's sister Annie saved her life by jumping aside. The party had attended a church service in Macungie and were taking a short cut home by walking on the railroad track. The noise of a passing freight train prevented them hearing the approaching passenger train.

Kaiser Will Meet Loubet.

ROME, April 18.—Emperor William is credited with having indicated that he would be willing to meet President Loubet during his Mediterranean cruise. The emperor, accompanied by fifteen members of his suit, dined with Mrs. Robert Goelet on board the latter's steam yacht Nahma. The emperor expressed himself as delighted with the event and said he wished the empress were with him to share his pleasure.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and Phillip Jahn left Saturday for a short trip through New England. They will visit friends in Worcester and Boston.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Tenderfoot," at the New York Theatre, is the greatest comic musical hit of the latter part of the current season. Richard Carle, as the Vermont professor, conducting a party of girl tourists through the Southwest, has greatly added to the wide reputation as a humorous entertainer he made while connected with the New York Casino, where he played important comedy roles in the musical reviews which made this house so popular in "the old days." In his present vehicle he is surrounded by a remarkably able company of over 100 people, the largest part unusually pretty and talented girls, all of whom are required to do more effective work than merely pose about the stage. "The Tenderfoot" is a real novelty in story, locals of scenes and characterization and contains a wealth of popular music and specialties which would make even a less meritorious piece a big go. This attraction will remain but a short time longer at the New York, previous contracts making another extension of its run impossible.

In keeping with Mr. Proctor's policy of making an occasional revival of a Shakespearian play, "The Taming of the Shrew" will be offered at the Fifth Avenue Theatre this week. The revival will be scrumptuously staged, special settings for each scene now being on the paint frames, and every detail will be looked after with careful attention. The cast will comprise Lotta Linthicum, Gerald Griffin, Verner Clarges, William Beach (especially engaged as "Petruchio") Hugh Ford, Albert Roberts, H. Dudley Hawley, Loretta Healy, etc. In the vaudeville section Hale and Frances, hoop rollers and club jugglers, will present a novel specialty. One of the features of the act is Mr. Hale's specialty on the running globe, in which he turns a complete somersault carrying the globe with him. Smith and Bowman, black face comedians, will offer a unique specialty, while Josephine Ainsley will sing rag time songs.

Plainfield, N. J., April 18, 1904.

After all has been said and written about him, the one great achievement of Parker has been his ability to keep silence since his name was first mentioned for the Democratic party nomination.

The New York State Democrats are at odds over the length of the platform to be adopted today. Size shouldn't cut much figure. What the people expect to see is the usual bunch of "We view with alarm," "we point with pride" and "we arraign with indignation" and half a dozen other standbys.

It is estimated that $1,000,000,000 annually are spent on advertising in the United States. A good second is the insurance business with almost $1,000,000,000. Though the United States stands foremost in the world as regards advertising, both in quantity and quality, there is still much to be learned from other countries, and some things that we will probably avoid. Very many marriages take place in Germany as the result of advertising, but it is not likely that this branch of the industry will find widespread favor here. In Vienna any one who makes misrepresentations in an advertisement is liable to fall under the ban of the law. No such safeguard is afforded to the American public.—Retailer and Adertiser.

HIS FIRST PLAY SUCCESSFUL

CHARLES BATTELL LOOMIS' FARCE RENDERED AT FANWOOD.

A large audience greeted "A Tramp at Home," Saturday evening at the Fanwood Club House. The play has never before been presented, in fact, it is the first play that Charles Battell Loomis has ever written, and it is hoped that it will not be the last.

Not only the play but the performers were received with interest. It was a clever farce. An enjoyable bit of character portrayal was the impersonation of "Artties Artie," by Mr. Loomis himself. Miss Elizabeth Kyte essayed the role of Mrs. Buckie and carried it to a successful finish. Mr. Beardsley, as George Buckie, acted with ease and spirit seldom exhibited by an amateur.

The other parts were well played by J. H. Thompson, Miss Nichols, Miss Babcock and Miss Ethel Kyte. Miss Nichol's piano playing added materially to the success of the evening as did also a recitation by Miss Jannet Carter.

Mr. Beardsley, who has a remarkable tenor voice, sang Johnson's "Teach Me Thy Charm," and delighted the audience with his sympathetic manner and delicacy of phrasing.

New Apartment House.

Morris Abrams and Marx Weinberger, owners of the old hospital building on Muhlenberg place, have received from Inspector T. O. Doane a permit to make alterations to the building. Two extensions to the building will be separated from the main portion and made into an apartment house for four families. The extensions will be moved about 250 feet east of Muhlenberg place to Second street.

ROOSEVELT AND CIVIL SERVICE.

Chairman Gillett's Statement Regarding Appointments.

WASHINGTON, April 18. — Chairman Gillett of the house committee on civil service reform recently wrote Mr. W. D. Foulke, former civil service commissioner, calling his attention to recent congressional and other criticisms of President Roosevelt "on the ground that he has made a larger number of irregular appointments to the classified service than any of his predecessors" and in view of the fact that the period covered was while Mr. Foulke was commissioner asking his opinion as to the charges. In reply Mr. Foulke, under date of April 15, wrote:

"The fact is exactly the other way. There have been fewer appointments without competitive examination under President Roosevelt than under any other president, and there has been no administration since the passage of the civil service act in which the competitive system has advanced with greater rapidity and certainty. It has been necessary for every president to permit certain positions to be filled without examination. The number has been reduced from time to time and the range of the competitive system extended. This process has gone on faster under President Roosevelt than under any other president."

FIRST AMERICAN NEWSPAPER.

The Boston News-Letter, Issued In 1704.

BOSTON, April 18. — The present week marks the two hundredth anniversary of the American press, and the bicentennial is commented upon generally by Boston papers, the first American newspaper having been published in this city.

The first newspaper to establish itself in the colonies was the Boston News-Letter, which issued its first number in the week of April 17-24, 1704. It consisted of a sheet 7 by 10½ inches, printed on both sides, two columns to the page. Its editor was John Campbell, postmaster of Boston. For fifteen years the News-Letter was the only newspaper in the colonies of Great Britain in America. Philadelphia was the second American city to establish a newspaper, in 1719, and New York third, in 1725. At the present time there are more than 21,000 newspapers in the United States.

The Globe has figured out, with the assistance of the statisticians of the Massachusetts state bureau of statistics of labor, that at the same rate of increase in its population that has prevailed in the past two centuries Boston, which in 1704 had a population of 7,000 and now has 617,913, would have 200 years hence a population of 54,198,884.

JACK TARS AND POLICE.

Riot at Pensacola In Which an Artilleryman Met Death.

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 18.—In a riot here between police and bluejackets from the warships and a few artillerymen from Fort Barancas Private Banks, Seventh artillery, was instantly killed and four bluejackets from the Iowa and Alabama were wounded, though not seriously.

The riot started over the arrest of a bluejacket. Three policemen were at the patrol call box when a petty officer from one of the ships blew a whistle signal used on the ships for the men to assemble. Fully 300 gathered and rushed the policemen.

Two of the policemen backed away from the crowd, firing as fast as possible at the advancing bluejackets, who were hurling stones, bottles and other missiles at them. It was during this shooting that the artilleryman was killed.

Re-enforcements from the police station arrived at this juncture and partly dispersed the bluejackets. Later, owing to many threats by the men from the warships to kill the policemen, Rear Admiral Barker ordered the marine guard from two of the ships ashore, and they quelled the riot and prevented further trouble.

Fatal Auto Accident.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 18.—Dr. George C. Eighme, a prominent dentist of this city, will doubtless lose his life as the result of an automobile accident here. Mr. Eighme lost control of his machine, and it went over a stone wall at the side of the road near the Fairfield town line, throwing him, the only occupant, into a lot on the other side of the wall, the automobile finally landing on top of him. Several of the doctor's ribs were fractured, and one of his ribs punctured his left lung. He was picked up in an unconscious condititon by trolley car employees and carried to his home, where it was said that his death was expected at any time.

Grant's Daughter Got Her Jewels.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Jewelry valued at several thousand dollars, which was lost on Saturday by Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, daughter of the late General Grant, was returned to her at the Holland House, with the exception of one or two small pieces of minor importance. The man who returned the gems explained that he had found them on West Twenty-third street at about the time when Mrs. Sartoris was shopping there.

Governor Bates Favors Y. M. C. A.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 18.—Governor John L. Bates was the principal speaker at the fortieth anniversary celebration of the Y. M. C. A. in Mechanics' hall before 2,200 people. His excellency spoke of the great value of assiciations for young men and said the state is doing splendid work in this respect, building schoolhouses and establishing libraries and creating public parks and recreation grounds.

We are pleased to announce that we have made arrangements with Mr. C. A. Chapman, of Geneva, N. Y., to conduct a Free Cooking School at our store. The VanDeusen Cake Moulds which are the only simple, practical and durable cake moulds made. They require no greasing, because they have openings at the bottom covered with slides through which a knife is inserted and the cake loosened from the mould. Being made solid they do not get out of order and leak the batter like the loose-bottom pans do. Everybody is welcome to this Cooking School. Orders taken for cakes.

PANIC AT SUNGJIN

Five Thousand Cossacks Will Divert Japs From the Yalu.

JAPANESE REGRETS FOR MAKAROFF

Korean Emperor Will Rebuild a Temporary Palace—Captain of the Mandjur Went Down In the Petropavlovsk.

LONDON, April 18.—A Seoul report says the governor of the province of Hamgyung, in northeastern Korea, wires that a force of Cossacks has appeared near Sungjin. The consul at Sungjin became freightened and wired Japanese Minister Hayashi for a vessel to carry away Japanese residents. A steamer sent from Gensan has arrived at Sungjin and embarked the refugees.

It is said that 5,000 Russians are following the advance of the Cossacks with the intention of diverting the Japanese from the Yalu river, but this is hardly credible owing to the possibility of the Japanese landing and cutting them off.

There is no information here as to whether the two English missionaries at Sungjin have left there, but there are no fears for their safety.

Japanese refugees are arriving at Gensan.

The emperor has decided to rebuild only temporarily on the site of the burned palace. The building will be of foreign style. A stone building under construction will replace the once beautiful audience hall, now smoldering ashes.

A report has been received that Port Arthur was bombarded all day Friday and that the action was continued Saturday.

It is said at St. Petersburg that on the eve of the disaster to the Petropavlovsk Vice Admiral Makaroff telegraphed to the emperor that he was about to fight a decisive action with the enemy's fleet.

A court story told here is that on hearing of the catastrophe to Makaroff the emperor went and, referring to Viceroy Alexeieff, exclaimed, "That man brings us nothing but ill luck." It is also alleged that the emperor was with difficulty dissuaded from removing the viceroy from his post.

Captain Crown, who went down with the Petropavlovsk joined that ship on the previous day, having succeeded in getting through from Shanghai, where he left his vessel, the gunboat Mandjur. Captain Crown was a descendant of a Scotchman who fought with Russia in the war with Sweden, when he captured the first Retvizan.

A dispatch from Port Arthur says several eyewitnesses assert that a Japanese cruiser has been lost outside of Port Arthur by striking one of its own floating mines.

Advices from Tokyo say that the Japanese are elated over the successes they have won at Port Arthur. They are also proud of the achievements of Vice Admiral Togo, particularly of his newest strategy of countermining the enemy's harbor and decoying him across this field of mines to an equally dangerous flank attack.

The success of the system of placing deadly countermines is due largely to a series of careful observations made by the Japanese during their previous attacks on Port Arthur. The Japanese saw the Russian fleet leave the harbor and return to it several times, and they discovered that the Russian warships followed an identical course every time they came out or went in, evidently for the purpose of avoiding their own mines. The Japanese took bearings on this course. When the destroyer divisions of the Japanese torpedo flotilla laid the countermines during the night of April 12-13 they placed them along this course. The laying of these countermines was exceedingly perilous, because if any Japanese boat with mines on board had been struck by a lucky Russian shot she would have been annihilated.

The weather of the night of April 12-13 favored the work. There was a heavy rain, the night was dark and cloudy, and the Russian searchlights playing over the channel failed to reveal the presence of the Japanese destroyers.

Rear Admiral Dewa was in command of the Japanese squadron which decoyed the Russian ships over the field of mines. His squadron consisted of the cruisers Chitose, Yoshino, Kasagi and Takasago, all unarmored vessels, which presented a tempting bait for the heavier Russian ships.

Vice Admiral Togo directed the flank attack. He had the battleships Hatsuse, Mikasa, Asahi, Shikishima, Yashima and Fuji. He waited thirty miles out at sea until Rear Admiral Dewa signaled him by wireless telegraphy to come in. His vessels then dashed at full speed toward the entrance of the harbor. All the battleships under Vice Admiral Togo are capable of a speed of eighteen knots, and they quickly covered the distance. It is not clear what warned the Russians that they had been trapped, but they probably discerned the battleship squadron on the horizon and retreated precipitately to the harbor. Vice Admiral Togo did not succeed in preventing the Russians from entering, but did force them to a disastrous retreat, which ended in the destruction of the Petropavlovsk and the disabling of the Pobieda. After these occurrences the cruisers Nishin and Kasuga were used to bombard Port Arthur. They possess the highest angled guns in the fleet, capable of throwing shells to the elevated Russian land works, which are beyond attainment by the average naval weapon.

Vice Admiral Togo calls this attack on Port Arthur the eighth, whereas here it is numbered seventh. A probable explanation is that Vice Admiral Togo regards the latest operation as two distinct attacks.

Expressions of regret at the death of Vice Admiral Makaroff are general here. Speaking for the naval staff, Commander Ogasawara has published a lengthy statement, in which he laments the death of the Russian vice admiral and pronounces it to be a loss to the navies of the world. Commander Ogasawara reviews the life, professional career and the personal attributes of Vice Admiral Makaroff and declares that he is entitled to be classed with the best admirals in the world.

The Koryu Maru, which participated in the latest attack on Port Arthur, is a torpedo depot ship, under the command of Commander Oda. Oda is a mine expert, and the success of the Japanese countermining operations was due largely to his ingenuity and bravery.

The Japanese report that the wreck of the Petropavlovsk lies southeast of Golden hill, one mile outside the entrance to the harbor.

It is reported from St. Petersburg that the last Japanese torpedo flotilla attack on Port Arthur was intended to cover a landing from nine transports at Shwangtaitse, twenty miles southwest of Takushan, with a view of cutting off the retreat of the Port Arthur troops to Siuyen and Kaiping, destroying the railway and preventing troops stationed in southern Liaotung effecting a junction with the main Russian forces concentrated at Liaoyang and Mukden. The execution of this operation only failed owing to the fact that all places on the peninsula suitable for the landing of troops are protected by mines, well fortified and strongly guarded.

Rumors at Port Arthur say that twenty Japanese transports conveying troops have been sighted steaming in the direction of Yinkow. They cannot be confirmed.

The Russians impatiently await a Japanese landing.

TOGO'S REPORT.

Makaroff's Flagship Struck Jap Mine Laid During the Night.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Japanese legation has received the following cablegram:

"Admiral Togo reports that the combined fleet, as previously planned, commenced on the 11th of April the eighth attack on Port Arthur. The fourth and the fifth torpedo boat destroyer flotillas and the fourteenth torpedo boat flotilla and the Kero Maru reached the mouth of Port Arthur at midnight of the 12th and effected the laying of mines at several points outside of the port, defying the enemy's searchlights.

"In the early morning Admiral Makaroff, with the Novik, Askold, Diana, Petropavlovsk, Pobieda and Poltava, came out and made an offensive attack. Our third fleet, hardly answering and gradually retiring, enticed the enemy fifteen miles southeast of the port, when our first fleet, informed through wireless telegraphy from the third fleet, suddenly appeared before the enemy and attacked them. While the enemy was trying to regain the port a battleship of the Petropavlovsk type struck mines laid by us the previous evening and sank at 10:32 a. m.

"Although another ship was observed to have lost freedom of movement, the confusion of the enemy's ships prevented us from identifying her. They finally managed to regain the port. Our third fleet suffered no damage and the enemy's damage besides above mentioned probably slight also."

Bryan Still Bennett's Executor.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 18.—A decision denying in effect the application for the removal of William J. Bryan as executor of the estate of the late Philo S. Bennett has been rendered by Judge L. W. Cleaveland in the probate court. The application was brought by counsel for Mrs. Grace Imogene Bennett, the widow, and other residuary legatees on the ground that Mr. Bryan was acting contrary to the interests of the estate. The decision sustains a demurrer filed by Mr. Bryan's counsel and practically denies the application as far as the probate court is concerned. The matter will now go to the higher court on appeal.

Military Honors Paid Wiechert.

DANBURY, Conn., April 18.—Thousands of persons crowded into the depot and along the central streets of this city on the arrival of the body of Lieutenant E. A. Wiechert, who was killed in the explosion on the battleship Missouri off Pensacola, Fla. The body arrived at the depot at 8:30, and it was with difficulty that the members of Company G, Third regiment, escorted it to the First Congregational church on account of the great crowds that were in the streets and which lined the sidewalks.

No Clew to Slayer.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 18.—James Cassal, an Italian, twenty-nine years of age, was found murdered at his home in Forty Fort, three miles from here. He had been struck with an ax, which lay by his side. His body was mutilated in a horrible manner. The police have no clew to the murderer.

Bulgaria Aground at Schulau.

HAMBURG, April 18.—The Hamburg-American line steamer Bulgaria, Captain Russ, from Hamburg for New York, which ran aground at Schulau, is expected to be hauled off with little damage.

THE NEW WOMAN

Suffrage In Australia

A LADY who lives and votes and has her being in Australia, where her sex has full suffrage, lately visited America and gave some addresses. In a speech in Boston she said, "We have found it is better to fence the precipice at the top than to wait at the bottom with an ambulance." So far as working real reforms, municipal and otherwise, the woman who cannot vote can now only wait at the bottom of the precipice with an ambulance, no matter how capable and public spirited she is. All the world lets her take care of the sick and poor. But if she had a vote she could do much to prevent sickness, crime and poverty. Meantime here are some of the things the ballot has done for the feminine sex in Australia: It has established a new department of government, the children's council, which sees that in all court cases children get justice and kindness and a fair chance; it has abolished child labor altogether; in the factories the sanitary conditions have been greatly improved, and all the employees get a Saturday half holiday; in the postoffice department, where women clerks received $300 a year before they had a vote, they now get $550; before women voted women teachers in the public schools got less pay than men for the same work, while now the salaries are the same to both for the like grade of work. Since women have had the ballot the men of Australia have discovered that the world is for woman, too, and that women are somebody as well as themselves. Meantime, while in monarchical Australia women have all their rights as human beings, in the so called free republic of the United States women still wait with an ambulance at the bottom of the precipice everywhere except in four states.

When the creative power has made a chunk of putty into the shape of a man or woman and breathed the breath of life into it, what are you going to do about it? What can it ever be but a chunk of putty still?

Be good, sweet man, and let who will be clever.

It is a feather in the cap of American women that the first portrait the dowager empress of China ever permitted an artist to print of her is the work of an American girl, Miss Kate Carl. Miss Carl lived for a time in Tsi An's palace at Peking, and Tsi An, dressed in her robes of state, gave sittings to the young white woman. The portrait will be on exhibtion at the St. Louis fair.

About that "beauty luncheon" in Chicago over which so many newspaper people have sharpened their wits—it is a fine idea, really. We ought to have such luncheons oftener. Everything that tends to make woman care less for mere clothes for the body and more for the perfection and ideal beauty of the body itself ought to be fostered and encouraged.

It rests almost wholly with a woman herself whether she shall get too old for money earning occupations. If she controls her temper and her silly nerves and takes care of her body and, above all, never slumps down and quits, she can continue to work as long as she needs to. Just simply let her not give up or heed the foolish suggestions that she is "too old" to do this or that. A woman can keep young by intelligence and will power.

Be careful what you write in letters. Speak what you please, but what is written is written. It stands for or against you in black and white.

Can you sharpen a lead pencil or a penknife properly? If you can't, then learn. Woman will never be man's equal till she can sharpen a lead pencil and a penknife.

Grit and perseverance conquer every time.

Why is it that wealthy women always are so philanthropically and patronizingly anxious to have poor girls learn to be cooks and dressmakers and laundresses?

Some women writers and speakers appear to think housework is perfectly glorious—for other women to do.

A statistician has found out that this country contains nearly three times as many widows as widowers. Is this because the widows cannot get husbands or because they don't want them?

If a fire breaks out around where you are, don't faint, have hysterics, jump out of a fourth story window or otherwise make an idiot of yourself. Just keep your head on and try to be of some use.

The silly season has already begun. That perhaps is the reason for an English woman's writing in a silly little magazine an alleged explanation of why women like "masterful men." Women do not like "masterful men" in the domestic sphere, not even in England! A woman admires a man who can master fate, circumstance, misfortune or an unruly horse, but when it comes to trying his masterfulness on her—not much! A woman is not a slave or a horse or a circumstance.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

No Admission Fee to Championship Game—Score Cards at High Price.

NEW YORK, April 18.—For the first time in the history of the National league a championship Sunday baseball game between two of its teams was played in Brooklyn yesterday. The Brooklyns and the Bostons were the contestants. There were over 12,000 persons present, but everything was orderly, and there was no interference on the part of the authorities.

No admission fee was charged at the entrance gates, but all persons who passed through the inner turnstiles had to purchase score cards, which, according to their color, admitted the purchaser to the grand stand or the field stands and bleachers. The local men won easily by a score of 9 to 1, batting Willis for eight runs during the five innings which he remained in the box.

Fisher, who relieved him, allowed three hits in as many innings. Jones, for Brooklyn, pitched steadily and received good fielding support.

Chicago Was Easy.

CINCINNATI, April 18.—Cincinnati had no trouble in solving the delivery of Brown and, aided by Chicago's errors, gathered in a comparatively easy victory. Evers was put out of the grounds for disputing a decision. Chance retired in favor of Corridon in the eighth inning, after making a home run on a short fly that just escaped Donlin. Score, 12 to 3.

Arrests at Ridgewood Ball Game.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The New York American league baseball team defeated the Brooklyn Field club's nine in an exhibition game at Ridgewood park yesterday, the score being 17 to 4. During the game the police arrested two men for selling tickets of admission to the field stands in alleged violation of the Sabbath law.

Cleveland Shut Out Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 18. — An immense crowd turned out to see Cleveland shut out Chicago. The locals could not hit Donahue at critical times, and the visitors were unable to bunch their hits to advantage. Both teams put up a fine fielding game, the work of Davis and Turner being excellent. Score, 5 to 0.

Snow Stops Ball Practice.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 18.—With six inches of snow on the ground and having had no practice all last week, the Rochester Eastern League club left for Wilmington, Del. The squad numbers twenty-one men, and they will remain in Wilmington the entire week.

Stovall Hard Hit.

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—The St. Louis American league team easily defeated the Detroits. Stovall was hit hard, seventeen hits being made off his delivery, out of which the locals managed to score thirteen runs. Sugden made two three base hits. Score, 13 to 2.

Chinese Prince at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Prince Pu Lun, nephew of the emperor of China, arrived here on the steamer Gaelic. The prince, who is to represent the Chinese government at the St. Louis fair, is accompanied by a large retinue. The prince was met at the wharf by a large delegation of local Chinese, who, with much formality, welcomed him and escorted him to his hotel. Great preparations have been made by the Chinese colony to entertain the prince during his stay in this city, and a series of elaborate dinners and receptions has been arranged. The Chinese quarter of the city is gayly decorated with yellow bunting and Chinese and American flags, and the prince's visit is being made a holiday.

To Stop Sunday Ball Games.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 18.—The largest public meeting that has been held in this city since the McKinley memorial meeting was held in the West Presbyterian church here to protest against Sunday baseball. Ex-Congressman Stephen C. Millard presided. A committee was appointed to take steps to prevent playing ball in this city on Sunday, as the managers of the local state league team have expressed their intention of doing. This committee will again call on the baseball managers and ask them to reconsider their action, as it is desired to settle the question amicably if possible. If the baseball men refuse to grant this request, legal steps will be taken to prevent Sunday playing.

"Broadminded Patriotism."

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The children of the American Revolution, who are holding their annual convention in Washington in conjunction with the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which begins today, held patriotic services in the Church of the Covenant yesterday. The chief feature of the services was a sermon by Rev. Teunis Hamlin on "Broadminded Patriotism." Dr. Hamlin declared that what is needed is a broadminded patriotism—a patriotism that serves the church of God—not in a denominational sense, but on the grand scale of divine glorification, which abandons the limitations of creeds and reaches out for the broad, generous religion of mankind.

Ireland at St. Louis.

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, April 18.—The Cunard line steamer Etruria, which sailed for New York, carries the Irish section for the St. Louis exposition. It includes lace valued at $2,500,000 and several tons of soil gathered from the four provinces. The exhibit is accompanied by seventy-two persons.

MONTCLAIR ACADEMY BEATEN

LEAL'S TEAM WON GAME, SCORE BEING 3 TO 2.

The Leal School baseball team played an exciting game with the Montclair Military Academy on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon. Although the wind was blowing in almost hurricane fashion across the field, a good game resulted and the home team won by a score of 3 to 2. Only six innings were played as the Montclair boys were anxious to catch the 5:45 train for home.

Robert Abbott pitched an excellent game for the home team. He had plenty of speed and good control and during the four innings he was in the box he had his opponents at his mercy, they failing to score. He retired because of a lame arm. A split finger interfered with Lovell's work and was he was hit freely.

This is the summary:

FAIR ESTATE IS SETTLED

MRS. HANNAH NELSON GETS $130,000 —OTHER HEIRS GET SOMETHING.

Superior Judge Cook at SanFrancisco on Saturday ordered the final distribution of the estate of the late Charles L. Fair, which was appraised at $3,040,000, to the two sisters of the deceased, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. The sum of $126,000 is to be held out for the purpose of meeting various claims. Attorneys' fees and other claims amounting to over $200,000, already allowed, are also to be paid out of the estate.

After taking testimony to prove that no child had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair, the judge decreed that they had died without issue.

During the proceedings Charles S. Neal testified that $130,000 had been paid to Mrs. Nelson, of New Market, the mother of Mrs. Fair. The matter of the estate of Mrs. Caroline D. Fair came up on the petition of Mrs. Jenny Harvey for the distribution of her share, including Mrs. Fair's jewelry and other personal belongings. This partial distribution was ordered and the final distribution will be made later. The bulk of this estate eventually will go to the sisters of Charles Fair, the Nelsons' claim being compromised.

KEPT MARRIAGE SECRET.

Miss Jeanette Zimmer Became Mrs. Rose in December.

Miss Jeanette Zimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmer, of 153 Manning avenue, North Plainfield, was wedded to Augustus H. Rose, of 145 Manning avenue, on December 18, 1903, the marriage being kept a secret until now. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Rev. William Hoppaugh, of Springfield, N. J. Mr. Rose is employed at Warnock's bakery, on West Front street.

Rural Delivery Runaway.

Without its driver, the rural free delivery wagon in charge of Leslie Tingley, was dragged behind its runaway horse shortly after noon today. The horse travelled along West Front street to Oxford place where William Brokaw blocked its passage. Patrolman Higgins took it in charge. The horse's hind leg was badly cut.

Mr. Fowler Removes.

Benjamin Fowler, of Kensington avenue, who has been in business for several months at Amboy, removed to that place today.

UNABLE TO ACCOMMODATE.

Millionaire Wanted Cash After Banking Hours—Time Locks Wouldn't Yield to Even His Credit.

A well known millionaire hastily entered a few days ago the bank where he carried a large deposit, says the New York Evening Post. He had left his pocketbook home and wanted cash. The bank was sorry, but could not accommodate him. It was past four o'clock, the vaults were closed and the executive staff had gone home.

The subordinate officers held a quick council, and one of them thus described the result:

"We piled up every cent we had in our clothes, then we went through the clerks and had every man in the establishment turn his pockets inside out. The customer was many times a millionaire, and could secure from us any day whatever sum he needed. But the time locks were set, and the best we could do was $50 in cash. He stuffed the roll in his pocket and hurriedly went on his way. We did not even ask for a memorandum, knowing that he detested details, and that a subsequent word with his secretary was all that would be needed to reimburse the bank."

The incident may be taken as illustrating, first, the limit which is drawn in the control of banks by great financiers, of which so much has been lately heard; second, the advisability of presenting checks before three p. m., and, third, the absorbing power of great wealth and credit over the surplus cash of small capitalists.

SAW A BURNING MOUNTAIN

Landslide from Top of Hill Made Shale Red Hot—Smoke Issued from Ground.

A party of geologists recently made an interesting find in the Arbuckle mountains. They struck, says the Kansas City Journal, a small creek in the mountains, followed down its course and came finally to a place where they saw some smoke issuing from the foot of a tree near the creek bed, and from a streak running up the side of a hill.

When the party came opposite the place they saw that the smoke was issuing from the ground. Upon careful investigation the following was found: There had been a landslide from the top of the hill, which was here like a cliff, and ran up 200 feet or more. The cliff was composed of a shale rock, dark, churt-like substance. In falling this had lodged below and piled against the side of the cliff, while the outer edge ran out to the edge of the creek. The distance from the cliff side to the creek bed was nearly 100 yards. An enormous quantity of this shale had by a slide been placed in the position described.

From the foot of the tree smoke issued from a crevice about two feet wide and running about 100 yards up the slope to the side of the cliff. Another small fork projected before it reached the cliff. The shale on top, whence the smoke and steam were issuing, was light in color. Upon digging down two feet or more the shale was found to be red hot.

HUMANITY OF MAN SHOWN

Crowd Only Wanted a Leader to Pitch In and Help Horses Start Their Load.

A pair of horses were struggling to haul a heavily laden sledge into one of the side streets crossing Westminster, says the Providence Journal. The animals worked hard, but it was no use; the sledge was firmly planted where not a flake of snow remained.

A shabbily dressed elderly man happened along. He watched the vain efforts of the poor animals two or three minutes.

"Come, boys," he finally shouted, "let's help 'em out."

Whereat half a dozen men who were passing and who heard the words instantly put their shoulders to the sledge and tried their best, with the aid of the horses, to start the outfit. But it did not budge.

"Twenty more men wanted!" again shouted the elderly man. "Come on, you men," addressing his remarks to a group of male bystanders; "come on, 20 more of you, and give us a lift."

And 20 did come, yes, more than 20, nearly twice that number. The result was satisfactory. One concerted effort of men and beast and the sledge was safely across the car tracks, in clear sailing once more.

HOPE CHAPEL BOYS' MINSTREL SHOW TONIGHT

Entire New Bill to be Presented by Amateur Black Face Artists.

REFORM CLUB BENEFIT

A BIG CROWD IS EXPECTED TO ATTEND THE PERFORMANCE.

Buches of Clever Hits—Brand New Jokes—Whole String of Popular Songs—The Programme —Those Taking Part.

About the only thing that has not been changed in the Hope Chapel Minstrel Show bill for tonight's production at the Reform Club is the name. One or two of the features will be the same as when the show went on the boards at the chapel in March, but the show as a whole will be practically new.

For nearly three weeks the troupe has been practicing as hard as for the original production, and Coach W. N. Runyon is confident that the amateur blackface artists will make as big a hit tonight as in the chapel presentation. He has gone over the lines from start to finish and brought them strictly to date. New jokes have been poured into the sacks of the funny men with lavish hand, and a string of new songs will be sung by the soloists.

As in the chapel, the soloists in the olio will be Bertram Tallamy, Louis Tallamy, M. D. Sweeney, Bertram Firstbrook, William Jeffery, John Cose, Aleck Muir and Leonce Texier. Bertram Tallamy will sing "Old Black Joe," a new sentimental ballad with an old name. Louis Tallamy will repeat his "Take Me Back to Ole Virginny." He scored such a great success with that song last month that it was deemed best to retain it. Instead of "Let Me In, That's All," Sweeney will carol "Trouble," a coon song that he sings as if it had been made to order for him. Firstbrook, who has defied a grave illness to take his place in the circle—he left the house yesterday for the first time in more than a week—will sing " 'Taint No Disgrace to Run When Youse Scared," instead of "I'm Goin' to Leave." In place of "Sunny Africa," John Cose will sing "Hallelujah." Aleck Muir will replace "Remember I Love You" with "Bluebells," a ballad even prettier than the discraded song. William Jeffery will repeat his old-time success, "Don't Yo' Cry Ma Honey."

An entirely new number will be turned off by George Cose and Leonce Texier. They will sing "My California Poppy" with a number of light fancy steps in which John Galvin has trained them to perfection.

George Cose will sing the topical song again. Judge Runyon has written two or three new verses that will bring it up to the minute.

While the specialty artists will be the same, the general character of their acts has been changed completely. A. E. Willard will show his "Rube" in Coney Island instead of New York city and Elmer D. Cutting's illustrated songs will be different. Johnny Galvin and his brother will unload a batch of new jests and even the afterpiece will be furnished.

If nothing else is done with that, the names at least will be changed.

One change in the make-up of the troupe is to be regretted. William L. Holbert, on account of business press, will be unable to take his old part. He has helped the management to a most satisfactory substitute, however, in the person of Samuel Knott Johnson, a friend who played with Haverley's Minstrels when he was in the profession several years ago. Mr. Johnson has kept his hand in the stage "business" and tricks in many private theatrical performances, and he will fill the vacancy most acceptably.

The troupe held a dress rehearsal last night. It passed off to the entire satisfaction of Coach Runyon, all the artists moving through their parts with snap and smoothness.

Tickets have sold well, and a big house is assured. The hall is much larger than the chapel, but it is so arranged that the stage can be plainly seen from any seat on the floor or in the gallery. Those who cannot secure tickets elsewhere will find them on sale in the box office before and during the show.

HIGH FUNCTION ON SATURDAY

MANAGER DENMAN'S PROGRAMME FOR THE OPENING GAME.

Extensive preparations have been made for a regulation big league style of opening of the baseball season at Westfield Saturday. At 3 o'clock there will be an automobile parade led by Mayor-elect Randolph Perkins and leading to Recreation Park. At 3:30 there will be a short ceremony at the home plate.

Manager Denman declares that while in Porto Rico during the winter "Red" Wallier came into possession of the left hind leg of a white rabbit killed in an old graveyard near midnight on a Friday, the thirteenth day of the month, by a bow-legged and cross-eyed darkey. After an ovation by the President of the Knockers' Club, there will be a selection by the rooters' band and the symbol of luck will be planted in the pitcher's box, two feet deep and pointed towards Rahway.

At precisely 4 o'clock, it is said, Congressman Charles N. Fowler will enter the arena and toss the ball to Jack Burke, who will immediately place it between his thumb and forefinger and grind it into the soft dirt a few times before passing it around the infield and to Pitcher Waller; then the critic proof umpire, Jimmie Cullum, will pipe "play ball" in high G and the rooters and usually staid individuals in attendance will glue their eyes on the fight before them—Westfield against Seventh Regiment. There have been several betterments added to the grounds and if there is any kind of ball balm in the air the attendance will reach the standing room only degree.

As it has been a long drawn out wait since the last ball game hereabouts all roads will lead to Westfield next Saturday. There will be plenty of dainty feminine finery with picture hat topping and there isn't a public shining light in Union County but what has the date and place down in his noddle.

PRAISE FOR SWACKHAMER

HERALD DESCRIBES HIM AS MIXTURE OF SCHOOLMASTER AND LAWYER.

Under the captain "Democratic Woodman Looking for Flawless Gubernatorial Timber," the New York Sunday Herald of this week makes mention of several leaders in the party likeliest of receiving the nomination. The names of George Pfeiffer, Jr., of Camden; Thomas M. Ferrell, of Gloucester County; F. S. Katzenbach, Jr., of Trenton; Charles O. Black, of Jersey City; R. V. Lindabury, of Newark, and S. S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, are included. Of Swackhamer, the account says:

" 'Swackhamer, the tall sycamore of Somerset,' has a somewhat lengthy but pleasing alliterative sound. But if one should know Samuel S. Swackhamer one would never forget him. He is tall, urbanely reserved, with a good clear eye, a convincing voice and just enough mixture of schoolmaster and lawyer to be a logical thinker without being didactic. Some of his political experience Swackhamer gained as a member of the Borough Council of North Plainfield, when that community, from 1898 to 1901, had more politics to the square inch than any other borough in the State except West Cape May.

"In the Legislature, as one of the minority Democrats in the House of Assembly, Swackhamer has gained the respect and admiration of his colleagues. He has a winning personality and 'carries his point' in spite of the fact that he will not make compromises when he must sacrifice any matter of principle. It would not be a great matter of difficulty to convert a 'tall sycamore' into an oak, and Swackhamer may be the timber desired."

Union's Valuation $57,709,943.

The New York Herald recently printed tables of assessed and true values of personal property taxed in the several counties of New Jersey. It states that the assessed value of Union county personal property is $6,751,830 for a true value of $57,709,943. The figures for Somerset are $3,872,520, assessed, and $24,119,733 true value; and for Middlesex, $4,940,664 and $40,506,076.

Artistic Poster.

Considerable attention has been attracted by the artistic poster for the charitsy production of "The Taming of the Shrew" which is now displayed at Armstrong's drug store. It is the work of Fred C. Iglehart, of New York, who has several friends in the east. The tickets, on sale at Armstrong's, are selling rapidly.

The location of the new building will be on Park avenue, corner of Moffett avenue, this spot being considered the best suited for the purpose.

Contracts aggregating an expenditure of $14,400 were awarded to these: Mason work, B. F. Tallamy & Bro.; carpenter work, Charles M. Wilson; plumbing and heating, George J. Tobin; electrical work, A. B. Laing; gas fixtures, J. W. Gavett; painting, J. C. Hansen.

The Nurses' Home will be constructed of brick and will be of colonial style, harmonising with the hospital building. It will be modern in every respect and contain all of the latest conveniences. There will be accommodations for about twenty-five nurses. Work on the structure will be started as soon as the contracts are signed. Action on the isolation ward has been temporarily delayed. It will probably be considered at the next regular meeting.

The resignation of Francis Wood as a member of the Board of Governors was received and accepted. The vacancy will be filled at the next meeting. Mr. Wood resigns because he is soon to make his home in New York.

PATROLMAN QUAAS A VICTIM OF DUTY

Member of Police Force Dies as Result of General Breakdown of System.

HOST OF FRIENDS HERE

DEAD MAN BUT THIRTY-SIX YEARS OF AGE.

Leaves a Wife and Daughter—Member of Police Force Nearly Two Years—Funeral Thursday Morning at 9:30.

Patrolman Moses F. Quaas, one of the most popular officers in Plainfield's police department, died suddenly at 10:30 o'clock last night at his home, 311 Plainfield avenue. Death resulted from a general breaking down of the system due largely to exposure during a particularly hard winter. The immediate cause of death was a complication of liver and stomach troubles. He had been in active service until last Tuesday night.

Officer Quaas was one of the most efficient members of the force. He performed the numerous and varied duties that always fall to a policeman with a conscientiousness that won him many friends. He was always courteous and affable. The deepest regret at his loss was expressed this morning by Chief Kiely and his brother officers. Chief Kiely said: "Officer Quaas was a model officer, respectful to his superiors, faithful and intelligent in his work. He never brought trouble upon the department and he never fell short of his duty."

"Mose," as he was known to his friends, was thirty-six years old. He was a native of this city and had lived here practically all his life. His service on the police department began two years ago next June. During his service his "beats" have included all parts of the city. Before taking up the police work, he was engaged in the installment business for Gaitley & Company, of Newark, and the American Wringer Company, his duties taking him to all parts of the State, but more especially along the coast. He was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters.

A widow and daughter survive Officer Quaas as well as two brothers, Joseph and Edward.

Police headquarters has been draped in black out of respect to the memory of the dead officer. The funeral will take place from the late home Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Mary' R. C. church at 9:30, where solemn requiem mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. A delegation of his brother police officers will attend the services.

DEMOCRACY AND JUSTICE.

Assemblyman Swackhamer Speaks at a Newark Club's Banquet.

Assemblyman Swackhamer delivered a speech last night before the Oritanni Democratic Club, of Newark, N. J. Invited guests from various parts of the State were present, and an arousing meeting was held. Mr. Swackhamer's theme was "The Principles of Democracy are the Principles of Justice." He dwelt especially upon the subject of equal taxation, and showed by various illustrationns that the proposition to tax the railroad companies on the same kind of property is based upon the principles of Democracy and the principles of justice. Enthusiasm ran high.

Only a Grass Fire.

A stubborn grass fire kept the borough firemen busy for an hour or more yesterday afternoon. The flames were on the Buttfield place on Rockview avenue, threatening to spread to one of the buildings nearby. A still alarm, shortly before 2 o'clock, brought the firemen, and for it was almost an hour and a half before they felt at liberty to go away.

THROWN FROM TROLLEY CAR

COLORED PASSENGER SAYS HE REFUSED TO PAY FARE TWICE.

James Carter, colored, of Liberty street, this city, was thrown bodily from a trolley car on the Newark and Elizabeth line at 8:45 last evening, by the conductor, he says, in consequence of his refusal to pay his fare twice over.

Carter had already paid the customary ten cents for his five-mile ride and received the transfer slip which was to start him on his journey from Elizabeth to Plainfield, when the conductor demanded another five cents. The Plainfielder, says he, produced his transfer in proof of his statement that the fare had been paid, but that he was met with a storm of abusive profanity coupled with a threat to "throw you off the car." On repeating his refusal, he declares that he was thrown from the platform of the rapidly moving car, which at the time carried no other passengers. In falling, Carter's right ankle was severely sprained and but for the assistance of a friend, who lives in Elizabeth, he would have been nearly helpless. Smith witnessed the outrage from the street and overhead the language of the conductor and motorman. Carter, whose ankle gave him excruciating pain, was assisted aboard the next car for Elizabeth by Smith, who was on his way home, and on arriving at that place made complaint at the offices of the trolley company. The only satisfaction vouchsafed him there, he says, was an offer to honor his transfer, whose time limit had then expired by reason of his enforced delay. This was refused.

Arriving at Plainfield, Carter proceeded to his home in a hack, summoned by a Daily Press reporter who knew him, and to whom he related his experience, adding a statement of his determination to secure legal satisfaction for his injuries.

BASKET BALL AT THE Y. M. C. A.

FIRST TEAM DEFEATS THE SECOND 25 TO 14.

In the closing basket ball game of the season for the Y. M. C. A., the first team defeated a picked team from the business men's class last night 25 to 14. The game was somewhat rough. In the first period, the business men put up a stiff front and evened things up most of the time. The half ended with the first team in the lead by a single goal. The first team seemed in better condition in the second half and set too hot a pace for their opponents to follow. The summary:

First team—Smith and Hand, forwards; Cahoone, centre; Neal and Heinecke, guards. Business men—Spicer and Heicker, forwards; Lott, centre; Letson and Browning, guards. Goals from the floor—Smith, Hand, 3; Cahoone, 5; Neal, Heinecke, 2; Spicer, Heicker, 3; Browning, 2. Goals from fouls—Heinecke, Browning, 2. Referee, Walter Long. Umpire, Marcley. Timer, Paul. Scorer, J. H. Doane.

Fixing Alarm System.

Borough Electrician McCullough, under the direction of the Gamewell Alarm Company, is rapidly putting the alarm system across the brook in thorough shape. All the re-wiring on the east side of Somerset street has been done, and the men are now at work in the Park section. The whole job will be completed in a very short time, and when the men go into the new house everything in the system will be in keeping with their splendid quarters.

Forming Habits.

"The Mastery of Habit" and the importance of forming right habits were the subject for an address by Rev. Lester Girard Leggett in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Sunday afternoon. Autoharp selections were given by Mrs. Leggett and Elmer D. Cutting sang tenor solos. The association male quartette sang and the Misses Burnet rendered violin and piano selections.

Helped Lay Atlantic Cable.

August Kreger, of Rahway, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duvier, of West Fifth street, on Sunday. Mr. Kreger is one of the few survivors of the skilled force that laid the first successful Atlantic cable, from the famous cable ship Farrady. MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT HILLSIDE CLUB

Great Preparations Made for An Auspicious Opening on Saturday, April 30.

SOME NEW MEMBERS

GOLF COURSE AND TENNIS COURTS BEING PUT IN CONDITION.

Luncheon to be Served at the Clubhouse—Music During the Season—Additions Made to the House Among the Changes.

Announcement is made by Leighton Calkins, secretary of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, that the enlarged clubhouse, the golf links, and the tennis courts, will be open to members on Saturday, April 30. Owing to the backward season and the continued cold weather this month, it has been impossible to open the course for play before that date.

The work on the improvements to the clubhouse is about completed, the course is being carefully rolled, the tennis courts are receiving expert attention, and everything points to an auspicious opening. Luncheon will be served at the clubhouse on that day.

Members who have not been up to look at the property this spring will notice many changes. The large living-room in the clubhouse has been doubled in size; and there have been added a smoking and lounging room for men, an office and an extension to the kitcher. Later on, the men's locker room will be moved to the basement—where it is usually located, in golf clubhouses—and this will make room upstairs for several bed-rooms for the use of members. The horse-sheds have been increased in number, and a new automobile house has been put up, capable of sheltering five or six cars. A separate roadway leads to this shed and there will be no danger of horses being frightened by passing automobiles on the club driveway.

Members of the club are to be congratulated also on the extension of the trolley service. The survey has been ordered by the company, and H. C. Runyon has been authorized to secure the additional consents. It is expected that cars will be running to the club entrance gate by June 1.

The trustees held a meeting on Monday and elected the following new members: J. Otis Averill, Walter C. Teagle, Daniel C. Aipaugh, Harold Hall, C. E. S. Bellows, A. G. Hagedorn, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, William F. Gough, J. H. Mellick, Emelyn B. Hartridge, Mellick Tweedy, Mrs. C. E. S. Bellows, Miss Ward, Miss Seward, Lyman C. Hibbard.

There are now only a few vacancies on the club membership and if applications continue to come in as rapidly as they have since April 1 there will soon be a waiting list.

The house committee is arranging to furnish music at the clubhouse during the coming season; and, with the social as well as the golf and tennis activity that is being mapped out, members of the club will find that they have a very busy summer before them.

Off for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis DeL. Hyde sailed for Europe on April 9, to be absent about six weeks. During their absence Mrs. Hyde's mother, Mrs. Fred Knowland, is in charge of the home.

William Sandford and family, of East Front street, will sail June 1 for the Land of the Midnight Sun.

Max Kitzler's Funeral.

Max Kitzler, of Elizabeth, who is well known here, was buried Sunday, a victim of typhoid fever. A number of Plainfielders attended the funeral, which was unusually large. Kitzler was drum major of the Third Regiment in which most of the Spanish-American war volunteers from here served.

Ninety Years Old.

Mrs. Louisa Davis, of Clinton avenue, celebrated her ninetieth birthday Saturday. In spite of her advanced years she was in the best of health and spirits and able to receive the congratulations of a large number of friends.

Nuisance Abated.

There were no complaints as to loafing about the North avenue railroad station Sunday night. Three policemen were on the spot but had no work to do.

Jepp Zensen, of 782 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For years I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

John Goodwin has resumed his position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

John Sicrah, of McDowell street, has resigned his position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

William Slade, of West Front street, has returned to his position at the Pond plant, after several months of severe illness.

Arthur Huff, of New street, has returned to his position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, after two months' vacation.

The Ingersoll-Sergent Drill Company are taking back all the employers who were recently laid off at their plant in Phillipsburg.

Edwin Texier and Charles Heartle, of the Perrin Freres glove factory, have returned from a three days' visit with the former's relatives in New York.

Allie Wilson, who has been employed on the clerical force at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, has taken a position in the machine shop to learn the trade.

William Gray, of the Pond plant, has returned from a visit with relatives in Scotland. Mr. Gray says this is the first trip he ever made to the other side, that there was not an accident of some kind.

The baseball team of the planer gang at the Pond plant defeated the nine representing the painterrs, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 6 3. Keefe and Boyle were the battery for the planer gang. Ed Harding and Gannon covered the points for the painters. Another game has been arranged to be played at the rear of the Pond plant next Saturday afternoon.

About forty men are working at the Aluminum Press Company's plant in Dewey Park. All the machinery has been set up, and inside of two weeks the plant will be running on full time. The plant is located along the trolley line, about twenty-five minutes' ride from the Plainfield station. All the carting of the machinery from the old shop to the new plant is under the supervision of Thomas Strapp. Mr. Strapp has loaded and unloaded hundreds of machines without an accident, which is due to his careful instructions.

Gymnastic Team Chosen.

The personnel of the Y. M. C. A. gymnastic team, which will contest for the championship of Northern New Jersey with the Montclair association next Saturday night consists of F. N. Marcley, W. T. There will be ten moves on each piece of apparatus, three to be selected for competition. A shield will be presented the winning team and an individual medal the man adjudged the best performer. Last year the meet was won by Plainfield. Montclair made the most points but was disqualified by the eligibility rules. Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the local association, has been chosen a judge for the meet.

FOR ALTON B. PARKER

Democratic Convention at Albany Instructs Delegates.

FIDELITY TO JEFFERSON'S PRINCIPLES

Platform Announced In Ten Articles by Report From Senator McCarren—State Issues Policy Reserved Until Fall.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 19.—When the convention was called to order Chairman Schraub of the committee on credentials reported the results of the afternoon meeting, receiving a round of applause when he announced that in the interest of harmony the Clinton county delegates had settled their differences. When he had finished his report he moved the previous question, and all debate was cut off.

Although the convention had set the hour of 7 as the time to meet the various committees were in session at that hour, and the delegates' seats in the hall were not half filled. To the waiting multitude, however, the band dis-coursed, and favorites as they came in received cordial greetings. Early in the evening it was announced that the committee on platform had decided by a majority vote to instruct for Judge Parker, and when the news spread there was some cheering.

The convention, after two sessions, one of which was somewhat but not unusually stormy, has selected the following delegates at large:

David B. Hill of Albany, Edward Murphy, Jr., of Troy; George Ehret of New York city and James W. Ridgeway of Brooklyn. As alternates it selected C. N. Bulger of Oswego, W. Caryl Ely of Buffalo, C. H. Ackerman of Brooklyn and Francis Burton Harrison of New York.

As was indicated, the convention was instructed by a vote of 301 to 149 for Alton B. Parker as the state candidate for president. Tammany was not treated as badly as had been predicted, being allowed to name a delegate at large, Mr. Ehret.

Senator McCarren then followed with the report of the committee on platform, John B. Stanchfield interrupting to ask that the temporary chairman be made permanent. Mr. McCarren then read the platform.

The platform adopted was as follows:

"The Democrats of New York, in renewing their pledge of fidelity to the essential principles of Jeffersonian Democracy, as repeatedly enunciated in our national and state platforms, make these further declarations upon the national issues of the hour; reserving an expression upon state issues until the fall convention, when state candidates are to be nominated:

"First.—This is a government of laws, not of men; one law for presidents, cabinets and people; no usurpation; no executive encroachment upon the legislative or judicial department.

"Second.—We must keep inviolate the pledges of our treaties; we must renew and reinvigorate within ourselves that respect for law and that love of liberty and of peace which the spirit of military domination tends inevitably to weaken and destroy.

"Third.—Unsteady national policies and a restless spirit of adventure engender alarms that check our commercial growth; let us have peace, to the end that business confidence may be restored and that our people may again in tranquillity enjoy the gains of their toil.

"Fourth.—Corporations chartered by the state must be subject to just regulation by the state in the interest of the people; taxation for public purposes only; no government partnership with protected monopolies.

"Fifth.—Opposition to trusts and combinations that oppress the people and stifle healthy industrial competition.

"Sixth.—A check upon extravagance in public expenditures, that the burden of the people's taxes may be lightened.

"Seventh.—Reasonable revision of the tariff; needless duties upon imported raw materials weigh heavily upon the manufacturer, are a menace to the American wage earner and by increasing the cost of production shut out our products from the foreign markets.

"Eighth.—The maintenance of state rights and home rule; no centralization.

"Ninth.—Honesty in the public service, vigilance in the prevention of fraud and firmness in the punishment of guilt when detected.

"Tenth.—The impartial maintenance of the rights of labor and of capital, no unequal discrimination, no abuse of the powers of law for favoritism or oppression.

"The Democracy of New York favor the nomination for president of the United States of that distinguished and eminent jurist of our own state Alton Brooks Parker, and the delegates selected by this convention are hereby instructed to present and support such nomination at the approaching national convention.

"That the said delegates are hereby further instructed to act and vote as a unit in all matters pertaining to said convention, in accordance with the will of the majority of the said convention."

When Judge Alton B. Parker's name was read in the platform the audience rose to the occasion, with the exception of Tammany, and cheered for about twenty seconds; not long for a state convention. When Mr. McCarren moved the adoption of the platform Senator Grady arose and was greeted with vociferous applause and cheers.

MISS GOULD'S OBJECT.

Will Visit St. Louis Fair in Interest of Young Women.

ST. LOUIS, April 19.—Miss Helen Gould in a letter received by Miss Egan, secretary of the board of women managers of the world's fair, says:

"One of my main objects in visiting the fair is to co-operate with and aid as far as lays in my power the Young Women's Christian association in their effort to care for and protect the young girls who are going to St. Louis this summer. This is a matter which I take very much to heart, as the young girls going to the fair will be subject to a great many temptations and snares."

Miss Gould said in the letter that she was going south for her health, but expected to be in St. Louis to attend the opening of the fair on April 30.

Miss Julia Teneyck McBlair of Washington, who has been appointed hostess of the woman's building at the world's fair, has taken charge of the building. Her duties will be to entertain women who will make the woman's building their headquarters during the exposition.

Enormous Output of Goldpieces.

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.— The enormous output of gold coinage at the Philadelphia mint continues at a rate which surpasses all previous records. Since Feb. 6 up to April 16 there has been coined $60,190,390 in twenty dollar goldpieces. The coinage during the week beginning Monday, April 11, and ending on Saturday, April 16, inclusive, aggregated $11,302,600 in gold, an average of nearly $2,000,000 a day. On the last day of this record breaking week the coinage was $2,500,000, also a record breaker. The weight of the gold to produce this one week's coinage was over forty-two tons. This vast coinage of gold in so short a time, it was announced at the mint, has never been equaled by the mints of any other nation nor by any mint in this country.

Missouri Explosion Cost $10,000.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Rear Admiral Capps, chief constructor of the navy, who while in Pensacola made an investigation of the damage to the Missouri, states that the damage to the vessel as a result of the recent explosion is confirmed almost wholly to the electric motors in the vicinity of the explosion; that the wiring panels, instruments, etc., in the turret proper will require renewal and that all motors will require overhauling as a result of damage either from fire or water. The rammer of the left hand gun also is seriously damaged, likewise the left hand ammunition car and fittings. The hull structure itself suffered no material damage whatever. It is estimated that the cost of repairs will be about $10,000.

Can't Secure Jury In Parker Case.

DETROIT, Mich., April 19.—Judge James Phelan has dismissed the third jury that has attempted to try George W. Parker on the charge of murdering his brother-in-law, James Moore. The first jury was dismissed after an investigation of charges that the jury had been tampered with, the second jury disagreed, and it was again a case of charges that attempts had been made to wrongly influence the talesmen. Former Talesman Charles R. Hinkley has been sentenced to thirty days in the county jail for attempting to tamper with the third jury.

Car Bandit Wanted to Die.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Peter Neidermeyer, the leader of the car barn bandits, condemned to die on the gallows Friday, has made two desperate attempts at suicide. His condition as a result is so precarious that it is feared he will not survive. Should he still be alive next Friday he will be carried to the gallows and executed. He masticated and swallowed the heads of seventy-five or a hundred sulphur matches. While the phosphorus was burning his stomach he sawed at a radial artery of his left wrist with a sharp pointed lead pencil and severed an artery.

Canal Commissioners at Work.

PANAMA, April 19.—The United States canal commissioners have visited Panama, but refuse to give any information concerning the progress of their work. It is, however, believed they have covered the greater portion of it and that if they are able to finish it before tomorrow the principal members of the commission will leave for New York. The commissioners are also studying the water supplies of Panama and Colon.

AMUSEMENTS.

The eighth annual military and athletic tournament, given by the Military Athletic League, will begin at Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, May 2 and close on Saturday evening, May 7. Soldier show week is an event of importance in New York, and the performances given, the grand reviews each night, and the military programme and exhibitions by the young men from the military academies and schools, at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees, are only to be seen when the League takes possession of the Garden, and the United States soldiers do their best to win applause and show what they can do. The athletic contests, for the League prizes, begin the evening programme at 7:15 sharp, and the grand reviews of National Guard, U. S. soldiers, marines and men from the navy begin at 8 o'clock each night. Then follows the military programme, and there is no exhibition equal to it, in detail and interest.

For the third time in its career "The Secret of Polichinelle," James K. Hackett's production of Pierre Wolff's famous comedy has outlived the theatre in which it was housed and has been forced to move to another house. Although the shifting of a play from one theatre to another has been accepted in the theatrical profession for many years as an omen of ill luck, "The Secret of Polichinelle" has proved the exception, for its run at the Garden Theatre was quite as successful as it was at its original home and the advance sale for it at the Princess Theatre, where it will be seen this week, is already as large as for any week in its career.

PORTSMOUTH, England, March 19.—Submarine boat A 1, sunk by collision, was raised to the surface early in the morning. The ill fated submarine vessel was towed to her dock shortly after. Thousands of persons gathered to watch the melancholy procession of vessels preceding and following the dockyard lighter under the keel of which the A 1, containing the bodies of her officers and crew, was slung by hawsers. As the salvagers passed into the dock all the ships in the harbor lowered their ensigns. Soon thereafter caskets were brought in readiness to receive the dead. The operation of the removal of the bodies was screened from the public. When the bodies had all been taken from the vessel they were removed to the hospital, where an inquest is being held.

A Picture Fraud Concern.

BOSTON, April 19. — Postoffice Inspector Snow received a fraud order from the postoffice department at Washington directing the local postoffice officials to hold all mail addressed to the Standard or Columbia Manufacturing company of Roxbury. The inspector states that the company has been sending out circulars through the mails offering light employment to people at their homes. It is alleged that after the receipt of $1 from the applicant they would send him a photograph to be colored by means of an "oleograph," which they also furnished. They promised to pay 60 cents upon completion; but, the inspector states, that instead of doing so they have refused to accept the pictures.

Tars Were His Pallbearers.

BALTIMORE, April 19.—The funeral of Lieutenant William C. Davidson, U. S. N., one of the victims of the Missouri disaster, took place here. Twelve sailors and a bugler from the Mayflower in command of Lieutenant Woods met the funeral cortege near the gate leading to the cemetery. Three sailors marched on each side of the hearse and six in the rear. When the grave was reached six of the sailors acted as pallbearers. Rev. Anthony Bilkovsky, pastor of the Universalist church, conducted the services and preached a short sermon, and the bugler sounded taps. Lieutenant Davidson was in command of the turret on the battleship Missouri when the explosion occurred.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Yesterday morning word was received at the Dunellen station that two hobos, who were wanted by the authorities of White House, for robbing a grocery store Sunday night, were on an east bound freight and a request was made that they be caught here if possible. Marshal Mohan was at once notified and he swore in M. MacNamara and Paul Kratzel as special marshals. The freight reached here at about 11:30 and was flagged. As soon as the train came to a stop the marshals boarded it and made a search from one end of the train to the other. As a result they captured two hobos who were on top of a box car, and one who was hiding in a sewer pipe. They were all locked up in the borough hall and held until Detecitve Totten and three constables arrived from Somerville. After searching and questioning them, the detective decided to release one of them and hold the other two. The men held gave what is thought to be fictitious names and are now in Somerville jail.

Much to the satisfaction of the boroughites the gypsy camp, located near Washington avenue, has been broken up. The next stop that the tribe will make will be as near to New York as possible.

NEW MARKET.

Constable Robert Pierce did a little detective work yesterday afternoon and as a result, there is now one hobo less to bother the people of this place. The man arrested was charged with stealing clothes from the line of Mrs. J. Hallett. As soon as the constable made the arrest he sent for Judge VonMindon, who at once opened court in the office of Kelley's feed store. The hobo, who gave his name as Smith and his residence Buffalo, was given a quick trial and was sentenced to six months at hard labor. He was taken to New Brunswick last night. Marshal Mahan, of Dunellen, viewed the man early in the evening and said he believed that the name and address given were fictitious as he was quite sure the hobo hailed from Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce, Miss Alice Pierce and Stanley Day, Jr., were guests at the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Spence, of West 135th street, New York, last night.

WILL HOLD MOYER.

Governor Peabody Will Not Obey Supreme Court Order.

UNSAFE TO PRODUCE PRISONER.

Stand Is Taken Under Representations Made by General Bell, Who Declares There Is a Plan of Rescue by Union Men.

DENVER, April 19.—After conferring with Attorney General N. C. Miller, Attorney John L. Waldron and General Sherman Bell Governor Peabody has decided that he will not produce Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, before the supreme court on Thursday, as commanded by a writ of habeas corpus issued last Friday.

Mr. Waldron will appear before the supreme tribunal and ask that the court issue a modified order. He will set up in his return that under the present circumstances it is unsafe to produce the petitioner and will ask the court to proceed with the case the same as if the petitioner were in court.

This stand was taken because of representations made by General Bell. He told the governor and attorneys that he was satisfied that a plan had been formed by union men whereby Mr. Moyer would be rescued from the custody of the few soldiers who would be sent in charge of him or harm might come to him through the actions of men in San Miguel county opposed to the Western Federation of Miners and to union men in general.

At a conference held here representations that will be put in the reply to be made to the supreme court's writ by the state officers were decided on. The answer will maintain that the power of the governor is supreme in such cases. It will be maintained that he has the authority to arrest and imprison at will for the good of the state, and he may incarcerate any person for an indefinite period. It will be said it is necessary to keep Mr. Moyer in custody for some time yet, as it will be impossible to bring about peace in San Miguel county unless he is continued in confinement.

Powell's Energetic Action.

SANTO DOMINGO, April 19.—United States Minister Powell informed the minister of foreign affairs that in the event of any foreign powers attempting to force a settlement of the claims of its citizens, thus excluding the claims of other nationalities, he would in the name of his government take immediate charge of all the custom houses of the government, place in each a military guard and protect the same in the interest of United States creditors, basing his action upon the recent decision of The Hague tribunal. The energetic and decided action of Minister Powell has greatly relieved the present grave situation and meets with approval. By such action all foreign claimants will stand upon an equal footing.

Medallions

The Greatest Offer Ever Made

The necessary machinery has been purchased and installed at a heavy expense, and we are prepared to make a proposition that will result in the sale of thousands of these medallions. Your Own Photograph Preserved and Beautified. We do not copy, but use original picture brought to us, thereby guaranteeing an exact likeness, which is impossible where reproduction must be depended on for making the more ordinary variety.

They are not dull or lustreless, but have a rich porcelain-finish effect, which lends vastly to their attractiveness—are dust proof, air tight, indestructible and superior in every way to all others.

Each medallion framed in brass, (gold lacquer) oxydized copper, nickel or ebony, at option of purchaser, and every one fitted with reversible easel back that may be operated as stand or hanger.

A point not to be lost sight of is that through manufacturing them ourselves we save from 25 to 75 cts. on each, and selling them as we do without profit, the opportunity is unique and one certain to be taken advantage of by countless numbers during the continuance of this offer.

Above all things, do not confound these with the very inferior kinds that you may have seen. Remember that we have exclusive control of their sale in Newark, and that they are positively worth many times the price asked here. Made in four sizes,

STYLES FOR SUMMER.

Waist Effects Like Our Grandmothers Used to Wear.

Really "the sun do move," for here we see dresses with two rows of reversed plaiting made of the dress material down the whole skirt after having encircled the neck and crossed the breast. A lovely lilac veiling gown which I saw yesterday was made so. The waist was full and pouched in front, and the sleeves were in bishop shape with lace falls, while the skirt was laid in tiny plaits around the hips. But the particular thing noticeable was that these reversed plaitings were put down the front of the breadth. Such a thing has not been seen for two generations at least. And it looked delightfully old timey, one consolation about it being that reversed plaiting is easy to make.

tom, with a row of chiffon ruching between them all. And heading the upper one the shirring puffs were of silk and the ruching of chiffon. The waist was particularly pretty, being somewhat in the shape of a bolero at the front, with shirrings and ruching all around the V shaped neck over the inner waist. Three fancy, rough gold buttons held the front of the bolero, and beneath the caps formed by that extended sleeves made of two deep falls of lace. This, too, looked as if it might have stepped out of some old daguerreotype.

A pretty dress for a young person was of dark blue and white foulard, with white insets down the breadths. This same gown was also developed in cotton foulard.

The skirt was cut with fan shaped insets reaching to the belt, and these were held in by pretty black silk frogs and loops. The waist was of white silk, plainly made, with stitched plaits at the neck. There was a short bolero of silk, with two wide white cloth tabs stitched down and held by two large buttons. The sleeves to the bolero reached scarcely below the elbow, but those to the waist had ruffles one over the other to the middle of the hand.

Hats for the summer are nearly all decorated with lace around the edges in the form of a frill like a flowing veil, and the effect is light and softening to the oldest face, while still becoming to the young ones. For these the lace should be fine, though not necessarily real. There are so many beautiful laces now being made by machinery and yet having all the designs that made the old point so valuable that almost every woman can have lace trimmings to her gowns and millinery who could only dream of it a few short years ago. Particularly the lierre and the chantilly laces in black and white are beautiful, and the machine made is of thread as valuable as was wont to be put in the handmade laces of old, so it is really a godsend to have the cheaper qualities.

For young girls dark waists seem to be favored for the moment at least, and we see some really charming things in that line, quite novel and fetching just from their quiet shades amid so much of color and daintiness in white. Three such waists are shown here. That at the right is of black silk warp mohair, soft and lustrous. The waist closes at the left side under the fold. Two box plaits are laid at each side, and at the upper part there is a little castle braid in new silk cording on chiffon. The deep cuffs are covered with the same kind of braid. At the neck there are bars of fine gold soutache, and they also garnish the stock, lightening it up bravely. The skirt may and also may not be of the same. But mohair is a very fashionable material.

The waist pictured in the center is of dark brown wool crepon, made with a short round yoke and a pointed belt stiffened and stitched. A few gathers are put at the top of the waist, and these are draped gracefully at the waist line, forming the blouse shape. There is a short basquine below the belt, much like that of our grandmother's time. A few rows of very narrow soutache finish the neck and bottom of the basquine and form the deep cuffs. Around the neck, forming the yoke, is a row of gold metallic braid in fancy openwork, and this is also put on the cuffs. This closes in the back with many small gilt buttons. The whole design is pretty and youthful.

The third of these waists is of black silk warp eudora and is intended for a mourning dress for a girl. It is simple, and there is no need of going into long details, for the only thing left to say is that the trimming consists of shirring interspersed with thick braided weave braid with a silken edge. The sleeves are bishop, but have the cuffs deep enough to insure the sleeves from getting in the way. The dress skirt is shirred almost all the way around and has a band of the braid about eighteen inches from the bottom.

Dear Sirs:—
I would thank you to send me two more boxes of your Dr. Charles Flesh Food, for which you will please find enclosed herewith $1.00. I am continuing myself on discovering your remedy, for it has entirely cleared my face and hands of wrinkles—some of them were very deep and have annoyed me for years. I cannot speak too highly of your preparation.
Mrs. N—— D——.
Jersey City, Oct., 1903.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD has been recommended by physicians and used by actresses, singers and women of fashion for more than twenty-five years. It is the only preparation known to medical science that will round out with firm, healthy flesh, thin cheeks, neck and arms.

One or two boxes are often sufficient to restore a breast lost through nursing or sickness to its original fullness and beauty. The same quantity will also show a decided improvement where the natural growth has been impaired. We have thousands of testimonials. What it has done for others it will do for you.

For removing wrinkles or crow's-feet about the eyes or mouth it acts like magic. Wrinkles which have been years in forming often disappear after a few applications.

Regular price $1.00 a box, but to introduce Dr. Charles Flesh Food into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us one dollar. We would thank you to send your order to-day and mention this paper.

FREE—A sample box and our book, "Art of Massage," illustrated with half-tone pictures of living models showing all the different movements for removing wrinkles, developing the bust and other beauty hints, will be sent free to any lady sending 10 cents to pay for cost of mailing.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemetories commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Reform Club baseball team swamped the Potter Press combination Saturday afternoon, 30 to 5.

"Warry" MacLaughlin pitched his first game on Sunday for the Star A. C., of Elizabeth, against the Albany team. Elizabeth won by a score of 9 to 8.

The Alis Club baseball committee will meet the latter part of the week to complete arrangements for the opening of the season on Saturday, May 7. It is proposed to make the opening a memorable one and a number of city and county officials will be invited.

Although defeated by Clinton Avenue in its opening game Saturday, the West End Field Club played good ball. Poor judgment in running bases lost them the game. Jacot pitched particularly well for so early in the season. He bids fair to make a name for himself before the leaves fall.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball nine will probably benefit largely by the entertainment to be given Thursday in the association hall by the New Century Trio, consisting of Jeannette T. Broomell, elocutionist; Anna B. Roberts, soprano, and Helen Beatrice Reed, harpist. The trio are favorably known from their performance in the Y. M. C. A. Hall New Year's day.

Timely hitting, aided by errors on the part of their opponents, enabled the Aeolian A. A. to walk all over the Maurer A. C. on Aeolian Oval Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a crowd of 500. Aeolian put up a fast, snappy game. Maurer made five errors, while the Aeolian score was marred by only one. The score:

There will be a meeting of the captains and managers of the baseball teams which will enter the boys' league at the Y. M. C. A. rooms tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A schedule of games will be arranged and minor matters pertaining to the league discussed. Four teams will enter the arena, the Whittier School nine, the Plainfield High School second team and the Y. M. C. A. juniors. The fourth team has not been definitely decided upon. The Y. M. C. A. juniors will play their first game possibly Friday afternoon.

W. E. Neal and W. E. Mundy will play the deciding set in their series in the Y. M. C. A. handball tournament tonight.

Borough Corporation Counsel Reed Makes Argument at Court Today in Somerville.

Corporation Counsel Reed went to Somerville this morning to bring the request of the North Plainfield Council for a $600 license fee before Judge Schenck. Mr. Reed was perpared to present a number o strong arguments on the question, and felt confident that the court would consider the matter favorably.

Justice Fort and Judge Schenck were on the bench, Justice Garretson being absent on account of illness. Nelson Y. Dungan, counsel for Charles Jensen, a liquor seller in the borough, opposed the application presented and the argument made by North Plainfield's counsel. Judge Schenck announced that he would consult with Justice Garretson and would reserve his decision for the present.

BERNARDO GETS 44 DAYS.

Judge Doud Imposes Sentence on Man Who Beat His Wife.

Failure to take Recorder Doud's warning to heart when arraigned before him last week, will cost Walter Bernardo, colored, his liberty for some time.

In disposing of a charge of disorderly conduct the Recorder told Bernardo that his reappearance in court would result in a heavy sentence. Bernardo disregarded the warning and went on a rampage Saturday, winding up by beating his wife.

Last night the Recorder scored Bernardo severely and sentenced him on two counts. For drunkenness he fined him $10 and committed him to jail for seven days. For beating his wife Bernardo was fined $30 and sentenced to seven more days. The sentence is equivalent to forty-four days in jail.

Fowler Not in Race?

Congressman Fowler, who has been almost continuously absent from his seat in Washington for months, will be surprised to learn on his return that many newspapers in the Sixth District are asserting that he will be renominated without opposition at Trenton on May 10 next. Of course, the newspapers are mistaken. They might have known that they would have been able to find Mr. Fowler before this if a candidate was to be nominated by his party in the near future, and the services of a Republican "whip" wouldn't have been necessary to bring him out of hiding. —Newark News.

Dress Rehearsal Fee.

Owing to the great demand for seats at the performance of "She Stoops to Conquer," which is to be given at the Casino, Saturday evening, by the class of 1904, P. H. S., the president of the class has decided to charge a general admission of twenty-five cents to the dress rehearsal which will be given Friday evening. It is expected that many who have been unable to secure seats at the Saturday evening performance, will take advantage of Mr. Koon's offer.

ARMY ON THE MOVE

Russian Detachment at Moershan--No Enemy Found.

CZAR'S TROOPS HOLD YALU ISLANDS

Attempt of Japanese to Disembark Troops on Korean Bay Defeated by Heavy Fire From Land Batteries.

LONDON, April 19.—A St. Petersburg dispatch says that a detachment of Russian troops which left southern Ussuri has reached Maoershan, on the west bank of the Yalu river, 175 miles north of Pingyang, without having encountered any of the enemy. The detachment has occupied a mountain pass between Manchuria and Korea, which it is fortifying with mountain batteries.

An official telegram states that there is no change in the situation on the Yalu river at Wiju. The Russian outposts are now on islands of the river 100 yards from the Japanese outposts, which are preparing to retire.

Major General Pflug, chief of the military staff at Port Arthur, telegraphs that all statements regarding a siege and fall of Port Arthur are unfounded.

An attempted landing by Japanese troops on the shores of Korea bay between Port Arthur and the Yalu river has been frustrated by the Russians. A Japanese torpedo boat flotilla scouted the shores of the bay, but was received with such a heavy fire from land batteries at Takushan, Chingtaitse, Tchanhe and Bedzino that it retired.

Vice Admiral Togo's flagship then recalled nine transports which were on the way to land troops. A squadron of ten warships protecting the transports withdrew with them. The Russians have 20,000 men concentrated at Takushan.

A force landing between Takushan and Chingtaitse would have been in a position to isolate the defenders of Port Arthur and cut their line of communication. Takushan is in Manchuria, about fifty miles to the westward of the estuary of the Yalu river, and Chingtaitse is about twenty-five miles west of Takushan, or about 150 miles from Port Arthur.

A dispatch from Port Arthur on Sunday gave twenty as the number of Japanese transports reported as having been sighted steaming in the direction of Yinkow, the seaport of Newchwang. Officials of the general staff, while having no information in this respect, would not be surprised if the number should turn out to be correct or even that a larger number is steaming there. They anticipated this movement at the time of the breaking out of the war, but the activity of Vice Admiral Makaroff's fleet and the large army in the vicinity of Newchwang imposed caution and, it is believed, made the Japanese abandon or at least postpone it and caused them to continue their advance toward Manchuria through Korea and consider a disembarkation and flank movement at Takushan.

Vice Admiral Togo's immense superiority enables him to hold the Russian squadron in Port Arthur, and Japanese transports, therefore, can safely pass through the strait of Pechili and attempt to land at the head of the gulf of Liaotung under the guns of the warships, as did General Shafter's army at Daiquiri, Cuba. If this should succeed the Japanese will be in an excellent position to execute a flank movement on Liaoyang or cut off Port Arthur.

General Kuropatkin recently inspected Newchwang. He is familiar with the strategic position there and disposed a strong force to contest a Japanese move at that point, and if such move is made it is believed he will be able to check it.

Heavy Indemnity From Nicaragua.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 19.—The imperial government will demand through the captain of the British cruiser Retribution a heavy indemnity from the Nicaraguan government for the illegal seizure of the Cayman turtle fishermen ten miles beyond the limit and also for the destruction of the fishermen's nets and other fishing gear and the brutal treatment of the crews, whom the Nicaraguan soldiers assaulted and then tied, leaving them for hours exposed to a broiling sun.

Indian Bills In Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The senate continued consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, but did not conclude it. A number of other bills were passed during the day, including measures ratifying agreements with the Indians of the Devil's Lake, Rosebud and Flathead reservations, located respectively in North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was also considered.

Praise For Missouri Chaplain.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The following telegram has been received by Archbishop Farley from Captain Cowles of the battleship Missouri: "It gives me great pleasure to let you know of the splendid conduct of Father Gleeson at the time of the explosion on board this vessel on April 13. His duty was nobly done not only as chaplain and priest, but as a man."

Castillo Was Captured.

PANAMA, April 19.—The Colombian revolutionist, Castillo, who had landed with a few men at Jurado, in Darien, was captured by Captain Torras and brought here. It is very probable that a law will be passed prohibiting immigration from Colombia until that republic recognizes Panama.

George Cose, of Grant avenue, has received an invitation to attend a big anniversary celebration to be held by Capitol City Lodge, No. 16, Tallahasse, Fla. While on his Southern trip for the Safe Works in September last year, Mr. Cose, who is a prominent member of Perseverance Lodge, paid a fraternal visit to Capitol City. He was royally treated by the Southern knights, and the invitation he has just received is evidence that their greeting was not hollow and insincere. The secretary of Capitol City writes that the lodge would be delighted to have Mr. Cose come down and represent Northern knighthood.

She's Now Eighteen.

In celebration of the eighteenth birthday anniversary of his daughter, Miss Florence Cooney, a delightful entertainment was given last night at the home of Joseph Cooney, of Union street. Not a Candidate.

Fred Nelson, who has been boomed for sheriff of Somerset county, sprung a little surprise this morning in reference to the matter. "The people who have offered to support me for sheriff forget or didn't know what my politics were. If I run for sheriff it will be on the Democratic ticket, not on the Republican. You may say that I have positively declined the opportunity to run for the Republicans."

AMATEUR MINSTRELS SCORE DECIDED HIT

Big Crowd Made to Roar With Laughter at the Show in Reform Hall.

APPLAUSE UNLIMITED

THE HOPE CHAPEL Y. M. A. BOYS' CLEVER STUNTS.

No Dull Features—Sweeney Wins Fresh Laurels—"The Coming Man" Amuses the Audience.

Lovers of a laugh were on in force last night for the minstrel show by the Hope Y. M. A. troupe in Reform Hall and they were rewarded by large portions of unadulterated merriment dealt out in big chunks. There wasn't a dull feature on the list which was completely changed from the original as presented at Hope chapel.

In part I of the programme only a few of the most popular numbers were retained from the original production. All of the end men made hits. Their jokes made everybody joyful and their songs brought forth invariable demands for more. Mr. Sweeney's "Trouble" appealed especially to the audience, and his fun-making and generally clever work made him solid in the affections of the audience throughout the olio. The topical song with new lines added, as sung by George B. Cose, was more popular than ever. This was the programme of the first part:

"In the Evening by the Moonlight," by the company; grand overture; opening chorus—"My Honey Lou," by the company; "Warm Gas," Mr. Firstbrook; "My California Poppy," Messrs. George B. Cose, Texier and company; "Old Black Joe," Bertram F. Tallamy and company; "Trouble," Mr. Sweeney and company; "Balmy Breezes," Mr. Texier; "It Ain't no Disgrace to Run When you are Skeered," Mr. Firstbrook and company; "Blue Bell," Mr. Muir and company; "Heated Atmosphere," Mr. Johnson; "Take me Back to Old Virignia," Louis V. Tallamy and company; "Show me the Way to go Home, Babe," Messrs. Sweeney, Firstbrook and company; "Boiled Wind," John H. Cose; "Doan You Cry Ma Honey," Mr. Jeffery; "He was a Sailor," Mr. Texier and company; "Baked Tornadoes," George B. Cose; "Hallelujah," John H. Cose and company; topical song—"If I Only Had the Proper Sort of Pull," George B. Cose and company; "Hot Air," Mr. Sweeney; final chorus—"General Hardtack—On Guard," by the company.

A. E. Willard opened the second part with his convulsing "rube" act performed with Coney Island variations. Plantation pastimes consisted of some side-splitting manoeuvres in the dance. M. D. Sweeney, John H. Cose, Leonce Texier, Bertram C. Firstbrook, Alexander Muir and the scarecrow shook their feet and the sides of the spectators at the same time. John and James Galvin in their own act were as clever and funny as ever and Elmer D. Cutting's illustrated songs were effectively rendered.

For the after-piece, "The Coming Man" was repeated with the characters eloquently renamed as follows:

J. Percival Hall, a dejected benedict, William N. Runyon; Bedelia, his bug house consort, Matthew D. Sweeney; Shadow, a meek and faithful lamb, John H. Cose; Freddy, a spry messenger laddie, Bertram C. Firstbrook; Leonidas, the coal baron, George B. Cose, and Fauntleroy Gilhooly, the coming man, John Galvin.

Alexander Muir was interlocutor; the bones were Samuel Johnson, J. H. Cose and M. D. Sweeney; and the tambos, Leonce Texier, B. C. Firstbrook and G. B. Cose. Judge Runyon, who engineered the production again, presided at the piano. These were the chorus and specialty artists: Frederick W. Bowden, Elmer D. Cutting, John Duckworth, William J. Firstbrook, Herbert R. Finck, John R. Fritts, James Galvin, John Galvin, Hugh J. Gray, Elmer Hoffman, Harry Hoffman, Edwin B. Howes, William Jeffery, George McComb, Alfred B. Marsh, David B. Martin, Joseph Martin, Wallace C. Martin, Charles Pawson, James Penney, William S. Porter, Claude J. Roseberry, John B. Slorah, Munro Squier, Joseph Sweeney, Bertram F. Tallamy, Louis V. Tallamy, Charles J. Vincent, Alfred E. Willard, Henry Williams, Benjamin W. Evans.

The committee consisted of: George E. Firstbrook, William Dilks, Charles A. Dixon, Raymond McVoy, V. W. Nash, Jr., Edward Texier, J. Fred Wharton, William Hoffman.

JENSEN GOT HIS LICENSE

COURT GRANTED APPLICATION, THE PETITIONER AGREEING TO CONDITION.

Under somewhat novel conditions, Charles Jensen, who conducts a hotel at Greenbrook road and Somerset street, was granted a renewal of his liquor license by Judge Schenck at Somerville yesterday.

The license was given after Corporation Counsel Reed and Nelson Y. Dungan had argued pro and con on the proposed increase of the fee. Judge Schenck asked if Jensen would consent to agree to pay the difference between the old and new fees if the advance was ordered. Mr. Dungan, after consultation with his client, said he would. The court accordingly granted the license under the proviso that if the fee went up Jensen would immediately pay the difference.

If Jensen had refused the agreement the court would have withheld the renewal until the question of advance had been settled.

LEG CUT OFF BY THE CARS

ELIZABETH LAD MEETS WITH A SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT WESTFIELD.

Harry Bush, aged eighteen years, of 154 Pearl street, Elizabeth, had his left foot cut off, while he was stealing a ride to this city on a coal train, yesterday afternoon. The accident happened just west of the Westfield station on the New Jersey Central and the lad was hurriedly brought to this city and taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, in the ambulance. While the injury is a serious one it is not likely to prove fatal.

Bush, it is said, has made a practice of "jumping" on coal trains and had become quite expert. It was while moving about on one of the coal cars that his feet slipped and he fell. His left foot went under the train and was severed from the leg. His relatives were notified and they arrived last night.

HIGHER LICENSE FEE MATTER IN THE COURT

Corporation Counsel Reed's Argument at Somerville for Increased Rate in Borough.

COUNCIL'S APPLICATION

LAWYER FOR SALOONKEEPER MAKES A PROTEST.

Decision to be Announced Later—Justice Garretson Absent—Judge Schenck and Justice Fort on Bench.

Strong argument in favor of the proposed increase of the borough license fee was presented yesterday by Corporation Counsel Reed before Judge Schenck, of the Somerset Court, and Supreme Court Justice Fort, in whom is vested the power to order the advance. But one voice was raised in opposition to the borough's request, that of a lawyer, who appeared to secure a license for Chas. Jensen, a North Plainfield hotel keeper.

Several well known boroughites, including Collector Brown and Ex-Fire Chief Stahl, were present to hear Mr. Reed's plea.

In bringing the matter before the court, Mr. Reed presented the resolution asking for a $600 license fee passed by the borough Council on March 14, when the corporation counsel was instructed to lay the matter before Judge Schenck. Proceeding with his argument Mr. Reed pointed out that the fee in Plainfield is $700 despite the fact that the saloons are compelled to close at 11 o'clock. The two municipalities from practically one community, and the fees should not be so widely divergent as at present. The taxpayers of the borough, he said, were entitled, or a matter of right, to ask fees of the liquor dealers commensurate with the value of the privilege.

Most of the arrests in the borough, he said, resulted directly from the liquor traffic. Two successive Councils had unanimously passed resolutions asking for the higher fee, he said, and pointed out that the three members recently elected had all voted for the last resolution.

That the liquor element opposed annexation had become well known. This stand was easy to understand when it was remembered that a union of the city and borough meant increase of fee and shorter hours. For their stand on the annexation question, many of the people of county and borough, Mr. Reed intimated, were inclined to uphold the liquor men in their fight against higher fees. But the whole matter was in the hands of the court, he said—the court had absolute power to act as it deemed best. An he did not believe the court would allow its views on annexation to influence its disposition of the question. It would probably be to the interest of anti-annexation to have the fee raised, because, he said, the difference in the license regulations was one of the things that kept the question of consolidation before the public, and uniform regulations would do away with one argument in favor of union.

When Nelson Y. Dungan appeared to present Charles Jensen's application for a renewal of his license on the hotel at Somerset street and Greenbrook road, he took occasion to assail the validity of the claim that the fee was too low. He said the test should be whether or not the liquor dealer could make a profit and not what the people of the borough wanted. In the light of that test the fee was already too high. He declared the agitation in favor of higher license to be a scheme of Mayor Smalley by which he hoped to pull himself from the hole into which the increased cost of the new fire department had dropped him. He was trying to make the liquor dealers pay the new department's bills.

He denied that there was any business in the borough. Nobody stopped there to traffic, everyone going over into the city. He maintained that the fee could not be raised in North Plainfield without similar advance everywhere else in the county, and that nobody but Mayor Smalley wanted the advance.

Corporation Counsel Reed, relying to Mr. Dungan's argument, contended that the court could fix the fee in the borough without regard to the rest of the county. There was no foundation, he said, for the statement that Mayor Smalley was the only one who wanted the fee raised.

"Why," he said, "the resolution which I have presented here was passed after the last election. Three councilmen who voted for it had just taken their seats. They had just been elected by the very people who opposed Mayor Smalley, and they had no part in the establishment of the new fire department. They represented the very latest expression of the sentiments of the voters. Their hearts beat in perfect unison with the great throbbing pulse of the people, whose voice is the voices that rules in such governments as ours, and every one of them voted for this resolution. Personally, it matters not to me whether the court listens to the wishes of the people of the borough as expressed by their representatives, or harkens to the plea of the rum seller. I was directed to present the matter to the court, and have done so. It is for the court to decide."

Judge Schenck listened to the arguments every attentively, and seemed impressed by what Mr. Reed said. He promised a decision on the matter just as soon as possible after consultation with Judge Garretson.

The new grand jury of Somerset County is a remarkable one. Among those on it are Ex-Senator Thompson, Alex. W. Mack, the millionaire mill owner; Director William J. Logan, of the Board of Freeholders; Ex-Sheriff George A. Dilts; Charles P. Sebring, Freeholder Augustus Mobus, Dr. John D. TenEyck, Ex-Freeholder Eugene V. Cruser and Ex-Freeholder Robert Zerigebel.

In the absence of Justice Garretson, who will be away during the whole term, the Supreme and Circuit causes have been referred to Judge Schenck for trial.

Before the argument on the liquor dealer's side was heard the court took a little fling at the saloons. Nelson Dungan objected to a hearing of Mr. Reed's remarks unless the dealers' side was presented. The court replied that there was no other side; a man applying for a license has no more to say than a man going to be hanged. The court hinted that if Mr. Dungan didn't wish to hear Mr. Reed's argument he was free to leave the room.

BURGLAR AT WORK AGAIN IN DUNELLEN

Marauder Enters Residences of Howard Giles and Lloyd Nelson.

HE TAKES TO FLIGHT

MAN GETS NOTHING AT EITHER PLACE EXCEPT TROUBLE.

Caught in the Act at Mr. Giles' Home—Boarder Scares Him Off at Mr. Nelson's House.

Two attempts at burglary were made in Dunellen, supposedly by the same man, at an early hour yesterday morning. He was nervy and quick, but all he got for his trouble was two scares and as many hard runs to escape.

His first attempt was made at the home of Howard Giles, on Grove street. Mrs. Giles was awakened by the burglar's movements and aroused her husband and son, William. Mr. Giles and his son slipped downstairs and caught the burglar in the act of filling his pockets with silverware.

They were armed and ready to shoot, but before there was a chance for gunplay the thief took alarm and jumped for a window.

It was closed and locked, but the burglar went through it without pausing. Most of the sash went with him, but he escaped injury and fled into safety in the darkness before Giles and his son could reach him or get their guns going.

A little while after a boarder at the home of Lloyd Nelson, of Prospect avenue, heard the presevering burglar at work in a lower room. Her alarm scared him into flight again before he had secured any loot.

The second failure evidently discouraged the raider, for nothing more was heard of him in the borough. While only one man was seen, it is presumed he had a confederate on guard outside the houses. There is a strong suspicion in the borough that the burglaries, like most of the others that have taken place in Dunellen during the past year, was the work of some local or nearby resident.

Miss Estelle Maag, of Jackson avenue, entertained a number of friends last night at a pit party. The play was greatly enjoyed and the affair passed off delightfully. Refreshments were served.

ITS BASEBALL SEASON COMMENCES APRIL 30

Scotch Plains Makes Arrangements to Start Its Schedule With a Game Next Week.

LINEUP ANNOUNCEMENT

JIMMIE MONTROSS TO PITCH IN ALL LIKLIHOOD.

Ed. Hand to Manage the Team—Baseball Committee Consists of Hand, Haskard and Jahn—Bitter Feeling Against Johnson.

After juggling with the baseball question for several months, the local fans have decided that Scotch Plains will have a baseball team to represent the village on the diamond this year and there is joy once more among the rooters and lovers of the National game.

On Monday night it was practically decided to get into the game once more. The decision was made final yesterday. So the rooters are once again in their element and happy. Edward L. Hand will manage the players and arrange the schedule of games. Arthur Haskard, who has guarded the strong box of the treasury so successfully in the past, will act as secretary and treasurer. The baseball committee will consist of Manager Hand, Secretary Haskard and Phillip Jahn. While it is not positively decided yet, the club expects to open the season Saturday, April 30, with the Newark Field Club.

The lineup will find many of last year's team wearing the local colors again, as Manager Johnston has already signed several of them. The personnel of the team will probably be: Allen, catcher; Davis or "Smiling" Jimmy Montross, pitcher; Moore or Baldwin, 1b; Enright, 2b; Crusius, ss; Williams, 3b; Conley, lf; Taylor, cf. Right field position will be filled later.

If the club meets with the support it has in the past the club will no doubt strengthen up the weak spots in the team as fast as they develope. This has been the custom in the past and the lovers of the game will probably find Scotch Plains holding its own with the other teams before the real baseball boom is started.

The election of George H. Johnston as a member of the Alis Club and his appointment as one of the managers of the baseball committee, has led the Scotch Plains baseball cranks to believe that they have been made the victims of a double cross deal between Plainfield and Westfield. Some of the more rabid rooters have claimed so for several months past and now even more conservative ones are beginning to admit it.

Manager Johnston at first declined to act in his official capacity, unless he was assured of assistance by someone who would arrange the schedule. This was done and Edward L. Hand was made assistant manager. Then the cry was made that players had doubled on their last season's figures and finally three weeks ago the club held a meeting and decided not to enter the game this year. This decision came as a bomb-shell to the 'Plains' fans, but it did not seem to surprise certain other people. Since the last meeting the lovers of the National game have been figuring and have come to this conclusion:

Scotch Plains has had a winning team for several years past and money has been made. In this respect the team from the 'Plains has been a menace to the treasury of both the Plainfield and Westfield clubs. The grounds have been more easily reached than either those in other nearby towns, this being greatly in favor of the team down the road. The "trust" seeing the danger which faced it for the present season, probably decided upon a little game of "shut out" and surely everything points that way, according to the people at the 'Plains.

Manager Denman, it is said, asked the Alis Club management to agree not to play the coming season on the Scotch Plains grounds. It is also alleged that he told certain persons to boom George Johnston for manager of the Alis Club team, as it was a sure thing. The final brick was no doubt laid when the former manager of the 'Plains aggregation became a member of the Alis Club. The rooters in the little town down the road claim that the hand has not been played out yet and the chances are Scotch Plains will be represented on the diamond this year with a strong team as it is possible to get together.

Y. M. C. A.'S W. A. PLANS

SCHEME TO HOLD ENTERTAINMENT TO REPLENISH TREASURY.

To make arrangements for an entertainment to be held May 17, a special meeting of the executive board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held yesterday afternoon in the association rooms. The idea of the entertainment will be to replenish the treasury of the auxiliary and enable it to continue its good work in behalf of the association. It is likely to be in the nature of a supper. The social committee, of which Mrs. L. M. French, is chairman was left in charge.

Definite arrangements were made for the banquet to be given the members of the boys' department Tuesday, April 26. About 140 will be seated at the tables to be placed in the gymnasium. The banquet is given the boys by the association in general with the Auxiliary in special charge.

A SOCIAL OF MEASURE

"BROWNIE BAND" ENTERTAINS AT MONROE AVENUE M. E. CHURCH.

The "Brownie Band," an organization of young men from the High School under the leadership of Chester Briggs, assisted last night in making the measuring social at Monroe Avenue church a success. The social was held under the auspices of the Sunday-school and the members and friends turned out in large numbers.

An amusing and profitable feature of the affair was the fact that each person paid an admission fee in accordance with their height. The charge was three cents a foot and is estimated that each person paid on an average of about fifteen cents, while a few extra tall ones had to give up additional pennies.

The entertainment given by the "Brownie Band" consisted of selections on the mandolin and banjo, while in addition a collection of fresh jokes were presented to the enjoyment of all. The band practically furnished all of the entertainment, after which refreshments were served. The committee in charge was composed of Blanchard Randolph, Mrs. Pierson, Miss Georgia Beekman and Miss Ella Beekman.

MISS M. E. F. RANDOLPH DEAD

IN HER SEVENTIETH YEAR SHE SUCCUMBS TO COMPLICATIONS.

Miss Mary E. F. Randolph, aged sixty-nine years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Randolph, of Myrtle avenue, with whom she had lived for many years. She had been ill for a month with a complication of diseases.

Miss Randolph was the daughter of the late Edward F. Randolph, who resided many years in West Second street. She was a member of the First Baptist church. One brother, Sylvester F. Randolph, of West Eighth street, and a niece, Mrs. L. W. Randolph, survive her.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home. The interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS.

Casts for Two Plays to be Given by School Boys.

All arrangements have been made by the members of the junior class of the North Plainfield High School for their approaching amateur theatricals. Two plays will be presented on April 22, in the main room of the Somerset street school.

The casts have been filled as follows: "Freezing a Mother-in-law," Carl Steiner, Marshall Ward, Otto Mueck, Agnes Bailey, Gertrude Townley. "That Rascal Pat," Clarence Hand, Frank Webster, Laurie Milne, Sadie Fountain, Mary Robley.

The amateurs have been carefully drilled and a highly successful production is expected.

Minstrel Man Leaves.

Samuel Johnson, who made so much of a hit at the Hope minstrel show in Reform Hall last night, has left for New York to take a part in Haverley's minstrels next week. Before leaving town he participated in a luncheon at Timbo's restaurant with the rest of the members of the troupe.

SCARCITY OF COAL IN THE LOCAL YARDS

Small Supply on Hand Due to a Scheme to Raise the Prices.

CAN'T FILL THE ORDERS

PLAINFIELD DEALERS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR CONDITION.

The Present Rate of $6 May be Increased Soon—The Operators Excuse for Delaying Shipments.

Scarcity of coal among the local dealers is the cause for considerable anxiety. For several weeks past they have failed to get their usual supply and in consequence there is a shortage in nearly every yard in town. One large dealer has not received certain sizes of coal since the first of April, while the other sizes have been running low.

Notwithstanding the shortage there has been no disposition on the part of the local dealers to advance the price of anthracite. It is still selling for $6 a ton, the price quoted April 1. Next month, according to custom, the price will gradually advance at the rate of ten cents per ton per month, until the past winter price of $6.50 is reached.

There have been many opinions offered regarding the scarcity of coal, the most likely being that the operators are withholding the supply until the price returns to $6.50 per ton. In case the operators do this it will not give the local dealers any chance to place the next winter supply, during the summer months. One of the line agents in town today made the statement that the operators have booked more orders than they can fill during April, in fact it is likely to take them the best part of two months to deliver the stock thus far ordered.

There is not a local dealer who has not received during the past few days any number of orders for domestic size coal and they are having considerable trouble in their deliveries.

The scheme of holding back the supply until the prices advance is a new one and it places the local dealers in a troublesome position. If it is adhered to it will not give them any chance of making a little extra profit, which is usually the case in the summer time. The line agents are doing their best to hurry the coal along, but are free to admit that the high powers hold the key to the situation and unless they want to send the coal out they are powerless to do anything.

SEEKS VINDICATION.

Lincoln Man Arrested on Criminal Charge to Take Action.

Criminal action instituted by L. D. Pond & Company, of Newark, against Edward E. Palmer, of Lincoln, has been discontinued. Palmer was arrested by a Newark detective a few weeks ago, charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses. He purchased a watch from the company on the installment plan, the company alleging that he gave the wrong address for delivery. Palmer claims that the watch was not as represented and that he made proper offers for its return. He has placed his case in the hands of his attorney, C. M. Dolliver, Esq., of this city, with instructions to take such legal action as the case merits.

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATES

SOUTH JERSEY'S CLAIM TO NAME THE DEMOCRATIC STANDARDBEARER.

Politicians of South Jersey appear to believe that the candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket next fall will come from their end of the State. The fact that it is generally understood that Richard V. Lindabury was made the presiding officer of the recent Democratic convention for the purpose of "trying him on" as a Gubernatorial candidate, and that "he took" so well, that those leaders who brought him forward are thoroughly satisfied with the experiment, does not appear to feaze in the least, these political prognosticators of South Jersey.

They declare that Mr. Lindabury will not do at all as the candidate, because of his connection with leading corporations, and if the Democratic leaders expect to make their fight on the "trust issue" they will have to take some other candidate. In their opinion, the declaration of Robert Davis, of Hudson, that the nominee will not come from his county, disposes of Charles C. Black, of the State Tax Board, who, many believe, would make a formidable candidate on an anti-trust and equal taxation platform. Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of Somerset, is mentioned as a possibility.

They talk the most of Senator Thomas M. Ferrell, of Gloucester, who, they seem to believe, can defeat the man from Cumberland. Ever since Senator Ferrell, in 1887, defeated former Secretary of the Navy George M. Robeson, for Congress in the First, then, as now, one of the strongest Republican districts in the State, he has been considered beyond defeat by his admirers in that part of New Jersey.

There is also some talk of nominating former Senator George Pfeffer, of Camden, whose chief element of strength also seems to lie in the fact that he has once or twice been elected to office in strong Republican districts. He has a rival in his own county in the person of former Judge Howard Carrow, who was elected a delegate-at-large to the St. Louis convention last week. The Gubernatorial bee has been buzzing in the bonnet of Mr. Carrow for some time, and there are many in his section of the State who believe that he would make a strong candidate. Frank S. Katzenbach, Trenton's young and energetic Mayor, is also spoken of as a candidate who would make an excellent run.

W. U.'S NEW DIRECT WIRES

PLAINFIELD NOW HAS BEST SYSTEM OF COMMUNICATION IN THE STATE.

F. G. Sherman, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, appreciating the needs of an up-to-date city has had direct wires to Paterson, Newark, Atlantic City, Camden and Philadelphia cut in the office at the North avenue station. Messages for these points heretofore sent via New York office will in the future be sent direct, thus avoiding the delay occasioned by relaying at the main office.

The change took effect Saturday and a more expeditious movement of messages has been accomplished by use of these direct wires. Since Mr. Sherman took charge of the Western Union lines on the Central Railroad two years ago, he has inaugurated many reforms which have greatly improved the service. Before the summer is over, the Western Union will have a direct wire to Pittsburg, which will take in many large Pennsylvania towns en route. Plainfield will then be in direct communication with more places than any other city in the State.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Republican State Committee, at its next session will select a temporary chairman for the convention at Trenton on May 10. This honor will go to Senator Kean. The convention will decide as to the selection of its permanent chairman.

Ferdinand W. Roebling, of Trenton and James B. Duke, of Somerset County, will be chosen district delegates without opposition for the Fourth Congressional District. The National Convention will be held in Chicago, commencing June 21. C. E. Breckenbridge, a member of the State committee from Bergen is mentioned as one of the alternate delegates-at-large.

Mrs. VanDuyne, of the borough, has been the guest of Somerville relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Force, of East Front street, have been entertaining Mrs. Powlison, of Warrenville.

Letter-carrier Charles B. Stephens and wife, of Duer street, have returned from a visit with their son at Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Bowers, of Wilmington, Del., have been the guests of Mrs. Bowers' father, J. V. Beekman, of West Eighth street.

Plainfield, N. J., April 20, 1904.

The Legislative Manual for 1904 contains a list of newspapers published in New Jersey some years ago. The feature is interesting history, but Mr. Fitzgerald ought to take a day off and revise the list, bringing it somewhat up to date.

During the second week of April the Philadelphia mint broke all records by turning out eleven millions in gold. There are no authentic records as to how much coin has been made in one week by some of the pirates of finance.

With the recent acclamation of Judge Parker in New Jersey and New York, the Democratic party seems to have passed the Micawber stage of "waiting for something to turn up," the "something" in this instance being an available candidate.

Beginning on Saturday you may expect to hear how Jerry gathered in that hot one in the first and how Tom sent three men to the bench in quick succession in the ninth. The baseball season is nigh and the cranks will be with you until cold weather comes again.

If Congressman Hearst should talk and W. J. Bryan should say nothing for the next six months, there might be good prospects ahead of the Democratic party. It would be a contribution from both men towards a harmonious selection of a conservative Jeffersonian candidate. And his first name would not be William.

AMUSEMENTS.

Henry Miller and Miss Margaret Anglin in Alexander Dumas' "Camille," with a superb support, are making a great hit at the Hudson Theatre. The players who personated the unhappy lovers in Dumas' play succeeded in giving more than an ordinarily strong and interesting production, as Armand and Marguerite, and one that finds favor with more than ordinarily intelligent and discriminating audiences. Place aux dames and to Miss Anglin must be given the compliment that she is one of the fairest and most lovable Marguerites that the Metropolitan stage has seen. From her first entrance until the close of her life tragedy she moves a creature fair indeed to look upon, and on that wins all hearts. Mr. Miller, who has evidently devoted sincere and long study to the play, and his role of Armand is played with sincerity and force.

Back ten years and more went the hands of the dramatic clock Monday night, when DeWolf Hopper revived "Wang" at the Lyric Theatre before a big audience, which gave him a boisterous welcome, and then, setting back to see the merry musical play, seemed to find the good old nonsense-concoction as bright and amusing as ever. It was an occasion to make the "old boys" cancel a decade from the debit side of their life account and "sit up:" to recall to younger men some jolly matinees of past school holidays; to convince the young fellows of today that dad's memory was all right when he used to tell them what a "good show" "Wang" was. Times change, especially theatrical times, and the wonder of it is that "Wang" should not have seemed positively antiquated from the standpoint of current comic opera. But it didn't. DeWolf Hopper was just as irresistibly funny as ever as Wang, the impecunious Regent of Siam, and while all his well remembered pieces of "business" were there—such as the gymnastic descent from the elephant, for instance—there were plenty of new touches to bring the humor of the part up to date.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Burglars have again made their appearance in Dunellen and the borroughites are getting their guns out of their attics where most of them have been stored ever since Marshal Mahon arrested Weier more than a month ago. The marauders made their first attempt at robbery at the home of Howard Giles on Grove street early yesterday morning. Mrs. Giles heard them and aroused her husband, who with his son, William, at once went down stairs. They surprised the visitor while he was in the act of filling his pockets with silverware and before shey could get a shot at him the burglar made a bee-line for a parlor window, which was closed and locked, but nothing daunted, he made a headlong dive through it, taking the sash with him as he went. Mr. Giles gave chase but the man was soon lost in darkness.

Mrs. Bernard Siriski, who recently estblished an employment agency at 73 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, has opened a branch office in her husband's barber shop on North avenue.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A new sidewalk is being laid on Grand street, between Montague and Stout avenues. The work is being done under the direction of Township Committeeman Theodore Bruchmann.

Joe Alberts, formerly of the local ball team, but for two seasons past a member of the Aeolians, is putting up a great game in left field and is doing some great stick work.

The marriage of Miss Emily A. Schreiner and Frank B. Perry will be celebrated at the bride's home, on Mountain avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock.

TO ENFORCE SUNDAY CLOSING

RECORDER DOUD TELLS WHAT CAN BE DONE TO FOREIGN MERCHANTS.

Spurred by the evident increase of disapproval of the citizens, the borough authorities have decided to proceed against the foreign shopkeepers who keep open on Sunday in North Plainfield. If they persist in their alleged evasion of the law they will be prosecuted under charges of disorderly conduct.

Borough Recorder Doud declared yesterday that the storekeepers had no license to keep open Sunday under any circumstances. He said the borough ordinance forbade selling on Sunday without any qualification relating to religious, or alleged religious, convictions. It is held that there is no need to prove the falsity of religious claims—that the mere act of selling on Sunday is an offense under the borough statutes, and can be acted upon at any time. The church people are aroused over the matter and pressure will be brought to bear on the officials to insure a rigid enforcement of the Sunday closing law.

BLUSTERING WIND AND SNOW

THERMOMETER DROPS AWAY BELOW ZERO AND OVERCOATS RETURN.

Long-suffering humanity buttoned up its overcoat this morning and shivered. The oldest inhabitant looked around for his ear muffs and searched his memory for anything like it. There have been cold April days before, and snow in Jersey has been recorded as late as May. But there is no doubt about it, for a combination of blustering wintry winds, snow and low temperature, today is pretty near the limit. The mercury has been chasing itself below the freezing mark all night and all day. At noon the thermometer registered thirty-two degrees. At 6 o'clock this morning it was twenty-four. It was a benefit performance, to all appearances, for coal merchants and plumbers.

At Dunellen, the cold forced the closing of the schools at 10:30 o'clock.

Contest in Lane Estate.

Attwood L. De Coster, Special Commissioner of the Probate Court of the District of Columbia, began the taking of testimony at Newark, yesterday, in the contest over the estate of Thomas F. Lane, who committed suicide in the fall of 1900. He was well known here. The will directed that the estate of $35,000 be divided among the mother, brothers, and sister of the testator, who reside in Summit.

Passenger Traffic Delayed.

A delay to train 120, leaving Plainfield for New York at 1:18 yesterday afternoon, was caused by the breaking of a cylinder in the engine. The fireman of the engine narrowly escaped suffocation from flames forced into his face. The accident happened at Westfield, the engine carrying enough steam to go to Cranford where the passengers were transferred to another train.

Charles Frey in Court.

Charles Frey, arrested on Monday night for drunkenness, was arraigned before Recorder Doud last night by Marshal Pope. He was fined $5 but the sentence was suspended upon condition that he refrain from repeating the offense.

Good Charge at Court.

Judge Fort's charge to the grand jury at the Somerset county court in Somerville yesterday caused much favorable comment on the part of those attending the opening of the session.

Gentlemen—I have been asked my opinion respecting the payment of several bills presented to this Board for services in showing voting machines and rent of rooms for voting machines. I find no authority in law for the payment of expenses of exhibiting or rent of rooms, while on exhibition, by the Freeholders.

I have communicated with the State Board of Voting Machine Commissioners, and the secretary of said Board informs me that the Commission provided instructors in the use of said machines, and the instructors employed by the Commission have been paid. I am also informed that no arrangement has been made by any officer of the county, or anyone representing the county, authorizing the renting of the rooms or the showing of the workings of the machine, and would therefore recommend, under the existing circumstances, that payment of the bills presented in this matter be refused by this Board.

Very respectfully yours.

W. R. Codington,
Co. Atty.

No objection being offered, the foregoing opinion was received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the committee on Elm street bridge in Westfield as follows:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen — Your committee appointed to examine the conditions of the Elm street bridge, Westfield, would report that they find the same inadequate to carry the water and is unsafe in its present condition to public travel, and recommend the building of an 8 feet throat, iron beam, brick arch bridge, from the corner of Elm and Orchard streets to the present line of the brook at the southerly side of Elm street, at a cost not to exceed $4,000.

(Signed) W. W. Connoly,
Geo. H. Embree,
Jno. Robison,
George B. Cladek,
Jacob Brucklacher,
Committee.

Freeholder King moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

From Lloyd Thompson, clerk of the town of Westfield, as follows:

Extract from minutes.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union is about to rebuild the bridge on Elm street east of Orchard street, and has determined in order that the waters of the natural water course crossing Elm street at that point may be more effectually carried off to increase the size of said bridge and to build the same diagonally across said street; and

Whereas, The said Board of Freeholders desires that the town of Westfield shall idemnify the County of Union against all loss, suits and actions growing out of said proposed alterations in the size and construction of said bridge.

Resolved, That the chairman of this council and the town clerk be and they are hereby authorized to execute and deliver to the said Board of Freeholders on behalf of said town such bond or other writing of indemnity for the purpose aforesaid as may be required.

I hereby certify the above to be a true and correct transcript from the minutes of a meeting of the council of the town of Westfield, in the County of Union, held Tuesday evening, April 6, 1904.

ART BOOKBINDING

A Good Trade For Women

At an art bazaar in the rooms of a woman's club in London some time ago I observed a number of the most beautiful books I have ever seen. The covers were so artistic and at the same time so strong and flexible that they claimed the involuntary admiration of an American. For one thing when you opened one of these books it stayed open. The covers did not fly back shut, as most of our books do till the backs are cracked and broken.

The beautiful books had been turned out by the Women's Art Bookbinding guild, a prosperous association. It had been started to aid working women who wanted to learn the trade of bookbinding. Among the men of the craft there was a sex prejudice so great against would be women bookbinders that little hope existed for them in that direction. So the women formed an organization of their own. Among the promoters of the guild were women artists, ladies of wealth and club women, all inspired strongly by that corps spirit which in our day is developing in the feminine sex. Provision for thoroughly learning the trade was made, apprentices of the right kind were selected, and the founders of the society prepared to take orders for work and also to turn out earnest, skilled bookbinders who felt besides an artistic interest in doing their tasks in the best way. Today there is not an art bookbinding establishment in England with a reputation above that of the women's guild.

In the United States women have not at all canvassed the possibilities of the bookbinding trade. In a few of the larger cities girls are employed to do mechanical work in ordinary bookbinderies, but their tasks require only a little manual skill and no artistic knowledge. Their work is a little above mere unskilled labor, but that is all. In the designing of art book covers a few women are earning good pay, but the field is overcrowded for the average worker, and very few women have attained the skill, imagination and courage to branch out in original and striking schemes. Most of them are imitators of those who went before them, excellent imitators, to be sure, but yet not original artists.

In Boston, in New York and in one or two other large American cities a few ladies have created a demand for their art bookbinding. One young Boston lady's work is notable.

Meantime in California a woman has established in her own home an art bookbindery whose fame has spread throughout the land. The lady is Mrs. Idah Meacham Strobridge, whose bungalow bindery is built among the sheltering foothills of the Sierra Madre mountains, along the road between Pasadena and Los Angeles.

FIREPLACE IN MRS. STROBRIDGE'S HOME.

Mrs. Strobridge's experiences have been remarkable, suited to the making of a genius. Her early married life was spent on a ranch in Nevada, in a grazing and mining district. The picturesque outdoor life fascinated her. Having a mind of intense activity, she was interested in all she saw and became a part of it. She rode, she prospected for mines, she shot wild animals, including colts from the herds of wild horses that devoured the pasturage of the cattle. She tanned the skins of the colts and other creatures and made rugs of them. She took the skins of red and white beeves killed on the ranch and tanned them too. In her bungalow near Los Angeles is a set of furniture upholstered in these red and white skins. She also became a skilled photographer. Besides all this, Mrs. Strobridge looked well to the ways of her household and took the best care of her husband and children. She used to read much too. In order to keep her magazines she bound them and thus began her first experience in the work that was to be her trade after awhile.

For some years time passed happily on the ranch; then came change. Husband and children died one after another and were buried in Nevada. There was no more happy, free ranch life for Mrs. Strobridge. She gathered up her cherished curios and other belongings and journeyed to Los Angeles. Her father and mother joined her in the new home she has made. There she binds books and also does much writing for papers and magazines.

She procured text books and studied with painstaking care the art of bookbinding. What the books did not teach her, and it was considerable, she read and practiced on till she learned it by experience. She has conquered every obstacle and now has a flourishing business. MARY EDITH [illegible]

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Gold Ten Got Rose Stakes.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Gold Ten, at 5 to 1, won the Rose stakes for two-year-old fillies at Aqueduct, and in doing so she smashed the track record for four furlongs straightaway by covering the distance in 46 2-5, which is within two-fifths of a second of the world's record made by Geraldine in 1889. Teacress made the running to the final eighth, when Forehand sent Gold Ten to the front and won driving by a neck. Another track record was broken in the first race when Major Pelham ran the five furlongs in a minute flat. Astarita and Dixeline were the winning favorites. The weather was cold and the track fast.

Auto Hill Climbing Contest.

BOSTON, April 20.—A sixty horsepower gasoline automobile owned by H. L. Bowden and a forty horsepower gasoline car owned by H. B. Hills, Jr., were tied for first place here in the hill climbing contest held under the auspices of the Automobile Club of Massachusetts. The course was on Commonwealth avenue, a fifth of a mile long and having a 40 per cent grade. The time made by the two winning cars was 15 2-5 seconds. The best previous record, 17 seconds, was held by a steam car, while the best previous time for a gasoline car was 43 1-5 seconds. There were thirty-one automobiles in the contest.

New York Man Got Road Race.

BOSTON, April 20.—Michael Spring of the Pastime Athletic club of New York won the Marathon road race of twenty-five miles here, covering the distance in 2 hours 38 minutes 4 2-5 seconds, the second fastest time since the race was inaugurated and nine minutes behind the record which was made in 1901 by J. J. Caffrey of Hamilton, Ont. T. J. Hicks of Cambridge was second, his time being 2 hours 39 minutes 34 1-5 seconds, and E. F. Cook of south Boston third in 2 hours 42 minutes 35 seconds.

Frank Bell Won the Feature.

ST. LOUIS, April 20.—A sprint of six furlongs, in which the best sprinters at the fair grounds were entered, was the feature of the racing card. Frank Bell got off in front and just managed to last long enough to beat Master a head, who came from behind with a rush at the end.

"Monk" Eastman Gets Ten Years.

NEW YORK, April 20.—"Monk" Eastman, the notorious east side thug, has been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. The sentence was the maximum for assault in the first degree, on which Eastman was convicted. Eastman is the man who, it was alleged, was hired by David Lamar, the broker, to "do up" Lamar's coachman.

Democrats Swept the State.

NEW ORLEANS, April 20.—In an uninteresting general election the Democrats have swept the state, electing their ticket, headed by former Justice N. C. Blanchard for governor and practically a solid representation in both houses of the legislature.

Madden Acquitted.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 20.—In the Susquehanna county court at Montrose, Pa., Festus Madden of Forest City was acquitted of the charge of murdering Patrick Fleming, a neighbor, on Christmas morning last. The plea was self defense.

Two New States For the Union.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The house has passed the statehood bill which provides that one state each shall be created of the territories of Arizona and New Mexico and Oklahoma and Indian Territory. The vote was 147 to 104.

APRIL 13, 1904.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, and by the direction of the Common Council of said city, will expose for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, (but not for less than the amount due from the same, as appears in the following schedule, with interest and costs,) on Thursday, the nineteenth day of May, A. This sale is made under the provisions of the 13th Section of an Act entitled "An Act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes, assessments and water rates or water rents in Cities of this State, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages, and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subjected to future taxation and assessment," passed March 30, 1886, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the lands to be sold may be obtained at the office of the subscriber on any week day prior to the day of the sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

"Smiling" Jimmie Montross will devote his time this season to pitching for local teams.

Harry VanNest, of the Potter A. C., would like to arrange ball games with teams averaging eighteen years.

The New Market baseball team, under the management of Abd. Nelson, will open the season at home Saturday, May 7, with the East Millstone team.

Fifteen men were out for the first practice for the Y. M. C. A. nine. It was held Saturday on the Myrtle avenue grounds. Weather conditions were unfavorable for fast work but the men gave much promise of good work. Captain Overton was in charge of the practice. The first game for the association will be with Clinton Avenue, Saturday, May 7.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

D. W. Pond, of Crescent avenue, a student at Princeton University, is making an enviable reputation in athletics, while he stands very high in his studies.

Work on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, as well as the tennis courts is progressing and when the season opens April 30, it is believed that they will be in fine condition. The improvements at the clubhouse are about completed.

Reports from the recent interscholastic athletic meet conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. indicate marked financial success. After all the expenses of the meet have been paid there will be a balance in the treasury to be turned over to the four school associations.

Team practice for the Y. M. C. A. gymnastic meet at Montclair Saturday, was held last night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium by the three members of the team, Pionier, Marcley and Bentliff. Each one of the trio has his particular points of excellence and the combination is going to be hard to down. There will be another practice tomorrow night.

GOLF.

Golf team matches do not appear to be as popular in this vicinity as formerly and in consequence the two local golf clubs devote but little time to this part of the game. However, there is likely to be a few matches arranged during the coming season.

Charles Burdette Morse, secretary of the Park Golf Club, has issued notices to the members that the course will be opened for play on Saturday. If the regular greens are not ready for play, temporary ones will be established for the present. In a short time the season's schedule will be announced.

ROD AND GUN.

The Potter A. C., and the Go Get 'Em Club held a successful team shoot at Avon Park Saturday afternoon. The former team won, killing fifty-two birds and losing eight, while the opposite team killed thirty-seven birds and lost twenty-three.

TENNIS.

The tennis courts at the Park Club are being put in condition for the season. It is expected that several matches of unusual interest will be played there.

BASKET BALL.

Leal's will close its season tonight with a game with the Y. M. C. A. business men's team.

Strike Settled?

Rumors that the painters' strike had been settled were emphatically denied today at the co-operative paint shop on West Second street. It was announced that one of the boss painters had come to terms and that his men had returned to work Monday for three dollars a day on an eight-hour day schedule with no Saturday afternoon half holiday. The strikers would not give the employer's name.

Wintry Weather In New York State.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 20.—A blizzard has been raging here. The temperature fell to 20 degrees above zero. The temperature for the past ten days has been lower than ever before recorded at the same period.

Alfonso at Ciudadela.

CIUDADELA, Minorca, April 20.—The royal yacht Giralda, with King Alfonso on board, has arrived here. The king received a great ovation when leaving Barcelona, accompanied by Premier Maura, for this port.

ATTRACTIVE WEDDING AT SCOTCH PLAINS

Miss Emily A. Schreiner Becomes the Wife of Frank B. Perry, of North Plainfield.

COUPLE TO LIVE HERE

CLIFFORD COMPTON, OF PLAINFIELD, THE BEST MAN.

The Bride Attended by Her Two Cousins, Miss Albertina Klemser and Miss Christina Balser—Rev. Mr. Mulford Officiates.

Miss Emily A. Schreiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schreiner, of Mountain avenue, Scotch Plains, and Frank B. Perry, of 48 Harrison street, North Plainfield, were married last night at the home of the bride by Rev. Mr. Mulford, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church.

The ceremony was performed beneath a floral horseshoe in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends of the couple. At 8 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor, while the Lohengrin wedding march was being played by Mrs. Hoffman, of Westfield. The bride was accompanied by her father, who gave her away in marriage. There were two bridesmaids, Miss Albertina Klemser, of Scotch Plains, and Miss Christina Balser, of New York, both cousins of the bride. The groom was attended by Clifford Compton, of this city, as best man.

The bride was gowned in white organdie, trimmed with old point lace, the bridal veil being fastened in the coiffure with a spray of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was large white roses. The bridesmaids wore attractive gowns of white batiste, trimmed with lace and they carried pink carnations.

The house was decorated in the bride's favorite colors, white and green in the dining room and pink and white in the parlor. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Perry received the congratulations of the guests, after which supper was served.

After the reception the couple departed on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside on McKinley avenue, this city, where the groom has furnished a home. Many handsome presents, including cut glass, silverware and bric-a-brac.

The bride was for several years employed as a saleswoman at Hill & Shupp's store, while the groom is an employe of the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works.

HURLED FROM HIS ENGINE

ENGINEER S. GIBSON REMOVED TO HOSPITAL AFTER THE ACCIDENT.

With his back turned to the Terrill road bridge, Engineer S. Gibson was struck in the back and hurled from his engine yesterday afternoon. He was driving extra engine 447 drawing a coal train west bound at a speed of about twenty-five miles an hour and went back to the tank to investigate the condition of the water. He noticed the bridge just in time to dodge sufficiently to break the force of the blow. His injuries were serious though not fatal. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital and his wounds dressed. He was sent later to his home in Manch Chunk, Pa. Engineer A. K. Smith, of Dunellen, was called from his home in Dunellen to take Gibson's place.

Their romance began through their association in the battle against liquor, and when it became time to choose a place for their wedding they agreed that the only fitting and appropriate one was the meeting room of Howell Division.

All the Grand Division officers have been invited to attend and most of them are expected to be present. The ceremony will be performed by a local clergyman. A supper and entertainment will follow the wedding.

PATROLMAN QUAAS BURIED

SOLEMN REQUIEM MASS CEELEBRATED IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Masses of beautiful flowers, including numerous magnificent set pieces, attested the esteem in which Patrolman Moses F. Quaas was held, at his funeral this morning from the late home at 9 o'clock and from St. Mary's R. C. church at 9:30. The services were attended by a delegation from Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. F. Six of his brother officers represented the police department and all other members of the force not on active duty were present. LOANS TRUCK TO BOROUGH

NORTH PLAINFIELD FIRE DEPARTMENT APPARATUS IS INCREASED.

The equipment of the borough fire department is to be augmented by the old truck owned by the city. Arrangements have been made to send the apparatus across the brook as soon as the men there get into their new headquarters.

The fire committees of the two municipalities have reached an agreement regarding the transfer of the truck.

The truck is the one used by the old Zephyr Company. It has been out of commission for a number of years. At present it is stored in the West Fourth street house.

Old Rifles Returned.

The old Springfield rifles, formerly used by Co. K before the new style Krag-Jorgesen rifles were issued to the State Militia, were sent back to the State Arsenal at Trenton, yesterday. It is understood that other improvements are being considered for the rifle now in general use.

ANNUAL REPORTS SHOW PROSPERITY

Trinity Reformed Congregation Now Numbers Five Hundred and Seventy-Five.

A BIG SUNDAY-SCHOOL

GOOD WORK OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Reports from the Several Societies are Read—New Members in Church and Sunday-school

The annual report meeting of Trinity Reformed church was held in the lecture room last night, the reports received for the year ending March 31, indicating a generally active and prosperous condition in all branches of the church work. In his official report, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Sobenck, pastor of the church, announced that there were 265 families in the church. By confession of faith, eighteen members were received into the church fellowship, and by letter twenty-four. The total number in communion is 575. Fourteen infants were baptized and nine adults, a total of twenty-three. There were nine deaths during the year and eight dismissals.

Elder Robert Clark, Jr., read the annual report of the church and gave a carefully prepared comparison of receipts and expenditures for the past year, with the year preceding, and by the comparisons the church was shown to be in a healthy condition, financially.

Reports from the Sunday-school showed an enrollment of 564, with fifty in Marconnier and 150 in the home department. Contributions during the year were $1,494.46 for benevolent objects and $7,102.75 for congregational purposes. The increase in the growth of the Sunday-school was notable.

Of the total for benevolent objects, the church offerings contributed amounted to $462.07; the Ladies' Christian Work Society contributed $109.10; the Sunday-school $247.38; the Y. P. S. C. E., $61.11; the Junior Endeavorers, $59.20; the Young Women's Mission Band, $301.84; the King's Daughters, $76. Reports from the several societies were read by Mrs. Cornelius Schenck for the Ladies' Christian Work Society; F. E. Smith, Miss M. Berkaw, Mrs. J. M. Tier and Mrs. L. R. Schofield, for the Sunday-school departments; Miss Mabel Wilson for the Y. P. S. C. E., Mrs. Tier for the Jr. C. E. Society; Miss Lillian A. Force for the Young Women's Mission Band; and Miss Wilson for the King's Daughters. Robert Clark reported for Marconnier chapel Sunday-school.

The average attendance at the Trinity Reformed Sunday-school was 309 and for Marconnier thirty-five out of an enrollment of sixty.

The work of the Sunday-school Missionary Society was summarized. In response to an appeal from the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, a special collection, amounting to $12.52 was taken for the Children's Home at Amoy, China. Christmas boxes were sent to two newly established Sunday-schools named the Lone Tree and Cloud Chief in Oklahoma, the value of the boxes being $43.85. During the year two of the classes made special efforts aside from the regular monthly contributions for missions in taking up the Twentieth Century Forward Movement plan. Class No. 2 raised $6.04 and Class No. 14 $5 in this way. Other classes were influenced to adopt the plan by this example.

The Junior Department of the Sunday-school has to its credit for extra work, the gift of $8.50 to the Children's Home at Amoy and $5 for the King's Daughters' Baby camp.

The amount contributed during the year by the various classes of the Sunday-school was $191.68. The value of the Christmas boxes was $43.85 and the total amount raised $335.53.

The average regular monthly collection for the year was $11.47, which surpasses any in the records of the society. Though the amount received from regualr collections exceeded the amount received from the same source the previous year by but $6.74, the total sum given for missionary purposes established a new record. The largest amount raised before in a single year was in 1899 and 1900 when two special funds were created for the Indian and Arabian Missions and the pupils were supplied with contribution boxes to take home and fill. That year the amount was $227.32, $8.21 less than was collected the past year when there were no special funds.

In the report for Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters by the president, Mrs. Anna E. Leggett, a membership was announced of thirteen active and two honorary members. Gifts were made for the support of a trained nurse, for the Baby Camp on the mountain, for the Children's Home, for a missionary's box, and for other foreign and domestic mission purposes. The receipts for the year were $79.59, the expenditures $78.56, and the balance remaining $1.10.

The Young Women's Mission Band had an average attendance of forty-six active and ten honorary members. To foreign missions, $108.50 was contributed, and to domestic, $201.84.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE IN STATIONERY STORE

Flames in Basement of Edward A. Laing's Place Calls Out Department.

BUT LITTLE DAMAGE

THE THEORY OF INCENDIARISM IS EXPLODED.

Oily Rags and Some Benzine Found in the Cellar—Store Was Open at the Time.

Something of a mystery surrounds the fire in the cellar of Edward A. Laing's stationery store on West Front street last night. What caused the blaze is hard to determine, though Chief Doane gave it as his opinion this morning, that oily rags were responsible. When the firemen investigated they found two bottles of benzine broken in the cellar and indications that these were in some way connected with the fire's origin.

A theory of incendiarism was exploded by the fact that the cellar door and all the windows were locked. The store was open at the time. An alarm was rung in at 9:25 o'clock, but the firemen found little to do after their arrival.

There was practically no damage, but had not the flames been speedily extinguished something serious would have resulted, as the cellar was full of inflammable articles.

SUICIDE OF WESTFIELD MAN

DESPONDENT MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF IN NORTH PLAINFIELD.

In a fit of depression brought on by illness, Murray W. Ferris, Jr., a Westfield resident, shot himself to death with a revolver at Brookside Sanitarium, in the borough, last Friday. News of the suicide came out this morning.

Ferris was 26 years old, and married. He came to this State from New York a year ago. He was in good circumstances, and had no reason aside from his ailment for taking his own life.

The body was sent to Westfield, after Dr. Taylor, the county physician, had held an inquest.

A CUB HUNT AT DAWN

FIRST EARLY MORNING RIDES INAUGURATED BY LOCAL RIDERS.

The first cub hunt of the season was held this morning at dawn, under the supervision of Dr. M. O'M. Knott, and the young foxes were "plentiful." The start was made from the old golf club grounds on Plainfield avenue at 5 o'clock, those participating in the hunt being R. A. Shebbeare, Charles Ismay, William Webster, C. E. Bellows, Percy Nelson and Dr. Knott. A distance of four miles was covered, the finish being near Muhlenberg Hospital. The hounds followed the scent of the anni's bag in lively fashion, giving the riders a merry chase. The party returned in time to allow the members to go to business in New York.

Dr. Knott has planned a large drag hunt for Saturday afternoon. The riders will meet at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at 3:30 o'clock and all persons interested are invited to join in the hunt.

DEAD AT EIGHTY-SEVEN

SISTER OF THE LATE DR. ABRAHAM COLES PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Susan Coles Stout finished her earthly pilgrimage yesterday. She died at the good old age of eighty seven. She was the last of the well known family of Coles, who for many generations past, have made their home in Scotch Plains and its vicinity.

Her older sisters, Betsey and Maria, died many years ago. The former was the wife of Elias Frost and the latter married Richard M. Crane. Her brothers, all men of distinction and usefulness in old Essex County in the last century, were William, James and Doctor Abraham Coles.

Mrs. Stout was born August 16, 1817, and had lived all her four score years and more on the same property patented in 1688 to her Cole ancestry.

She has outlived all her early relatives and immediate neighbors, leaving five or six nephews and nieces and an only son, Charles D. Stout, who occupies the old homestead.

Mrs. Stout was always a friend in need to every worthy person. In church connections for over three score years, together with her late husband, Deacon Jared S. Stout, Christian charity patience and devotion characterized both of them.

GUARDIAN FOR INSANE WOMAN

JURY DECIDES THAT MISS STEPHENSON IS MENTALLY UNBALANCED.

To establish the right of the Court of Chancery to appoint a guardian of the property of Miss Belle Stephenson, of this city, who was sent to Morris Plains' Asylum a year ago, a commission of three and a jury of twelve heard testimony here yesterday on her mental state.

The commission was composed of J. H. VanWinkle, William M. Stillman and Dr. T. S. Davis.

Miss Stephenson has property in the hands of William R. Codington. He asked for the writ as solicitor, to arrange a legal disposition of the estate.

As soon as the Chancellor receives the commission's report a guardian will be appointed.

A. O. C. TO PLAY.

Local Baseball Team to Tackle Westfield A. C.

The A. O. C. baseball team will play the Westfield A. C. tomorrow afternoon in Westfield. The club and its cohorts will gather at the 2 o'clock trolley.

Either Elliott Taylor or Arthur Wills will go in the box. Ralph Taylor will catch.

Last Saturday the club opened the season here with the Westfields. They went into the game without practice, and hampered by that and the high wind, they could not take the decision from the visitors. They put up a good fight and held the winners down to six runs while they banged in three themselves.

Piscataway Couple Wed.

Miss Nettie Dayton, niece of Peter Benward, of Piscataway, and Henry Suydam, of Stelton, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride, in the presence of a large number of guests. Rev. W. T. Doxwood, pastor of the Baptist church, Stelton, performed the ceremony.

—Kenneth Shupp is forming a Symphony Club to be composed of most of the leading musicians in the city.

LOSING CONTESTANTS GIVE A LUNCHEON

Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. Church Have a Pleasant Time.

AFTER-DINNER REMARKS

MRS. JOSEPH B. YERKES PRESIDES OVER THE AFFAIR.

Mrs. L. M. French in Charge of the Arrangements—Good Works of the Society Recounted by Mrs. Snodgrass.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the First M. E. church, enjoyed a luncheon in Vincent chapel, yesterday afternoon. The affair was given to the winning side in the recent contest for new members, by their opponents. Mrs. L. M. French was captain of the defeated contingent, while Mrs. N. W. Pike was the leader of the victors. One of the conditions of the contest was that those securing the least number of new members should give the luncheon to those securing the greatest number.

Mrs. L. M. French took charge of the affair and, with her assistants prepared a delightful luncheon. Covers were laid for eighty persons. The table decorations were unusually attractive, pink and white carnations being used in profusion.

Mrs. Joseph B. Yerkes was the toastmaster and in a happy vein she started the speech-making. First, Mrs. Nelson A. Miller, president of the society, extended a hearty welcome to the new members, and congratulated the society in its successful efforts. Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass made a few remarks, recounting the good work of the society in the past and wishing the members success in the future.

Mrs. Eugene Edgar concluded her remarks by presenting Mrs. N. W. Pike with a package of "Force," stating that inasmuch as she had been successful in the contest the cereal might prove beneficial in keeping up the good work. Mrs. Frank W. French, though not a member, responded in a pleasant manner, congratulating the society for what it had done.

"The Patience of Job," was the name of an amusing recitation given by Mrs. Eval L. VanHoesen. Miss Bertha Whitney also gave a recitation, entitled "The Theatre Hat." In conclusion Mrs. G. H. Whitney made a few remarks. The rest of the afternoon was spent in a social manner.

CRANFORD MILITARY PARADE

P. H. S. BATTALION DELEGATION MAY BE IN PROPOSED AFFAIR.

Under consideration by the officers of the High School battalion is a project to send a selected number of officers and privates to Cranford for a military exhibition which is being planned by Captain Edwards, of that place, a former drill master for the High School. Capt. Edwards' idea is to stimulate an interest in military affairs in Cranford. He has talked the matter over with Major Anderson, of the local High School battalion and other officers, and it has received favorable consideration, although nothing definite has been arranged. Probably if the affair were carried through, a delegation of the uniformed members of the battalion would be sent to represent Plainfield. Men prominent in military affairs would be requested to review the parade.

Successful Rehersal.

There was the usual gathering of the cast for "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino last night and the time was put to good advantage. With the first of these two entertainments for local charities just two weeks away, everybody is working hard. It is no simple thing to produce a Shakespearean comedy on a local stage and Director Edward Young has his hands full in getting on the details in good running order.

Delightful Club Luncheon.

Under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, another successful club luncheon was given at the Park Club, yesterday. There were about thirty guests present and after a delightful luncheon, all joined in playing whist. The tables were attractively arranged with flowers by the club steward.

—W. E. Day moved today from Duer street to 90 Summit avenue.

Electrical work cannot be done by everyone calling himself an electrician. If you want the proper sort of work in that line go to Allen B. Laing, North avenue.

An excellent place to get a first-class hair cut, shave or shampoo is at E. B. Maynard's tonsorial parlors on North avenue. Everything about the shop is strictly sanitary and only expert workmen are employed.

The New Jersey Loan Company, of Newark, will be pleased to confer with you regarding loans. Furniture and all kinds of household goods are taken as security, while the borrower has the use of both money and goods.

J. M. Cahart, the painter and decorator of Park avenue, is showing an exceptional line of new wall-papers of the latest design and an inspection is invited. A full line of painting and artists' materials are always kept in stock.

Search the city well and you will find no store that gives its customers better quality of goods than Peck's. It is good quality that sells goods. Peck's customers know his goods are the best. That is why they remain his customers.

Every sort of pipe is on sale at M. C. Dobbins' store on Park avenue, from and sweet and humble clay to the sweeter and rare aristocratic meerschaum. At prices right to you. All kinds of tobaccoes and cigars—the best in their grades.

Why go out of town to buy jewelry when L. Moraller & Son, of Park avenue, are in business? You cannot get better goods, prices, treatment, or assortment anywhere in the metropolitan district, and in many places you will get worse. Look over their silver novelties.

Wearers of clothing bought at the Plainfield Surprise store, 324 West Front street, are always known for their stylish appearance. The Surprise clothing is always well made, of good quality of cloth and in the latest tyles. For ready made clothing the prices at the Surprise store cannot be exampled at any other store in town. They are the lowest possible. The store carries a full line of furnishings, shoes, hats and caps at greatly reduced prices.

STRONG ATTRACTIONS.

Amusement Favorites Secured for Band Concert Minstrels Next Month.

Two top-notchers, William Redmond and William Murray, of New York, have been secured as specialists for the minstrel performances to be given at the Casino on Tuesday and Wednesday night, May 10 and 11, for the benefit of the summer band concerts now being arranged by Benj. LaVere. Mr. Murray, a baritone, opened the baseball season at the Polo grounds, New York, and was encored five times by the thirty thousand persons present. Both he and Mr. Redmond, the tenor, sang at the band concerts here last summer.

HORSE SHOW MEETING.

A meeting of those interested in the proposed horse show in June has been arranged for Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Casino. Besides announcement of the prize lists, other matters of importance with relation to the show will be discussed. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

Miss Anastasia Taylor, of West Second street, has returned from a visit with friends in New Brunswick.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.

Come to Hundreds of Plainfield People.

There are days of dizziness;
Spells of headache, sideache, backache;
Sometimes rheumatic pains.
All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.
Here is proof in Plainfield.

Jepp Zenner, of 782 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For years I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

First Daily Paper at Sea.

The twentieth century is the age of marvels. Think, for instance, of having a daily paper put at your plate every morning while crossing the ocean, with the news of the world, the stock quotations of the day before, etc. Next Sunday's New York World tells all about this wonderful new daily. There's an article, too. "At Sea with the Kaiser," that gives the best intimate pen picture of him ever published. There's a double page of the latest World's Fair pictures. There's an article by a famous Frenchman on American servants. You can't afford to miss next Sunday's World.

—Louis Drake, formerly motorman on the main line trolley between this city and Elizabeth, has been transferred to the Arlington avenue line.

—Each conductor on the main line trolley has been provided with a key for the several signal boxes located along the line. Thus the boxes have been locked up, preventing mischievous boys from fooling with the lights. Under the new arrangement it is not necessary to open the boxes.

—Silas S. Neff, president of Neff College of Oratory, calls Miss Jeannette T. Broomell "The first interpreter of child life on the American platform." She will appear with Miss Helen Beatrice Reed, harpist and Nettie Moore Chain, soprano, in the entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 8 o'clock.

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

Plainfield, N. J., April 21, 1904.

One hundred and twenty-seven years ago today the British were driven from New Brunswick.

When you feel all run down, you take a tonic; when your business gets run down, give it a good dose of advertising and hustle.—Ex.

The Somerset Messenger says that there is gubernatorial timber in Senator Childs, and the statement is not made in a comic supplement either.

The Czar seems to be going about it in a queer way, but nevertheless he is following the precepts of the Hague conference. What ships the Mikado does not sink for him, he destroys himself.

State Entomologist John B. Smith says that the mosquito crop will be a large one this year. He has been saying so much recently that it is a question which is the worst pest, J. B. S., or the mosquito.

That salute of seventeen guns given Governor Murphy at Annapolis probably did not shock his nerves half as much as that canal abandonment salute given him by the Republican guns in the Legislature.

The announcement made in The Daily Press yesterday that Scotch Plains will be represented on the diamond this season was glad tidings to the local baseball enthusiasts. Scotch Plains may be a small place on the map of New Jersey, but there are a whole pile of baseball cranks there.

Inasmuch as no sound argument has been presented to the court against the petition to increase the retail liquor license fee in North Plainfield, it is reasonable to suppose that Judge Sobenck will respect the attitude of the borough's Council in the matter. Corporation Counsel Reed, in presenting the Council's petition, clearly explained the situation to the court. The argument that the test in fixing the amount of the fee should be based on the matter of profit or loss for the saloonkeeper is absurd. The real test is the position taken by the citizens of the borough and the Council has expressed their views in presenting an application for a fee of $600, which is $100 less than that in this city.

Lewis will be the director and basso, and Mrs. Wentworth, of New York, a talented singer, will be the contralto. Mrs. Thomas MacDonald will be the soprano. It is expected that a tenor will be secured soon. The new quartette will begin work May 1.

Father Devine, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, at New Brunswick, learning that the members of his congregation had planned a celebration in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as a priest, declared Sunday from the pulpit that the plan must be abandoned. He said it would be too heavy a burden, financially and otherwise, upon the congregation, and that his own health would not bear the extra strain and exertion that would attend the proposed celebration.

Encouraging reports were received and officers elected at the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. B. Tennant, of Kensington avenue. Mrs. A. D. Thompson, treasurer, reported the receipts to be over $100 and the disbursements were about the same, leaving a balance of a few dollars. These officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Charles F. Dayton; vice president, Mrs. J. S. Pray; secretary, Mrs. Nelson Runyon; treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Thompson; assistant secretary, Miss Adelia Runyon. At the conclusion of the business session, Miss Olive DeLany, city nurse, told the society about the King's Daughters work at the baby camp on the mountains and a gratifying collection was received for this enterprise.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 24.

Topic.—What Christ can do for "darkest Africa."—Isa. xlv, 11-19.

The problem before Christian missions in Africa is a tremendously great one. This can be fully realized by a glance at some of the characteristics of the dark continent.

1. The size of the continent makes its evangelization a great problem. "Africa is ninety times the size of Great Britain, over fifty times that of France or Germany, over five and a half times that of the United States, excluding Alaska, and over three times as large as all Europe." In these facts we find one proof of the great problem before us.

2. The greatness of the population adds to the difficulties. According to the most recent estimates the total population of Africa is over 160,000,000. When we remember the time and labor required to Christianize the smaller and less populated countries of the earth we have some faint idea of the seriousness of the task when from 150,000,000 to 200,000,000 of people are involved.

3. The character of the people, the moral, social and political conditions in "darkest Africa," form the most difficult feature of the problem of Africa's salvation. Extent of territory and size of population are after all small factors if the people and conditions are favorable. But, alas, in Africa, as nowhere else, are they most unfavorable. Six different races are distinguishable—the negro, Fulah, Bantu, Hottentot, Semite and Hamite, the last two occupying the whole of northern Africa. Outside of Christianity, Mohammedanism and heathenism prevail. Slavery and polygamy abound among the native tribes. The moral sense of the people is of the very lowest order. The continent has been partitioned among the European nations—England, France, Germany, Portugal, Italy and Spain. Nor has this political supremacy been altogether for good. While it opens the doors of the country to the missionaries and affords them absolute protection, yet the introduction of rum and firearms has been the cause of incalculable harm. The Christian people of the world should demand that their governments protect those over whom they rule from danger and harm and cease placing within their reach that which causes their greatest destruction. The moral sense of a nation that can send a missionary and a barrel of rum on the same vessel to a people like those of Africa needs to be toned up, and the people of such nations should demand that commercialism should not stand in the way of the moral and spiritual, physical and mental elevation of any people the world over. This done, and the cause of missions everywhere would receive such an impetus as it has scarcely ever received.

The picture of Africa is a truly dark one. Can Christ do anything for the dark continent? Most assuredly He can. He is the Light of the World and came to dispel its darkness. What He has done is a proof of what He can do. Civilizations in the main as low as those of Africa have been uplifted by the gospel of Christ. Heathenism never prevailed under fouler conditions than it did in the Roman empire in the early Christian centuries, yet Christ conquered it. The native races of Europe, though stronger physically and mentally than the native Africans, were yet savage and heathen, in some cases offering human sacrifices to their gods. But the world knows what Christ did for these races. The middle ages were conspicuous for their moral and spiritual darkness, yet Christ raised them to a most glorious light. And Africa itself has felt the touch of its Divine Master and has responded to it. Over fifty missionary societies are at work on the dark continent, and in time, under the blessing of God, the gospel will reach every nation and tribe, and bring them out of the darkness of sin and superstition into the glorious light of the Christ, the Light of the World.

Ohio Aggressiveness.

Rev. C. H. Hubbell, field secretary of the Ohio Christian Endeavor union, travels 17,000 miles a year in that state in the interest of the cause. Ohio has set for itself the inspiring task of securing 400 new societies before the state convention at Akron. Ohio's recipe for the tenth increase campaign is:

Our course will be WON if each will start
ONE
NEW society.

A Trio of Items.

In place of the usual evangelistic services for the winter Rev. J. F. Berry, pastor of the Fort Street Congregational church, Detroit, has organized his Endeavor society into praying bands, which will hold cottage prayer meetings throughout the parish.

The Portland (Me.) Christian Endeavor union is considering the question of securing a public fountain as a memorial to Neal Dow and presenting it to the city of Portland. The state union heartily approves of this and promises co-operation in the work.

There are in America six Christian Endeavorers from the famous society in the Okayama orphanage of Japan, the institution established by that Japanese George Müller, Mr. Ishii. These six boys are pluckily earning their own support by rough work on the railroad and are trying to live up to the ideals of Christian Endeavor.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

April 24: "Christian Education In Missionary Lands."—Matt. iv, 13-17.

The gospel of Christ changes completely the ideas and customs of every people who accept it.

The habits and institutions of life are largely the outgrowth from the religion held. What one thinks of God and man and the world and the way they are related will settle what he will do and how he will feel.

Jesus Christ is the first who taught that God is Father and men are brothers. He said it in words and in deeds. His life and death illustrated the idea and demonstrated it as fact. He was the first one to arrive at conscious experience of sonship to God. Having attained it, he promised power to attain it to all who truly sought it. A characteristic of those who really seek it is an impulse to teach others the way. This is revolutionary in its effect. It overturns the old way of regarding things and all the former manner of life. It creates a new life in the individual and forms society on different lines. It affects all arts, sciences, philosophies and social customs.

From the first there have been some peculiarly gifted to impart instruction to others. Undoubtedly the gift of teaching will be needed until the kingdom of God come in all its fullness. This gift still continues in the church. Its value is coming to greater appreciation than ever before, and its usefulness is greatly increased.

In every land education in righteousness is receiving fresh emphasis. In lands particularly called "missionary" its recent extension is mostly of much attention. From kindergarten to theological seminary every appliance of Christian education and culture is diligently utilized in the work of bringing the people from darkness of heathen superstition and degradation of pagan worship to the knowledge of God through Jesus Christ.

A series of photographs from the different lands where our missionaries are at work shows the condition of affairs better than volumes of print can do. Mexico, South America, Africa, India, China, Japan and all the other lands have the little children of natives and foreigners gathered into groups under the care of trained kindergarten instructors. Our best graduates of college and normal schools and musical conservatories are scattered all over the world, teaching by the most improved methods the highest truths known to men in these latest years. Our best medical instruction and skill are in this service. Hospitals and dispensaries are necessities of every mission. Besides and beyond all this we are giving training to natives in this art and science of teaching and healing, who shall be able to go out and do the work and also teach others to do it. Theological schools train preachers, and all other grades of schools co-operate to raise in each land a force which shall as soon as possible be able to carry on the work without assistance, or at least dependence, on outside help.

Then what swarms of scholars! Peking, Foochow, Singapore, Madras, Lucknow, Rome, Pueblo and all the great centers between have gathered the best talent of the natives and are training the future rulers of many lands intellectually, morally and spiritually for the great tasks which await the hands of the coming men and women.

More than any one can foretell, the fate of the world in this century for weal or woe rests on the teaching now being given the bright boys and girls in the mission schools of the Christian church. The future of China, of India, of Africa, of all these other lands is in the balance. Our future is weighing in the same scales. God bless our schools!

Improved or Endured.

There are some things in life to be endured and other things to be changed for the better. It shows Christian submission and fortitude to stand what cannot be helped, but it indicates laziness and cowardice to put up with what can and should be mended. God did not put us here simply to endure our lot, but to improve it whenever possible. He tests our character and principles by His varying providences. He loves the heroic carriage under one set of conditions, but under others He delights in the disposition and capacity to triumph over difficulties and to transform adversity into prosperity.—Presbyterian.

Heavenly Secrets.

There is a beautiful figure of speech in a verse in the Twenty-fifth Psalm, "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him." The term rendered "secret" is in the original Hebrew tongue "a whisper." When a humble and teachable soul is near to God He often tells it a secret. He whispers in the Christian's ear some sweet word of promise or love no one else can hear, perhaps no one else could understand. —Rev. G. B. F. Hallock, D. D.

No Provision For a Relapse.

Why was he (the man cured of the palsy) to take up the bed? Because, as some one has beautifully said, there is to be no provision made for a relapse. Oh, how many of us have made that provision in the past! Yea, we will get up, but we will have the bed ready for a relapse. So far as you are able make it impossible by the absoluteness of your surrender and consecration ever to get back. Step clean out upon God. —G. Campbell Morgan, D. D.

A True Man.

Who is a true man? He who does the truth and never holds a principle on which he is not prepared in any hour to act and in any hour to risk the consequences of holding it.—Christian Instructor.

Dr. Charles Co.

Dear Sirs:—
I would thank you to send me two more boxes of your Dr. Charles Flesh Food, for which you will please find enclosed herewith $1.00. I am congratulating myself on discovering your remedy, for it has entirely cleared my face and hands of wrinkles—some of them were very deep and have annoyed me for years. I cannot speak too highly of your preparation.

Mrs. N—— D——.
Jersey City, Oct., 1903.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD has been recommended by physicians and used by actresses, singers and women of fashion for more than twenty-five years. It is the only preparation known to medical science that will round out with firm, healthy flesh, thin cheeks, neck and arms.

One or two boxes are often sufficient to restore a breast lost through nursing or sickness to its original fullness and beauty. The same quantity will also show a decided improvement where the natural growth has been impaired. We have thousands of testimonials. What it has done for others it will do for you.

For removing wrinkles or crow's-feet about the eyes or mouth it acts like magic. Wrinkles which have been years in forming often disappear after a few applications.

Regular price $1.00 a box, but to introduce Dr. Charles Flesh Food into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us one dollar. We would thank you to send your order to-day and mention this paper.

FREE—A sample box and our book, "Art of Massage," illustrated with half-tone pictures of living models showing all the different movements for removing wrinkles, developing the bust and other beauty hints, will be sent free to any lady sending 10 cents to pay for cost of mailing.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and, considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Winners at Boston Horse Show.

BOSTON, April 21.—E. D. Jordan of this city continued his successes at the horse show, winning four additional blue ribbons, a championship and two seconds. In the day judging Mr. Jordan's horses won first place in every class in which they were entered, twice defeating the entries of Reginald Vanderbilt. Mr. Jordan won the pony class with Domino, in the high steppers' pairs class with Elegance II. and Extravagance, in the hackney harness class with Mildred, in a regular harness class with The Baron and in the hackney stallions' class with Gentleman John.

St. Bellane Made New Record.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Despite the cold weather there was a fair crowd in attendance at Aqueduct. Another track record was lowered, E. R. Thomas' St. Bellane, which was purchased earlier in the day from Sidney Paget, winning the last race at four and a half furlongs in fifty-four seconds. Spring, who ruled favorite, won the Peconic stakes by one and a half lengths from Jacquin, with the 50 to 1 shot, Monet, third. Spring beat the barrier by one and a half lengths and was never headed.

Marvin Hart Beat Ruhlin.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Marvin Hart had the better of the six round fight last night with Gus Ruhlin at the National Athletic club. Hart did effective work in every round. In the fourth round he sent Ruhlin to the floor for the count, and at the end of the round he had his opponent groggy and almost out. The minute's rest did Ruhlin much good, and he managed to stay to the end. The bout was a hard and fast one, but neither man was punished to any extent.

Finish Was a Terrible Drive.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—A cold rain and sloppy track signalized the closing day at Montgomery park. The Peabody Hotel handicap at a mile and an eighth, the chief attraction, had six horses, with Claude and Potheen as the shortest priced ones. The Daly horse got off in front and led all the way, but the finish was a terrible drive between Claude and Little Scout, the former winning by a nose. Luralighter was third, several lengths behind.

Veterano Scored an Easy Win.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—Veterano scored an easy victory in the mile handicap, which was the feature of the card at Oakland. Gateway was a heavily played favorite for the event. Veterano showed in front after passing the half mile pole and, drawing away, won from Horton and Crisscross. J. Lewis, who rode Horton, claimed Veterano fouled him on the back stretch, but the judges refused to allow the claim.

Thought It Rained Sugar.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—The heavy fall of snow in St. Louis is not causing any suffering among the Filipinos at the world's fair ground's reservations. As soon as the Filipinos saw the snow they called it "sugar" and rushed into it despite the cold. They were soon sent back into their quarters and locked indoors to prevent them from contracting pneumonia. Stoves and warm clothing have been supplied to them as well as the members of all the other different tribes who are accustomed to warm climates.

Worst Storm of the Year.

LYONS, N. Y., April 21.—The storm which has been raging here and still continues is the worst of the year. The high wind has caused the six inches of snow to drift, blocking the roads, stopping the rural mail and hindering railroad traffic. Docks, cottages and boathouses along Lake Ontario have been damaged, especially at Sodus Bay, where the government pier has been partly washed away. The water in Sodus bay is the highest known.

Strikers Won at Milford.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 21.—The backbone of the granite cutters' strike in Milford, which has been on since April 1, was broken when T. M. Perry & Sons, who have signed the scale demanded by the strikers, put sixty men to work. The stonecutters believe it will be but a short time now until all the manufacturers will yield.

Groff-Wadsworth Wedding.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 21.—Miss Lillian Wadsworth of this city, daughter of Paul Wadsworth, general freight agent of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company, was married here to William Morgan Groff of Philadelphia. The wedding was a brilliant social occasion.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Bryant A. C. yesterday defeated the Lincoln A. C. by a score of 17 to 16.

The baseball game scheduled for yesterday afternoon between Leal's School and the High School was postponed to next Wednesday afternoon. It will be the first game of a series of three.

Providing the weather moderates a few degrees it is likely that a number of baseball cranks from this city will journey to Westfield on Saturday to witness the opening of the baseball season there.

Two weeks from Saturday the Alis Club will open the season here with the Aeolian team of Garwood. The latter team has already played several games and the players are in the best of condition.

The Whittier School nine will play the High School scrubs on Hope Common tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the first game of the boys' league. The Y. M. C. A. junior team will practice at the same time.

Among the improvements planned for Crescent Oval during the baseball season of the Alis Club, will be additional bleachers and grandstand seats. There will also be a gong used for starting the games and the lower part of the field will be filled in and graded to make it even.

Griffen, who will be change pitcher for the Alis baseball team this season, pitched for the Pearsall A. C., last Sunday, against the All-Hoboken, and shut the latter team out, the score being 12 to 0. Griffin struck out seven men, made one hit and had one assist. It is claimed that he is much stronger this year than last.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Although several contestants in the Y. M. C. A. bowling tournament have still two or three games to roll, the present scores indicate Maurice Sutphen as the probable winner of the silver championship medal. Whitley and Mensenbach are fighting it out for second place and both have averages high enough to keep Sutphen on the anxious seat until they finish. There will be practice play among the members of the association team Monday night in anticipation of two games arranged with Alis and possibly Fanwood Surburbans and one other team. Last night's scores in the association tournament resulted in these averages: Whitley, 168 1-3; Egan, 130½; Spicer, 129 1-3; Schomp, 128 2-3; Menzenbach, 124½.

TENNIS.

The Cedar Brook Tennis Club is preparing for a very active season and several important team matches are under consideration. These officers have been elected: President, J. Hervey Doane; vice president and chairman tennis committee, Lucius Koons; secretary and treasurer, Vincent B. Miner. As soon as the weather will permit the club courts will be put in condition for play.

ROD AND GUN.

Fred Sandford has returned from a successful hunting trip.

MRS. SCHEURLEIN BURIED.

Rev. Dr. Love Officiated at the Funeral Services.

The funeral services of Mrs. Emma Scheurlein were held from the late home on Elm place, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Love, a retired minister, was in charge. There were a number of floral tributes, including a wreath from the employes of Woodhull & Martin, a bunch of flowers from the firm and another bunch from the firm of Shirley & Johnston, by whom sons of the dead woman were employed. The interment was in Hillside cemetery and the bearers were W. H. Drake, James Miles, W. W. Coriell and Louis Willett, all members of the G. A. R.

William Casselberry from the Presbyterian church at Dunellen and Mr. Casselberry and E. A. Lake were appointed a committee on installation. Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, of this city, presided at the session, which was held in Elizabeth yesterday, and was elected moderator of the Presbytery.

Arbor Day Exercises.

Arbor Day will be observed by the borough schools tomorrow. At noon the High School will hold exercises, under the direction of Miss Myrtle Montague.

—Simmons' "Octoroons" will provide an excellent entertainment at the T. A. B. Hall tonight for the benefit of the West End Field Club baseball nine. A unique and attractive programme will be presented.

NO SUNDAY BALL.

President Brush Says Polo Grounds Will Not Be Open Sunday.

NEW YORK, April 21.—No Sunday baseball will be played on the Polo grounds next Sunday or on the Sunday following is the positive announcement made by President John T. Brush of the New York Nationals. The management of the Giants, as this decision indicates, purposes to proceed slowly and to feel the public pulse on the question before a final decision is made.

The public pulse, according to the Rev. Dr. Frederick J. Stanley, general secretary of the American Sabbath union, is beating strongly against Sunday ball. It will be made to pulsate with further strength by the combined efforts of the Sabbath union and the clergymen throughout the state. Dr. Stanley said:

"The sentiment of those who believe in the sanctity of the Sabbath is crystallizing rapidly all over the state, and the feeling is strong against Sunday baseball in other sections as well as in this city. Yesterday I visited the North River presbytery and the Hudson presbytery, whose meetings were held in Matteawan and Haverstraw respectively, and I found that they were talking about and very decidedly against Sunday baseball.

"The American Sabbath union will co-operate with the state and city organizations in the fight against it, and the fight will not stop until Sunday baseball is eliminated. All of the active work, including the prosecutions which will be brought, will be handled by the local organization, the New York Sabbath committee."

Two ticket sellers and three players who were arrested at Ridgewood on Sunday last by the police of Newtown precinct were arraigned before Magistrate Connorton. The magistrate reserved his decision until Tuesday next and paroled the prisoners in the custody of their counsel.

Vermont Republican Convention.

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 21.—The Republicans of Vermont, through their state convention held in this city, elected four delegates to the national convention at Chicago and instructed them to vote for the nomination of President Roosevelt. Three of the national delegates—United States Senator W. P. Dillingham, Dr. W. Seward Webb of Shelburne and H. N. Turner of St. Johnsbury—were chosen without a contest. For fourth place H. S. Bingham of Bennington defeated George M. Powers of Morrisville by a vote of 305 to 211. The platform adopted strongly indorsed the administration. The orator of the day was Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio, who, speaking for nearly an hour, reviewed the leading issues and said that the party would continue "to stand pat" on all the fundamental policies.

LOSES ITS CLAIM BY PROCRASTINATION

International Silver Company Fails in Its Equity Suit Against Rogers Corporation.

COURT REFUSES ORDER

THE ATTEMPT TO OBTAIN AN ACCOUNTING.

Action Brought to Obtain Schedule of All Goods Manufactured by Local Concern Bearing the Name "Rogers."

Vice-Chancellor Stevens filed an opinion in the Court of Chancery at Trenton yesterday in the accounting suit brought by the International Silver Company against the William H. Rogers corporation, of this city.

In his opinion the vice-chancellor refuses to grant an order for an accounting and says "it should not be permitted to stand by, knowing that defendant is devoting its money and efforts to build up a business, wait until after he has made profits and then come in and demand them as its own."

In conclusion, the vice-chancellor says: "Under all the circumstances of the case I think the complainant has been guilty of laches as to disentitle it to an account."

The action was brought by the International Silver Company to compel the William H. Rogers corporation to render a full account of all goods manufactured by the latter corporation with the trademark "Rogers," the Court of Chancery having recently issued an injunction against the William H. Rogers corporation restraining them from using the trademark "Rogers."

SCHOLARSHIPS.

The Plainfield High School Obtain Two in the New York University.

In recognition of the high grade of work done by the Plainfield High School, two prize scholarships, one for $400 and one for $100, have recently been put at the disposal of the principal of the school by Chancellor H. M. MacCracken, of New York University. The scholarships are to be awarded to students of high standing who may wish to enter New York University.

The first scholarship pays the tuition for four years in the College of Arts and Sciences and the second pays the tuition for one year in the College of Applied Science. An honor scholarship similar to the above was awarded last year to Norman C. Hill, class of 1903, High School.

WIFE ACCUSES MINISTER.

Says Elizabeth Pastor Tried to Suffocate Her.

The Greystone Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth, will probably lose its pastor, the Rev. Dr. George Buckle, who preached in this city two weeks ago, when the Presbytery meets. His wife has made charges to many persons that her husband on Tuesday, after he had performed the wedding ceremony of their daughter, attempted to kill her. She says her husband, pretending to put a towel on her head to relieve wakefulness, tried to suffocate her. She tried to have Judge Mahon take a formal complaint Wednesday, but he refused then and yesterday morning, and Mrs. Buckle's counsel says that there is now no chance of a warrant being issued for the arrest of the minister.

It is, however, believed by many that these charges are the result of imagination. Mrs. Buckle is subject to nervous attacks, and has been treated at the Morris Plains State Hospital as suspected of insanity. She was found to be sane. She was under treatment for nervous disorder at the Elizabeth General Hospital for a month last winter. Mrs. Buckle says she will not obtain a divorce from her husband. Elder Smith yesterday refused to discuss the affair, beyond saying that there would be services in the church on Sunday, and that Mr Buckle would not be there.

Davis Signs With Alis.

"Lefty" Davis, a pitcher for the Scotch Plains baseball team during the past two seasons, has been signed by Manger Johnston, of the Alis Club, for the coming season. He will take the place of McLane, of last year's Peekskill team, who with Murray, of the same team, was scheduled as the battery. Davis did fine work for the 'Plains team and proved one of the strongest twirlers against Alis, as well as Westfield, last year.

CEDARCROFT IS DEFEATED

LEAL'S SCHOOL WINS FIRST IN INTER-SCHOLASTIC GAME.

The first baseball game for the inter-scholastic championship of the city was played yesterday afternoon on Crescent Oval between Leal's School and the Cedarcroft School. Leal's team was victorious by the large score of 13 to 2, which was due to the many errors made by the opposing side and their weakness at the bat. The features of the game were the pitching of Ovens, of Cedarcroft and the battery work of S. Haughey and J. Haughey and the batting of Abbott, of Leal's School. Thirteen errors were charged to Cedarcroft, while their opponents only made three.

This is the score by innings:

Leal's School	0	2	2	3	2	0	1	3	x	—13

MUSICALE AT HOLY CROSS

FEAST OF MUSIC IS ENJOYED BY A LARGE AUDIENCE.

There was a large turn-out for the musicale given last night in Holy Cross church parish house. A delightful programme was presented by Miss Cornelia Miller, soprano; Mrs. Fernando Ward, alto; Miss Florence Emerson, violinist; Ralph S. Lane, baritone; J. Edmund Skiff, tenor, and Mr. Hayan, monologuist. The Holy Cross choir sang and Miss May V. Whitney was accompanist. The musicale was under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff.

All the performers were roundly applauded. Miss Miller, Mrs. Ward and Miss Emerson, in their solos, shared high popularity and the male soloists and quartette did equally good work. Miss Emerson's work was particularly enchanting. Mr. Hayan's monologues provoked more than one outburst of mirth and earned for him liberal applause. This was the programme:

ANNUAL MEETING OF FRESH AIR HOME

George E. Hall is Elected General Manager, Succeeding L. H. Biglow, Jr.

REPORTS ARE GIVEN

CHILDREN ENTERTAIN WITH SONGS AND RECITATIONS.

Miss Curry, Matron, Tells of Good Work—Report of Secretary Indicates Flourishing Condition—Home Will Open in July.

Miss Sara Curry, accompanied by a number of little tots from the Little Missionary's Day Nursery, New York, presented a strong object lesson at the annual meeting of the Mary Morgan Fresh Air Home held in Trinity Reformed church, last night, of what is being done in the metropolis for these children. Some of these children were at the fresh air home last season and the improvement in their condition was marked.

L. H. Biglow, Jr., as general manager for the home, presided at the meeting which was given up to the reading of reports, election of officers and singing and recitations by the New York children. There was a large number of young people present, representing the various societies in the local churches and the worthy enterprise received a substantial boom for the coming season.

During the early part of the meeting the children entertained by singing hymns and giving recitations and their ability was the occasion for favorable comment and much applause.

In addition to remark by Mr. Biglow, Miss Curry spoke briefly of her work, enlisting the unanimous sympathy and support. She related many touching incidents. The Home opened July 1, last year and it is proposed to fix that date for this year's opening, at which time Miss Curry will come to Plainfield with her family of children and mothers.

Miss Florence G. Hawkins, the secretary last year, presented a most carefully prepared report of interesting character covering every department of the work. It showed that the home opened on July 3, 1903 and that during the season from that date to September 14, there were entertained 1,128 children and 351 mothers. There were served 45,095 regular meals and 219 meals to visitors. There was a balance on hand at last report of $350 and these were the receipts: Churches, Sunday-schools, Christian Endeavor Societies, Epworth Leagues and other organizations, $222.88; Hotel Netherwood, $352.56; individuals, $910.92; children's lawn party, $63; collections at Sunday afternoon meetings, $135.73; check returned to Miss Curry, $250; interest on check, $7.45, total, $2,181.68. The disbursements were $1,797.59, leaving a balance of $384.09.

Special mention was made of the assistance rendered by Mrs. F. T. Ostrom, chairman of the house committee; George E. Hall, Mrs. D. J. Boice, for a load of sand, the trolley company for free trolley rides, W. W. Warnock for ice cream, Park Avenue Baptist church for excursion, Drs Albert Love and N. W. Currie, who made 114 visits to the home and examined 787 cases, George A. Chapman, who raised over $600 for the home; J. Wesley Johnson for silverware; Mrs. D. M. Runyon for assistance and Miss Sara Curry, matron, for her great devotion to the work.

These officers were chosen for the coming year: General manager, George E. Hall; secretary, Miss Ella O. Benedict; treasurer and chairman of the house committee, Mrs. D. M. Runyon; chairman finance committee, George A. Chapman; chairman of the entertainment committee, Phillip Suffern; chairman of the devotional committee, Miss Florence G. Hawkins.

Following the meeting there was a social time and refreshments were served by the young people interested in the work. During the social hour all became better acquainted with Miss Curry and the band of children brought by her from New York.

Building Improvement.

The Darling house located on Woodland avenue, at one time talked of as an orphanage and home for colored girls, is to be torn down and in its place will be built a more pretentious residence by the new owner of the property.

Mrs. Krotsley, of Stirling, has returned home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Edward Havey, of East Front street.

OH, THAT MOTHER-IN-LAW

SHE HALES CHARLES ANANASON TO THE COURT RROOM.

Because he struck his mother-in-law and his wife left him, Charles Ananason, of South Stelton, was forced to rehearse his troubles before Judge Schenck, of Somerville, yesterday and today. He was defendant in a suit brought by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Katharine Woermser, who brought action for slander as well as in tort. The dispute between the two arose over some furniture which the father-in-law alleged the defendant had bought of him without making payment. William Newcorn, Esq., represented the mother-in-law. The case went to the jury at noon today.

NO SYMBOLS ON U. S. FLAG

JERSEY G. A. R. NOTIFIED TO REMOVE NAMES FROM STARS AND STRIPES.

Grand Army posts may no longer place on the American flag their names, post numbers or other symbols of any kind. This is the substance of section 15 of general orders No. 8 from department headquarters, a copy of which has just been received by Winfield Scott Post. No. 73, of this city.

The notification is based on a law passed by the recent legislature, concerning which Attorney General Robert H. McCarter has written the following letter..

"L. H. Bridgem, assistant adjutant general, Department of New Jersey G. A. R.

"Dear Sir—I have examined chapter 16 of the laws of 1904, being a supplement to the crime act, which makes the mutilation or use of the flag for advertising or other purposes a misdemeanor. My opinion is that this law does prohibit the placing the names, post numbers and other symbols of any kind upon the national flag by Grand Army posts.

Very truly yours,
"Robert H. McCarter,
"Attorney General."

This news has caused a great deal of surprise and considerable expense will be caused by making the changes necessitated by the law.

RECEPTION TO BISHOP.

Priests of Diocese to Welcome Prelate's Return From Rome.

Invitations were given yesterday afternoon at the quarterly conference of priests of the Roman Catholic diocese of Newark, which was held in the cathedral there, to all the clergymen to attend a reception to Bishop John J. O'Connor on his arrival home from Europe a week from next Wednesday.

He sailed today on the steamer Princess Irene from Naples with the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John A. Stafford, president of Seton Hall College, and formerly pastor of St. Mary's church here, and the Rev. Eugene P. Carroll, of St. Bridget's church, Newark, who have been his companions during the trip.

The vicar-general, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John A. Sheppard, of Jersey City, who presided at the conference yesterday, announces that a boat will be engaged to carry all the priests who desire to go down the New York Bay to meet the steamer on which the bishop is returning and to carry him to Jersey City.

FIRE AT ARENS ESTATE.

Steamer Called to Put Out Flames in Cord Wood Pile.

Piles of cord wood about the stables of Otto Arens, 1052 Rahway road, caught fire early this morning from burning brush, ignited from a fire in the woods near by. The wood was situated near a stable containing two gasoline barrels and had the blaze reached this or any other of the buildings a dangerous fire could not have been averted. The double-five alarm was sounded at 1:30 o'clock and the steamer and hose were sent out. A pond on the estate gave the firemen their means of fighting the flames, and after two hours' work they succeeded in extinguishing the last spark.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OBSERVE ARBOR DAY

Exercises Held in All Departments in the City and Borough.

NATURE STUDY LECTURE

C. B. SCOTT ADDRESSES THE STILLMAN SCHOOL PUPILS.

An Interesting Programme of the Borough Primary Tots—No Trees Planted by the Little Ones.

In recognition of Arbor Day, an address by Charles B. Scott was delivered before the pupils of the High School this morning. Mr. Scott is a specialist in nature studies, and for seven years has had supervision of the nature science department in the Minneapolis schools. He is now engaged in lecturing before the teachers of schools in this city, East Orange and elsewhere. His talk this morning was an inspiration to the study of trees and birds, and was most cordially received by his auditorr.

Exercises appropriate to the day were held in the other city schools, but in no instance was there any tree planting. This was unnecessary as the various school yards are well provided with shade. At the Bryant School there was a programme of recitations by Rufus Tildon, Richard Montgomery, readings by Anna Johnston, a story by Effie Beekman, recitations by the fourth and sixth grades, singing by the second grade and songs by the school.

At the Irving School a very informal programme of class recitations and songs was given and similar exercises were held at the Lincoln and Washington Schools.

Pretty exercises were held in all departments of the borough schools this afternoon to mark the observance of Arbor Day. Mothers and friends of pupils attended in large numbers.

Especially interesting exercises were presented by the primary department. The following took part:

Loretta Feller, Raymond Kliner, Roy Love, Edward Dilley, Mulford Darling, Ernestine Waldron, Mattie DeCamp, Mattie Smith, Chauncey Stewart, Ella Porter, Doris Reupert, Elmer French, Bernice McClintock, Rose Andrews, Raymond Hoagland, Edna Green, Hilda Story, Marion Doughty, Louis VanZandt, Marcus Schmeyer, Charles BeckLan.

The High School exercises were held at noon, the others at 2:30 o'clock.

SURPRISED BRIDE-ELECT.

Friends of Miss Christina Frederickson Congratulate Her.

In honor of her recent engagement a surprise party was tendered to Miss Christina Frederickson at the home of Miss Margaret Nash, on Prospect avenue, last night. Fifty young people enjoyed the affair.

Features of the affair included a piccolo solo by Charles Pawson, songs by Miss Jennie Engell, of Elizabeth; piano solos by Miss Edith Robinson, Robert Leland, Miss Clara Wickliff and Miss Mabel Vanderhoef. Miss Mamie McVoy won the booby prize at "pit."

The house was prettily decorated in red and green.

Mrs. Johnson's Funeral.

Mrs. Mary A. Johnson, wife of Samuel Johnson, was buried yesterday afternoon from her late home on Park avenue, in South Plainfield. Rev. J. A. Cubberley, of the Baptist church, South Plainfield, was in charge of the services. The bearers were William J. Nelson, Jeremiah TenEyck, Thomas Brantingham and Mr. Teeple The interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

Somerville Mills Fail.

The Somerville Woolen Mills has made a general assignment to James L. Grigge, of Somerville. The assets are largely in excess of the indebtedness and consist of the large plant in Somerville, which is one of the best equipped of its kind in the country, also the mill at Pluckamin. The plant has cost over $300,000 on which there is a mortgage of $75,000.

Homesick in Hospital.

A young lad of the name of Apgar living on Carlton avenue, Westfield, was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital in the ambulance yesterday morning, for treatment. During the day he became homesick and refused to remain at the institution, and last night he was taken back in the ambulance.

A. MULFORD THE RECEIVER

IDEAL CASH REGISTER COMPANY IN CHANCERY COURT.

Vice-Chancellor Bergen, on application of R. Z. Pierce, of Buffalo, yesterday appointed Armstrong Mulford, of this city, temporary receiver for the Ideal Cash Register Company, of East Bound Brook. Pierce claims to own 7,885 shares of the company's stock, and says the concern is indebted to him to the extent of $156,000 and to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, to an amount exceeding $200,000.

A rule to show cause why the receiver should not be made permanent was made returnable at Newark on May 3. When questioned today regarding the matter, Mr. Mulford expressed some surprise. He had no knowledge of his appointment.

MRS. J. P. LAIRE IS DEAD

RELIEVED FROM YEARS OF SUFFERING EARLY THIS MORNING.

Following years of suffering from a complication of diseases, which was borne with Christlike patience and fortitude, Mrs. J. P. Laire, of 159 Crescent avenue, passed to her reward at 6:20 this morning. While Mrs. Laire had been a sufferer for several years, it was only during the past four weeks that her condition was such as to cause alarm. During that time she failed rapidly and the end was only a question of a short time.

Mrs. Laire possessed a fine Christian character and she was thoroughly devoted to the work of her Heavenly Master. She was a member of Trinity Reformed church. In the home she was a kind and loving wife and mother and those who came in her presence were always impressed with her exemplary Christian life.

Mrs. Laire was Miss Anna Creveling, of Annandale. She is survived by a husband, J. P. Laire, of the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company, and one daughter, Miss Cora Laire.

Funeral services will be held at her late home on Monday morning at 8:45 o'clock, and at the Annandale Reformed church, Annandale, N. J., at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Laire was forty-nine years old.

NEW CENTURY TRIO WINNERS

Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL BENEFIT PROVES TO BE A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

Even more entertaining than when the first appeared in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, the New Century trio kept a large audience interested throughout their excellent performance last night. The affair was arranged for the benefit of the association baseball team which will receive a good start on its season's work from the proceeds obtained.

Mrs. Nettie Moore-Chain opened the programme with a soprano solo, "Sing On," by Denza. She had a remarkably sweet voice and her rendering was charming. Miss Jeannette T. Broomell, one of the most skillful of child impersonators, in her readnig of Mrs. F. H. Burnet's pretty story, "Edith's Burglar," gave one of the most pleasing numbers of the entertainment. She was heartily encored.

Miss Helen B. Reed was clever in two harp solos, a march, "Fantasia" and a selected number. Mrs. Moore-Chain sang two more solos delightfully, "Haste Thee, Sweet," by Harling, and "Eventide," by Blumenthal, the latter making an effective closing selection. Miss Broomell gave some original readings and an anonymous selection, "A Naughty Little Girl," which appealed strongly to the audience.

Goldsmith's Play Tonight.

All the seats for tomorrow night's performance of "She Stoops to Conquer" by the class of 1904, P. H. S., at the Casino have been sold. So to accommodate pupils of other schools and all who have not been able to secure tickets, a dress rehearsal performancewill be given tonight, which will be the same as the regular performance, with costumes, scenery and all appointments complete. There will be no reserved seats. Doors will open at 7:30 o'clock and performance begins at 8.

Mrs. Coles-Stout's Funeral.

The funeral services of Mrs. Susan Coles-Stout will be held from the late home, Hyde Park, Scotch Plains, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be private. The interment will be in the Baptist Cemetery at Scotch Plains.

INTERIOR PLANS OF NURSES' HOME

Description of the Structure to be Erected in Connection With Muhlenberg Hospital.

TWENTY-SEVEN ROOMS

BIG DORMITORY FOR THE USE OF THE NIGHT STAFF.

A Lecture Room on First Floor—Four Bath Rooms—Two Parlors, Also a Wide Hallway.

Inside and out, the proposed Nurses' Home to be erected on the hospital grounds at Randolph road and Park avenue, will be one of the handsomest structures of its kind in the State. Evarts Tracy, the architect, has given the designing of the building a good deal of careful attention and the result will add noticeably to the beauty of the hospital group and the architecture of the city.

In general design the building will be colonial.

Big white pillars will rise before the front of the Home, and two spacious verandas will add to the air of comfort and roominess. A pretty balcony will tone the rear view. The building will be two stories high.

Twenty-seven sleeping rooms in all, besides a large dormitory, are arranged for. There will be a big lecture room, two parlors and a supper room, and four bathrooms.

On the first floor will be the lecture room, 13x25; the two parlors, one 13x19 and the other 8x13; four double rooms and four single rooms, and the supper room. The single rooms will measure 8x13 and the double rooms 13x10. The supper room will be 8x13. Two of the bathrooms will be on this floor.

Upstairs there will be the dormitory, 13x25; two bathrooms, four double and nine single rooms. A wide hall will run the entire length of each floor, in colonial style.

The dormitory is for the use of the night staff. It is situated so as to receive little or no noise from the other parts of the building, affording the necessary quiet for the resting nurses. The double rooms are arranged for the possibilities of future growth.

An increase in the nurses' staff is expected as soon as the new home is completed. At present there are thirteen nurses on the force; two more at least will be added, and if the present rate of increase in work at the hospital continues more additions will be necessary as time goes on.

The present force is made up of three nurses in the head class; four in the senior class; four in the intermediate and two juniors. Miss Wildey is the head of the staff.

GIFT FOR JUDGE.

Union County Bar Association's Present to Judge Edward S. Atwater.

Just before the session in the District Court opened at Elizabeth yesterday morning the members of the Union County Bar Association presented a handsome ivory gavel to Judge Atwater in token of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the legal profession.

P. H. Gilbooly made the presentation speech to the surprised Judge. At the close, Judge Atwater responded pleasantly, thanking the members of the profession represented there for the token of their friendship and good will.

The handsome gift, to which all the members of the bar contributed, was accompanied by the following expression of esteem, signed by the donors:

"We, the undersigned members of the bar of Union County, appreciating the capable and impartial manner in which the Hon. Edward S. Atwater has presided over the Elizabeth district court for some years past, and desiring to give some evidence as a token of the esteem in which Judge Atwater is held by us, subscribe the sums hereinafter set forth opposite our names."

Mrs. Charlotte E. Davis and Cyrus Binn, both of East Third street, were married on Wednesday night by Rev. F. D. Tildon, pastor of the Bethel chapel, at his home, 825 Richmond street. The couple will reside at the groom's home.

Taming of the Shrew.

There is one scene in "The Taming of the Shrew" which is never given at the rehearsals for the charity production at the Casino that it does not call forth a laugh from the members of the cast. This play is the broadest of Shakespeare's comedies and abounds in these delightfully humorous situations. In this one in particular, however, Shakespeare's efforts with the pew are ably seconded by Laurens H. VanBuren as "Grumio," the servant of "Petruchio."

—Lucius Ryce and family, of Webster place, are now stopping at Truell Court.

—Detective George Totten, of Somerville, was in town yesterday attending to several business matters.

—John J. McAnany, of this city, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail by Judge Vail in the Court of Special Sessions at Elizabeth on Wednesday. He was charged with the theft of a bicycle.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Fred Hand, of East Second street, is riding a new Racycle Pacer, which he purchased from Harry K. Lister.

Edward Harding, boss painter at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, is confined to his home by illness.

Work is still lack in the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, about one half of the regular force is employed there at present.

Joe Loughead, formerly manager of the Plainfield Tool and Equipment Company, has purchased a machine shop, located on Regent street, North Plainfield.

Adam Alsten, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has taken up his residence in the borough. Mr. Alston will take charge of the needle department at the Standard Surgical Instrument Company's plant on East Fourth street.

A general demand for a nine-hour workday and the union scale of wages is being made by forty thousand clothing workers in Greater New York, and a general strike will be ordered to enforce the demands in the event of refusal.

The striking coal miners at Garret, Pa., are reported to have taken possession of the town. Armed men are said to be patrolling the streets, and a mob armed with rifles and shotguns, are surrounding the works of the Garret Coal Company. An outbreak is momentarily expected between the strikers and the miners in the company's barricade.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Although the Common Council cannot at present see its way clear to adopt the municipal collection of garbage, as proposed by the Board of Health, it has been thought wise for the city to purchase the crematory plant on DeKalb avenue, recently bought by Former Councilman J. F. Buckle. In view of the value of the plant and the low price at which it can be secured, $2,000, it is likely that the Council may arrange to buy the same from Mr. Buckle.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Wednesday matinees at Wallack's Theatre, New York, are designed for the special accommodation of suburban patrons who find it inconvenient to patronize the evening performances of "The County Chairman." An additional advantageous featurbe of these mid-week afternoon representations of George Ade's immensely directing comedy is the fact that the prices are very materially reduced from the schedule in operation at night. It has been running along without the slightest break in its large prosperity since November, and it is a fact significant of its high quality as an entertainment that its first New York audience was the smallest in its entire record at Wallack's.

"The Other Girl," which holds the record for success of all of Augustus Thomas' plays ever presented in the city, is now moving along triumphantly at the New Empire Theatre, New York city, towards the 150th performance. It is drawing capacity audiences and it will probably reach the end of its season at this house with this record of big business still the same. The fun is entirely New Yorky, of a sort which the theatregoers of the Metropolis readily appreciate and thoroughly understand. The acting of the piece is of a very high standard as Charles Frohman has put into it a remarkable cast which includes the great comedy sextette, Lionel Barrymore, Joseph Wheelock, Jr., Richard Bennett, Frank Worthing, and Elsie and Drina De Wolfe.

Big Advertising Firm.

The firm of N. W. Ayer & Son, of Philadelphia, the largest advertising agency in the United States, has celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of a business whose success and growth can be measured only by the progress of advertising itself in this country. They started, father and son, in a room only twenty feet square, on Sansom street, near Seventh, near the present "Press" building, on April 1, 1869. Their capital was $250, and, as F. W. Ayer, the present head of the firm, laughingly said yesterday: "Father was the head, I was the office boy, and we were equal partners." With this capital the firm proceeded to develop newspaper advertising, and in the first year did a business of $15,000. In the thirty-four years since they have furnished to the newspapers of the United States a total of more than $35,000,000 of advertising. Today they are dealing with 18,000 publications and they payments to these average $10,000 a day, or, roughly speaking, $3,600,000 a year.

A RIOT AT DENVER

President Moyer Before Supreme Court.

MINERS' SECRETARY ROUGHLY USED

Haywood Struck Captain Welles and Was Arrested and Beaten Into Submission by Troopers—Governor Ordered Release.

DENVER, April 22. — President Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners, who has arrived in Denver in custody of state troops after several weeks' incarceration at Telluride, where martial law is in force in consequence of labor troubles, was taken before the state supreme court under the writ of habeas corpus which had been issued in his case. At the Oxford hotel he entered a hack with General Sherman M. Bell and Captain Bulkeley Welles, the respondents to the writ, and the vehicle was driven rapidly to the statehouse, followed by thirty-two armed soldiers, who guarded the entrances to the courtroom while the habeas corpus proceedings were in progress.

General Bell's answer, in which he represented that all acts of the other respondent, Captain Welles, were performed under command of his superior officer (Bell), declared that Moyer was an active participant in fomenting and keeping alive the insurrection and rebellion in San Miguel county and that it was necessary to restrain him for some time to come. Bell further represented that he has been ordered by the governor not to release Moyer either upon writ of habeas corpus or otherwise until so commanded by the governor.

The court heard arguments on a motion of the petitioner to be admitted to bail pending a decision on the question of the court's jurisdiction and took the matter under advisement.

Mr. Moyer was then removed to the hotel in custody of the military.

Defying the detachment of cavalry which brought Moyer to appear before the supreme court, W. D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the federation, attempted to hold a conversation with the prisoner while he was being taken from the train at the Union depot. Ordered to stand back by Captain Bulkeley Welles, commanding the guard, he struck the officer in the face. In a second he was surrounded by a cordon of angry troopers, who struck at him with the butts of their carbines and beat him with six shooters. That he was not killed by the excited soldiers is due to the action of Bert Givens, the orderly of Captain Welles, who struck up the muzzle of a gun aimed at Haywood and rescued him from his position between two cars where the guardsmen had him cornered.

Placed under arrest, he was put in the middle of a hollow square of militiamen and marched to the Oxford hotel near the depot. Here he again showed fight and was beaten into submission. His injuries consist of a deep cut on the left side of the head and one on the right side of the head which almost severed the lower lobe of his right ear.

When a demand was made by Police Captain Frank Lee for the release of Haywood on the ground that the military rule did not extend to Denver, General Bell replied that he intended to hold Haywood as a military prisoner and would shoot any one who attempted to take him, but nevertheless, under orders from Governor Peabody, Haywood was surrendered to Sheriff Armstrong and placed in the county jail.

A telegram was sent to D. C. Copley, a member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, who is in Kansas, requesting him to come to Denver immediately and take charge at federation headquarters.

Toronto Fire Broke Out Again.

TARONTO, April 22.—Fire broke out last night in the premises of Phillips & Wirinch, wholesale small wares, on Wellington street, at the west end of the burned district. A general alarm was sounded, and for a time there was intense excitement. The building was entirely gutted, involving several thousand dollars' loss. Work was actively commenced at clearing away the debris that partially blocks the streets, so that building operations may be begun with the least possible loss of time.

Serious Wreck on New York "L."

NEW YORK, April 22.—Several persons were injured here, four of them seriously, in a collision between two northbound Third avenue elevated trains at the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street station. The station platform was torn up for a distance of ten yards, and the rear car of the forward train and the first car of the rear train were badly wrecked.

The Star Spangled Banner may or may not be our National anthem, but Peace and Prosperity is surely our motto.

About time for some one to come forward and claim that he was the first man to mention Parker for the Presidency. It might avoid endless newspaper discussion sometime in the future.

A colored girl in Paterson mixed her sister's tobacco with carbolic acid to break her of the habit of chewing the weed. Carbolic is a pretty good remedy to kill any bad habit provided the dose is large enough.

Senator Wakelee will be Acting Governor of New Jersey tomorrow. Come to think of it, Governor Murphy's trip abroad in search of health will no doubt prove beneficial and it is hoped that he will make an extended tour.

Some men are attempting to insert advertisements in daily newspapers offering positions to "bright, active young girls to fill positions as waitresses at St. Louis during the Exposition." No young woman who values her honor should be misled and trapped by the alluring statement that it is "a good chance for bright girls to earn big wages and see the Exposition."

Judging from the situation in Nebraska, W. J. Bryan will undoubtedly control his own vote on election day. A close scrutiny of the returns in Presidential contests, reveals the fact that a single ballot never did decide a National campaign, and it might be just as well to go ahead and nominate the choice of the Democratic party. For President, Alton B. Parker, New York.

Q.—When is it wise to "slow up" in advertising? A.—It is advisable to slow up in advertising on the day that you discover that your business is too big; that you must do something to stop its growth.

Q.—When is the right time of year to increase the advertising appropriation? A.—The right time to increase the advertising appropriation is the day you conclude that you can handle more business and that you can grow accustomed to a larger bank balance. —Ex.

Able to Walk Again.

—The Pennsylvania Railroad system will have a large and most interesting exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair. The varied features of its progress will be exemplified in a 33,000 square feet section in the transportation building by a locomotive testing plant, for the erection of which the company has made an appropriation of $100,000.

—Roland Randolph, the well known baritone of Newark, will sing three solos at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He is musical director of the Roseville M. E. church where they have the largest Epworth League in the world. He had charge of the music at the Peddie Memorial church in Newark during the recent evangelistic services.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Under the auspices of the Men's Assembly, of Grace M. E. church, Rev. E. E. Robinson will deliver a lecture on "An Indolent Keeper of a Royal Palace" tonight.

The Men's Association, of Trinity Reformed church, will be the guest of the Young Men's Brotherhood, of the First M. E. church, at the meeting of the latter in Vincent chapel, tonight.

Miss Mabel Jamison, formerly of Dunellen, but now of Basking Ridge, has resigned her position as soprano soloist in the choir of the M. E. church at Rahway. She held this position for several years.

On account of the meeting of the Mary Morgan Fresh Air Home at Trinity Reformed church, last night, the Willing Workers, of Trinity Reformed church, postponed their meeting until Thursday night, April 28. It will be held at the home of E. V. Kinney, of Somerset street.

The committee of the Woman's Guild on Local Charities, of the Church of the Holy Cross, has organized with Mrs. J. H. Carman as chairman. There are eleven members of the committee and excellent work is being done. Meetings are held once a week in the parish house and more than ordinary interest is shown in the work.

The Church Improvement Fund at the Church of the Holy Cross is steadily increasing. The sum of $520.04 received as the Easter offering will help materially in making needed improvements. The organ motor fund is also on the increase, there being $127 now in the treasury. A few additional dollars will make it possible to purchase the motor.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild, of the Church of the Holy Cross, will be held in May, at which time these officers will be elected: Secretary, Miss Stevens; treasurer, Mrs. Samuel Townsend; executive board, Mrs. J. H. Carman, Mrs. J. O. Stevens, Mrs Murray, Miss Davis, Mrs. W. M. Downey, Mrs. Hannigan and Mrs. Browne.

A colored man in Philadelphia requested his employer to release him so that he could go south.

"What do you want to go for, Lafayette?"

"Cos I'se called to a church down dar."

"Called to a church? What are you going to be?"

"I'se goin' to be sumfin. I dunno whedder I be de pasture, or de sextant or de vestureman, but I'se goin' to be sumfin."—From Success.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A large and enthusiastic gathering of Democrats took place in Cranford Wednesday night in the Opera House building, and formed themselves into a permanent organization called the Cranford Democratic Club. Nearly one hundred were enrolled and much enthusiasm was shown. The following officers were unanimously elected: President, John Moody; treasurer, Charles S. Beadle; secretary, Paul Abry. Committees and other officers will be chosen later.

In discussing the action of the Republican State Convention, to be held on May 10, Senator Kean said the other day that it was not expected that the delegation from New Jersey would be instructed for President Roosevelt. "It has not been the custom to instruct, except in the case of a 'favorite son,' which is perfectly proper. I have told the President and the Republican leaders that the administration of Mr. Roosevelt would undoubtedly be strongly indorsed, but there would be no definite instructions."

Miss Blank, of New York, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of West Front street.

GRANDMOTHERS.

Better Be Dead Than Old and Dependent Among the Poor.

"Among the poorer classes of tenement dwellers it is almost impossible to find a grandmother in the home. She is not wanted in the majority of tenement homes. Once a woman has passed her ability to earn money she is cast out of the home. Pitiful indeed are the tales these grandmothers tell."

A lady, Mrs. Alexander Ewing, read a report on the subject of aged poor women before the charities organization of an eastern city, and it contained the above words. Old women, feeble in mind and body, come to Mrs. Ewing day after day with stories that would touch any heart capable of a kindly feeling for age and weakness. One poor old woman came to the lady weeping and said her son and her son's wife were both trying to drive her from their home, the only home she knew. The daughter-in-law, in the hope of forcing the old woman out, made her sleep in a bed with three little girls.

And all under the heavens that old woman knew was to go and tell somebody about it and weep. She had no intelligence, no brains to speak of, no bodily strength left. All she ever had known in her best days was to do housework in a greasy, slatternly way and tend babies in the like untidy, inefficient manner. Now, just because she was old she expected her children to take care of her when they were struggling to get bread for their own families.

They do these things better among the Eskimos of the far north, where food is scarce. So soon as a grandmother or grandfather is too old to be a productive member of the community the aged one calmly permits himself or herself to be killed for the general good. The aged people look calmly forward to this as the inevitable and at the same time quite proper thing.

Civilization thinks it is kinder, but it is not. What to do with women who don't know any way to earn a living and think they are too old to learn is one of the most serious problems confronting charity workers. The world seems overflowing with old women whom nobody wants to have around because they are no good. There is not room enough for them either in public pauper houses or in the privately sustained homes for old women. It is an unpleasant truth that everybody wants to be rid of the tiresome, uncomely, aged females. Sympathy with a woman merely because she is old and inefficient? Not in our age of the world. Sympathy is with the strong, the capable and conquering.

Nothing now can be done for the superfluous, ugly old grandmothers whose children want to get rid of them. No miracle can be wrought on the minds of the selfish children. The only thing is to let them, too, grow old and meet the fate of their mother before them, as they will so sure as the sun ticks off the years on the dial of time. But among the young women, those not yet too old to help themselves—there is where a remedy can be applied. Not to get out of the state of helplessness and pauperism after one has got into it, but to keep out of it in the first place—there is where the remedy lies. Undoubtedly these useless pauper women in their younger days looked ahead to "being taken care of" by their husbands and children—that is, if they looked ahead at all, which is doubtful. Probably they just drifted along as a million young working women are doing today into marriage, slovenly, scanty housekeeping and great families of children. These old women had in their youth no grit, no foresight, no aspiration to do some worthy work in the best manner and so earn a living themselves.

My dear girls, nobody cares a brass pin for a woman's tears and whining, even when she is young. That is not the way to gain help. Help yourself, and all the world will join in and be on your side. Not a working girl in this land is so poor that she cannot save a little money. If she can do nothing else, she can get together a hundred or two dollars to pay for her admission into an old woman's home when she is a grandmother and her children turn her outdoors. And if a girl saves that much money let her never be foolish enough to part with it to any human being.

I know a woman who when she was past sixty started all of herself in business enterprise, and now she is getting $4,000 a year from it. She is never too old to begin all over again.

AMUSEMENTS.

Already the public is congratulating itself upon the fact that it is to have the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth this season. The date has been positively set for Wednesday, May 4, and a great crowd as well as a great circus day are anticipated. Newark will be the only city in this vicinity where this greatest of all shows will exhibit this year, and naturally there is a great deal of local interest in the event. Inquiries at the ticket offices of the various transportation lines elicit the information that special cheap rate tickets to the show will be on sale circus day, and that large numbers of people in this locality will take advantage of the opportunity to see the big exhibition. They will go expecting to see a great performance as well as a splendid exposition of zoological and other displays, and, judging from the unanimous verdict of the newspapers in New York city and elsewhere, they will not be disappointed. The comments of the New York press the day after the annual opening at Madison Square Garden were laudatory in the extreme. The Sun declared: "It is the best show that ever struck this town" The Tribune called it "a living, breathing, acting, fairy book." The Press said that "adjectives fail and limp in describing the show." The Evening Telegram described it as "the most skillfully executed exhibition in all departments that circus history has ever recorded." And these are only a few of the applauding comments.

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

ABEEL FOUND GUILTY.

Young Lover of Miss Anderson Who Posed as J. Ogden Goelet.

NEW YORK, April 22.—After deliberating less than an hour the jury in the case of James Nelson Abeel, the young man who made love to Miss Eleanor Anderson, posing as J. Ogden Goelet, and afterward fled to Niagara Falls, Ont., and was arrested there, accused of forgery in the third degree, last night returned a verdict of guilty. The young man was remanded to the Tombs until Monday, when sentence will be passed and a motion made by his counsel for a new trial.

The maximum penalty for the offense is five years' imprisonment.

Captain Abeel, the aged father of the defendant, was not in court when the verdict was announced. A messenger was dispatched for him, but he arrived too late to say a parting word to his son, who had been hurried across the bridge of sighs to his cell in the Tombs.

MISS ELEANOR ANDERSON.

Captain Abeel was deeply affected when he heard of the result, because he had, as did his counsel and scores of others, anticipated an acquittal. He waived aside all inquirers, saying: "I have nothing to say. Nothing whatever." Mr. Lynch of counsel said that he did not think the verdict would hold in the higher courts. "We will fight it out to the last ditch," he said grimly.

Fessenden Won About $25,000.

NEW YORK, April 22.—One of the biggest killings in the east occurred in the first race at Aqueduct when W. C. Fessenden's Pass Book won at 15 to 1, having been backed down from 40 to 1. It is estimated that he won between $25,000 and $30,000. Pass Book broke in front, but Hilderbrand at once pulled back, and Ella Snyder went to the front and led to well in the stretch, when Pass Book moved out and won driving. Pass Book won last fall and brought Fessenden $60,000. Blandy, winner of the second race, broke the track record for four and a half furlongs by covering the distance in 53 1-5. Mamie Worth in the last race equaled the track record for six furlongs of 1:12 4-5. The Ozone stakes was won by Peggy.

Rainland Won Cumberland Derby.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 22.—Rainland, son of Rainbow and Fable, just arrived from St. Louis and an added starter, won the Cumberland derby at Cumberland park in easy fashion. The stake was worth $3,145 to the first horse and seems a pickup to Mrs. M. Goldblatt, her representative stating that it was only the night before that it was decided to ship the colt to Nashville.

Gans Got the Decision.

BALTIMORE, April 22.—Joe Gans of this city, the lightweight champion, was given the decision over Sam Bolen of Philadelphia last night before the Eureka Athletic club in their fifteen round bout. Gans floored the Philadelphian four times during the bout. Gans came out of the ring uninjured.

After that there will be nothing but expectancy until Westfield and Alis meet for the first time.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS PRODUCE COMEDIES

North Plainfield Juniors Present "Freezing a Mother-in-Law" and "That Rascal Pat."

WIN MUCH APPLAUSE

BOTH PLAYLETS ARE CLEVERLY ACTED BY THE PUPILS.

Scenery Effective—Stories of the Two Productions—The Casts—The Committee in Charge of the Affair.

There was no lack of histrionic honors for ten members of the junior class of the North Plainfield High School last night. In the amateur production of two comedy playlets they scored a success, before a large audience.

"Freezing a Mother-in-law" and "That Rascal Pat" were the two comedies presented. They were acted in a way that caught the audience from the first lines, and won hearty laughter and applause at every point of progress.

Both plays were well staged. The scenery was effectually arranged, and the general character of the productions was exceptionally good for amateur work.

"Freezing a Mother-in-law" deals with the tribulations of the young lover and husband who tries to rid himself of the unwelcome interest taken in his life by his wife's ma. The way in which he seeks to accomplish the extinction of the sharp-tongued, sharper eared old lady furnishes the vehicle for a lot of funny situations that the borough pupils handled cleverly. The cast, all the members of which did well and deserved the applause given them, was composed as follows:

Mr. Watmuff, attached to the past—Carl Steiner; Ferdinand Swift, his nephew, attached to fortune hunting—Marshal Ward; Walter Litherland, attached to Emily—Otto Musck; Mrs. Watmuff, attached to the memory of her parents—Agnes Reilly; Emily, her daughter—Gertrude Townley.

"That Rascal Pat" treats of the troubles and mix-ups occasioned by the blunderings of a good-natured Irish servant, and of the way in which the situations are comically saved after he has done all in his power for unconscious mischief-making to stir everbody to the last stage of desperation.

The cast took the different parts exceedingly well, and won as much handclapping and laughter as that of the other play. The parts were taken as follows:

Pat McNoggerty, a handy servant—Clarence Hand; Major Puffjacket, on half pay—Frank Webster; Charles Livingstone, poor, but ambitious—Laurie Milne; Laura, niece of Puffjacket and in love with Charles—Sadie Fountain; Nancy, her maid, in love with Pat—Mary Robley.

The committee in charge consisted of Miss Sadie Fountain, Miss Belle Mantz, Miss Sadie Fountain and Clarence Hand.

A pleasant dance followed the theatricals.

WHITTIER BOYS' WON.

Defeated High School Scrubs on Hope Common.

In the Boys' Baseball League the Whittier School boys defeated the High School scrubs yesterday afternoon on Hope Common. The score was 13 to 10 after seven innings of good play. The teams were evenly matched. Kenneth Robbie was umpire. The line-up: Whittier School—Harding, p; Taylor, c; Martin, 1b; Gideon Fountain, 2b; Guyon Fountain, 3b and rf; Rubenstein, ss; Manning, lf; Gray, rf and 3b; Morrison, cf. High School 2ds—Taylor and Slocum, p; Douglass and Herman, c; S. Freeman, 1b; Taylor and J. Slocum, 2b; Bogart, 3b; Vandeventer, ss; H. Freeman, lf; Gavett, cf; Robert, rf.

Final Rehearsal.

There was a large and enthusiastic crowd at the Casino last night to greet the High School seniors in their dress rehearsal for the presentation tonight of "She Stoops to Conquer." The performers won golden opinions for their clever work.

Society Vaudeville.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for society vaudeville to be given at the Casino on May 19 and 20 by amateurs for the benefit of the furnishing fund of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club.

WARREN CHAPEL GROWING

REPORTS AT ANNUAL MEETING SHOW PROSPEROUS CONDITION.

Encouraging reports from all departments were handed in at the annual meeting of Warren chapel last night. It was largely attended by members of the church and congregation. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the pastor, presided.

Steady growth has marked the chapel's history for the year past. In 1903 the membership was 224; at present the roll bears 241 names. $540 was contributed by the chapel to mission work during the twelve-month.

Especially interesting figures were handed in by the Ladies' Aid Society. The members raised $300 by voluntary subscriptions, which was used to further mission work and for the make-up and forwarding of missionary and Christmas boxes.

The Young Men's Brotherhood, although only a year old, is growing steadily and assuming an important place in the chapel organization. It has sixteen active members, and more are expected to join shortly.

The Sunday-school is prosperous, effective, and growing. At present the membership is 414.

There were no elections of any kind, all action of that character being taken by the Crescent Avenue church, of which Warren chapel is dependant.

GREAT GROWTH OF SOMERSET COUNCIL

Over Sixty New Members Come in During the Year Just Closed.

MEMBERS AIMING HIGH

TRYING TO MAKE SOMERSET THE PREMIER COUNCIL.

Observed Attainment of 200 Mark With a Smoker Last Night—New Members Are Still Coming in Fast.

During the past year Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., has grown by more than three score members. To celebrate the great advance in strength the members of the organization held a smoker last night in their rooms in the Babcock building.

There was plenty of cigars, pipes and smoking tobacco and sociability, and the members enjoyed themselves to its full. That they might have no interruption to the exchange of congratulation on its growth and to the plans for futher advancement, there was no programme of entertainment Pretty nearly all the members had something to say about the greatness of the order and the advancement of Somerset Council, and the whole affair acted as an inspiration to greater work in upbuilding the organization in general and Somerset in particular.

A year ago the membership was 135. It was decided to boost it to the 200 mark, and all the members set to work. Their hustling speedily told on the roll book. The membership mounted steadily until, two weeks ago, the aimed for mark was reached.

And the end is not yet, say the workers. Two more candidates, making a total of 202, were initiated before the smoker last night, and two more are to go through next meeting night. The members are determined to keep the hustling up to make Somerset the largest council in the city. Franklin Council, the oldest of the three here, is now the largest, but the lead is not more than forty or fifty members, and Franklin is confident of going a half-hundred beyond that before very many months.

GYMNASTIC CONTEST TONIGHT

PLAINFIELD Y. M. C. A. HAS CHANCE FOR VICTORY.

The local Y. M. C. A. will have a fair show to win the gymnastic championship of Northern Jersey at the inter-association contests at Montclair tonight. W. T. Bentliff, H. Pionier and Frank N. Marcley are the trio upon whom depends Plainfield's chance for victory. Last year Plainfield won on a technicality which made Montclair ineligible. A shield will go to the winning team, and a silver medal will be awarded the man who executes the moves with the greatest ease and precision. Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the local association, will be one of the judges of the meet. The events will be high bar, parallel bar and horse.

Mrs. Anna Hermen Suspended.

Because she addressed Mrs. Annie Hermen in strong language and with the use of alleged vile epithets, Mrs. Lena Buss was severely arraigned by City Judge Runyon this morning. She was released on a suspended sentence of a $50 fine and fifty days in jail, further misbehaviour to bring upon her the full sentence. William Newcorn, Esq. and W. G. DeMeza, Esq., represented the plaintiff, and S. S. Swackhamer appeared for Mrs. Hermen.

Taming of the Shrew.

Owing to the fact that the Casino was used for the dress rehearsal of "She Stoops to Conquer," last evening, the members of the cast of "The Taming of the Shrew" gave up their expected rehearsal and took a needed rest. Now that these charity performances are less than two weeks off, everybody is working hard to perfect the play.

Their Second Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of West Front street, observed the second anniversary of their marriage yesterday and in the evening they entertained a number of friends.

Subscription Leap-Year Cottillion.

The house committee of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is arranging for a subscription leap-year cottillion to be given at the clubhouse on Tuesday night, May 10.

JAPS HEAVY LOSS

But Mikado's Troops Push on Into Manchuria, Crossing Yalu River.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

London, April 23 — The Japanese forces under Gen. Kuroki are advancing along the Yalu River, and the most reliable despatches received here declare that one detachment of his troops has crossed the stream and is marching into Manchuria.

The despatch says that the Japanese have met with very heavy losses, and the movement is declared to be advantageous and dangerous, though so far it has been successful.

The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says that the Russian strategists are slowly and reluctantly arriving at this conclusion. These strategists say that the Japanese general is meeting with great difficulties.

PAINTERS' RIVAL UNION

TALK OF FORMING OPPOSITION ORGANIZATION OF JOURNEYMEN.

There is a good deal of talk among the painters of forming a union in opposition to the union now in control of the journeymen here.

In New York there are two sets of unions, the Brotherhood of Painters and the Amalgamated Association. There are a good many men in the local union who are dissatisfied with the way the organization has been conducted, so one of the men said this morning, and they think it is time that another union was started. It is expected that a organizer from the Amalagmated Association will be here next week to get the men together.

Half the men brought here by the bosses to break the strike were members of the Amalgamated and they are still at work, regardless of the union's strike.

FLORODORA BALL.

The Masquerade Affair Given in the Olympia Attended by Two Hundred Persons.

Marking the celebration of its second anniversary, the Florodora Club held a masquerade dance in Olympia Hall last night. It was largely attended and scored a complete success. The hall was prettily decorated.

Nearly 200 guests were present, most of them in fancy costume. Some of the make-ups were handsome to a high degree. The guests enjoyed refreshments at midnight.

The committee in charge was made up of the charter members of the organization: William Poole, Spencer Clickner, Ernest Jones, Edward Sutton, Frank Terry. Half-tone photographs of the committee embellished the front of the programme.

IN NEW FIRE HOUSE.

Borough's Paid Department to Take Possession of Headquarters on Monday.

The borough fire department's long wait for its new headquarters will end Monday. The only things to be done are the placing of the door springs and the "crabe" on which the harness hangs, and these will be put in shape today. Monday morning, Chief Woolston said today, the men will install the apparatus in the new house, and settle down to the real work of the paid department. The department hose is already being dried in the new tower.

Mission Work in Thibet.

"Thibet, the Mysterious Land," was the subject of the Young People's Society meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night. Miss Tracy, Miss Elena Thayer and Henry Brower each presented facts of interest concerning Thibet and the mission work there, and the meeting proved to be a profitable one. In addition there was special music by members of the society.

MARSH WINS SUIT ESTABLISHING PRECEDENT

Recovers the High Percentage for Attorney's Collection Fee in Contest on Note.

ON NEGOTIABLE PAPER

WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, OF GLOUCESTER, A DEFENDANT.

Two Notes for $5,000 Each, With Ten Per Cent. For Collection — In the U. S. Court.

Taking advantage of the new negotiable instruments act, two Pennsylvania banks inserted in its notes a printed clause requiring the makers to pay all costs of collection, including ten per cent. attorneys fees if the notes are not paid when due. Craig A. Marsh representing these banks brought suit on two $5,000 notes of this character against the William J. Thompson, of Gloucester, of race track fame, and a partner of his in the artificial ice business.

There were other defenses, but the main question at issue was whether the banks could get judgment for $1,000, being 10 per cent. for attorney's fees in addition to the $10,000 principal. It is believed to be the first suit of the kind to be brought in this State. At the trial before Judge Kirkpatrick, in the U. S. Circuit Court, Mr. Thompson's lawyers, after hearing plaintiff's evidence, conceded that he could not successfully contest the case and judgments were entered for $10,000 with interest, plus $1,000 attorney's fees and cost of court. Mr. Thompson says that he expects to be able to recover damages against the company that sold him the ice plant which he says is not as it was represented.

The new point of law is one of great importance to banks and merchants who use negotiable paper. In other States, the authorities are about equally divided, some holding that the stipulation for attorney's fees, if reasonable in amount, is valid, and the others holding that all such stipulations are null and void.

USE OF NAME CONDITIONALLY

LOCAL CONCERN CAN STAMP "ROGERS" ON WARE IF "W. HENRY" IS PREFIXED.

Yesterday's despatch from Trenton in the case of the International Silver Company against the William H. Rogers Corporation was incorrect in the incidental reference to the effect that the local company had been restained from using the trade mark "Rogers."

The court refused to restain the William H. Rogers Corporation from using the name Rogers, of its President, if made distinctive by the prefix "W. Henry," and the addition of his title of president and Plainfield, N. J. The local company has not been stopped from using the name of its president and that name will continue to be stamped on all its silver plated wares and with the sanction and approval of the court.

Craig A. Marsh, Esq., who gained the latest decision for the local company, says that he has no doubt that the other side will appeal.

MEMENTO OF OLD SOUTH?

Souvenir Sent From Boston Prized by Plainfielder.

William Feiring, of Park avenue, has received an interesting memento of the New England tour that Walter L. Hetfield and Phillip Jahn have just completed. It is a heavy plank, believed by him to have come from the stairway leading up into the belfry of Old South Church, Boston, where Paul Revere's warning lights hung.

Mr. Feiring is a collector of historical relics, and the Boston board is greatly prized by him.

There is scarcely any doubt of the genuiness of the relic, he says, because the donors sent a certificate of authenticity with it.

REV. DR. BUCKLE TO RESIGN

FRIENDS INSIST HE'S INNOCENT OF HIS WIFE'S CHARGES.

There are no new developments of an unusual nature today in the case of Rev. Dr. George Buckle, pastor of the Greystone Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, whose invalid wife, twice an inmate of an asylum, represented that he had tried to smother her and had abandoned her. A special meeting of the officers of the church was held on Tuesday night and Rev. Dr. Buckle voluntarily appeared before them and declared that he would tender his resignation and promised to send it in writing later. So far, this has not yet been received. No further action was taken at the meeting, as nothing more could be done until the resignation was formally tendered in writing, when the matter will be referred to the congregation, and later to the Presbytery of Elizabeth, to act upon.

COLLECTOR BROWN RECEIVES INSTRUCTION

Must Advertise for Sale Property on Which Taxes Are Delinquent Six Months.

HEAVY PENALTY FIXED

MANDATORY DIRECTIONS FOR COLLECTION OF POLL TAX.

Conference of the State Board at Somerville—Assessor Cooley, of North Plainfield, Acts as Temporary Chairman.

Collector George F. Brown, of the borough, returned from the State Board of Taxaton conference in Somerville yesterday with instructions to enforce rigorously two stringent regulations governing the collection of taxes. One of the radical changes will cut down the extension of time on delinquent taxes by more than half and the other ruling will make trouble for those who have ignored bills for poll and personal taxes.

Under the old law, delinquent taxpayers have had from one to two years in which to meet the bills. The new law arbitrarily demands that the property be advertised for sale six months after it becomes delinquent. The collector was told that there is no way to soften the provision, and delinquent properties on his books must be advertised on July 1.

Mandatory instructions were issued regarding the collector of personal and poll taxes. There has been a good deal of trouble in collecting smaller personal taxes, and the poll tax has been very largely disregarded by citizens. The collector was told that unpaid taxes of both kinds must be collected as rigorously as any other sort.

To further the enforcement of the tax law, the collectors have been empowered to appoint deputies, who may act as constables to compel the payment of delinquent taxes. A certified copy of the tax bill serves the deputy as a warrant.

The State Board impressed the collectors at Somerville with the fact that there is to be no laxity whatever in enforcing every regulation of the tax law. The officers face a heavy penalty if they fail to enforce the law.

Assessor J. H. Cooley, of the borough, in company with the other assessors at the conference, was instructed in accordance with the recent ruling, declaring the tax exemption unconstitutional. Only poll taxes are exempt in the case of firemen and soldiers, instead of $500, as formerly.

The meeting at which these instructions were issued was held yesterday afternoon at the Somerset County court house. The Board convened for the one purpose of instructing assessors and collectors on the regulations mentioned above.

Assessors and collectors from all over the county were present. Dr. J. H. Cooley was honored with the temporary chairmanship.

MRS. VANZANDT DEAD.

Passes Away at Age of Seventy-Seven After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Sarah VanZandt, of 422 East Sixth street, died yesterday afternoon at her home after a brief illness. She is survived by one son, Peter VanZandt, of this city. She was seventy-seven years old. A short service will be held at the home in this city, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed church to have charge.

No Cause of Action.

After being out for five and a half hours, the jury in the Supreme Court case at Somerville, of Carolina Woermser against Charles Ananason returned a verdict of no cause for action yesterday afternoon. The trial was before Judge Schenck, William Newcorn, Esq., representing the plaintiff who sued her son-in-law for slander and in tort, alleging that she had been struck by the defendant while engaged with him in an argument over furniture.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Hearst's Fool-American.

"Yellow Journalism" had a fine illustration in Hearst's American, Boston edition, Wednesday evening. A great big line showed that Hearst had carried Massachusetts in the Democratic primaries, when the fact was that out of a possible 1026 delegates Olney had 610 pledged and Hearst only 254 pledged, the others being unpledged or unaccounted for. What earthly good can come from such a perversion of facts? The truth must be known within a day or two at the longest, and then the falsity of such a claim lessens all future results.—Westerly Sun.

Acting Gov. Wakelee.

Acting on the advice of his physicians, the Governor has decided to take a European trip, and will sail on Saturday. This will, under the law, make President E. W. Wakelee, the Senator from Bergen, Acting Governor for a month. There has not been a more popular President in the Senate for many years, and all who know Senator Wakelee will be pleased to see him, even temporarily, in the executive office. Acting Governor Wakelee has reached the front rank at Trenton in a comparatively short time. It was only in 1899 that he appeared in the Assembly as the junior member with John M. Bell. He was re-elected in 1900, and because of the death of J. L. C. Graves he was the only member from Bergen that year. In addition he was chosen as chairman of the party caucus and thus became party leader on the floor. The following year he was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Johnson, who was called up higher. In 1901 he was again elected to a full term in the Senate and soon became his party's leader on the floor, and this year became President without opposition. Now, in the ordinary course of events, he will be Acting Governor. Bergen County has been especially fortunate in having two Senators in succession who reached the front rank at Trenton by their own personality without outside aid. They have given Bergen a prominence in State affairs that it did not have in the past.—Jersey City Journal.

LITERARY.

Whoever is contemplating erecting an office building should read the article in the Architectural Record Magazine for April, by Geo. Hill, a New York city civil engineer. It contains more precise, necessary and conclusive information about the best methods of erecting skyscrapers than any statement we have heretofore seen.

There is a striking article in the May Leslie's Monthly on the men who do the real work in Congress, the Senators and Representatives who do most of the work of governing this nation, although their names seldom appear in the papers; another interesting sketch is called "Americans as Quitters," which takes up three remarkable men who have gone from this country to Canada and quitted one job after another as fast as they have accomplished wonders in each place.

CAR BANDITS HANG

Neidermeier Nerveless--Marx and Van Dine Die Bravely.

LEADER TAKEN TO SCAFFOLD ON CHAIR

Condemned Were Not Asked to Speak Before Execution—One Died Unrepentant, Others Accepted Consolations of the Church.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Atheist to the last, but seemingly unnerved completely, Peter Neidermeier, the leader of the car barn bandits, was hanged here from a chair, contrasting with his companions in crime, Gustav Marx and Harvey Van Dine, who, standing erect, kissed an image of Christ and died without a tremor. The three executions were separate, twenty minutes apart, the same scaffold being used for all.

Only once before in the large number of executions that have taken place at the jail in this city has it been necessary to carry a condemned man to the gallows as Neidermeier was. The crime for which the three bandits paid the penalty was one of eight murders which the three men are known to have committed—that of Francis W. Setwart, a clerk in the car barns of the Chicago City railway.

Neidermeier had boasted continually of his courage, but as the last moments approached he collapsed and was unable to take three consecutive steps of a march to the gallows.

Dr. F. W. McNamara, the jail physician, had visited Neidermeier previously and said that Neidermeier's physical condition was satisfactory. The bandit leader himself told Chief Deputy Sheriff Peters, who appeared with the death warrant, that the last walk would be without aid. Deputy Peters then read the document, and Neidermeier started from his cell. He had gone only two steps when he sank, and it was found it would be necessary to lift him to the scaffold.

No minister or priest accompanied Neidermeier, he having finally said when offered a last opportunity before leaving his cell he would die as he had lived, an atheist.

On the scaffold Jailer Whitman disregarded the custom of asking whether the condemned man wished to say anything. The shroud and hood were quickly adjusted. The bandit, instinctively moving his head that the rope might more easily be arranged, took a last glance at the spectators. He appeared as if in a stupor. A moment later, at 10:35 o'clock, the trap fell, the chair being quickly removed from behind as the body shot downward. The shroud became partly disarranged, and fearful muscular struggles of the dying man continued for fifteen minutes in view of the witnesses of the execution.

In the opinion of some witnesses Neidermeier was half crazed when the death warrant was read. He became angry and protested against execution, saying he did not wish to disgrace his family.

"Peters," said the prisoner, "let me look at that warrant."

After excitedly reading the paper Neidermeier nervously folded it and started to put it in his pocket.

"You can't do that," said the chief deputy. "I have to return that to the court."

Neidermeier looked up quickly and, with a ghastly smile, said:

"I want to take this along with me to prove a case of murder. I may want to make a complaint to St. Peter."

He also entered into a discussion with the deputy sheriff on murder.

The only requests that the other bandits, Marx and Van Dine, made were that they be allowed to bid one another goodby, which was granted. They counseled each other to be brave and joined in hoping they would "meet again." The men had been bitter enemies until a few days before the execution, Van Dine being incensed at his companion for having made the confession which led to their capture.

When the body of Neidermeier had stopped quivering and been removed Marx walked slowly to the scaffold with several priests after having confessed, repented and received the last sacraments, as did Van Dine, both men having been converted to the Roman Catholic faith following the death sentence. Marx, like Van Dine, was neatly attired in black, and in the coat lapel of each was a white rose. Neidermeier, unlike his comrades, wore a rose of dark red. Marx showed no emotion while on the scaffold and in a steady voice repeated a litany after the priests. He fervently kissed the crucifix and at 11:17 o'clock was hanged. His neck was broken.

The execution of Harvey Van Dine was varied by a curious incident. While he stood on the drop praying and waiting for his arms to be pinioned and his legs secured the noose fell from the crosspiece of the gallows and dangled before the eyes of the bandit about to die. Disregarding the noose, the bandit continued praying steadily to the end.

Death in his case, as in that of Marx, was immediately evident as not being due to strangulation, but to the fall.

Mrs. Van Dine, the mother of the last of the bandits, was at Buda, Ill., pleading with Governor Yates almost up to the time of the execution. She sought to delay the execution in the case of her son on the ground that he was an epileptic. The governor, however, said he saw no reason why he should interfere with the sentence of the court.

Owing to a misunderstanding there was no meeting of the Young Men's Brotherhood, of the First M. E. church. Arrangements will be made for another meeting in the near future.

The meeting for men at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon should be one of the most successful of the year from a religious as well as musical point of view. F. C. Jennings, an entertaining speaker, will deliver the address, and Roland Randolph, of Newark, will be the baritone soloist.

In response to numerous requests, William C. Carl will give a free Parsifal concert in the First Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and Twelfth street, New York, next Tuesday evening, April 26, at 8:15. —The accidental unfastening of a snap-hook on the end of a rein, nearly involved one of George Conover's moving vans in a bad mix-up at Park and North avenues this morning. As the van made the turn from Park into North avenue, the near horse, responding to the pull of the single rein remaining, swung around until cramped close between his team-mate and the body of the heavy vehicle. Mr. Conover, who was on the sidewalk, released the frightened animal just in time to prevent injury.

POLITICAL NOTES.

R. V. Lindabury has declined to discuss publicly the Democratic Gubernatorial situation so far as he and his possible candidacy are concerned. His reticence in this regard is understood to be caused by his unwillingness to be placed in the rather unpleasant position of declining an honor that has not been offered him. But among his personal friends, in private discussions of the political status, Mr. Lindabury has made no secret of his position. He has declared with emphatic directness that he will not be a candidate for Governor of New Jersey this year. In order that his friends may not mistake his position and look upon his unwillingness to become a candidate as reflecting a belief that he could not be elected, or that there is no chance for Democratic success in New Jersey this year, Mr. Lindabury made it plain in his private communications that he would not accept a nomination for Governor if it should come to him in a unanimous form from both parties.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to express my heartfelt thanks to Chief Kiely, the members of the police force, Court Plainfield, No. 44, I. O. F., and other friends for their kindness and marks of respect shown by them during the illness and after the death of my husband, Moses F. Quass.

AS A HERD OF CATTLE

Claude Kitchin Bitterly Assailed President In Congress.

INSULTED THE PEOPLE OF THE SOUTH

Claiming That Roosevelt Had Said In One of His Books That Throughout Southern Character There Ran a Streak of Barbarism.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—President Roosevelt was assailed bitterly by Mr. Claude Kitchin (N. C.) in congress. He also included in his castigation General Grosvenor, whom he charged with having humiliated Theodore Roosevelt, the vice presidential candidate, whom in a recent speech in the house he had glorified as the worthy successor of McKinley. Mr. Kitchin likened President Roosevelt in this connection to the ant hill taking the place of the mountain, the owl's screech taking the place of the tomb's symphonies and to the minnow taking the place of the whale. He declared that the president had insulted the people of the south by saying in one of his publications that throughout southern character there ran a streak of brutal barbarism. He openly charged the president with being the advocate of lynch law and quoted from one of the president's books to sustain his assertion. In his opinion the president, who he said while governor of New York had styled the members of congress as a herd of cattle, was unfit to hold office and a dangerous man.

General Grosvenor admitted that four years ago he opposed the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for vice president, but said Mr. Roosevelt during the campaign had conducted himself in a dignified manner and had won the confidence and esteem of the people by his acts from the time he was elected to preside over the senate and that he reached the supreme heights when he declared at Buffalo that he would carry out the policies of McKinley. Since then the president had grown to be one of the great men of the country. The president, he said, was today more dangerous to the Democratic party than any other man. The Democrats in New York, he said, had launched a candidate for president who did not know whether he stood on his head or his heels.

Preceding this episode the house debated the bill to create a commission to investigate the merchant marine, but took no action on it.

Governor Peabody on Denver Riot.

DENVER, April 23.—"I have no fault to find with the situation as it is at present," said Governor Peabody when interviewed here. "General Bell is on his way to Telluride with Moyer, and I do not expect to hear from him until he arrives at his destination." "Will Moyer be brought back to Denver?" the governor was asked. "In these preliminary proceedings touching the matter of bail," the governor answered, "I can see no necessity for the presence of Moyer, and he certainly will not be brought back to Denver unless the court so orders." With reference to the case of Haywood, the governor said: "He was arrested by the military authorities because he attempted to interfere with them in the discharge of their duties. He was, however, immediately turned over to the civil authorities, and he is now in their hands, to be dealt with as they see fit."

Americans at King Edward's Court.

LONDON, April 23.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra held their first court of the season at Buckingham palace. The large number of presentations included Miss Faith Moore, daughter of J. G. Moore of New York and sister-in-law of Arthur Hamilton Lee, M. P., civil lord of the admiralty, and Miss Marguerite Osborne, daughter of the late Consul General Osborne. Other Americans in attendance were: Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy, and Miss White; Major John H. Beacom, United States military attache, and C. Wadsworth, third secretary of the United States embassy.

Roosevelts at the Theater.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Miss Carow, Miss Ethel Roosevelt and Masters Theodore, Jr., and Kermit Roosevelt, occupied the presidential box at the New National theater last night, witnessing Mrs. Clara Bloodgood's excellent performance of the Clyde Fitch comedy, "The Girl With the Green Eyes." Mrs. Roosevelt and her guests followed the action of the play with evident appreciation.

Drink Caused Sailor's Death.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 23.—Carl Olanson, a seaman, was stabbed and killed by Allein Julius, another sailor, in a fight on board the schooner Massasoit, lying in the harbor here. The men had been ashore, drinking heavily, and became involved in an argument over some trivial incident. Julius was arrested. Self defense is his plea.

Packett Has Returned Home.

Dear Sirs:—
I would thank you to send me two more boxes of your Dr. Charles Flesh Food, for which you will please find enclosed herewith $1.00. I am congratulating myself on discovering your remedy, for it has entirely cleared my face and hands of wrinkles—some of them were very deep and have annoyed me for years. I cannot speak too highly of your preparation.
Mrs. N—— D——.
Jersey City, Oct., 1903.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD has been recommended by physicians and used by actresses, singers and women of fashion for more than twenty-five years. It is the only preparation known to medical science that will round out with firm, healthy flesh, thin cheeks, neck and arms.

One or two boxes are often sufficient to restore a breast lost through nursing or sickness to its original fullness and beauty. The same quantity will also show a decided improvement where the natural growth has been impaired. We have thousands of testimonials. What it has done for others it will do for you.

For removing wrinkles or crow's-feet about the eyes or mouth it acts like magic. Wrinkles which have been years in forming often disappear after a few applications.

Regular price $1.00 a box, but to introduce Dr. Charles Flesh Food into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us one dollar. We would thank you to send your order to-day and mention this paper.

FREE—A sample box and our book, "Art of Massage," illustrated with half-tone pictures of living models showing all the different movements for removing wrinkles, developing the bust and other beauty hints, will be sent free to any lady sending 10 cents to pay for cost of mailing.

DRESS NOVELTIES.

Hopsackings and Mohairs Are Popular—Pongee Dyed In Many Shades.

Hopsacking and mohairs are among the favorite materials for tailor mades. The favorite shades are champagne, gray and heliotrope. The latter has come to be quite a fashionable tint for tailor mades. The hopsackings are ideal fabrics for summer gowns, as they possess a loose mesh and are very pliable. When mounted over a glace silk lining they are very dressy.

Dull shades of china blue, old rose and dull green will also be utilized both in cotton and in linen for tailor made suits. This will be a season for gayly colored tailor mades. The black severe models of the past seem to have slipped out of fashion.

A smart suit seen recently was of mouse colored cloth, trimmed with white and gold fancy braid having a tiny edge of black. This had a fancy vest of white cloth embroidered in French knots.

The new blouses are more carefully fitted at the back and sides, and they pouch very slightly in front, especially if the wide belt is worn with them. The long effect in front is still marked.

Large appliques of chiffon and braid are very smart on veiling and fancy cloth gowns. They are connected with vines and leaves done by hand in artistically shaded silks.

The cut shows a three-quarter black silk coat, the shirred sleeves giving a novel effect, as do also the narrow velvet straps. JUDIC CHOLLET.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A Wreath of Small Flowers—High Pointed Marie Antoinette Girdles.

Wreaths of tiny roses are still much worn. They appear on many of the smart new hats, and they are also used to form dainty hair ornaments.

Sleeves are more fussy than ever, and the undersleeve composed of many ruffles or many shirrings is a smart fashion feature.

Collarless gowns are still used for evening, restaurant and semidress wear. This is a style which has to be carried out effectively in order not to give a half finished effect.

The high pointed Marie Antoinette girdle is ultra smart both for gowns and for separate blouses. It is often enriched with embroidery.

Frequently in order to gain the long shouldered effect a line of trimming is brought down from the collar over the shoulder to a little distance on the sleeve top. The fullness of the sleeves then starts from the end of this strap-like trimming.

Entire crowns of flowers are the sole trimming of certain picture, lace and chiffon hats.

The edges of irregular brims are decorated with tiny rosebuds laid in rows. This is pretty to soften a rather stiff toque.

The picture shows a black crepe de chine dress trimmed with very wide tucks and tiny corded shirrings.

Namtor Won Driving.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Jockey Ogilvie, who had the mount on Palette in the Flushing stakes, the feature of the card at Aqueduct, had his ankle broken by All Gold. While the horses were at the post All Gold made a lunge at Palette and caught Ogilvie's foot, pulling the little fellow out of the saddle and crushing his foot. After some delay Springer was substituted. Dixieline cut out the running to the stretch, when Fuller brought Namtor up and won driving by a head from All Gold, who in turn was one and a half lengths in front of Dixieline.

Boston Horse Show Winners.

BOSTON, April 23.—The feature of the horse show was a class of hunters and hounds with masters and whips in hunt uniforms. Four clubs were represented, three from the Boston district and the Meadow Brook of Long Island. The last named, with Foxhall Keene, M. F. H., won the blue. Another interesting class was the polo ponies in strings of three. Both blue and red ribbons went to Allan Forbes of Milton.

Andrew B. Cook Won by a Neck.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Favorites started off well at Oakland by taking the first three races. After that there were upsets. The surprise of the afternoon was the victory of Andrew B. Cook, a 12 to 1 shot. He led all the way in the fifth race and won by a neck from Lady Atheling, while Scherzo, another outsider, was third.

Nomination of Colonel Mills.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The nomination of Colonel Albert L. Mills, superintendent of the Military academy, to be brigadier general was before the senate in executive session for more than an hour. Confirmation was opposed by Senators Scott and Blackburn, who opposed the policy of jumping army officers over the heads of other officers of superior rank. The senate adjourned without taking action.

Postage Stamp Thief Suspect.

PORTLAND, Me., April 23.—David F. Murdock, a prominent business man, has been arrested here charged with receiving postage stamps to the value of $500. The government alleges that the stamps were received indirectly from the men held in connection with the Southwest Harbor postoffice robbery and against whom a dozen postoffice robberies in this state and New Hampshire are charged.

Murderer Shot at Salt Lake City.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 23.—Frank Rose, the wife murderer, was shot to death in the yard of the state penitentiary here at 10:09 o'clock. Death was instantaneous, four bullets lodging in or close to his heart. Rose went to his death chair with the same coolness that had marked his conduct since he surrendered to the police.

Korean Prince Has Measles.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Crown Prince Euiwha of Korea is confined to his room at the Korean legation with measles. The attack is not serious. A dispatch announcing the destruction of the imperial palace has been received at the legation. It also stated that orders had been given to have it rebuilt.

Soldiers Will Run the Trains.

BUDAPEST, April 23.—A royal order has been issued calling out all the Austria-Hungarian reserves employed on the state railways to work on the railways during the strike.

Providence Man a Suicide.

MONTREAL, April 23.—John William Lundin, sixty years of age, of Providence, R. I., committed suicide in the Chambly hotel, on Jacques Cartier square, here.

Cuban Treaty With United States.

HAVANA, April 23.—President Palma has sent a message to the senate announcing the conclusion of an extradition treaty with the United States.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Lieutenant and Twenty Men Killed While Laying a Mine.

ILL LUCK ATTENDS CZAR'S SAILORS

Kuropatkin Reports Japanese Evidently Will Soon Attempt Passage of Yalu, Troops With Pontoons Concentrating Near Wiju.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—The emperor has received the following telegram from Viceroy Alexeieff:

"I respectfully report to your majesty that during the placing of mines by some steam launches at Port Arthur Lieutenant Pell and twenty men were killed through a mine exploding prematurely under the stern of one of the launches.

"Quite a series of reconnoissances carried out on the Yalu have shown that the Japanese are concentrating in considerable force. It is believed that they have about one division to the north of Wiju. They are also beginning to concentrate troops in Wiju, from which place they have moved the Korean population.

"Information has reached me that quantities of material, apparently parts of pontoon bridges, are being collected opposite the island of Mabikhe.

"Our scouts have killed two Japanese scouts, one of whom appeared to be an officer.

"On our right flank our scouts executed daring reconnoissances, extending over several days, on the left bank of the Yalu, as the result of which it has been ascertained that there are only a few troops south of the river Pomakua, but that the Japanese there are occupied in preparing boats. A Russian detachment of two officers and thirty-two men proceeded thither in three boats. The detachment was, however, discovered by the enemy, and shots were exchanged, three of our riflemen being killed. Staff Captain Smeizin and eleven riflemen were severely and Lieutenant Pushkin and four men slightly wounded. The detachment returned to our bank of the river under the cover of two of our guns."

The war commission has suppressed part of the viceroy's dispatch, which showed where the mines were being laid. It is believed that as launches were employed they were mining the entrance to the harbor in order to prevent the Japanese from forcing an entrance and attempting to destroy the remaining ships.

It is evident from the closing of the entrance that Viceroy Alexeieff has no intention of letting his ships go to sea again, even against an inferior force, though this may not be the policy of Vice Admiral Skrydloff, who will determine on a plan of operation when he assumes command.

A Liaoyang report says that General Kuropatkin expects that the Japanese will soon attempt to cross the Yalu.

The concentration of the enemy's forces at Wiju has progressed steadily. Information brought by scouts and others shows that there is more than one division there and that pontoons are being brought up.

There was a skirmish yesterday on an island opposite Wiju, which the Japanese occupied in order to pave the way for the laying of pontoons. A Russian troop in boats was attacked and driven back. Captain Smeizin

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Cullum, who umpired so satisfactorily last season for Westfield, has been engaged for this season. He will officiate in today's game between Westfield and the Seventh Regiment teams.

Jimmy Montross is on the bench today. He made a successful start for the season last Saturday, winning for the O. F. C. against Rahway, but this afternoon he will lay off and watch Westfield play. He has made no definite arrangements for the season yet.

The baseball team of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., will open its season Monday afternoon with a game against the Leal's School second team. The boys held a lively practice yesterday afternoon on Hope Common and will meet for play again this afternoon.

Judging from the quality of last week's game between the West End Field Club and Clinton Avenue A. C., this afternoon's game between the same teams should be a hustle from start to finish. Clinton avenue won last week by a single run, but they will have no cake walk repeating the performance. Jacot will probably pitch again for the West Enders.

The Public Service Corporation has given the Alis Club assurance of much better service during the baseball season. During the past few months the club has been endeavoring to secure a spur from the Arlington avenue line to Crescent Oval and it is possible that the company may decide to do this. At any rate a sufficient number of cars have been promised to carry patrons to and from the games.

YOUNG PEOPLE REORGANIZE

NEW CONSTITUTION WITHOUT A PLEDGE IS ADOPTED BY BAPTISTS.

The young people of the First Baptist church, having decided to withdraw from the Christian Endeavor Society, met last night for re-organization. A committee composed of J. H. Crane, Harry Woodland and Harry Joseph presented a new constitution which was adopted with a few changes. The pledge is omitted, and altogether the organization will be conducted along broader plans. The division of membership will be between the regulars and the honorary list, the latter being intended for the pastor and officers of the church.

Owing to the lateness of the hour it was impossible to elect officers last night. This will probably be done at the next meeting on Friday night, April 29. The new society starts off with a membership of thirty.

The organization will be known as the Young People's Society of the First Baptist church. A nominating committee was appointed for election of officers next Friday night. The committee consists of J. Henry Crane, chairman; F. K. Armstrong and Velma Oakley.

HIGH PRAISE FOR ARTIST

NEW YORK TIMES' CRITICISM OF GEORGE WHARTON EDWARDS EXHIBIT.

Widespread attention has been directed to the water color exhibit of George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, at Clausen's galleries, in Fifth avenue, New York, the Metropolitan press criticism being particularly flattering to the gifted Plainfielder. The New York Times, for instance, says:

"Mr. George Wharton Edwards, relieved of the drudgery as art director of Collier's Weekly, hied him to one of the little fishing villages of Maine instead of to Holland, where he usually disports himself in summer, and proceeded to do up Mannana in water colors with a thoroughness that leaves nothing to be desired. Desde mannana hasta la mananna—from morn to morn he seems to have loafed and invited his soul; but loafed to some purpose, for two dozen large views of this remote fishing hamlet, lying between gray rocks and the far from barren sea testify to his intervals of work. They are in the Clausen Gallery, 381 Fifth avenue, and will be visible for the rest of this month.

"Mannana from the eastward in the morning. Mannana from the westward in the mist, Mannana of an afternoon from the grassy lane that leads to the church; the village at dawn and sunset, the mouth of the little port where the reefs are like the teeth of Ginungagap, foaming and alert to destroy, but looking just in one spot where the two-masted 'pinkies' slip during a southwester through a smother of spray into the land-locked harbor. Here is a view of the hamlet from the hill, with mauve shadows on the opposite headland and a sheen of gold on the little bay wherever no shadows, no reflection of the headland fall. In one view the poppy garden on the right balances with its vivid colors the fish-house, with its stranded boat-shaped fish-crate and piles of lobster pots; in another a mass of Indian cress forms the floral accompaniment to similar surroundings, with the tall spindle on the outer reef as the strong accent of the view.

"The most attractive picture of all is 'Red House—Drifting Fog,' a plunging view near the village, taking in outlying islands, with a red dwelling the notable bit of color in the scheme. Hardly less pleasing is 'Gull Head, Looking South'—the fishing boats dotting the ocean beyond a headland and the seabirds rise in swarms. Solitary bits are 'Noonday, Stony Lonesome,' and 'On Nothen's Ledge,' a marine full of the crash of big Atlantic billows. A study in lilacs, mauves, buffs, reds, pale blues, and greens is the morning view of the ridge near Mannana, and similar delicate tones are registered in 'White Head, in a Shower.' Sometimes Mr. Edwards brings his buildings a trifle too much forward, as in 'Mime's Fortune' and the view of the fish-house with poppy garden.

"Mr. Edwards is an artist in words as well as colors; his is a decorative talent of a remarkable sort, as clever in pen-and-ink illustrations and book plates as in pictures from Holland and the coast of New England. His marines in oils are often seen at the annual exhibitions. Whatever he attempts, he does well. This little special exhibit of water colors should not be overlooked."

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS IN GOLDSMITH PLAY

Senior Class Members Score a Success in "She Stoops to Conquer," Production.

DELIGHTED AUDIENCE

BIG CROWD ATTENDS PERFORMANCE AT THE CASSINO.

Members of Caste Give Evidence of Careful Training—No Stiffness Apparent at Any Time in the Acting.

Oliver Goldsmith's immortal comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," received a careful rendering Saturday night from the High School Seniors who occupied the boards at the Casino. There was a crowd present that tested the full capacity of the hall. Every seat was filled with a sympathetic auditor who was not sparing of applause.

The delightful comedy could not fail to amuse however unskilfully acted. But there was no lack of skill in the work of the High School boys and girls. They had been thoroughly trained in their parts by Principal I. W. Travell and Miss S. Lena Bass, of the High School. They were at home in the parts and their playing was free of much of the stiffness that so quickly betrays an amateurish production. The parts were well cast and every member read his lines with understanding.

F. K. Anderson as "Tony Lumpkin," carried off high honors. He showed a good deal of dramatic instinct and his appreciation of the comedy worth of the part was high. He kept his audience laughing all the time he was on the stage. Miss H. Mae Batchelor was clever as Kate Hardcastle. Her "stooping" was so gracefully done that she conquered her bearers as well as her lover. Miss Wilhelmina Patton did acceptable work as Mrs. Hardcastle. Miss Jessie Burt, Miss Dorothy Fleming and Miss Mildred Spicer had the difficult task of taking men's parts, but each acquitted herself admirably. There was in fact no single member of the cast who did not reflect credit upon himself and his instructors. The production was managed by Lucius T. Koons. The full cast was as follows:

Sir Charles Marlow, Jessie Burt; Young Marlow, Dorothy Fleming; Hastings, Mildred Spicer; Hardcastle, VanWyck Brooks; Tony Lumpkin, Francis K. Anderson; Stingo (innkeeper), Jose L. Tweedy; Diggory, servant, Lucius T. Koons; Roger, servant, George L. Babcock; Jeremy, servant, Charles Elliot; Moses, servant, Harold Fenno; Dick Muggins, Charels Neagle; Jack Slang, George L. Babcock; Tom Twist, Harold Fenno; Ted, Lucius T. Koons; Little Aminadab, Monroe Long; Mrs. Hardcastle, Wilhelmina Patton; Kate Hardcastle, H. May Batchelor; Constance Neville, Frances VanDeventer; Maid, Laura Bent; Betty Stingo, Evelyn Berg.

Mrs. Charles E. Brooks assisted in coaching the pupils in their parts. It is expected that the proceeds will be about $150. After donations are made to the Athletic Association and to the high school paper, The Oracle, the balance will be used in purchasing a class memorial for the school.

PARK GOLF CLUB OPENS

NO COMPETITIONS, BUT SOME INFORMAL PLAY ON THE COURSE.

An enthusiastic crowd of golfers attended the opening of the Park Golf Club course on Saturday, and although there were no competitions, the general play afforded plenty of exercise and amusement for all. The golf committee hopes to have the season schedule of events ready inside of a week or ten days, and the active play will then be started. The course is in fine condition, it being possible yesterday to use the regular greens. The house committee is also planning a number of social events in which the women will participate and altogether the season looks promising.

Joins the Circus.

Donald Beobtel, of East Seventh street, left for Philadelphia Saturday night to join Sells' Bros. Circus. He will act as drummer in the band and do a clown act in the ring. He has been one of the best drummers in the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, and took the part of leading amateur clown in the recent I. C. T. circus.

WESTFIELD ROUTS SEVENTH REGIMENT

In Opening Contest Union County Champions Surprise the Fans by Great Work.

SEVEN INNINGS ONLY

SCORE OF FIFTEEN TO THREE SHOWS ONE-SIDED PERFORMANCE.

Red Waller Strikes Out Nine Men—Westfield Makes Thirteen Hits and But One Error—The Individual Scores.

Poor, but industrious, the Seventh Regiment baseball team went to work on the Westfield nine Saturday afternoon to win runs and plaudits. They were willing, and even anxious, to store up tally marks for a rainy inning, but Denman's corps of hit-killers and hitsmiths got in the way with painful and unceasing regularity, and the chestiness of the victor was not for theirs. After seven hopeless sessions the military men reversed arms and marched sadly away after the corpse of their bright young ambition, with three vain runs to decorate the grave. About the same time the Westfield corporation was declaring a dividend on fifteen fine fat marks.

That was the lop-sided way in which Denman's trusties opened their season. If they don't have to work any harder to win through the rest of the season, they'll need Dr. Thingabob's Thin Pills for Fat People before the snow-bird peeps again. It is to be presumed the Seventh Regiment men tried to play ball, but all they succeeded in doing was to let Westfield play with them. It was a poor exhibition all the way through, and half the spectators went away in the fifth inning.

The weather may have had something to do with that, and perhaps there is some excuse there for the New Yorkers. The thermometer was down to forty-seven and a chilly wind butted into the proceedings with fiendish persistency. Of a verity, it was no baseball day, and not even a crack game would have made it so. With the militiamen playing like teething infants it was a sad, sad mistake on the calendar of the diamond.

Manager Denman, who is an artist in such things, worked off the dramatic preliminaries of the seasonal opening with much eclat and other things. The grounds were in splendid shape, with a new wire fence around bleachers to hold in crowds for a special decorative feature. Mayor-elect Randolph Perkins did the button-pressing honors. When he gracefully tossed a new ball into the diamond the crowd cheered, and cried for more.

They got it. Westfield fell on that nice white ball and did things to it with strong and lusty energy. They hit it when the sticks were theirs, and threw it back to the mines when it tried to gambol in the garden. And the regimental command looked helplessly on, as effective as the filligue work on their dress uniforms.

The Seventh played yellowly in the field and couldn't handle their ash wands. Once in a while they landed on Waller, but the hits were never in hailing distance of each other. Dessoway, at third base, and R. Voorhees, at first, were the worst offenders. All the team except left fielder, Cadmus, were slower than they should have been. Cadmus was fast and snappy and did good work with the stick.

Voorhees only lasted three innings for the Regiment. His arm was so sore, it was said, that he shouldn't have gone in at all. Claude Edwards, a former Plainfielder, took his place and did pretty good work—considering.

Westfield showed up in the same old shape. They were all rubber-tired automobile delivery wagons and handed out the goods with regularity and despatch. Waller, with a brand-new hair cut and a rejuvenated set of muscles, had his men well in hand. Nine of them fell asleep at the switch under his hypnotic stare, and the rest had a hard job getting away from the plate.

Nearly 1000 enthusiastic cranks saw the game. That is, they were enthusiastic when it started. They are not to be blamed for a slump in feelings later on. Many Plainfielders were in the crowd, most of them sizing up Westfield with an eye to the Alis series. They are not talking of a walkover.

BAPTISTS REDUCE THEIR CHURCH DEBT

The Congregation Subscribes $6,100 at the Sunday Morning Service.

PASTOR MAKES APPEAL

MEMBERS' QUICK RESPONSE TO MEET THE OBLIGATION.

The Total Debt of $12,000 Incurred in Making Necessary Improvements to Edifice—United Action of Church.

Gratifying progress was made yesterday morning at the First Baptist church toward liquidating the indebtedness of $12,000. A portion of this debt was incurred last summer, and the balance was carried for several years. It represents the cost of building an addition on the rear of the edifice and many improvements made last season. Yesterday morning $6,100 was subscribed by various members and it is believed that the remainder will be secured within a short time.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor, preached an eloquent sermon in which he referred to the action taken by the officials deciding to make an effort to pay off the debt. In response to his earnest appeal liberal amounts were subscribed. The sum received yesterday represents only a limited number of that entire membership and it is fully expected that the balance of indebtedness will be easily raised by the other members.

It is the plan of Dr. Chambliss, as well as other officials of the church, to have every member contribute something toward the debt, no matter how little.

SQUADRON AND TROOPS READY

TALKED ON JAMAICA, W. I.

REV. GEORGE HOUSE GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT FIRST BAPTIST.

For the purpose of interesting the members in the work being carried on in Jamaica, West Indies, Rev. George House, a returned mission preacher from that place, gave an illustrated lecture in the First Baptist church, last night. He displayed a large number of views, showing the condition of Jamaica before and after the last cyclone, when so much destruction was wrought in the islands. At the time of the cyclone, which lasted for four hours, the wind blowing at the rate of one hundred miles an hour, thousands of buildings, including the Baptist churches, were wrecked.

Mr. House told of the thrift and enterprise of the natives and of the good work being done in the cause of Christianity. Many of the Baptist churches have been rebuilt and Mr. House wants to get sufficient funds to complete this work. A substantial collection was given him at the conclusion of the service.

CO. K DEFEATED CO. I

The score was as follows: Company I, offhand, 404; Company I, prone, 437; total, 841. Company K, offhand, 408; Company K, prone, 438; total, 846.

ESTIMATE OF TOLSTOI BY LOCAL MINISTER

Truly Sincere Man Striving to Better Conditions Says Rev. C. E. Herring.

HIS LIFE AND IDEALS

SUBJECT OF SERMON AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Tolstoi's Influence Over the Jews—His Great Personal Sacrifice—The Brotherhood of Man.

In his sermon last night on "Tolstoi's Conception of Christianity," Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, outlined the career, aims and achievements of a man better known to Americans by his writings than by his equally noteworthy personal sacrifices to his high ideals. After comparing Count Tolstoi in the light of his relation of present-day conditions to John the Baptist, Rev. Mr. Herring spoke of him as being diametrically opposed to the misinterpretations of Christ's precepts, misinterpretations of which not only the Greek church is guilty, but to a greater or less extent, the whole world also.

The minister spoke of the great Russian's voluntary sacrifice of all the material wealth and social consideration to which his noble birth had destined him, in order that he might work and live among the peasants, becoming one of them in all possible respects. Those of his acts which had called forth the most criticism were shown to be those of a truly sincere man striving to better the condition of his fellows, not the vagaries of an eccentric visionary.

After deep study of the principal religions of the world Tolstoi has evolved a simple creed of his own which calls for pure unselfish living and which furnishes a thorough insight to those who wish to form a true estimate of the man as he really is. Misled by his frequent declarations regarding the equality of man before God, many have considered him a social democrat, an assumption which he declares untrue. The influence which Tolstoi possesses among the Jews in Russia is so great that by common consent they would call him the long expected Messiah were it not for the fact that he is a Gentile born. Rev. Mr. Herring also said that it was believed by many that the call of the present Czar for the peace conference at the Hague, almost immediately on ascending the throne, was due largely to the influence of Tolstoi, who although he served in the Crimea, puts the brotherhood of man ahead of the claims of patriotism.

MRS. J. P. LAIRE'S FUNERAL

REV. DR. CORNELIUS SCHENCK CONDUCTS SERVICES AT LATE HOME.

The funeral services of Mrs. J. P. Laire, held this morning from the late home, 159 Crescent avenue, were largely attended by relatives and friends, many being from Trinity Reformed church, where Mrs. Laire was a member. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck conducted the services, speaking on "The Ministry of Suffering." He spoke in a sympathetic manner of the long and patient suffering of Mrs. Laire and told how she was able to bear it through the comforts of Christ. He also referred to her Christlike character and disposition, and how through her affliction she taught many the way to Christian living.

There was a large display of beautiful flowers. During the services "The Homeland" was sung by E. E. Runyon. The remains were taken this morning to Annandale, Hunterdon County, the former home of Mrs. Laire, for interment.

Another Amateur Circus.

A. A. Duoberin, of New York city, who last year, ran a country circus for the I. C. T. Club, was in town Saturday as the guest of V. W. Nash, Jr. The object of Mr. Duoberin's visit was to arrange for another circus, to be held this spring, but on account of local conditions this was deemed inadvisable.

HAPPILY WEDDED FORTY-SEVEN YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Day, Sr., Observe the Event at Their New Market Home.

RECEIVE RICH PRESENTS

GROOM IS PROMINENT IN NEWSPAPER AND ADVERTISING WORK.

The Couple Born at Yarmouth, England, Have Traveled Extensively—Residents of New Market Since 1880—Have Seven Children.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Day, Sr., of New Market, celebrated the forty-seventh anniversary of their marriage at their home on Saturday, the event being marked by many pleasing features. In the evening the couple were the recipients of congratulations from relatives and friends who dalled to join in the happy event. They were also remembered in the presentation of many gifts of use and value.

Mr. and Mrs. Day were both born at Yarmouth, England. Mr. Day is seventy-two years old and Mrs. Day is seventy-five. In 1854 Mr. Day started the Yarmouth Independent, which is still being published and is one of the most influential newspapers in that part of the country. The couple came to this country in 1857 and resided in Chicago until just after the big fire in that city. They then moved to Stratford, Canada, remaining there until 1873. Seven years later they moved to New Market, where they have lived ever since.

Soon after returning from Canada, Mr. Day was engaged as a reporter on New York papers, but in 1888 he took up the advertising business and has since continued to publish the Advertiser's Guide. The couple, though well advanced in years, enjoy excellent health. They have the highest esteem of a large circle of acquaintances all of whom wish them many years of happiness and success.

Mr. and Mrs. Day have four sons, George, James, Charles and Stanley Day, Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Frank VanNuise and Miss Irene Day, all of New Market, and Mrs. Dr. Ahrens, of Stratford, Canada.

A SUCCESSFUL DRAG HUNT

PLAINFIELD FOLK ON HORSE BACK AND IN CARRIAGE.

High success attended the run of the hunt club Saturday afternoon. Eighteen riders were out, and the hounds and horses went well over every foot of the way.

The riders gathered at the Crescent Avenue church front at 3:30 o'clock. There were Miss Cooley, Miss Mabel Hooley, Miss Cairns, Miss Cruikshank, Miss Noe, Lewis E. Waring, Dan Runkle, G. P. Mellick, Hartley Mellick, Gifford Cooley, O. S. Bellows, C. Ismay, Irving Clark, L. Tredwell, R. A. Shebbeare, Mr. Bourne, of Cranford, Dr. M. O'M. Knott and Archibald Maire, the whip. A number of spectators followed the riders in carriages, over the roads. This party included among others, Mrs. Sharp, of Cranford; Mr. and Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hooley, Mrs. Knott and Miss Palmer, of New York.

The course was a pretty one, and the going was exceptionally good. The roads were in fine shape and the cross-country stretches were not less so. The hounds were laid on in a field on Prospect avenue, Kensington avenue, and from there the hunt went forward between Woodland and Prospect avenues to the golf course, thence to P. G. Mellick's bungalow. There a check of fifteen minutes gave the dogs their second wind. From the bungalow the hunt proceeded over the Mellick farm, across country, to Oak Tree. After another brief check the hounds were laid on again at Park avenue and the riders romped across country, through the Holley farm, past road's end to the golf course, where the run finished.

Next Saturday afternoon the club will run over an eastern course. The riders will meet before the Netherwood Hotel at 3:30 o'clock, for a chase up around Scotch Plains way.

An early morning meet has been arranged for Wednesday. The riders will gather at the kennels of Dr. Knott's place at 5:30 o'clock, for a sharp pre-breakfast run.

Mrs. Paul Symons, of East Third street, is detained at home by illness.

MR. SQUIRES SCORES SUNDAY BALL PLAYING

The Superintendent of Hope Chapel Sunday-School Tells the Pupils it is a Sin.

STRONG DENUNCIATION

TAKES TIME BY THE FORELOCK IN CONDEMNING PRACTICE.

Address a Surprise to the Pupils, Several of Whom Have Played the Game on Sundays.

Unqualified condemnation of Sunday ball playing was voiced by Superintendent Squires at the session of the Hope chapel Sunday-school yesterday. A majority of the old Hope team, some of whom played Sunday ball in Rahway and other places last year, were present. Many of the young men and women present are ardent followers of the game and were warm supporters of Hope's team last year, and the denunciation of Sabbath games was naturally listened to with deep interest.

Mr. Squires said the game was a good one, and on any other than the Lord's day the young people could see no better sport. But Sunday games had no shadow of excuse and merited the strongest condemnation. He declared it was wrong and sinful to attend Sabbath games, and urged the pupils to desist from doing so.

He contrasted the readiness of sport loving young men who spend their dimes and quarters on Sunday games with the reluctance that marks most of the mission money turned in to church funds. He declared that the money spent on Sabbath games could do far greater good in the missionary collections.

The denunciation came as a surprise to the school. Mr. Squires made no previous announcement of his theme, and the pupils were totally unprepared for it. The talk evoked a lot of comment, which is likely to have a perceptiable effect on the current talk of Sunday games in or near the city.

MRS. J. H. FRENCH DEAD

SHE WAS SECRETARY OF W. C. T. U. FIFTEEN YEARS.

Mrs. Mary Emma French, widow of John H. French, whose death occurred some months ago, died this morning at 4 o'clock at her home in West Seventh street, following an illness of two weeks with grip and nervous prostration. She was born here and was the youngest daughter of the late Manning Vermeule, who lived for many years on West Front street, and who was one of the city's prominent business men.

Mrs. French was an active member of the First Baptist church and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. For fifteen years she was the recording secretary of the temperance organization and took a lead in all its work. She is survived by one son, Edward V. French and two daughters, Miss Mary French, of this city, and Mrs. D. R. Dudley, of Baltimore; also one sister, Mrs. Charles Keep, of Brookline, Mass., and a brother, Charles Vermeule, of Ocean Grove.

OVERHEATED STOVE.

Fire in North Plainfield Kitchen Does $50 Damage.

An overheated stove set fire to the woodwork in the kitchen of H. E. Ayers' house on Harmony street, yesterday morning, shortly after 10 o'clock. The family was upstairs at the time and the fire was discovered from the outside by J. N. Lambert.

The latter pulled the box. The flames were beginning to burn with some fierceness when the firemen arrived, but the chemical stream extinguished them before more than $50 damage had been done.

Fire Department Moving.

The borough fire department moved one of its hose carts to the new house this morning. The rest of the apparatus and traps will be moved tomorrow. One of the harness hangers is in place and the other one and the door springs will be put in today.

Of Interest to Mothers and Teachers.

Mothers and Sunday-school teachers are reminded that Rev. Dr. Smith, of New York, will give the third of his series of talks on child training in the parish house of Grace church, tonight. These lectures are given each Monday night at 8 o'clock.

The exposition car which the John Stephenson Company, of Elizabeth, made for the St. Louis Fair, has been on exhibition at the car works. The car, which was shipped South yesterday, is designated at the works as "Exposition Car, No. 1904." In constructing this car no attempt has been made at fancy work or elaborate finish. Nothing but standard woods and plain bronze trimmings have been used. In designing it the company's attempt was to build one which would be suggestive to those interested in interurban electric railways for exceptionally high speed. With this object in view the concern believes it has succeeded in constructing a car which will be able to run at the highest rate of speed with entire safety, either for express or regular service.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Reading your paper of the ninth inst., I see that you have been giving Mr. O'Loughlin quite a send off. Now there is a few points which I would like to have contradicted. Firstly, our first match was played at Hillside when I beat him four up and three to go; secondly, we played a return match at Westfield, he beat me at the last hole and on the afternoon of the same day I beat him very heavy. The next time I played him was in foursomes at Hillside when the match was halved but my own ball was far superior to your Mr. O'Loughlin's. Now gentlemen, although I have nothing against Mr. O'Loughlin, and I am rather glad that you are taking the interest in him, I don't think it is necessary for you to underestimate my golfing ability so publicly, there are always other ways to push a promising young man along without injuring any person. Now if the paper cares to interest itself I am ready to back myself on Hillside or any other course if you can put a challenge in the papers, it may interest some of the local players and a purse may be early got together. Hoping this letter causes no ill feeling, I remain,

Respectfully yours,
D. Honeyman.

AMUSEMENTS.

Messrs. Bellew, O'Neill and Warner and Misses George, Illington and Otis receive special recognition in "The Two Orphans" at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York. In the old boat house scene in the last act these players are at their best, the thrilling knife duel between Warner as "Jacques" and Mr. O'Neill as "Pierre," moving their auditors as dramatic situations rarely affect an audience. In fact, this revival of "The Two Orphans" brings back the "palmy days" of the stage, of which the father delights to tell the son—the days when the inherent merit of the play and the art of the player was more relied on than the physical side of a production to commend it to public attention.

Concensus of opinion is always right. The theatre-going public set the stamp of approval on Hamlin & Mitchell's extravaganza, "The Wizard of Oz," at its opening in New York over a year ago. This was amply proven during the return engagement at the Majestic Theatre, where packed houses have been noted at every performance. The last week of the engagement begins Monday, and closes Saturday, April 30. Following the "Wizard" at this playhouse that has never had anything but brand new productions, comes "The Man From China," an elaborate musical comedy, with Charles A. Biglow, the comedian, as the star, and a company of eighty persons of unusual merit. Miss Vera Michelena, who was a pronounced in "Princess Chic," is the prima donna of the company.

"The Virginian" is in its sixteenth week at the Manhattan Theatre, New York, and has maintained its popularity remarkably in view of the many changes of late in metropolitan theatres and the large number of new bills offered. This unusually clever and amusing drama long ago went on record as one of the very few pronounced successes of the season. As the time for closing the theatres approaches it is well to remind those who have not yet seen "The Virginian" that to miss this dramatization of Owen Wister's novel is to forego one of the most satisfying and pleasing of recent dramas. The merits of the stage version of this popular story are emphasized by the fact that there are hundreds of persons who have visited the Manhattan Theatre repeatedly to enjoy it.

Meritorious is the word that best describes the bill that will be offered at Keith's during the present week. As an all around vaudeville entertainment it could not be improved upon, and still bettter it is of the highest class in every particular. There is not an act on the entire programme that is not worthy of premier position on any bill, and as a result all who enjoy good variety cannot afford to miss this treat.

BRYAN AT CHICAGO

Nebraskan Is In Favor of No Particular Candidate.

SCORED PARKER AND THE PLATFORM

New York Platform Fit Only For a Dishonest Party—It Should Not Be Assumed Hearst and Parker Are the Only Possibilities.

CHICAGO, April 25.—William J. Bryan's address to a large audience in the armory of the Second infantry here is the talk of the day in political circles.

Mr. Bryan was particular to have it understood that his address was not in favor of or against any particular aspirant for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. His subject was the "New York Platform," and he repeated several times during the course of his address that he was discussing measures only and not men.

Mr. Bryan in opening said he had hired the hall and introduced himself because he did not care to speak under the auspices of any organization which was committed to any particular aspirant for office. "My concern," he said, "is not about the name or the personality of the nominee, but about the principles for which the Democratic party is to stand. While many of the papers seem to assume that the contest for the Democratic nomination is necessarily between Judge Parker and Mr. Hearst and that every Democrat must either be for one or the other, such a position is illogical and without foundation. My own position is one of neutrality. I regard as available all candidates who are in favor of making the Democratic party an honest, earnest and courageous exponent of the rights and interests of the masses.

"The New York platform is a dishonest platform," said Mr. Bryan, "fit only for a dishonest party. No one but an artful dodger would stand upon it. The submission of such a platform to the voters of a state is an insult to their intelligence, for it is intended to deceive them, and a deliberate attempt to deceive—especially so clumsy an attempt as this platform is—is a reflection upon the brains of those to whom it is submitted. This platform proves that the opposition to the Kansas City platform is not opposition to silver, but opposition to every needed reform and opposition to all that the masses desire."

"Taking this platform as a text," continued the speaker, "I am sanguine enough to believe that I can prove to every unbiased mind that Judge Parker is not a fit man to be nominated either by the Democratic party or by any other party that stands for honesty or fair dealing in politics. I cannot hope to convince those who favor deception and fraud in politics, but I am satisfied that we now have evidence sufficient to convict Judge Parker of absolute unfitness for the nomination.

"The New York platform is ambiguous, uncertain, evasive and dishonest. It would disgrace the Democrats of the nation to adopt such a platform, and it ought to defeat as an aspirant for a Democratic nomination any man who would be willing to have it go forth as a declaration of his views on public questions. In Illinois, in Wisconsin, in Michigan, in Minnesota, in Indiana, in Ohio and in every other state that has not acted it behooves the Democrats to arouse themselves and organize to the end that they may prevent the consummation of the schemes of the reorganizers.

Ex-Senator Little Dead.

TRENTON, N. J., April 25.—Ex-State Senator Henry Stafford Little died in his apartments in the Trenton House here. He had been ill about three days with pneumonia. He was in his eighty-first year and was one of the best known men in the state. He served three terms in the state senate from Monmouth county and was clerk in chancery and for almost a generation one of the recognized leaders of the Democratic party.

Fooled With a Distress Rocket.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., April 25.—A number of men who are fitting out the iron freighters here placed a distress rocket on a post and lighted it. Thinking the fuse had gone out, they again approached the rocket, which suddenly exploded. Thomas McLaughlin and Thomas Stanford of the steamer Newmarket were fatally injured, both dying later. A third man named Sleming was badly injured, but may recover.

Judge Wuertele's Death.

MONTREAL, April 25.—Judge Wuertele, on account of whose illness the trial of the Cooke-Blackly libel case had to be abandoned after the parties had spent something like $12,000, is dead. He recovered consciousness shortly before his death and insisted that he be taken to the courtroom and attempt to bring the case to a conclusion, only the argument of the prosecution and the verdict remaining.

C. M. Stone Dropped Dead.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 25.—Cyrus Maynard Stone, fifty-seven years of age, a retired New York lawyer, dropped dead from hypertrophy of the heart in his rooms at the Hotel Heublein here. Of late years Mr. Stone had lived in Boston and New York, coming here usually to spend the summer.

Seoul Legation Guard Reduced.

SEOUL, April 25.—Lieutenant Douglass C. McDonald, United States marine corps, and seventy marines, formerly on duty at the American legation here, have sailed for Manila on the United States naval collier Pompey.

Plainfield, N. J., April 25, 1904.

The "where am I at" man just at present appears to be W. J. Bryan.

There may be some question as to Hearst's presence in Congress, but Dalzell and other experienced fighters confess that there is no doubt about Bourke Cochran's attendance.

Senator Quay is reported to be seriously ill and is seeking the benefits of the salt air at Atlantic City. In about a week's time you may expect to hear of some game he has worked on his enemies. Quay is a sly old rooster and although three score and ten years of age he's still too much for the "young blood" which is trying to kill him politically.

WRECKED HIS RUNABOUT

MR. AND MRS. V. L. FRAZEE'S NARROW ESCAPE IN A COLLISION.

A serious accident between an automobile, driven by Robert A. Fairbairn, of Westfield, and a runabout, in which was Vincent L. Frazee and his wife, was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon, in Mountain avenue, just east of Westervelt avenue.

Mr. Frazee, who was driving toward Somerset street, had pulled well out to the right to allow an automobile, going in the direction of Scotch Plains, to pass. At the moment of passing Fairbairn attempted to drive his machine through the narrow space between the two vehicles. The result was disastrous. The automobile hit the runabout and reduced it to a wreck, throwing both Mr. and Mrs. Farsee to the ground. Miraculously neither one sustained a serious injury, though the sudden lurch gave Mrs. Frazee a severe nervous shock in addition to painfully wrenching her back.

Mr. Frazee gave his attention to regaining control of his horse. Fairbairn brought his machine to an immediate stop and did all in his power to assist Mr. and Mrs. Frazee. Mrs. Frazee was driven to her home in the carriage belonging to George Hallock, of Willow avenue, her husband following, accompanied by Fairbairn, who carried the robes, etc., in his machine; the wrecked runabout being left by the roadside.

THEY WERE 75 YEARS OLD

MRS. JOHN STEWART AND MRS. WM. RYNO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARIES.

Mrs. John Stewart and Mrs. William Ryno, who reside on West Fifth street, on Friday enjoyed the unique distinction of celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of their birthdays. The two women married brothers and during the past two years they have lived together. Mrs. Stewart was born and always lived in Plainfield, while her sister-in-law is a native of Rahway and has been a resident here for two years.

In honor of the event, the relatives arranged a surprise party, and a large number of persons gathered to extend best wishes for many happy returns of the day. Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Ryno also received many useful presents and thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

GAMES OF MINOR TEAMS

LEAL'S SCHOOL AND P. H. S. AMONG THE WINNERS.

In a game marked by many brilliant plays, Leal's School defeated the Newark Academy team on Crescent Oval, Saturday morning, by a score of 10 runs to 9. Lovell, of the home team, did great work, striking out sixteen Newark men. At critical stages he pitched like a veteran. The home team did better stick work, making eleven hits to their opponents eight. The score by innings:

Leals	1	4	0	0	1	4	0	0	x	10

Batteries—Lovell and J. Haughey; Watts and Grant. Umpire—Roseberry.

One of the best games of the season was played Saturday afternoon on Crescent Oval between teams from the Plainfield and South Orange High Schools. The home team won by the score of 4 runs to 3. From start to finish the contest was exciting, the result being doubtful until the last man was put out. The battery work of Smith and Davis, of the local school, was a feature, only four hits being made off Smith. Murchie, of the visiting team, also pitched a great game, holding his opponents down to five hits. The score by innings:

Plainfield	1	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	x	4

CHANGES AT PARK CLUB.

Several Improvements Made at the Clubhouse.

Many improvements are being made at the Park Club preparatory to the opening of the season for tennis and social events. A large piazza is being built beneath the stage, back of the clubhouse, where members and friends can watch the play on the tennis courts and enjoy teas which will be given by the women. A wheel house is also being constructed for the storage of bicycles and a macadam road will be built leading from the street to the rear of the grounds. The tennis courts are being improved and a very active season is promised in this popular sport.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Mayor Wyckoff has declared that he will put a stop to robberies in the borough if possible, and it certainly looks as though he meant business as he is using every means in his power to catch the prowlers. On Friday night the Mayor and Marshal Mohan, while out on a scouting tour, spied a rough looking customer hiding behind a pile of cross ties near the Prospect avenue railroad crossing. As the fellow could not give a good account of himself he was handcuffed and taken to the borough lockup where he was lodged for the night. There being no charge against the fellow he was set free on Saturday morning, with a warning to leave town at once.

On Saturday evening a sociable was held by the members of the Dunellen Literary Circle at the home of William Hamilton for the purpose of bidding farewell to one of the members, Mrs. Edmund Teel. Mrs. Teel was an active member of the circle and her loss is much to be regretted. During the evening she was presented with a handsomely bound book as a pleasant remembrance of the circle.

Dr. Whitford will soon take possession of his new house on Center street.

The dangerous hole in the sidewalk near Hollingsworth's mill has not been repaired yet. The place is a dangerous spot for pedestrians. Should an accident occur the North Plainfield Township would no doubt have a suit for damages on its hands.

Stocker was Medhurst's hotel clerk. Stocker proved to be a married man with a wife and family in Jersey City.

Mrs. Medhurst was deserted, it is said, in New York, a few days after the alleged elopment by Stocker. As soon as she realized that she was without home or friends she began to make efforts towards a reconciliation. Her efforts were finally successful and the woman returned home Saturday night.

The floral expression of tender love and sympathy were many and handsome, completely enveloping the casket. Interment was made in the family plot in the Baptist cemetery.

ARMIES FACE TO FACE

Forces of Czar and Mikado Forming For Great Struggle.

FORTIFIED ISLANDS WILL HELP JAPS

Russian Military Experts Say Japanese Will Try to Establish Junction of the Army of Korea and That at Newchwang.

LONDON, April 25.—Advices received from Seoul state that the Japanese lines now extend thirty miles along the Yalu river, reaching from Yongampho to ten miles above Wiju. The Russians are strongest at Antung. Tiger hill is, as it was in the China-Japanese war, the key to the situation.

Three islands, one above and two below Wiju, will facilitate an attack, as they offer a base for artillery to cover the crossing of the Yalu.

It is reported that the Japanese are landing troops and constructing buildings at Hungchuan, below Yongampho.

Advices from the province of Hamgyung, in northeastern Korea, state that the country folk along the northern border of the province are selling cattle and supplies to the Russians. The province of Hampyung is the former home of Yi Yong, a former Korean minister of finance, who, on account of his pro-Russian sympathies, was transported to Japan last February by the Japanese authorities.

Several Korean officers suspected of being Russian spies have been arrested.

A Newchwang report says the Russians are preparing to resist a Japanese advance by the further construction of intrenchments and other fortifications on the Manchurian side of the river, especially opposite the points where the Japanese have concentrated their forces within the last few days, and all reports of a decisive engagement on the Yalu are premature.

A Shanghai dispatch says: "Fearing a possible attack, the Chinese officials have decided to remove the Shanghai arsenal to Wuhu, an inland town about 150 miles west of Shanghai. It is estimated that the entire cost of moving the arsenal will reach 3,000,000 taels."

St. Petersburg advices say apparently reliable information in the possession of the general staff leads to the belief that the objective of the Japanese campaign does not involve the ambitious invasion of the interior of Manchuria with the purpose of reaching and overwhelming the main Russian army. If the Japanese ever entertained the hope of accomplishing a task similar to that which Napoleon set himself, present advices indicate that they have abandoned it and have adopted a much more cautious and less hazardous programme.

If this information is correct, there will be no advance upon the army concentrated at Liaoyang and Mukden, with its attendant constantly lengthening and weakening of the Japanese line of communications. Instead there seems to be a determination to stick as close as possible to the sea, where lies Japan's natural base of communications, she having established herself in Korea.

The general staff's reports says that the Japanese still have three other objectives—the occupation of a line across the Liaotung peninsula, for the purpose of cutting off Port Arthur; the isolation of Vladivostok and the establishment of a junction between the army of Korea and the force at the head of the Liaotung peninsula. The last mentioned movement might be accomplished by a landing near the mouth of the Tayang river, which, by threatening the flank of the Russian position at Fenghuancheng, might render it untenable and make the advance of a column from Korea comparatively easy.

If these plans should succeed, the life of both Russian squadrons in the Pacific would be menaced, and, with the sea and a fleet back of her at every point, Japan could fortify the positions thus gained and, with the tables turned, compel General Kuropatkin to come forward and attack.

General Kuropatkin, however, is in possession of the latest advices received by the general staff, and it is safe to assume that if the Japanese campaign develops along the lines indicated he will be ready to make such disposition of his forces as will meet and checkmate it.

A Port Arthur dispatch says the Chicago Daily News' dispatch boat, which approached here during the night, was boarded by Russian officers. The correspondent was arrested, but was liberated on condition that he avoid the Kwangtung peninsula in future.

It is reported from Seoul that military attaches will be permitted to take the field at once. The Japanese in matters of equipment, etc., are treating the foreign attaches and correspondents like princes.

A Shanghai report says spies have informed the Russians at Kinchau that Japanese warships convoying transports with 30,000 troops are steaming northward.

A St. Petersburg report says that following up the general plan to harass and impede the Japanese crossing the Yalu the Russian outposts on the river sent a detachment of volunteers in boats for the purpose of setting fire to the Japanese pontoons and other bridge material. The boats grounded on a sand bank near the Korean side and drew the fire of the Japanese outposts. There was a sharp fusillade at close range. The position of the boats was highly critical owing to the appearance of a number of light barges filled with Japanese coming out from a small tributary stream called the Pomalinn, which is unmarked even on the maps of the Russian general staff. The intention of the barges was to cut off the retreat of the Russians. This was noticed from the other bank, two miles distant, and a couple of field guns opened fire. A lucky shot sank one of the barges, and the others withdrew.

Wireless Reports In Far East.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A St. Petersburg report says Viceroy Alexeieff has issued a notification to the effect that newspaper correspondents using wireless telegraphy will be treated as spies. The notification is the same as that served on the state department at Washington by Ambassador Cassini. The state department has acknowledged receipt of Russia's note, saying that the United States reserves the right to take any action which might be necessary if the interests of American citizens were affected.

Verestchagin Had a Presentiment.

MOSCOW, April 25.—The will of Vassili Verestchagin, the Russian painter who went down on the Petropavlovsk at Port Arthur, has been read. It leaves the entire estate to the widow. The will was made just before the painter started for the far east, and in it he expressed the conviction that he would not return.

VOTED FOR THE TRANSFER.

President Bo and Shareholders Approve Sale of Canal Route.

PARIS, April 25.—W. A. Day and Charles W. Russell, the United States assistant attorneys general, and all the other American officials who have been engaged in the Panama canal negotiations are being congratulated on the entirely successful results of the transaction and on the overwhelming vote by which the stockholders of the Panama Canal company approved the deed of sale executed by President Bo and Director Rischmann, which makes the transfer complete without further question.

The execution of the transfer prior to the meeting of the stockholders was designed to remove extraneous issues and to simplify the question presented to the meeting to one of approval or nonapproval. The actual transfer took place on the evening of April 16, following the receipt of a cablegram stating that the United States senate had passed the Panama canal bill, but it was deemed prudent and in the public interest not to make the fact of the transfer public until after the meeting of the stockholders.

Besides the $40,000,000 purchase price the Panama Canal company has asked consideration for the money spent on the canal since the original price was fixed by the isthmian canal commission. It is estimated that the work of excavation already accomplished was about $27,000,000. After the price was fixed the work of excavation was continued, about 1,000 men being employed, and the company estimates that an additional $1,000,000 was thus expended.

This claim is receiving consideration. It is stated, however, that it is entirely distinct from the transfer of the cession, which is not dependent on the claim or on any other condition.

Five Arrests at Ridgewood.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Five arrests were made at Ridgewood park, in the borough of Queens, immediately after a game between the Star Athletic club of Newark and the Brooklyn Field club had concluded. Those taken into custody were William Graves, manager of the Ridgewood grounds and team; two players and two ticket sellers. They were paroled until next Wednesday by Magistrate Connorton, who immediately hurried to the park to witness a second game between the Stamford (Conn.) club and the Ridgewoods, which was not disturbed by the police. Ridgewood park is where the New York American league team has played two Sunday games this season.

Women Condemn Mob Violence.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 25.—The Daughters of the American Revolution in this city have adopted unanimously a set of resolutions condemning mob law and calling upon the members of the Texas legislature to enact legislation that will mete out speedy justice to all persons guilty of criminal assault with a view of removing the excuse for mob violence. The resolutions request that the new law shall require that identification or confession shall be the only necessary evidence to justify speedy legal capital punishment.

Fireman Ross Dead.

NEWARK, N. J., April 25.—Leo Ross, the third victim of the Wiener fire, is dead here in St. Michael's hospital. It is now thought that all the other firemen who were injured, with the exception of Richard J. Lyons, will recover. An investigation is being made to discover if possible the cause of the fire, and a fund is to be raised for the families of the deceased firemen.

Two Crushed Between Cars.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—Caught between two Olive street cars going in opposite directions, J. H. Good of Little Rock has been killed here, and F. J. King, who accompanied him, was fatally injured. Good was crushed so badly that almost every bone in his body was broken.

Furniture Plant Destroyed.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 25.—The factory of the Empire Furniture company has been destroyed by fire. The loss will amount to $100,000. Frank O. Anderson was the principal owner and manager of the company.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Elaborate Skirts With Hip Yokes and Many Rows of Shirring.

There is a great change in skirts, which are now being made as full as possible and with a decidedly heavy effect over the hips.

Hip yokes and numerous bands of shirring have a tendency to shorten the figure, while they give a fussy effect to the skirt. Full gathered flounces are put on with headings and are bordered with velvet or braid. Three, six and even seven inches are favorite widths for flounces. Flat bias bands simulating tucks are quite the smartest form of trimming, and these are put on at wide intervals, with wide entre deux of lace in between. The new torpedo toques require a chic mode of dressing the hair in front, and the latter is divided into two sections, with a high pompadour effect which is very smart.

The new skirts are quite difficult to raise gracefully, for besides being full they are very long all around.

The all white tailor made will be one of the prettiest features of the summer styles. It is trimmed simply with white silk braid and in some cases tiny gold buttons.

Red French sailor hats are simply and prettily trimmed with wreaths of thickly massed deep red poppies.

A new skirt trimming is a reversed flounce shirred both top and bottom into a pocket-like effect.

The picture shows a pale blue mull summer gown trimmed with yellow lace. The hat is trimmed with pale blue bows and a lace veil.

WARM WEATHER SUITS.

Gray Silks and Mohairs of All Shades to Be Worn This Summer.

Mohairs will be very smart this summer. They come in blue, black and brown, not to speak of the delicate shades, such as cafe au lait and silver gray. The smartest have some figuring to imitate silk or cloth suitings. These mohairs are made up after the fashion of silk tailor mades, with little tucks and fancy motifs of every sort. The skirts are made very full and the jackets either blouse back and front, or else they merely reach the top of a wide belt.

Veiling suits will be more worn than ever this season, and they are made round length—that is to say, without trains to the skirt. The little coats follow the Eton or blouse fashion, and they are often trimmed with touches of Persian embroidery in pale shades.

Tailor made suits of black silk vie with iron gray, which comes brocaded in black or in white dots. These gray silks have a changeable effect from gun metal to the light silver gray. The darker gray silk suits are trimmed with much white embroidery. This gives a very rich effect. The long shoulder prevails in the majority of spring coats, and in many cases the sleeve is cut in one piece with the rest of the coat.

A lovely toilet was carried out in white silk gauze dotted with black. Bands of Louis XV. silk ribbon outlined with fagot stitching in black silk constituted the sole embellishment of the skirt, while narrow ruches of the silk gauze formed the trimming of the corsage.

The cut shows an ecru straw hat trimmed with a black chantilly lace veil. This would be very suitable with a fancy silk tailor made.

LABOR RIOT IN HUNGARY.

Gendarmes Fired on the Mob, Killing Twenty-three.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 25.—A serious riot is reported to have taken place at the market town of Elesd, near Gross-Wardein, resulting from a collision between meetings of the Socialist and Independent parties. While order was being restored by the gendarmery a socialist fired a revolver, killing the commander. The gendarmes thereupon fired a volley, killing twenty-three of the rioters and severely wounding forty. The military were summoned from Gross-Wardein.

The government has rejected the suggestion made by a committee representing the railway strikers at Budapest that the employees be permitted to return to work on the terms previously offered.

A deputation from the opposition parties waited on the minister of commerce and were informed by the minister that the strikers, having allowed their opportunity to pass, any amnesty or concession on the wage dispute was now out of the question. Two of the deputies thereupon informed the minister that the socialists would proclaim a general strike.

Acting under a warrant for the arrest of thirteen members of the strike committee on the charge of inciting to illegal acts, a large force of police went to the strikers' headquarters, but only three members of the committee there were arrested, including Deputy Vazsonyi. The police had to clear the streets in the vicinity of the headquarters owing to demonstrations of sympathy with the strikers.

LOUBET AT ROME.

French President Returns Visit of Victor Emmanuel to Paris.

ROME, April 25.—President Loubet, accompanied by Foreign Minister Delcasse and a distinguished party of French officials, has arrived in Rome to repay the visit of King Victor Emmanuel to Paris in October last. They were met at the station by the king, who went in state, accompanied by the Duke of Genoa, the Count of Turin and other court dignitaries. At the station also were the members of the Italian cabinet, representatives of the senate and chamber of deputies and all the high officers of state.

The king and the president embraced and kissed each other, while the "Marseillaise" was played by several bands. The drive to the Quirinal was then taken up, and it had all the appearance of a triumphal march.

Ambassador Meyer, Charlemagne Tower, United States ambassador to Germany, and Andrew D. White, the former ambassador to Germany, witnessed the passage of the procession from the garden of the American church, in which a tribune had been erected. On this tribune were also many members of the diplomatic corps and several Americans, including Bishop Leonard of Ohio and G. B. Thomas of Philadelphia. Along the route were massed over 500,000 persons, including many from the provinces and abroad.

Arrests For Sunday Ball.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 25.—During the third inning of an exhibition baseball game between the Jersey City Eastern league team and the Philadelphia American league nine which was played at Bayonne the police arrested President Howard Griffith, Pitcher Eason and Catcher Vandegrift of the Jersey City club for violating the Sunday law prohibiting such contests. A complaint was made by the Bayonne Ministers' association, and the men were admitted to bail pending a hearing. After the arrests were made Foxen and Dillon were substituted for the accused players, and the game was completed, the Philadelphians winning by a score of 7 to 2.

Jumped In Front of Erie Train.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 25.—John Fauerbeier, aged thirty-six years, a telegraph operator who had been employed in this city, has committed suicide at Wayland by throwing himself in front of an Erie passenger train as it was pulling into the station. His body was cut in two. He started to return to Rochester from Wayland and was accompanied to the station by his father and brother, who stood on the platform with him as the train came along. Temporary insanity is the supposed cause.

No Sunday Ball at Binghamton.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 25.—In spite of the positive statements of the baseball men during last week that a game would be played here yesterday none was played, and no move was made to play one. No effort was made to set aside the injunction granted by Justice Lyon restraining the team from playing yesterday or on any subsequent Sunday in this city or Lestershire. The baseball men, however, have expressed their intention to fight the matter out in the courts.

Lolita Will Soon Walk Perfectly.

VIENNA, April 25.—Professor Lorenz has examined Miss Lolita Armour of Chicago, who, accompanied by her parents, has just arrived here. He said she had made capital progress and that the case was thoroughly satisfactory. The professor had no doubt that after a short course of massage and manipulation of the injured joint the girl would be able to walk perfectly.

Rockefeller Led Fire Fighters.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., April 25.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., led a force of 100 men in fighting a fire in the largest barn on his father's estate. The barn was filled with horses, wagons and farming implements and was destroyed. The loss is $10,000.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; southwest winds.

SUNDAY BALL GAMES.

New York Police Commissioner Makes Six Test Arrests.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Whether the playing of baseball games in Greater New York on Sunday is illegal is to be decided in a test case, the first step in which was taken yesterday when, acting under instructions issued by Police Commissioner McAdoo, the police arrested three players and three sellers of score cards on the grounds of the Brooklyn Baseball club, Washington park, Brooklyn. Last Friday Commissioner McAdoo stated that he would not permit the playing of games in Manhattan, but that he would allow such contests at Washington park, Brooklyn, and Ridgewood park, in the borough of Queens.

The Washington park and Ridgewood park grounds are situated in sparsely inhabited districts, and Mr. McAdoo contended that the playing of Sunday games there did not interfere with the inhabitants of those localities. The commissioner, however, issued instructions to the police officers in Brooklyn and Queens to arrest in good faith any persons offering score cards or programmes for sale on the playing grounds, which he had previously exempted, and also to arrest the persons whom the police deemed to be the most conspicuous actors in the playing of games, so that the law might be tested, whether programmes were sold or not.

Nearly 14,000 persons assembled at the Brooklyn club's grounds to see a Sunday championship game between the Brooklyn and Philadelphia National league clubs. Before the game began three venders of score cards were arrested by policemen in plain clothes. As soon as Frank Roth of the Philadelphia nine had struck the second ball pitched by Poole of the local team Police Captain White and four detectives walked out upon the diamond and placed Roth and Poole as well as Catcher Jacklitsch of the home team under arrest.

When the game was interrupted some of the onlookers hissed the officers, but a new battery was substituted by the Brooklyn club management, and the game went on as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened. The big crowd was very orderly all through the contest, and there was not a semblance of discontent shown by the spectators after the brief interruption.

The six prisoners were taken to the Butler street police station, where the players were charged with violating section 267 of the penal code, and the score card sellers were charged with a violation of section 265.

All six were admitted to bail in the sum of $200 each, which was furnished immediately, and they will have a hearing in the police court, Brooklyn, this morning.

Chicago Made Great Finish.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The Chicagos made a great finish in the ninth inning here against Cleveland. With two out and a man on third base Hess hit Holmes and passed Jones, filling the bases. Callahan hit over Lush's head for two bases, scoring three runs. He scored the winning run on Green's double to right. Score, 5 to 4.

St. Louis Won by a Single.

CHICAGO, April 25.—St. Louis again defeated Chicago by a margin of one run. The three runs scored on both sides in the second inning were principally results of battery errors, the winning one being earned by the visitors on three clean singles. Score, 4 to 3.

Cincinnati Won In Ninth.

CINCINNATI, O., April 25.—The Cincinnati Nationals won from Pittsburg by an exciting ninth inning rally. Leever was put out of the game for assaulting Umpire Johnstone. Score, 6 to 5.

New York Defeated Hoboken.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 25.—At the St. George's cricket grounds, Hoboken, the New York National league team defeated the Hoboken professional nine by a score of 8 to 5.

Eagle Flies Over San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—The California Eagle, Dr. August Greth's new airship, has made an ascension here and demonstrated that under favorable conditions of weather it could be controlled at will by its pilot. Its flight was eminently successful, and but for a slight mishap to its motor power which the navigator was unable to remedy in midair the experiment would have been all that the inventor could have desired. Captain T. S. Baldwin, the airship's navigator, is a veteran aeronaut.

Grand Trunk Elevator Destroyed.

MIDLAND, Ont., April 25.—The Grand Trunk elevator here was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. It had a capacity of 500,000 bushels and was leased by E. R. Bacon & Co. of Chicago. The large grain boats Midland Queen, Midland King, Algonquin and Rosedale, lying alongside the elevator, were damaged. A man named L. F. Trembley was caught under the falling timbers of the elevator and instantly killed.

Miss Roosevelt Has Measles.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Miss Roosevelt is suffering from a slight attack of German measles. As she is isolated from the rest of the household, her physician does not think it is necessary for Mrs. Roosevelt to recall her invitations for this afternoon.

Jim Jeffries Takes a Wife.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 25.—James J. Jeffries, the champion pugilist, has been married here to Miss Freda Meyer of New York city. The bridal couple will go to Harbin Springs, where the champion will train for his coming fight with Munroe.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

HIS VAULT OF TIN

Rothschild's Federal Bank Safe a Hollow Mockery.

FRONTED BY MASSIVE STEEL BARS

Receiver Strove For a Week to Obtain Entrance and Finally Went to the Rear and Shoved It In With His Shoulder.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The most interesting developments in the investigation of the affairs of David Rothschild and of the wrecked Federal Bank and Globe Security company have been that Rothschild's massive and imposing safety vault in the Globe company offices was made of painted tin.

The tin vault discovery was a great surprise. For nearly a week Receiver McKeen and his counsel, J. H. Brewster, strove to get into the safety vault of the company, whose offices are on the seventh floor of the Tract Society building.

The vault is in the cashier's department and is most impressive looking from the front. When William Muirhead and other officers of the Globe failed to appear and reveal the combination Mr. McKeen and Mr. Brewster did not know what to do. They didn't want to use force to get into the vault, as they thought dynamite would have to be employed.

The front of the vault is of heavy glazed brick, with great stone pillars on each side and an immense steel door in the middle, and it looked as solid as a rock. This steel door is fitted with scores of bolts all brightly polished. In front of the door is a great steel barred gate.

Viewed over the marble counters of the cashier's department, the vault looks strong enough to withstand projectiles from a twelve inch gun.

Since Mr. Brewster has been in charge of the Globe offices he has found so many curious things connected with the concern that he decided to attack the redoubtable vault from the rear.

To get at the rear wall, supposedly of stone and steel, it was necessary to pass through a labyrinth of passages, partitions and doors. Mr. Brewster threaded this maze and then came up against a massive looking wall apparently of steel and brick forming the rear inclosure of the vault.

Wearied, he leaned against it, when to his astonishment it yielded. He rapped on it with his knuckles. It was tin. The appearance of steel and brick was paint.

Mr. Brewster put his shoulder against the wall, and a big section of it caved in, throwing him into the vault. Then he found that the strong box, except the front, was really built of the thinnest kind of corrugated iron. Its power of resistance is about equal to cardboard.

The front of the vault, with its magnificent appearance of impressive solidity, was merely built by Rothschild to fool the people doing business with the concern and make them think the company's affairs were of an important financial character which required great safes to hold millions in securities and cash.

Pressing Crum's Appointment.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 25.—Afro-American organizations here have been informed that action will be taken today in the senate on the appointment of Dr. W. D. Crum as collector of the port at Charleston, S. C., and at meetings of Zion Methodist church and Trinity Presbyterian church a vote was taken asking the two United States senators of this state to use their influence to secure his appointment. The J. C. Prince union, the local Afro-American council, authorized the president, John W. Thompson, to telegraph Senators Platt and Depew notifying them of the sentiment of the colored people here.

Kansas Has Serious Floods.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., April 25.—Fort Scott is experiencing the most serious flood in its history. Marmaton river and Mill creek, which runs into the former stream here, have risen ten feet in the past twenty-four hours, the result of heavy rains. Several hundred persons have been rescued in boats. The estimated loss to live stock drowned and property damaged is $100,000. A severe tornado has struck McPherson, demolishing six residences and causing more or less other damage to property. Three persons were injured, one seriously. Much damage was done in the country north of here.

Kaiser Sailed For Venice.

ROME, April 25.—Emperor William, owing to the bad weather, having remained in the south longer than he had expected, instead of returning home via Genoa has sailed from Bari for Venice on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. His majesty will then continue his journey by rail, going to Karlsruhe. This puts an end to all rumors of a possible meeting between the emperor and President Loubet.

Barrington Sentenced to Death.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—Sentence of death has been passed upon "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington in the circuit court in Clayton. Barrington was convicted of murdering James P. McCann, his benefactor. Judge McElhinny granted a stay of execution until July 23.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The newly-organized Young People's Society, of the First Baptist church, will elect officers on Friday night.

Rev. L. G. Leggett preached a strong sermon at the East Third Street chapel, last night, on the subject: "The Touch of Jesus."

Marked by Beggars.

George W. Beaton, of Plainfield, president of the American Finance and Securities Company, has become a mark for mendicants of all classes since the newspapers announced that he is going to celebrate his hard-earned success by giving a public banquet to the residents of Athens, O., the town in which he was born and spent his barefoot days. One day recently a beggar accosted him on Nassau street, New York, as he was talking to two newspaper men. "I beg your pardon, sir, but could you lend me ten cents?" said the unfortunate one. "I want to buy a new shirt." "Ten cents?" said Mr. Beaton, handing him a quarter. "Why, certainly; and here's fifteen cents more to get a suit of clothes, too, while you're at it."—Newark News.

No Sunday Closing.

Practically nothing was done in the Sunday closing campaign in the borough yesterday. From what Chief Weiss said this morning it appears as if the matter is to be dropped. In pursuance with orders issued by Recorder Doud, the cider joint keepers were instructed to close up yesterday. Some of them obeyed the order and some of them ignored it. The latter were not molested, and the others joined in the defiance after a half a day of shut down. By 1 o'clock all the joints were running, but the police made no attempt at interference.

Decoration Day Programme.

The usual programme for Decoration Day was decided upon. There will be the parade in the morning and the decoration of graves, and the exercises in Reform Hall in the afternoon. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps will be in the parade and an orchestra has been engaged for the afternoon.

$10,000 Suit.

Through Lawyer William G. DeMeza, of this city, Frank Securch, of Newark, has brought suit for $10,000 against the Public Service Corporation. He was involved in a trolley accident in the State metropolis recently and claims to have sustained serious injury.

Miss Hall, of Cranford, has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Carman, of Watchung avenue.

Mrs. Frank Fulton, of Brooklyn, is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mills, of West Front street.

SPITE HOUSES.

Three One-Story Dwellings Being Built in Residential Section of the City.

Three shacks being erected on East Front street and Farragut road, opposite the residence of L. V. F. Randolph and the late John Taylor Johnson estate, are considered an outrage by the neighbors. There is evidence that it is a hold-up on the part of those back of the scheme. Property values will be greatly decreased by the acts to which the people back of the scheme have resorted to make money.

A COLONIAL MANSION.

United States Senator Kane Now Lives in Residence Built by New Jersey's First Governor.

The landmarks, which have stood as monuments to designate the pathway of Washington and his copatriots as they matured and perfected the policy which resulted in the establishment of this republic, are fast fading from view, and it will not be many generations before they will be known only in history.

Scarcely any spot in the eastern states is more interesting, or associated with more romantic and historic revolutionary incidents than Liberty Hall, now known as "Ursino," the residence of United States Senator Kane, of New Jersey, situated in the outskirts of the city of Elizabeth, in that state, says P. M. Babcock, in Four-Track News.

This palatial structure was built by William Livingston, the first governor of New Jersey, in 1773, who occupied it as his residence when he signed the declaration of independence.

Treatment of Consumptives.

Tuberculosis may be fought by wise methods and by foolish ones. To the latter class belongs the plan which the Australian colony of Victoria is said to have adopted. It is proposed to isolate consumptives, whether they like it or not, and send them to a quarantine station. Educating them in regard to the proper precautions of avoiding the spread of infection would be far more sensible.—N. Y. Tribune.

Watchungs, 19: O. F. C., 5.

The Watchungs played their first game of the season, on the Lincoln avenue grounds, at Dunellen, Saturday afternoon. When the O. F. C. players decided, at the end of the seventh inning, that they were tired of chasing three baggers, the score stood:

Dunellen	5 1 3 4 2 1 3—19
O. F. C.	0 2 0 1 1 1 0— 5

T. Hewitt and Jack McMahon were the Dunellen batteries.

Actor's Relative Gets Box.

Both boxes for the two performances of "The Taming of the Shrew," at the Casino, have been sold. The last to be reserved was one for Thursday evening, May 5, for Mr. Holland, of West Seventh street. Mr. Holland is a relative of E. M. Holland, who is playing in "The Two Orphans" at the New Amsterdam.

Games Cancelled.

As a result of the poor showing made by the Seventh Regiment team against Westfield on Saturday, Manager George Johnston of the Alis Club, has cancelled the two games for Decoration Day with that team. A stronger attraction will be presented.

GREAT PATENT CASE.

Powerful Corporation Defeated by Bright Woman Lawyer.

Case That Had Been Refused by Eminent Members of the Bar Carried to a Successful Issue by Indefatigable Girl.

Fifteen years ago a shy young country girl was summoned from her log cabin home to serve as a witness in a neighbor's lawsuit. It was her first glimpse of the great world that lay beyond the hamlet where she was born. The sleepy town was more imposing than the walled cities of her dreams, the little courthouse was a stately hall of justice, and the cabalistic signs of the shorthand reporter filled her soul with awe.

Very recently this girl won the most brilliant legal battle ever fought by a woman. Other women have assisted senior counsel in famous suits. But Miss Florence H. King, only woman patent lawyer in this country, fought her fight, single-handed and alone, before Judge Kohlsaat in the United States circuit court of Chicago, and on her oral argument won a verdict against a $5,000,000 company and secured an injunction so binding that no human being but Mrs. Myrtle M. Rogers can manufacture, sell or use the Rogers patents.

In May, 1900, the inventor of the noted Rogers' "receptacle" and "packing," known among railroad men as the "Rogers goods," died, leaving his rights and patents to his wife, Mrs. Myrtle M. Rogers. The packing is cotton waste and steel wool, the latter made of steel turnings, cut spirally from steel rods, expressly manufactured for this purpose. The receptacle was a clever device for holding the packing against the axle in the journal box. The demand for packing is enormous, for the United States railroads alone use 34,000,000 pounds annually at 20 cents a pound, affording a royal revenue to the manufacturers.

Mrs. Rogers was unfamiliar with business tactics and finally accepted the proposition of the newly-organized Federal Supply company, which was incorporated for $5,000,000, to transfer her patents on a license, the company contracting to pay her a minimum royalty of three cents a pound for the packing, or $2,000 every quarter.

After enjoying the princely profits for several years the company suddenly canceled her license February 1, 1903,

FLORENCE H. KING.
(Woman Patent Lawyer Who Has Just Won a Famous Suit.)

and also attacked Mrs. Rogers' title to the patents, defying her to assert her rights. Mrs. Rogers immediately organized a company and began manufacturing her husband's goods on a small scale.

The Federal Supply company's act raised up a host of business friends for her, and she quickly built up a thriving business. When it came to the notice of the Federal Supply company the price was cut to the actual cost of production, and her limited capital forbade competition at these ruinous rates.

In vain she tried to get an injunction, but lawyers laughed at her and absolutely refused to touch the case on the ground of priority of art, as the most celebrated patent lawyers and patent experts insisted that springy metal wire and steel shavings were equivalent to the steel turnings employed in the Rogers patents.

Almost crazed at the certainty of losing her entire fortune and enriching others through her husband's ingenuity, she appealed to Miss King, who instantly realized that the suit pivoted on a question of equivalents. She made exhaustive experiments with steel shavings which are cut with the grain of the metal, and discovered that under tremendous pressure and friction, the shavings were ground to dust and were therefore valueless. Spiral wires scratched when placed perpendicularly in the journal box and if laid horizontally, the cotton waste slipped out, leaving the coils of wire lying useless in the bottom of the journal box, thus quickly proving their inadequacy.

But the steel turnings, cut transversely from the end of a rod, held the cotton waste with a thousand teeth of steel, nor could it be torn or plucked out by hand or machinery. And the cut against the grain gave the finest power of resistance, for it withstands pressure and friction and produces the ideal conditions that have made the Rogers goods famous.

The Chicago Tribune says Miss King's final argument lasted half a day, for, womanlike, she had the last word, and a most conclusive word it proved to be. She marshaled her arguments as a general does an army, and her line of defense, built up in the many months of careful study, was impregnable, and she won the biggest legal woman's victory yet chronicled in the United States, if not in the world.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BETWEEN CAR FENDERS

Motorman William Brown Killed in Elizabeth Early This Morning.

BY A RUNAWAY CAR

GREEN MOTORMAN LOST CONTROL OF CONVEYANCE ON A HILL.

Brown Mangled While Adjusting Fender to Begin His Day's Work—Death Almost Instantaneous—Lived in This City.

Against the fender of his own car, William Brown, of East Third street, a motorman on the Elizabeth-Plainfield trolley line, was crushed to death at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The fatality occurred in front of the P. S. C. car barn on North Broad street, Elizabeth.

Brown left this city at 4:50 o'clock to take out his car from the Elizabeth barn. At 6:30 he made ready to run his conveyance to the main track. On the spur leading from the barn he halted the car to adjust his fender. He had the right of way, and allowed the front of the car to jut slightly on the straight track.

While he was settling the fender in its place a Third street car approached down the hill above the spur. It should have stopped above the spur but the motorman, a green one, it is said, lost control of his car and it shot down the incline with increasing speed.

Brown, unconscious of its approach, was bending over his fender. Before the warning cries of the other motorman could rouse him to the danger, the fender of the rushing car struck him with full force. He was crushed between the two fenders and terribly mangled.

He was breathing faintly when taken from between the cars, but died almost immediately after. His body was carried to A. F. Thorn's cigar store and later to the morgue. Dr. Grier, the Elizabeth county physician, will view the remains today and issue a permit for the removal of the body to this city.

Brown was one of the senior men in the company's service. He entered its employ shortly after the line was started. He was a familiar figure to most of the patrons of the line, particularly in this city, and his good-nature and courtesy won him many friends. The company officials regarded him as one of its best men.

Brown was middle-aged and married, but had no children. His wife survives him. His home on East Third street was near the beef house.

During the Spanish-American war he was a member of the Eighth New Jersey Volunteers.

CENTRAL THEATRE MIX-UP

DURING DISTURBANCE SPECIAL OFFICER IT IS SAID USED HIS CLUB.

Charles Conger, while attending the performance at the Central Theatre last evening became disorderly, and when requested to quiet down refused to do so. Special Officer James Bolmar then took a hand in the matter and Conger was ordered from the house. As a result of this trouble ensued and during the mix-up Conger alleges that the officer struck him with his club on the head. Because of this fact Bolmar has been notified that he need not report for duty at the theatre as another special officer is to take his place in the future. As yet no charges have been preferred against him and it was stated this morning that no action would be taken by the Police Board unless charges were made. Conger was not placed under arrest.

Taming of the Shrew.

For the first time since the rehearsals of "The Taming of the Shrew" began, the twelve young people who participate in the wedding scene in the third act, were present at the rehearsal at the Casino last night.

John Carney, only son of the late Moses Carney, died this morning as the result of a prolonged sickness, at his late residence in Central avenue. Mr. Carney leaves a mother and five sisters.

POLITICIANS ONLY AT PARTY PRIMARIES

Excepting in Fourth Ward Little Interest Was Shown in Selection of Delegates.

NO OPPOSITION SLATE

FISK IS ONE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE THIRD WARD.

Delegates Empowered to Select Alternates—Convention to be Held at Trenton on Tuesday, May 10.

Little interest was shown at the Republican primaries held in the four wards of the city last night, at which time delegates were selected to attend the Congressional and State conventions to be held at Trenton on May 10. The attendance at each primary was small and the business was transacted in short order. In each ward the same delegates were chosen to attend both conventions and no opposition was shown.

James F. Buckle was elected chairman of the First ward primary and H. C. VanEmburgh clerk. S. P. T. Wilbur and W. R. Codiington were the inspectors. The delegates elected were James T. MacMurray and James F. Buckle.

J. Hervey Doane was chairman of the Second ward primary and William R. Townsend clerk. The delegates elected were William N. Runyon and William R. Townsend.

Charles W. Runyon acted as chairman of the primary in the Third ward and John W. Murray, Jr., was clerk. Ernest R. Ackerman and Charles J. Fisk were the chosen delegates.

The chairman of the Fourth ward primary was Frank H. Smith and George E. Greenleaf was clerk. This ward is entitled to three delegates and those chosen were Frank DeWitt Randolph, William Newcorn and Andrew McCardell.

In each case the delegates were empowered to select their own alternates in case they cannot attend.

THAT SCHOOL RECIPROCITY

PLAN ENGAGE ATTENTION OF NORTH PLAINFIELD BOARD OF EDUCATION.

To straighten out some slight misunderstanding that has arisen over the provisions of the reciprocity agreement between the Plainfield and North Plainfield school departments the borough board, at its monthly meeting last night again declared its position in the matter. The board agreed that the understanding covers pupils of all grades.

When pupils move across the line the local school system is to take them in to finish out the term without other formality than transfer of names from book to book.

It was said at the meeting last night that the Plainfield authorities seem to think the reciprocal arrangement is to benefit the school. The borough board regards it as a benefit to the pupil and not to the school.

Three recommendations for next year's school work by Supt. Wightman were adopted. The seniors of the High School are to be offered an opportunity to review their arithmetic and geography. These subjects are no touched after the grammar grades, and the pupils are apt to lose the school very rusty in them. This review is not to be obligatory, but the pupils will be strongly urged to take it. It will not interfere with the regular courses and will bring on no extra expense.

Miss Stahlberger, the German teacher, will begin instruction in public speaking and a class in pattern-cutting and dressmaking is to be organized.

Dr. J. H. Buchanan was elected school physician, to succeed Dr. Albert Pittis The coal supply for next year was ordered.

WOMAN FINDS FATHER AND WEALTH AWAITING

Mrs. Nicholas VanWinkle, of Warrenville, Hears of Her Parents After Many Years.

ESTATE IN MICHIGAN

HAS NEVER KNOWN WHO HER PARENTS WERE.

Romance in the Life of a Farmer's Wife—Estate Said to be Worth $200,000—Purchase of a Farm.

Through the accidental finding of some old papers revealing her identity, Mrs. Nicholas VanWinkle, of Warrenville, has just learned for the first time in thirty years of the whereabouts of her father, and that she is an heir to considerable wealth. When a young girl living in Brooklyn, her place of birth, her mother died and she was adopted by a family by the name of Campbell. Her name was Winifred Havens, but she took the name of Mamie Campbell.

Later the young woman married Nicholas VanWinkle and resided in North Plainfield. When Mr. and Mrs. Campbell died they left their adopted daughter $10,000. Mr. Havens searched constantly for his daughter, but was unsuccessful. He had practically given up all hope of ever finding her, when through the work of settling up the estate of Mrs. Havens, a Michigan lawyer accidentally discovered the missing daughter. It was most essential that she should be located as the estate could not be adjusted until her name was signed to the legal papers.

In searching through some papers and in connection with previous transactions with the estate, the whereabouts of the daughter was learned. She has now been married about sixteen years, and through the estate she will at present receive about $12,000 and will probably share in an estate valued, it is said, at $300,000.

Mr. and Mrs. VanWinkle have just purchased the valuable Dan. Cory farm of 150 acres at Warrenville, where they are very comfortably located. The wealth that has just come to Mrs. VanWinkle is welcome and the fact that she has found her father and at the same time is the means of allowing the estate to be settled, is a source of great satisfaction to her.

TALK ON COMPRESSED AIR

ANDREW E. KENNEY'S ADDRESS BEFORE PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S CLUB.

A most interesting lecture on "Compressed Air" was delivered in the First Presbyterian church, last night, by Andrew C. Kenney, under the auspices of the Men's Club. Mr. Kenney illustrated his lecture with lantern slides and showed the crude ways in which compressed air was used when first discovered, as well as its modern uses. At the conclusion of the lecture refreshments were served.

CONTEST INSURANCE.

The Barbers' Union Has Flatly Refused to Pay the Claim of $60 to Mr. Anthony's Widow.

Dispute over the death claim of her husband's life has been started between the widow of Clarence Anthony and the Barbers' Union. The union has flatly refused to pay the claim, and Mrs. Anthony has placed the matter in the hands of a lawyer.

Anthony had been a journeyman barber and then went into business for himself. Later he returned to work as a journeyman, being in the employ of Lafayette Rosenstiehl, of Somerset street, at the time of his death. According to the rules of the union a boss in becoming a journeyman must surrender a card furnished him by the union. When Mrs. Anthony applied for the $60 benefit she supposed due on her husband's life, the union denied its liability. It was claimed that Anthony had not turned in his card, as required, and thereby forfeited the right to the insurance.

Mrs. Anthony denies the right of the union's position and insists on receiving the money. She has instructed Counsellor F. J. Blatz to bring suit if the organization fails to meet her claim.

GLOVEMAKER BY TRADE

UNTIL RECENTLY MAN EMPLOYED AT PERRIN FRERES & CIE., HERE.

Meignier Served in French Army and Came to This Country Four Years Ago—Leave a Daughter, Eight Years Old.

Francois Meignier, a glove cutter, and his wife, who formerly lived here, were found asphyxiated by gas yesterday morning in their room at 152 West Twenty-fifth street, New York. Their death was accidental.

Meignier had lived in this country about four years. Previous to that he had served for seven years in the French army, in the Sixtieth Regiment of infantry, which was stationed at Grenoble.

On coming to this country he obtained employment as a cutter of kid gloves in the Perrin Fereres & Co. factory in this city. His wife worked in a factory at 152 West Twenty-third street, New York.

The pair retired shortly after 9 o'clock, on Sunday night. About midnight several other inmates of the house smelled gas, but failed to discover where it came from. It was not until 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning that the two were found. Gas was burning in a jet near the bed and more gas escaping through an unattached tube intended for a heater.

The pair left an eight-year old daughter, who is being educated at Union Hill, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Meigner travelled with a circus in Cuba sometime ago. He was a clown and she a snake charmer. Her maiden name was Mary Lynaugh and she lived at Johnstown, N. Y. Meigner was forty-two and his wife ten years younger.

J. E. CODINGTON BROUGHT BACK

TOTTEN RETURNED TO SOMERVILLE WITH ALLEGED BIGAMIST.

James E. Codington, the Somerville real estate man, who is charged with bigamy, was brought from Philadelphia to Somerville yesterday by County Detective Totten. He will be tried in the Somerset County Court this term.

Totten's chase after his man was enlivened by a train wreck, in which he was bruised about the face. The smash-up occurred as Totten was on his way back with requisition papers from Harrisburg.

According to one of the local real estate agents, Codington will be liable to prosecution in this county if the charges against him are proved. It is alleged that he signed papers in this city as a single man.

The Lotus Glee Club, assisted by Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith, will give a concert in the First M. E. church on Thursday night, May 12.

ALLEGED HOLD-UP GAME IN REAL ESTATE

Residents Along East Front Street, Near Farragut Road, Greatly Wrought Up.

SHACKS BEING BUILT

IN BEAUTIFUL RESIDENTIAL SECTION OF THE CITY.

Wanted $8,000 to Quit, But Now the Price is Raised to $12,000—The Properties in That Section Affected.

Residents along East Front street are agitated over the advent of alleged "neighborhood wreckers" in their district, fearing that the value of their handsome estates will be materially depreciated, as told in The Daily Press yesterday. The old Megee homestead land on East Front street opposite Farragut road has been purchased and Italians are now constructing four "shacks," to accommodate an unnamed number of foreigners, unless some one comes forward with $12,000 to buy the tract.

The first attempt to work the "spite house" trick, which is considered in the light of a hold-up here, took place a year ago, the beautiful Netherwood district being the scene of operations and Italians being the principal factors. Subsequently certain white persons backed an aggregation of colored men in a plan to erect a colored orphanage in the same district, but this scheme was abandoned.

Across the way from the place where the shacks are now being put up is the large estate of L. V. F. Randolph, president of the New York Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange and also the John Taylor Johnston estate. The latter was president of the Central Railroad and at the time of his death owned a magnificent estate, which is still kept in fine order.

Wealthy men in the vicinity have received letters from a man engaged to build the "spite houses" which they consider blackmail, but no action has been taken on them as yet. Here is a sample of one of the letters:

"I have learned through some of the property owners on East Front street that you have been looking after that Italian property sometime across the street from you. Now I am going to tell you that if D. C. Ivans and Mr. Updike had taken advice two years ago there would not have been any spite houses in Hillside ave as they could have bought the property right at that time. I have signed a contract to furnish lumber for three three-room houses if you want to prevent such buildings as that going up on East Front street you can save a good many dollars by taking such things as that in time theos buildings are about to be started by May as I have got the credit of getting many an italian out of many a good location I transact a lot of business for them in a nice way so if you have any idea of buying the property kindley let me know but I wouldnot let theos Italians know that I write you in regards to this matter. I remain yours, ——."

This appeal is followed by another in which the writer says that he is going to put up three one-story houses sixteen feet by twenty-four feet each and that he offers to act as agent in the sale of the property at $8,000, adding that if the offer is not accepted $12,000 will be demanded for the place after the shacks are finished.

Work has already been commenced and from present appearances it is believed that the neighbors will not buy the tract.

Story of a Success.

Speaking of the immense growth of advertising, F. W. Ayer, the veteran member of the firm of Philadelphia, said:

"There was hardly such a thing as advertising until after the Civil War. Then the country began to feel its muscle and to stretch out into new lines. We have seen a great evolution in journalism. When we started it was in the days of the weekly power. There were the Toledo 'Blade,' the Atlanta 'Constitution,' Colonel Forney's 'Press' and the New York 'Tribune' and 'Sun.' But now increased postal facilities have rendered the daily paper the vehicle of news in every part of the country. The farmer 150 miles from the city gets it the same day it is issued. Yes, this is the day of the daily, and more and more is the public depending upon it for an account of what it cannot personally see and hear; and more and more the advertiser is depending upon it to tell the people that he cannot meet personally of the goods he has to sell. Do I think advertising will increase? Yes. We began in the days when staples were not advertised, when business men thought it all right for makers of patent medicines to advertise because they were supposed to bring a great profit. But for sugar, bread, biscuits and the like, on which profits were close, it was thought there was no margin for advertising."

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement, "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mont.

A New Back for An Old One.—How it is Done in Plainfield.

The back aches at times with a dull indescribable feeling making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across my back and hips. Any hard work always increased it. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such trouble as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Fred Zimmer, an employe at Joseph Loughead's machine shop, on Whitewood avenue, is visiting relatives in Newark.

The Somerset Woolen Mill, of Somerville, will resume operations again Thursday morning, after a week's idleness.

Leo Moore, of West Fourth street, has returned from a business trip to Allentown, Pa., in the interest of the New Jersey Central Railroad Company.

Three persons were initiated and three new applications received at the meeting of the International Association of Machinists, No. 167, Plainfield Lodge, last night.

William Nichols, of the Campbell Press Company's plant, is in Boston, Mass., setting up an auto-plate press, from the Campbell people. The machine is being installed in the office of the Boston Globe.

William Skinner, a former employe at the Potter plant, has taken a position with the Wadsworth Brothers' machine shop on Railroad avenue, Newark. Olaf Saugstag, of this city, is superintendent of the plant.

The Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company, at Phillipsburg, announces the prospect of a contract from the Interborough Railroad, in New York, for a supply of machinery, the construction of which would keep the plant running full force day and night for a long time. Many of the recently discharged machinists look for an early order to resume their old positions.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The terms "delegates-at-large" and "district delegates" customarily used in describing the State delegations to the National Conventions, are not as accurate as the old description, "Senatorial" and "Congressional district." The delegates to both the conventions are chosen on a basis of two for each United States Senator and two for each Member of Congress, the latter representing the Congressional district, the former the State. The Senatorial delegates are, of course, chosen by a State convention, and so the honor is considered greater, but each delegate has the same vote and rights in the convention.—Newark Sunday Call.

Along with the gossip of Governor Murphy's appointment to the National chairmanship, of the Republican party, there is a renewal of the story that in case of President Roosevelt's re-election Governor Murphy will be given a place in the new cabinet. The move to put the Governor at the head of the party is due to the efforts of Senator Kean. A year ago, when the senior Senator from New Jersey began to fix up his fences, he found the senatorial bee buzzing in the ears of Governor Murphy and a well-defined opposition to his own re-election in all parts of the State. Murphy seemed to him to be the most dangerous opponent.

There seems to be no doubt now that former Congressman DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, of New York and Morristown, is out to secure the chairmanship of the Democratic State committee when William B. Gourley steps down. In that position Mr. Flanagan would be no figurehead. If he is chosen, it may be taken for granted that former Senator Smith will have reached the conclusion that Flanagan's pull with his fellow-brewers and distillers will more than offset his lack of popularity with the people because of his pigeon-butchering proclivities. It may be that David Baird would also find it convenient to say a good word for the ex-Congressman.—Ex.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Voting in Somerset.

If the Somerville Messenger is to be believed, Somerset County Democrats have no use for voting machines and hope that the new devices will be sent to places where they are appreciated. Will Colonel Dickinson kindly make a note of this and act accordingly? This is the second time it has been drawn to his attention.—Newark Evening News.

The Commuters' Side.

A number of the citizens who live in Westfield, in Union County, and commute to New York are accused of having neglected to attend to their public duties on the recent spring election day, and as a result Westfield becomes an "open" town. The commuters are not the only ones to be censured for neglect of political duties. It is quite true that men whose business is in New York and whose homes are in the suburban towns and cities are often very derelict in attending the polls on election day, and for this they deserve reproof and reprimand. But in some places the natives and the commuters are ever at odds, and if the latter attempt to take an active interest in the local elections they are called hard names and are subjected to the severest kind of censure for having the hardihood to interfere with the plans and methods of the old-timers. Many a good man, capable and of high character, has been defeated for office after having reluctantly consented to run in the interests of progress and reform, simply and solely because he was a commuter There is more than just one side to this censuring of commuters for not voting at spring or other purely local elections.—Newark News.

Grand Free Exhibition! New York Harbor by Day and Night . . . . . .

A large and magnificent oil painting, by Mr. Lee Lash, of New York, presenting a view of the city and harbor looking toward the north and east, will be shown in our third floor picture department tomorrow. Capably executed, handsomely framed in gold, and draped in crimson, it is a worthy exhibition. The only rendition by an artist of a view that is the pride of the nation. In scope the picture includes Governor's Island in the foreground on the extreme right, and the eye is carried by a succession of fascinating details along the Brooklyn sky line, over the colossal bridges that span the East River, to the most imposing spectacle the hand of man has arranged—the marvelous collection of massive structures that would sink any but the rock-ribbed island on which they stand.

After the spectator has enjoyed the comprehensive panorama in its simple state, the picture begins to live. Twilight settles over the city. A light flares up in the clock tower of the Produce Exchange building, and the distant bell strikes five; the sunset gun is seen to flash on Governor's Island, and the report seems to reverberate over the water. Window by window the lights in the great sky-scrapers shine out, illuminating the offices where the business of a continent is transacted. The lights on Brooklyn Bridge twinkle in the distance, and the lighted cars begin to move across the great suspension. Ferries move to and fro in the East River and a myriad of lights—red, white and green, display the signals on the craft of scores of nations. Whistles sound—the piping of the tiny tug vies with shrill notes of the large ferries. Elevators pass up and down the elevator shafts of the Bowling Green and other great buildings, and tiny lights outline the domes of the Park Row and World buildings, the highest commercial structures in the world.

Thousands of lights scintillate from every corner of the picture, and the city lives before you, throbbing with the effort of a million souls.

As darkness gradually spreads over the scene, the lights go out one by one in the great buildings, and the ships and bridge alone remain illuminated. Then the darkness becomes complete, and daylight flashes on once more. The little cycle of the city's history is done. Automatically the story of the day repeats itself at will.

The choice of the picture's subject is peculiarly felicitous. It gives at a glance the most complete single view of New York Harbor that is obtainable. The city is shown as it appears from the deck of an incoming steamer—from the same point of view that Hendrick Hudson saw the island three hundred years ago.

The historic Battery is in the centre of the foreground, and in place of Peter Stuyvesant's fortifications, that three times alternated under the Dutch and English flags, the aquarium and old "Castle Garden" stand today. The plazza that saw the treacherous execution of Jacob Leister, the first political martyr in New York, now appears studded with the trees of Battery Park. Beyond and above the Battery the tremendous sky-scrapers loom up. This group of buildings is the chief interest of the picture. They differentiate New York from every other city in the world, and their fame has spread wherever our illustrated magazines are circulated. They represent millions of real estate value and hundreds of millions of business transactions are exploited within their walls. Outwardly they are the personification of organized enterprise, massive, towering and magnificent.

Few people have the opportunity to see this wonderful sight, for the great office buildings are only illuminated between the hours of 5 and 6, when the days are shortest. The picture will carry an expression of the spectacle even more vividly than the reality. The true spirit of the scene pervades it, and every detail is closely and veritably followed.

The display combines the interest of a work of the painter's art with the actual transitions that mark the city's life. The eye, the ear and the imagination are appealed to with all the zest of a newly visited scene.

We venture to say that there is not a man, woman or child in Newark who would not enjoy this panorama of New York Harbor in its successive phases from sunset to midnight. Third Floor.

MINISTERS FAVOR IT

Many Brooklyn Divines See No Harm In Sunday Ball.

MUST HAVE OUTSIDE RECREATION

Baseball Far Superior to Such Attractions as Offered by Coney Island, Said Rev. H. C. Swentzel of St. Luke's.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Several prominent ministers in Brooklyn, where various church societies have been making a fight against Sunday baseball, when asked to give their views on the matter, spoke in favor of the pastime. With very few exceptions they said they could see no harm in playing ball or attending the games—their idea being that spectators were kept away from vicious forms of entertainment.

"I do not consider Sunday baseball an unmixed evil by any means," said the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Swentzel, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church. "Baseball is a good, clean, healthy, outdoor sport and, considered by itself, is one of the best and most desirable forms of recreation and entertainment. What is more, there is a large class of persons in Brooklyn who are so closely confined by their weekday labors that they certainly earn the right to an outing and some form of recreation on Sunday afternoon.

"Baseball is far superior to such attractions as Coney Island furnishes. Personally I prefer an old fashioned Sunday, not puritanical, but there seems to be a strong need for something of this sort, and I know of nothing that will fill the want like a good game of baseball."

"Sunday baseball I consider," said the Rev. Father Donohue of the Roman Catholic church of St. Thomas Aquinas, "a good, healthy amusement. It keeps our young men away from temptations.

"I am so strongly in favor of it that I have had one of my curates conduct a game at the club grounds in Twelfth street."

"Sunday baseball is all right," said the Rev. John L. Bedford, rector of the Church of Sts. Peter and Paul, "just the same as anything else in the nature of a healthy and innocent amusement. Anything of this character which interests the young and keeps their minds occupied I consider is devoid of evil."

When arraigned in the Myrtle avenue police court the cases of the three ball players who were arrested during Sunday's game in Brooklyn were postponed until tomorrow. The defendants are Roth, catcher of the Philadelphia team, and the Brooklyn pitcher and catcher, Poole and Jacklitsch.

Griffith, Eason and Vandergrift, the three players who were arrested during a game between the Philadelphia American league team and the Jersey City Eastern league team, were held in $100 bail each by Recorder Lazarus at Bayonne, N. J., under the vice and immorality act, for the grand jury.

Wall Street Men Are Generous.

NEW YORK, April 26.—It was learned that the members of the New York Stock Exchange have sent Barney Smith, their janitor, to Europe on a vacation trip. His salary will go on in the meantime, and his trip expenses are all paid. Smith has been in the employ of the exchange for many years and is well known to nearly all the members. He has been in poor health for some time, and the rest and recreation he will get, the members hope, will recuperate him.

New River Tunnel at New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 26.—The Hudson and Manhattan Railroad company has applied for authority to build a tunnel and railroad of standard gauge under the Hudson river from a point at Broadway and Cortlandt street, New York city, to a point in New Jersey. The proposed road will connect at the state line with a railroad to be organized under the laws of New Jersey.

Moyer Will Be Held Until May 5.

DENVER, April 26.—The state supreme court has denied the motion for the release of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, on bail pending a decision on the habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf. The hearing on the merits of the case was set for May 5. Meantime Moyer will be held as a prisoner in the military prison at Telluride.

Prince Pu Lun at White House.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Prince Pu Lun, accompanied by Sir Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, and several members of his suit, attended a musicale given by the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House. They were the recipients of much attention. A distinguished company was present, representing the official and social life of Washington.

Port of Monte Cristi Tied Up.

SANTO DOMINGO, April 26.—The government has issued a decree declaring the port of Monte Cristi blockaded. A gunboat will be stationed at that port to prevent the entrance of ships. Elections for president and vice president will take place May 30.

Plainfield, N. J., April 26, 1904.

The Equal Suffrage League, of Plainfield and North Plainfield, have carefully compiled figures showing the total valuation of real estate held by women in the two communities. Of course this is used as an argument for women's suffrage. When it is considered that nine-tenths of the property recorded in women's names is transferred to them by their husbands merely as a matter of protection to escape possible creditors, the statistics are of little value.

ALIS BUYS GRANDSTANDS

AND WILL PUT THE FIELD AND DIAMOND IN FINE SHAPE.

Extensive plans for improvement of the field and grandstand have been made by the Alis Club baseball committee. When the season opens the diamond will be in splendid shape and the seating capacity of the grounds will be doubled at least.

The committee has purchased the grandstands owned by the P. H S and St. Mary's ball organizations. Each of them seats about three hundred people without crowding. Arrangements have been made to move the newly purchased stands to the Alis field without delay. The St. Mary's stand is on their old field on Fourth street and the High School stand is on Orange Oval.

Chairman Mumford, of the committee, has determined that the diamond will be the smoothest and fastest in this section of the baseball world. Salt will be rubbed and rolled into it until the lowly grass blade shall have nowhere to poke its head through. 2,000 pounds of the stuff, it is estimated, will be dumped on the diamond.

A heavyweight four-horse roller will be run over the field this week. When the committee gets through with the diamond and the outer breastworks, it will not be the fault of the field if Alis doesn't play gilt-edge ball.

No Settlement in Anderson Case.

There has been no settlement of the case of John C. Anderson, administrator of the estate of James A. Anderson. The latter died in January last, and according to the will his wife, Rosanna Anderson, was the beneficiary. She died in February, 1903, a year before her husband, and the will was not changed.

According to the bylaws of the Catholic Benefit Legion, the insurance in the case goes to the legal representative of the deceased beneficiary, who is J. P. Owens, Esq., for distribution to the wife's heirs at law. Mr. Anderson's heirs claim that they are entitled to the money and have secured a temporary restraining order, preventing the Supreme Council from paying the money to the administrator, J. P. Owens, Esq.

ATTACK ON GENSAN

Vladivostok Squadron Sank a Japanese Ship.

PEACE PROPOSALS DECLINED BY CZAR

Russia Says Outside Interference Will Not Be Tolerated and That She Will Impose Her Own Terms at End of the War.

LONDON, April 26.—A Tokyo report says a Russian squadron, consisting of three warships, the Rossia, Gromovoi and Rurik, and two torpedo boats, appeared off the port of Gensan, Korea, without warning and made an attack on the place.

They sank a Japanese merchantman named the Goyo, a vessel of 600 tons.

The Rossia is the flagship of Rear Admiral Baron Shtakelberg, commanding the Vladivostok squadron, and is the heaviest and most powerful cruiser in the czar's navy.

The Japanese residents were thrown into consternation. The old men and the women and children fled from the concession and took refuge at a distance from the water front.

After a time the Russian torpedo boats withdrew outside the harbor. The warships remained inside for some hours and then withdrew.

Ten days ago a telegram from Nagasaki reported the Japanese Admiral Kamimura on the way to Vladivostok with his squadron of seven vessels.

It is thought in Tokyo that this Russian naval movement was made in the hope of intercepting some unprotected Japanese troopships. It is not believed the squadron will remain near Gensan long.

Advices from St. Petersburg say it is announced authoritatively that the talk of mediation in the Russo-Japanese war was founded upon the personal desires of King Edward and King Christian of Denmark to avoid further bloodshed and end the conflict, but the steps initiated have utterly failed. The czar, with the full concurrence of the imperial family and his advisers, has firmly decided not only to reject all proposals looking to intervention, but to prosecute the war with all the resources of the empire until victory crowns the Russian arms.

The interference of outside powers will not be tolerated. There is to be no repetition of the Berlin congress.

Furthermore, Russia will in nowise consider herself bound by the propositions made to Japan prior to the war. The hostilities have wiped out the engagements Russia offered to make with Japan regarding Korea and Manchuria. Russia will consider herself free to impose such terms as she desires.

It is said that the emperor, replying to Viceroy Alexeieff's application for leave, has telegraphed his refusal, adding that he hoped the viceroy would be able to send good news soon.

Feigner, the most celebrated tenor of the imperial opera, who is an officer of the naval reserves, has been called to the colors.

A St. Petersburg report says General Kuropatkin has played a strong card in the game of strategy. A large portion of General Rennenkampff's Cossack cavalry division has been thrown across the upper reaches of the Yalu, and a considerable force of cavalry which crossed the Tumen some time ago is moving down to the southwest to effect a juncture with it. Together with this force, which it is believed totals 2,000 men, he will threaten Lieutenant General Inouye's left flank when the Japanese are ready to cross lower down on the Yalu. Being composed of cavalry, with a few mountain guns, Rennenkampff's force is extremely mobile. Unless it should be dislodged it will compel the Japanese to leave a very strong army to guard the communications, whereas if a Japanese force should be sent to drive it out it would have to move directly away from the main army, while the Russian army, if compelled to fall back, can recross in the direction of the Russian troops concentrated in Manchuria.

General Kuropatkin, it is believed in the highest military circles here, is destined to become commander in chief of all the emperor's forces, both military and naval, in the far east.

Admiral Alexeieff may remain there for some little time as viceroy, but his reign is considered practically ended. He will not be humiliated, but in order to effect harmonious relations a way will be found to secure his elimination.

The emperor has received the following telegram from General Kuropatkin:

"General Sassulitch reports that the Japanese have been observed landing pontoon material and collecting boats in preparation for the construction of bridges in the neighborhood of Wiju and also near the village of Sigou, ten miles farther up the river.

"A Japanese detachment consisting of two companies of infantry and a small body of cavalry has crossed the Yalu ten miles below Siaopoussikhe. General Sassulitch immediately re-enforced the cordons on our front. Small parties of the enemy have been seen preparing to cross elsewhere in that vicinity."

A dispatch from Port Arthur denies a report that 20,000 Japanese have landed at Dalny.

Gordon McKay's Will Probated.

BOSTON, April 26.—The will of the late Gordon McKay of Newport, which provides for a bequest of over $1,000,000 for Harvard university, has been allowed by Judge Grant of the Suffolk county probate court. Miss Harriet Abbott, a distant relative who had contested the will, appeared in court and withdrew all objection. Another relative who had remonstrated against the probating of the will was not represented.

SING SING FOR LIFE.

McNamara Confessed to Murder of Captain Jennings.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Frank McNamara, who shot and killed Captain George R. Jennings, president of the Jennings Adjustable Shade company of Brooklyn, pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree when arraigned for trial here. He will be sentenced to Sing Sing for life next Monday.

Henry F. Cook, secretary and treasurer of the Fahys Watch Case company, Chicago, where McNamara was employed as assistant foreman for fifteen years, charged McNamara with having stolen $5,000 worth of gold from the factory during the last three years of his employment. He gathered the sweepings from the floor and sold them to a Chicago jewelry firm. For his last theft McNamara received a draft for $2,200. He was then in Brooklyn and induced Captain Jennings, who knew of nothing wrong in the matter, to allow the draft to be deposited to his account in the Borough bank. It was then agreed that McNamara should withdraw the money in sums of $500. Later Jennings discovered how McNamara obtained the money and refused to let him have any more of it until he had obtained a release from the Fahys company.

McNamara then made up his mind to kill Jennings and did so when he next visited Brooklyn. Jennings was formerly an officer in the Fourteenth regiment.

SARTORIS—NOUFFLARD.

Great Social Event In American Colony at "Gay Paree."

PARIS, April 26.—The civil ceremony of the marriage of Captain Algernon Sartoris, grandson of the late General Grant, and Mlle. Germaine Cecile Nouffiard, a niece of Charles E. Halle, the artist, director of the New gallery, London, and granddaughter of Sir John Hallo took place here.

The interesting religious marriage ceremony, to which the entire American colony is looking forward, will take place tomorrow in the Church of St. Honore d'Eylau. The bridesmaids will be Mlle. Nouffiard and Mlle. Marguerite Nouffiard, sisters of the bride; Miss Marthe Mathey and Miss Lillie, an American girl who recently made her debut at the Grand Opera. The ushers will be A. H. Sartoris, a cousin of the groom; Maurice Nouffiard, a brother of the bride, and Sir Frederick Robinson.

JEALOUS WOMAN'S CRIME.

Mrs. Powell Confessed to Killing of Essie Albin.

DOVER, Del., April 26.—Mrs. Mary A. Powell has confessed to the murder of Essie Albin, her foster daughter, at the Powell home near Bowers Beach. The confession was made shortly after the grand jury had returned a true bill of indictment against Mrs. Powell.

The murder of Miss Albin was unusually brutal. Her body, which was cut and bruised in scores of places, had been dragged from the cellar to the attic of the Powell home. Suspicion rested upon Mrs. Powell, as she was the only person who had been seen about the house on the morning the murder occurred. She was arrested on the day of Miss Albin's funeral, but maintained that she was innocent up to the time of her confession. Jealousy is said to have prompted the crime.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

Dainty Lingerie Affairs to Be Worn Under Short Coats.

Under the new short boleros will be worn some very smart specimens of batiste shirt waists ornamented with valenciennes lace and embroideries or quaint muslin embroideries. Handmade French blouses, although expensive at first, are well worth the initial cost, for they clean beautifully and can be worn many times for many different occasions.

The transparent lace waist lined with chiffon and worn over an elaborate silk corset cover is another feature of the smart woman's wardrobe.

Black waists of net chantilly and crepe de chine are always smart with full veiling skirts.

The black silk coat is here with us again, only the silk is softer, and the trimming oftener than not is in the shape of wide bands of shirring.

Gray is the leading color for present wear, and the new tints range from almost white to gun metal. There are also greenish grays, and grays with quite a violet tone, so that every complexion can be suited.

A blouse of black crepe de chine, with a very deep yoke of ecru lace, has closely gauged sleeves falling over the elbow in wide puffs, with a deep shaped cuff of lace reaching nearly to the elbow. Small bows of narrow green velvet ribbon conceal the front fastening of the blouse and are set closely down each cuff, to reappear in a shorter line at the back of the swathed belt.

The cut shows a gray shirt waist trimmed with scarlet plaid and worn with a scarlet tie and belt.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE SUMMER WARDROBE.

Brown Will Be Worn a Great Deal. Cream Lace and Jet Robes.

Brown will continue to be worn all summer. It will be seen mainly in lustrous silk in the form of shirt waist suits and tailor mades. Brown in its reddish tints will also be a smart trimming for pongee dresses.

All shades of blue are very smart, from the baby tones used to trim lace gowns so effectively to the darker tones so useful for tailor mades. Green in bright emerald and in soft olive promises to be very much in vogue for summer silks.

For evening wear cream lace gowns embroidered in silver are very beautiful, and black chantilly over white is always smart as well as serviceable. Dead white lace is equally smart, but it is very trying to most women.

Heavy embroideries are quite the most up to date trimmings. Pastel cloth gowns are trimmed with combinations of pale tints. Silver and gold threads are often introduced into the more elaborate ornamentations.

Jet robes most fancifully made up are both pretty and serviceable. They have large sleeves of kilted chiffon cut so as to reveal the bare arm at its best.

A smart coat seen recently was made shorter at the back than in the front, and it was so slashed that it showed the dainty blouse under it. It had no collar, and the square cut fronts hung loose.

Liberty satin and liberty foulards make pretty little street dresses, with shallow yokes or pointed collars of embroidery, the same embroidery appearing also on the sleeves.

The picture shows a white veiling gown made over white taffeta and trimmed with cream lace. The cream hat is draped with similar lace.

Rostand Made New Record.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Before one of the largest crowds that ever passed through the gates of the Metropolitan Jockey club F. R. Doctor's Rostand, with Phillips in the saddle, won the Excelsior handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, at Jamaica, with P. S. P. Randolph's Red Knight, paying 3 to 1 for the place, second and W. L. Oliver's Lord Badge third. The time, 1:45 3-5, is a new record for the track and also for the stake. The best previous time was made by the late W. C. Whitney's Blackstock last year. Oarsman, the favorite, after running a good race, finished fourth.

Mauser Won the Feature.

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—Mauser won the feature of Kinloch's racing card here. Mauser had no trouble in beating Jack Young and South Breeze five lengths at the finish. The track, already soft, was made much worse by Sunday's rain. A great deal of money was taken out of the ring by the victory of Uncle Charley in the third race.

Murderer Used Pitchfork and Pistol.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 26.—Dennis Griffin, a laborer, was fatally shot shortly before 6 o'clock by an Italian named Russo. Griffin went to the yardmaster of a Sheldon street lumber yard to draw some pay and while returning stopped in a house owned by Russo. Russo, it is alleged, set upon Griffin with a pitchfork in an attempt to drive him from the premises and struck the latter on the shoulder, knocking him down. While Griffin was on the ground Russo drew a revolver and, it is claimed, fired point blank at his victim, the ball entering between the tenth and eleventh ribs. Griffin cannot recover.

Rochester Factory Burned.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 26.—A loss of $25,000 has been caused here by a fire in the four story factory building at the corner of Mill and Furnace streets, occupied by the American Drafting and Furniture company and several other firms. The fire started in the elevator shaft. Its origin is unknown. A mass of electric light and telephone wires obstructed the firemen so that it was almost impossible for them to bring their apparatus into use. Burning oils and paint caused a heavy smoke, in which several firemen were overcome.

Business Men Favor Reciprocity.

BOSTON, April 26.—A petition signed by 35,140 business men of Massachusetts, said to represent every branch of industry and asking the Boston Chamber of Commerce to undertake an agitation for reciprocity, particularly with Canada and Newfoundland, has been received by the president of that body, Henry M. Whitney. The petition is the result of a canvass made by advocates of reciprocity.

Mrs. Jex Wants Her $38,265.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Harry J. Hume, a former member of the New York police force and later a real estate agent in Broadway, has been arrested at Oceanport, N. J., charged with the larceny of $38,265 from Mrs. Mary Jex of this city. The warrant was issued on Nov. 29, 1903, and since then Hume has eluded the officers who have been looking for him.

Suicide Was Martha Hanlon.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., April 26.—The body of the young woman known as Martha Bond, who committed suicide by poison after shooting her pet dog, has been identified as that of Martha Hanlon, who until recently was employed in a restaurant in Cincinnati and whose family is said to live in that city.

A Cruise Around South Africa.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Rear Admiral Chadwick, commander in chief of the south Atlantic squadron, has telegraphed the navy department that the squadron will leave Pensacola on the 28th inst. for the cruise around South Africa by way of the Suez, thence to Bahia.

Navigation Open on Lake Erie.

BUFFALO, April 26.—Navigation from this port is now open, a Marquette and Bessemer collier having cleared for Conneaut, O. The lake is still full of ice, and the vessel had gone only about ten miles at 7 o'clock. Last year navigation opened on April 1.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THIS INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Great Battleships Soon to Become Obsolete.

SUBMARINES WILL TAKE THEIR PLACE

Russo-Japanese War Has Demonstrated That Lofty Warships Once Hurt Can Fight No Longer and Entomb Their Crews.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Whether the president shall order the construction of the battleship provided for in the naval appropriation bill or wait until the war in the far east demonstrates the comparative utility of the big sea fighter and the torpedo boat or submarine craft was a question raised in the senate by Mr. Hale of Maine on the adoption of the conference report. It was developed that the language of the bill was permissive and that the president and secretary of the navy could defer action if they deem it advisable.

Mr. Hale declared that if he were secretary of the navy he should not dare to go on now and commit the government to the building of an immense battleship, for it would not surprise him if events of the Russian-Japanese war demonstrated that the $150,000,000 paid for big battleships were a bad investment for this government. Several other senators counseled delay.

Senator Hale said:

"Under the light of events in the east and the very remarkable developments in naval warfare, if the matter had been open I should certainly have been in favor of striking out of the bill the provision for the battleship. I may say that if I were secretary of the navy in the present condition I should not dare to go on and commit the government to the building of another immense battleship costing $8,000,000.

"The trouble with the great, immense, lofty battleship, which does not look like a ship, but a great fortification, is that when she is hurt she can fight no longer. Other structures may be hurt, may be splintered, may be damaged, but they keep on fighting.

"But if an explosion takes place through hurried firing in a turret it is more than likely to ignite the magazine, and the whole ship is blown into the air and everybody killed.

"Aside from occurrences in the east, where large Russian battleships have been disabled and put out of service, we have had three explosions on our own battleships within a year—on the Iowa, Massachusetts and Missouri."

Senator Stewart said the battleship would soon be an engine of the past, and submarine craft will take its place.

No Attempt on Loubet's Life.

ROME, April 26.—The report sent from Rome to Berlin and circulated on the Paris bourse and which was also circulated in the United States that there was a plot against the life of President Loubet and that an attempt had been made to assassinate him is without foundation. The report may perhaps have originated in the fact that a French priest went to the office of the Italia, where, becoming excited, he cried that he had come to Rome to kill President Loubet. The editor of the Italia sent for the police, but before they arrived the priest had disappeared. The police then arrested several priests, but in none of them could the staff of the Italia recognize the excited clergyman who had visited the office. All search for this priest has up to the present proved unavailing.

Strike Situation at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 26.—There have been no accessions to the ranks of the striking employees in the shops of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, and there was no demonstration on the part of the strikers or their sympathizers who are not on strike. The machinists, who were thought to be preparing to go out, are at work, but none will say that they will not ultimately join the boilermakers, because it is feared complications may rise about the point of nonunion employees being at work in the same shops with the union machinists and steam fitters.

Application Denied.

NEWARK, N. J., April 26. — Vice Chancellor Bergen has denied the application of the Continental Securities company for an injunction restraining the Northern Securities company from distributing its assets in accordance with the plan formulated by the directors within a week after the United States supreme court rendered its decision declaring the formation of the corporation unconstitutional.

Martial Law For Hungary.

VIENNA, April 26.—The Hungarian situation is regarded here as alarming. The Socialists threaten to proclaim a general strike throughout the country, and in such an event it is stated in political circles that Count Tisza, the Hungarian premier, will put the whole kingdom under martial law.

Negro Hanged In Meridian, Miss.

MERIDIAN, Miss., April 26.—B. P. Paris, a negro, has been hanged here for the murder of J. Stockton, a railway mail clerk. The murder attracted much attention at the time on account of Governor Vardaman's successful efforts to prevent the lynching of Paris.

PLAINFIELD HIGH WINS

FIRST CHAMPIONSHIP GAME IN SERIES WITH LEAL'S SCHOOL.

The first of a series of games between teams from the Plainfield High School and Leal's School for the championship of the city was played on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon, resulting in a victory for the High School boys by a score of 17 to 4. Each team was well represented by "rooters" and the contest was a lively one from start to finish.

Features of the game were the pitching of Lovell and Abbott, of Leal's School. They held their opponents down to six hits, while Smith, of the High School, allowed only five hits. Both teams shows weakness in batting and questionable decisions by the umpires at critical points were partially responsible for the large score. The error column shows that Leal's team run up a total of fifteen, while the opposing team made seven.

The Pingry School baseball team, of Elizabeth, defeated the team from the Carteret High School on Saturday by a score of 28 to 0. Only seven innings were played.

Although Manager Denman was pleased that his team won Saturday's contest with the Seventh Regiment aggregation, he was disappointed in the showing made by the members of New York's National Guard. The contest was too much one-sided.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The members of the Interscholastic League, composed of Leal's School, of this city; Pingry, of Elizabeth; Newark Academy, Montclair High School and Carteret High School, have decided to wait until fall before arranging athletic events. This action is taken because all of the schools have fixed their baseball games for this season. In the fall a series of football games and other events will be arranged.

ROYAL ARCANUMITES ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

K. of C. Hall is Thronged by Guests of Prosperous Greenbrook Council, No. 1725.

A JOLLY GOOD TIME

THE AFFAIR IS ENJOYED BY THE LARGE ASSEMBLAGE.

Similar Affair to be Given in June—Committee in Charge, of Which Russell Hazard is Chairman—The Programme.

Under the auspices of Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, Royal Arcanum, one of the best entertainments of the season was given last night in Knights of Columbus Hall. There were over six hundred guests and a number of persons had to be turned away. From the time that James and John Galvin appeared in their amusing specialties, until a feast of good things was served by the committee in charge, the Arcanumites were considered the best of entertainers.

There were songs and dancing by Harold Willard, recitations by Miss Adele vonOhl, banjo and dulcimer selections by Charles Henn and Fred Finigan gave his famous dutch dialect sketch. William Jeffery won applause in singing "For Sale, a Baby," illustrated, the slides being operated by William Schorb. Mrs. A. E. Willard gave her fire dance and the entertainment was concluded with a laughable farce, entitled "Hector," presented by Fred Long, A. E. Willard, Mrs. Fred Long, Mrs. A. E. Willard, Miss Clara Kester, Mortimer Slater, Fred Huff, Walter Emmons and Fred Finigan. During the evening Grand Vice Regent James Rogers, of Cranford, made an address.

The committee in charge was composed of Russell Hazard, chairman; Horace Conover, John Dickson, William C. Force and Charles Messersmith. A similar affair will be given during the early part of June. Dancing will be a feature.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

George Johnston, manager of the Alis Club ball team, received the third degree at the meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., last night. Others who received the same degree were William VanCourt and A B. VanSickel.

Because the Modern Woodmen of America is aiming to report a membership of 1,000,000 at its head camp meeting to be held in Milwaukee in May, 1905, the members of other orders are speculating as to what methods are employed by this organization to warrant the hope that such a task will be accomplished. According to the official reports made for March 31, there are now 752,045 members enrolled. Of this army all but about 50,000 have been "adopted" within the past ten years.

St. Tammany's day, the red letter day in the calendar of every member of the Improved Order of Red Men in New Jersey, will be celebrated in Camden Thursday, May 12, with the biggest demonstration the order has ever held in the State. There will be a whole grist of star attractions, including a street parade, in which hundreds of "Indians" in war paint and full warpath regalia, will march to music of a number of the leading bands of the State. As one of the leading Red Men cities in the State, Plainfield will take a leading part in the celebration and will send good delegations from all the local tribes. Many of the big Red Men in this city will go to Camden on that day.

NELSON A. MILLER, PRESIDENT OF CONCERN

Boroughite Head of Adder Machine Company, Which Has Increased Its Capital.

PLANT IS AT DETROIT

THE DEVICE HAS AN UNIQUE TYPEWRITER ATTACHMENT.

A Description of the Machine—The Capitalization of the Enterprise is Now $750,000.

Branching out to manufacture another computing machine, the Adder Machine Company, of which Nelson A. Miller, of North Plainfield, is president, has increased its capital from $20,000 to $750,000.

Mr. Miller has just returned from a trip to Detroit, Mich., where the Adder Machine plant is located, to preside at a meeting of the managing directors.

The directors voted to centralize the manufacture of the concern's patents in Detroit. These patents now include a recently invented attachment for typewriters that is regarded as a remarkable device. It is known as the Lotterhead Typewriters—adding machine, and it tabulates and adds mechanically. It is said to be a wonderful contrivance and the one of its kind in existence.

The Lotterhead machine can be placed under any good typewriter and will give the total of a column of figures written by the typewriter, making it an unique and very useful machine. The typewriter will not be changed in any way, and may be used for all ordinary work as if the adding mechanism were not attached. The attaching process is very simple mechanically and anyone can make the connection.

The machine possesses two complete sets of numeral wheels, one for the items to be added and the other for the totals. Should an operator make an error in any part of a column of figures, the item can be erased from the sheet and thrown out of the adding machine without disturbing the total. There is nothing of this kind on the market today, although the typewriter people have been working for years to invent something of the kind. The attachment transforms a typewriter into a billing or listing adder.

GIRL SUES FOR DIVORCE

MRS. CORINTHIA E. BARTLE ALLEGES DESERTION AGAINST HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Corinthia Elizabeth Bartle, of North Plainfield, has made arrangements to bring suit for absolute divorce against her husband, Edward Marshall Bartle. Mrs. Bartle is twenty years old.

In the Court of Chancery on Monday, Chancellor Magie ordered that John M. Soborb, Jr., the girl's father, be appointed to sue for the divorce as "her next friend." This action was necessary because the young wife is a minor in the eyes of the law.

Mrs. Bartle deposes that she and Bartle were married here on February 5, 1901. They lived for six months in Martinville, she asserts, and then he deserted her. She returned to her father's home for support, and Bartle, it is alleged, has continued his desertion ever since.

EXPRESS CRASHES INTO FLYER ON P. R. R.

Fireman Killed and Over a Score Injured in Wreck at Elizabeth.

FAULT OF ENGINEER

AUTOMATIC SIGNAL CHANGES TOO LATE TO AVOID TROUBLE?

Jacob Letts, of Long Branch, Dead—Some of the Injured Passengers—How the Accident Happened.

The Long Branch express on the Pennsylvania Railroad, which left Jersey City at 3:53 o'clock yesterday afternoon, ran into the Florida express, which had become detached from the locomotive, just south of the Elizabeth station at 4:30.

The fireman of the Long Branch train was killed and a score of passengers of the Long Branch train were more or less injured. The only one whose injuries were serious was the Rev. Mr. Kelly, of Asbury Park, who was taken to the Elizabeth Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. No one was injured on the Florida express, which went on its way soon after the accident.

The collision appears to have been the fault of Engineer Lawlor, of the Long Branch train, who failed to slow up when he got a green signal a quarter of a mile from where the Florida express was waiting for its engine to come back. Lawlor's explanation is that his brakes didn't work well and the color signal changed too late. Those who saw the accident say that Lawlor's train was going thirty miles an hour when it crashed into the train ahead.

The Florida express, consisting of eight Pullman sleepers and a baggage car, had just rounded the sharp curve an eighth of a mile south of the station, when, according to the explanation of the trainmen, the air pipes between the engine and the train broke. This set the brakes automatically, with the result that the coupling with the engine broke.

The Florida express was going fifty miles an hour at the time and the engine ran to South Elizabeth before it could be stopped. It was backing toward the train when the Long Branch express came along.

The stalled train had stopped just within a new block, which set a red signal at that point and a green signal at the signal tower at Mary street, a quarter of a mile away. The Long Branch train doesn't stop at Elizabeth and it went past the station without any noticeable slackening of speed. The engineer, it is thought, failed to head the green, or "slow up" signal, while the curve shut off his view of the stalled train. The red signal which means "stop," he saw but not in time to avoid the collision.

With a crash that could be heard by a crowd who were at the station, the Long Branch train sailed into the train of Pullmans, telescoping the sleeper England, which was on the tail end. The engine ploughed half way through that car.

Fireman Jacob Letts, of the Long Branch train had seen the danger first and yelled to Engineer N. J. Lawlor to jump. Both of them leaped just before the engine struck the car. Letts landed on the picket fence separating the passenger tracks from the freight tracks and was hurled under the train, his body being frightfully mangled. He was 29 years old and lived at Point Pleasant.

Lawlor jumped from the other window of the cab and rolled down an embankment, escaping with only a few slight scratches. He jumped up again and ran back to his engine to shut off the steam and prevent an explosion. There the rescuers found him.

There were no passengers in the Pullman. George Robinson, the porter, was standing in the aisle when the engine of the train ploughed into his car. He was knocked head over heels, and when he woke up the engine was hissing within a few feet of him. He went on with the train, however, after his car had been detached.

The collision shook up the passengers in the two forward coaches of the Long Branch train and broke a lot of windows. Mr. Kelly was sitting in the second coach from the engine and was thrown across the aisle and against a seat. Among the others injured were Henry O. Goldsmith, of the Wall Street Information Bureau,

"ONE SWEET SONG" LASTING FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Barkalew Observe the Golden Anniversary of Their Wedding.

PLEASANT CELEBRATION

RELATIVES AND FRIENDS GATHER TO CONGRATULATE AGED COUPLE.

Presents for the Couple—Sketch of Their Careers—Some of Those Who Were Present.

The completion of fifty years of happy married life was pleasantly observed last night by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Barkalew, at their home in Lincoln place. Surrounded by relatives, friends and neighbors, the occasion was one not soon to be forgotten. There were many unique features to mark the event as one of the important milestones in the journey of the bride and groom, who are held in high esteem by a host of friends.

The celebration recalled to the minds of a few, April 26, 1854, on which date the couple were married. There were just four persons present, Mrs. William H. Shotwell, a sister of Mrs. Barkalew; Mrs. J. Wesley Johnson, a cousin, Miss Isabelle Barkalew, a sister and Richard Barkalew, a brother of Mr. Barkalew, who were guests at the wedding fifty years ago and one other person, Richard E. Coriell, who with the other four, were present at the home-bringing held in this city after the wedding.

Hearty congratulations were given, both young and old joining in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Barkalew many happy returns. The bride and groom though past the allotted time of three-score and ten, did not look their age and they participated in the festivities with as much enthusiasm as the youngest of the guests.

The home was attractive in appropriate decorations of golden colors, this arrangement being carried out in the parlor and dining room. In the parlor, where the bride and groom received with Mr. and Mrs. David M. Rosenthal, their neighbors, there was an effective decoration of potted plants, smilax and roses in a bow window, while the smilax and yellow chrysanthemums were arranged about the room. In the dining room there were also yellow chrysanthemums, extending from each corner to the chandelier in the centre, while the balustrade in the hall covered with smilax and white roses formed a pleasing combination. In receiving, the bride carried a bouquet of white roses, the gift of Dr. Norman H. Probasco.

At the appointed hour of 9 o'clock a number of taps were sounded on a small bell, reputed to be seventy-five years old. This bell was part of an old-fashioned grandfather clock and when made a five dollar gold piece was cast in it. The taps were the signal for the guests to gather in the parlor, where Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, offered a very tender and appropriate prayer.

This was followed with the reading of a short sketch by Mr. Barkalew, in which he expressed the appreciation of his wife and himself to those present. This sketch contained many tender sentiments and there were not a few moistened eyes while it was being read. An unusual feature in connection with the wedding, mentioned by Mr. Barkalew, was that in the small village where the couple was married, the neighbors were nearly all relatives and nearly all attended the wedding. At present there is only one person living in that town now that witnessed the ceremony. In conclusion the guests were thanked for their presence and kind remembrances.

The rest of the evening was spent in sociability, during which a bountiful repast was served. Before the guests departed each one appended his or her name in a book to be kept by the couple as a pleasant reminder of the occasion, together with the valuable tokens received from relatives and friends. These included a gift of fifty dollars in gold from the groom to the bride, one for each year. There were other gold coins, gold thimbles, dishes, spoons, forks, pitchers, clock and a thermometer among the handsome presents, together with pictures and other treasures.

Mr. and Mrs. Barkalew were married at the home of the bride in Seigletown, Warren county, April 26, 1854, the bride being Miss Emeline Staats. She was born at Bloomsbury, Hunterdon county, while Mr. Barkalew is a native of Dunellen. Rev. Mr. Hand, of the Presbyterian church, near Seigletown, performed the ceremony. After the wedding the couple came here and resided on Somerset street. Mr. Barkalew followed the business of a contractor most of his life and has always lived in this vicinity. He was a Freeholder in Somerset county for three years and upon retirement was presented with a handsome rocking chair by the Board. For years he has been president of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association and years ago was president of the American Mutual Insurance Company, of Plainfield. He was also a volunteer fireman and is now one of the most active members of the Exempt Firemen's Association, of this city, having served efficiently as its president. The couple are both actively interested in the First Baptist church and attend the services regularly.

They have two children, Mrs. F. W. Dunn and Milton C. Barkalew; four grandchildren, the Misses Daisy and Loraine Dunn, Wesley Dunn, children of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Dunn; Marguerite Barkalew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Barkalew; and one great-grandchild, Wesley Dunn, Jr. All but the last named were present and he was detained on account of the weather. Among the guests was Joseph McKeal, of Philadelphia, a cousin of Mr. Barkalew's father. Prior to a year ago the two had not seen each other for sixty years.

These persons were present at the reception: Mr. and Mrs. Oliver B. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace Coriell, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Probasco, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Codington, Rev. and Mrs. Wm. E. Honeyman, Mrs. Nelson VanWinkle, Miss Mary E. Holton, Mrs. Mary B. Gillies, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Mackillop, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leader, Miss Addie Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Laing, Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Staats, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. David M. Rosenthal, Mrs. C. M. Drake, Miss May E. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley J. Dunn, H. M. Estil, Miss Josephine Kissam, Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Barkalew, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shotwell, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Clawson, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman J. Shotwell, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Smalley, Sr., Lorraine W. Dunn, Marguerite K. Barkalew, Miss Daisy Dunn, of this city; Miss Adelaide P. Baxter, of Trenton; Joseph McKeal, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Barkalew, of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Barkalew received presents from cousins in San Diego, Cal., whom they have not seen in twenty-five years.

CHURCH SOCIETY'S ELECTION

ANNUAL MEETING OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

The annual election of officers of the First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Sarah Ross, in East Fifth street. The meeting was well attended. This organization is planning to hold a lawn party early in the spring, but as yet no definite place has been determined upon, although it is safe to say that it will take place.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. S. D. Kelley; vice president, Mrs. Poiniere; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Robertson, and secretary, Mrs. Ralph Miner. At the conclusion of the business matters refreshments were served and a general social time enjoyed.

A Theatre Party.

Instead of a rehearsal at the Casino this evening all those who are to play speaking parts in the charity production of "The Taming of the Shrew," May 5 the 7, have gone to the Irving Place Theatre, New York, to witness the production of "Bazaehmte Widerspenstige." This is a German version of the Shakespearean comedy. The party will be the guests of W. L. Saunders.

Fowler in Race.

It is now given out that Congressman Fowler will entertain his Elizabethport constituents at a grand soiree or something of that sort at his home tonight. The report that Mr. Fowler had retired from the race for a renomination and had taken up his permanent residence in Connecticut must have been one of those wooden nutmeg fakes.—Newark News.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS DELIGHT AUDIENCE

Production at Park Club in Which Members Display Decided Histronic Ability.

TWO FARCES GIVEN

GYPSY DANCE BRINGS STORM OF APPLAUSE.

"Too Many Cooks" and "My Turn Next" Keep Spectators in One Continuous Uproar of Laughter—Those in the Cast.

Not in vain was the new stage built at the Park Club. The members who appeared in the amateur theatricals and gypsy dance there, last night, demonstrated to how much delightful use it can be put. Two farces were rendered, and no better amateur theatrical performance has been seen here in many a year. And the dance was as great a success as the farces.

There was a large audience present, in spite of the rain. The advance sale of seats was heavy and the financial side of the enterprise was as satisfactory as the artistic side. The money realized very fittingly goes to pay for the recent improvements to the clubhouse, of which the stage was a large part.

"Too Many Cooks," a bright little skit on the servant problem, was the first number on the programme. It was short and had but two characters, but it furnished a wealth of amusement. Miss Helen Phillips and Miss Isabel Milne appeared in it.

"Mrs. Ingleby," (Miss Phillips) an old lady of the ante-bellum sort, loses her ancient family servant and goes in search of a cook at an employment bureau. She has been warned by her friends that modern cooks are very different from the old style, and she doesn't know quite what to expect. At the agency she meets "Miss Maude Chesney, (Miss Milne) a stylish young woman, who is also searching for a cook. Each mistake the other for the looked-for domestic, and the mix-up in cross-questioning is very funny.

Both the young women in the cast were clever to a high degree, and carried out the situation in a way that compelled laughter and applause at every turn of the plot. The piece was well staged.

The gypsy dance which followed the "Cooks," was a gorgeous spectacle. Eighteen young men and women, in the picturesque, multicolored costumes of the wandering folk, danced a charming series of measures. Changing colored lights flashed on the dancers, and added to the beauty of the spectacle. Miss Edna Rothard, a young Newark girl, as queen of the band, danced a measure gracefully alone, and then Ralph E. Hallock, "attendant to the queen," joined her in a toreador dance.

Storms of applause rewarded the dancers, and insistent demands for an encore compelled a repetition of the dance in toto. The gypsies were:

Miss Sophie Barlow, Miss Adelaide Elsberg, Mrs. William M. McCutchen, Miss Norma Northrop, Dewitt Brokaw, Charles Dupee, Lawrence Houghey, Harry L. McGee, Miss Elsie Brokaw, Miss Saidee Mae Howell, Miss Ethel Most, Miss Mary E. Valiant, Morris Dumont, George Dupee, William F. Hobbie, Jr., Lewis Williams, Miss Edna Rothard, Ralph E. Hallock. Mrs. N. A. Miller acted as accompanist for the dance.

"My Turn Next," the principal theatrical offering, was presented last. It kept the audience laughing continually and every one in the cast was warmly applauded. They all deserved it. This was the cast:

Taraxicum Twitters, a village apothecary, W. M. McGee; Tim Bolus, his professional assistant, C. E. Murray; Tom Trap, a commercial traveller, Clarence Case; Farmer Wheatear, S. F. Weaver; Lydia, Twitters' wife, Mrs. S. F. Weaver; Cicely, her sister, Mrs. E. T. Wilson; Peggy, Twitters' servant, Miss Mabel VanDeventer.

"Mrs. Twitters" (Mrs. Weaver) had been the wife of one "Brown of Bayonne." "Brown" was always in debt and frequently "jumped" towns and changed his name to escape creditors. "Tapp," "Wheatear" and "Peggy" each recognize Mrs. Twitters under a different name. Each tells the fidgity old apothecary that the late husband "disappeared mysteriously," and "Twitters" is certain his wife is a female Bluebeard and "its his turn next." Everything she does confirms him in the suspicion, and the situations resulting for the misunderstand-

PAINTERS' STRIKE IS NOW AT AN END

Journeymen Accept Bosses' Proposition to Increase the Wages Five Cents a Day.

STRIKE LEADER KICKS

MEN NOW TO RECEIVE THIRTY-FIVE CENTS AN HOUR.

Newark Plan Agreed Upon—Dispute Over One Clause in Bosses Letter of Agreement—Woolston Talks.

The painters' strike, begun a few weeks ago, was ended last night by a vote of the members of the local union of painters, paper-hangers and decorators. The proposition made by the bosses to pay thirty-five cents an hour has been accepted and it is expected that today or tomorrow many of the journeymen will be back at their old jobs. This proposition is known as the Orange and Newark plan. It means an increase of five cents a day. The men were receiving $2.75 a day. A provision that the bosses be allowed to hire any men they please is still disputed. Harry Moulton, president of the Journeymen's Union, when he discovered at the meeting that a majority of the members voted to accept the proposition of the bosses, he resigned. It was reported this morning that he and Clarence Mundy would continue to run the co-operative shop on West Second street.

L. B. Woolston, of the firm of Woolston & Buckle, in speaking of the affair today, said: "They told the public that the bosses were overcharging for work, while their plea to the bosses was that they were not charging enough. This only caused injury to themselves and their own cause."

THE OLD FIRE TRUCK MOVED

ZEPHYR HOOK AND LADDER TRANSFERRED TO THE BOROUGH HOUSE.

The old Zephyr truck was moved to its new quarters in the borough fire house yesterday afternoon, from the West Fourth street house, where it has been stored since the big Hayes machine supplanted it.

No driver has been assigned to it yet, but Lieutenant Campbell will probably fill that position. There is some trepidation about taking the tiller among the men, but the knack of guiding the heavy rear wheels will not be likely to escape some one of the men long.

TO TEST ALL THE BOXES

BOROUGH FIRE ALARM SYSTEM WILL HAVE A THOROUGH TRY-OUT.

There will be a bell-ringing bee in the borough tomorrow if the weather is nice. Unless the rain continues, every fire alarm box in the municipality will be tested.

Working together, Electrician John McCullough and the representative of the Gamewell Company, have put the system about half-way toward perfect shape, and they want to find out just where they are at before proceeding further.

J. M. Carney's Funeral.

The funeral services of John M. Carney will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the late residence, 303 Central avenue, and at 9:30 from St. Mary's church, where a solemn requiem mass will be said for the repose of the soul. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

More Than One Hundred and Thirty Present—President of Boys' Department and Others Make Addresses.

The boys' department of the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. held a banquet last evening, in the association gymnasium, and was a successful affair. It was in charge of the social committee of the Women's Auxiliary, of which Mrs. J. W. Gavett is the chairman.

The gymnasium was draped with the National flags and the colors of the Y. M. C. A. Francis K. Anderson acted as toastmaster for the occasion, and William D. Murray, chairman of the International committee on boys' work, made a short address. George M. Rittenhouse, Jr., read the report on the religious work; Harold Robins, the report on outing work, and William D. Taylor read the report of the rooms' committee.

Howard Freeman, president of the boys' department, also made a short address. The boys were entertained by H. B. Caser, reader, and Leonard Gavett, who did some magic work. Short speeches were also delivered by Stephen Cahoone, president of the local association; Orra Rogers, chairman of the boys' committee, L. H. Bigiow, Jr., and Dr. N. H. Probasco.

The banquet was attended by more than 130 and the evening was enjoyably spent.

FULL VALUATION OF PROPERTY

STATE BOARD OF TAXATION ADDRESSES LETTER TO COLLECTORS ON SUBJECT.

The State Board of Taxation will shortly send a circular letter to every tax assessor and collector in New Jersey. This letter is designed to bring about adherence to greater equality in computing taxes on all property in this State. Justice Lippincott is quoted in the letter and it also calls attention to the duty of assessors to make a "full and fair" valuation of all property. In part the circular reads as follows:

"Section 2 of the act of 1903 provides that 'all property, real and personal, within the jurisdiction of this State, not expressly exempted by this act or excluded from its operation, shall be subject to annual taxation at its true value under this act.' Each and every assessor is required to take affidavit, to the duplicate, 'that the foregoing list contains the valuations made by me, to the best of my ability, of all of the property liable to taxation in the taxing district in which I am assessor * * * and that I have valued the same without favor or partiality, at its full and fair value, at such price as in my judgment it would sell for at a fair sale by private contract on the twentieth day of May.' In addition to this section 62 further provides that any 'assessor who shall wilfully or through gross negligence omit to make a full and fair valuation of all property taxable in his taxing district within the time prescribed by law, or to prepare and produce his list and his duplicate at the time required by law, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.'

"As stated by Justice Lippincott: 'The duty is a plain one—to assess property uniformly and at its true value. There exists no such thing as a seventy per cent. or an eighty or fifty per cent. value. It is the true value under all the circumstances and surroundings of the property, and whenever a public officer, whose duty it is to assess, wilfully fixes a higher duty or a lower value than the true one, it is neglect of public duty and a misconduct in office. It is then wilful malfeasance or misfeasance, and the liability of a public official is the same in both cases.'"

FROWN ON BASEBALL PLAYING

POND COMPANY ORDERS PRACTICE STOPPED ON WORKS GROUNDS.

There is woe in the breasts of the baseball cranks at the Pond Machine Tool Co. plant. Their old privilege of playing the game on the company's grounds during noon hour has been abrogated.

The notice forbidding the practice was posted yesterday, to the consternation of the men. For the past five years they have been playing ball around the plant at lunch time, and the men are considerably upset over the new rule, which flatly forbids ball tossing anywhere on the Pond property.

To play the game the men must cross the track, a practice that is full of danger. Last year some of the men who played there had narrow escapes from injury under the wheels of passing trains. Traffic on the line is heavy at that time and there is always a helter-skelter scramble for the works when the whistle blows.

Firemen at Home.

The borough firemen have completed their moving from the old house to the new one. The men slept in the house for the first time Monday night.

The muster rolls will be examined by the inspector, and by him certified to as to the military appearance, condition of arms, equipments, clothing and company books.

JAPS IN MANCHURIA

Mikado's Army Said to Have Crossed the Yalu In Force.

SIXTY THOUSAND RUSSIANS ON RIVER

Togo Will Try to Cut Off Vladivostok Squadron That Attacked Gensan. Czar's Cruisers Are Swift and May Escape Them.

LONDON, April 27.—A Liaoyang dispatch says: Early Tuesday morning the Japanese forced a passage of the Yalu, two companies crossing between Tchangdjiou and Siaopoussikhe. Heavy firing has been heard near Tatungkau, on which it is believed the Japanese made a feint in order to detract attention from the real point of passage.

So far no bridge has been thrown across the river. It is believed the Russian fire has destroyed the floating bridges under construction.

Advices from St. Petersburg say the czar has received three official dispatches from the seat of war, two of which are understood to relate to fighting on the Yalu river.

The third is thought to be from the commander of the Vladivostok squadron confirming reports of the sinking of a Japanese transport of 600 tons at Gensan. The object of the squadron's cruise was to destroy all transports traversing the sea of Japan, show the Russian flag in Korean waters and impress the population advantageously, also compelling the Japanese to guard all their transport expeditions.

It is believed in military circles that the Japanese have commenced a movement to cross the Yalu river in force.

Advices from Mukden indicate that 40,000 Russians are occupying fortified positions along the Yalu river, and 20,000 are posted at Takushan, at the head of Korea bay, where the Japanese have threatened to make a landing.

The Russians also occupy the banks of the Tumen river, from the Russo-Korean frontier to Lake Taitji (Paiktousan), on the Mantchoo-Korean frontier, near the source of the Yalu. Detachments of Russian cavalry and light artillery hold the towns of Kiolin, Musan and Zunduyan, along the river, and points on the east coast of Korea offering facilities for landings.

A Kobe report says: Under full steam a strong squadron of Japanese armored cruisers was observed this morning making its way northward in the Japan sea. It is believed that the vessels are on their way to attempt to cut off the Russian squadron that appeared at Wonsan, on the east coast of Korea. It is feared, however, that as the czar's cruisers are superior in speed to those of the mikado they may escape in safety to the shelter of Vladivostok.

It is also stated that the Japanese have succeeded in luring the Russians from protection of the Vladivostok guns and that there is another Japanese squadron between them and their retreat.

Advices from St. Petersburg say the entrance into the service of a submarine flotilla at Port Arthur means the addition of a new and formidable weapon for the defense of that stronghold.

An effort now to close or blockade Port Arthur will be too dangerous for Vice Admiral Togo to attempt, as the fleet has been re-enforced with four submarine boats. The defenders of the port will be able to guard against Japanese submarine vessels entering the harbor and attacking the Russian ships at anchor.

The officials here are not certain that the Japanese have submarine boats, as they possessed none before the war, but since the beginning of hostilities they undoubtedly have laid down a number of them.

The Russian submarine boats may soon have an opportunity to demonstrate the value of their type in war, as the Japanese fleet is reported at Chefu, and the interval of time it is usually absent from Port Arthur has about expired.

Official circles are agog here over the movement for peace. The attitude of the emperor is thoroughly approved that mediation cannot be accepted and that Russia alone will determine when it is time to stop fighting. That time will not arrive until every Japanese soldier has been ejected from the continent.

It is stated in railway circles that the government has decided to double track the Transsiberian railway and that Prince Hilkoff, minister of railroads, has submitted to the emperor an estimate according to which this work can be completed in eighteen months.

British Steamer Takes Refugees.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Ambassador McCormick has cabled the state department from St. Petersburg that the United States commercial agent at Vladivostok reports that navigation is open to Korsakovsk, the town on the island of Sakhalin where the Japanese refugees were ordered to be collected for transportation from Siberia. The Japanese ministry already has informed the state department that his government has chartered a British steamer to bring away the Japanese. It will sail from Shanghai tomorrow.

To Stop the Baltic Squadron.

PARIS, April 27.—A rumor is current at Shanghai that Japan intends to occupy a portion of the Fukien coast opposite Formosa with the object of preventing the Russian Baltic squadron passing through the Formosa strait.

Typhoid Among German Troops.

BERLIN, April 27.—Typhoid has broken out among all the detachments of marines in German southwest Africa

J. E. CODINGTON GETS BAIL

ALLEGED BIGAMIST, CAUGHT IN THE QUAKER CITY, LOSES FIGHT.

James E. Codington, who was indicted by the Somerset Grand Jury last week for bigamy alleged to have been committed at Griggstown, in December, 1903, as brought to Somerville yesterday by County Detective Totten from Philadelphia, where he had been held for a week, awaiting extradition as told in The Daily Press yesterday.

Codington put up a hard fight in the Philadelphia court yesterday against extradition. There was a move on the part of his counsel to deny his identity. This action was anticipated by County Prosecutor Griggs, and Codington was confronted in court by the woman who claims that he was married to her at Astoria, Long Island, in 1894. The woman identified Codington as her husband.

After a prolonged argument on the validity of the Nebraska divorce which Codington claims to have obtained from the woman in October, 1903, the court refused a stay and ordered Codington handed over to the New Jersey authorities.

On his arrival in Somerville he was immediately taken into court and released under $2,000 bail, his brother, Freeholder Joel Codington, becoming his bondsman.

The woman whom Codington married at Griggstown last December acknowledges that she was aware of his former marriage at the time, but she believed that the Nebraska divorce was valid. She is standing by Codington in his troubles, and she has been seen in Somerville consulting with his lawyers and his friends.

Codington's trial is expected to come up during the present term of court.

Kept Sad News From Her.

There was a pathetic incident in connection with the sudden death of William Brown, the motorman for the Public Service Corporation, which occurred yesterday morning at Elizabeth. It had always been Mrs. Brown's custom to meet her husband at the Watchung avenue trolley stand every morning upon his first trip to this city and hand him his lunch. Prior to her trip yesterday morning she visited Blimm's grocery store on East Third street and there was informed that her husband had been injured, but how seriously she did not learn. Being anxious about Mr. Brown and noticing that it was time for his car, she ran to Watchung avenue, reaching there just as the car came into the station. She noticed that her husband was not in charge and a few hasty unanswered questions told her too plainly that something serious had happened. She turned homeward completely prostrated. Subsequently she learned that her husband had been killed.

—The regular meeting of the Board of Health will be held Tuesday, May 3.

—Charles Barry, hackman, lost a carriage robe and advertised the same in The Daily Press on Monday. The robe was found by Bert Green, of 531 West Fourth street, who saw the advertisement, and returned it to the owner.

who was hurt in the chest by being hurled under a seat, and B. T. Benson, an employe of the United States Treasury Department. George Wurts, ex-Secretary of State of New Jersey, was among the passengers on the train, but he escaped injury.

The other injured persons received either bruises or slight cuts. They were attended by physicians at the station and took the next train to Long Branch.

After the crash, the telescoped Pullman sleeper caught fire, as did the engine. The fire department was called out and quickly put out the flames. All the ambulances of the city were turned out on the report that a frightful loss of life had occurred, and the wildest rumors were spread regarding the accident.

The wreck blocked the tracks for two hours and all trains had to use the freight tracks.

ing are excruciatingly funny.

All the parts were so cleverly interpreted that it would be hard to single any one member of the cast for praise. Mr. McGee is the nervous old apothecary. Mr. Murray, as "Tim Bolus" and Miss VanDeventer, as the pert and jealous "Peggy" were particularly funny because their parts were so broadly humorous. The lighter comedy of the others were quite as delightful in its way.

The farce was staged carefully; the scenery was of the most finished character.

After the entertainment the floor was cleared for dancing and the younger people had an hour's additional enjoyment. The entire affair was under the direction of the entertainment committee, which is made up of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Heely, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Hallock, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McCutchen and C. E. Murray.

PUBLIC SERVICE, TRANS-STATE

REPORTED TROLLEY CARS, JERSEY CITY TO TRENTON, TO BE STARTED SOON.

In Jersey City it is said that the Public Service Corporation will open its line between New York and Trenton between May 15 and June 1.

According to a preliminary time table there will be four cars daily each way.

The running time will be about five hours. Traffic Superintendent Ackerman went over the line yesterday.

Secretary Frederick Evans, of the Public Service Corporation, was asked at Newark as to the truth of the story with regard to a New York and Trenton line yesterday, and replied that the corporation had no such line at present, whatever the possibilities of the future might be, and that it was impossible to set a date when a through line between Jersey City and Trenton would be in operation. The lines controlled by the Public Service at present reach no further than New Brunswick, he said.

Asked if the Public Service had made any arrangements with lines operating between New Brunswick and Trenton that would allow the cars of the big company to be run through, he said that while such negotiations might be under way, they were not near a conclusion.

SHAW AT SYRACUSE

Speaks at Banquet of Chamber of Commerce.

THEME NONPARTISAN STATESMANSHIP

Great Achievements In Shipbuilding, Transcontinental Roads and Now the Panama Canal by Both Parties Working Together.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 27.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw was the guest of honor and chief speaker at the annual banquet of the Syracuse chamber of commerce last night. More than 300 merchants and business men from this and neighboring cities were at the table. The secretary was accompanied by General Horatio C. King of New York.

Secretary Shaw was given a hearty reception when he arose to speak on "Nonpartisan Statesmanship." In part he said:

"Some of the best work of the republic has been accomplished nonpartisanly. Permit reference to a few instances. During the administration of James Madison a law was passed giving the American shipbuilder and the American shipowner a monopoly of our coastwise trade. While this law has been many times assailed, no party has ever dared repeal it, and its presence on the statute books is therefore with nonpartisan approval. What is the result? We have the largest and most prosperous, the cheapest and best coastwise trade in the world.

"About forty years ago there was inaugurated a policy of internal improvement. By nonpartisan votes large grants of land and large appropriations of money were offered as an inducement to the construction of transstate and transcontinental railroads. Note the result—five trunk lines, all but one assisted by the government, cross the Rocky mountains, and as a result of these roads and their tributaries the entire west has become the most profitable market for the manufactured products of the eastern states and in turn the greatest producers of food products, which comprise over 60 per cent of our exports. Nor is this all. We have the most efficient, the cheapest and the best railway service in the world. The average freight rates in Europe are three times as high as in the United States.

"As a part of this system of internal improvement the government has made liberal appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors. These appropriations have all been passed as nonpartisan measures and by a nonpartisan vote. While some of these appropriations have been perhaps unwise, yet it is difficult to conceive the benefits our domestic and foreign commerce has received by reason of these appropriations.

"For more than a hundred years statesmen have dreamed and talked and planned for an isthmian canal, and now the hope of a century bids fair to be realized. The government of the United States willingly pays $50,000,000 for the right of way, then promises to spend probably $200,000,000 in the construction and other millions in the maintenance and perhaps other millions still in the defense of the canal and then pledges itself to permit the commerce of the world to enjoy this short cut between the oceans on equal terms. Fortunately the parties vie with each other in enthusiasm over the prospect of making this the greatest of all contributions to the world's commerce. I wish nonpartisanly the parties would be as enthusiastic in their efforts to create a merchant marine to the end that American material producers and American shipbuilders and American sailors might get their fair proportion of the world's carrying trade. The Spanish war, with its unexpected results, placed the Pacific ocean logically if not actually where she has always been naturally, under the sovereignty of the stars and stripes. The opportunity is before us, and sooner or later the American people will appreciate it, and future generations will not be slow in rendering their meed of praise to the statesmanship, partisan or nonpartisan, which secures to America the legitimate fruits of this enormous expenditure."

Trolley Jumped Into Ditch.

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., April 27.—A car on the trolley road running between Seneca Falls and Geneva jumped the track about one mile west of this village and landed on its side in a ditch. The eight passengers in the car and the conductor were injured. Mrs. A. G. Swab's right leg was badly hurt, and a porter from Geneva had his arm broken. All the others were injured by broken glass. The accident was caused by the rails spreading.

DAINTY MODES.

Gold Braid Much Used For Trimming—Green to Be Smart.

Gold braid used in discretion is charming in champagne, ivory and pastel shaded gowns.

Accordion plaiting appears everywhere, but it is meant exclusively for the slender woman. Even strictly tailor made gowns occasionally have accordion plaited skirts.

The great authorities both here and abroad are striving to introduce soft sage greens as well as other less becoming shades of the same tint. A vivid periwinkle blue is also quite the mode in Paris.

A little check morning gown is to be a summer feature, particularly in black and white and red and white.

Black taffeta, soie de chine, chiffon voile and the thin veilings are all smart made up with touches of white.

Any quantity of lace will be used this season both in white and yellowish tints.

For morning dresses embroidered linens and finely stitched batistes and even old fashioned ginghams and dimities will be made up in simple becoming styles.

A touch of color introduced on white shirts gives a decided style, particularly when the stock and belt match the predominating note of color in the embroideries.

Among the special "fads" of the dressmaker are the silk or velvet buttons which nowadays appear on a number of the gowns. The latter are elaborately embroidered in conventional or flower designs.

The picture shows a tailor made of fine gray cloth and darker gray panne. It is trimmed with gray silk tassels and yellow lace. The hat is of gray tulle trimmed with wreaths of tiny tea roses. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FEATURES OF DRESS.

Skirts of Elaborate Gowns Are Long and Very Full.

Black lace outlined with velvet or chenille is still in favor. The daintiest trimmings for lace gowns are chiffon and taffeta roses, gold and silver leaves and quaint pompadour wreaths.

All the dressy skirts are long and very full. They are trimmed with shirrings, flat plaits, etc.

For evening wear from now on the heavy silks and brocades will be supplanted by simple muslins and painted gauzes made up in quaint styles.

For street wear the full skirt, clearing the ground all around, is the thing.

The deep pointed Marie Antoinette belt will be the most striking feature of this summer's dresses.

Some quaint puffed sleeves to the elbow will be noticeable on light afternoon toilets as well as on many of those for evening wear.

Many smart costumes in white cloth are now to be seen, and quite a few of these are made with skirts that just clear the ground.

The shepherdess shape in millinery is still to the front. This is decorated with a wreath of roses and a lace veil falling at the back. The lace veil is a graceful hat trimming and one appropriate to the present styles.

Panniers will be very much seen on the frocks of tomorrow, a charming example being a toilet of white chiffon the skirt draped with lace, fanciful panniers, which fall in graceful cascades on each side of the train.

The picture shows a serviceable French sailor trimmed with a rosette and a twist of tulle and two wings.

Katie Powers Got Gerst Stakes.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 27.—Miserable racing conditions prevailed at Cumberland park, notwithstanding which the attendance was surprisingly large. The William Gerst selling stakes at one mile was the feature, which Katie Powers captured from Fore and Aft, last year's Cumberland Derby winner, after a sharp struggle. Jordan was third after having delayed the start by his vicious behavior at the post. He was equal favorite with Christie A. in the betting.

Lasker Played Draw With Marco.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., April 27.—There was a large attendance in the ballroom of the Hotel Rider when play was called for the second round in the international chess masters' tournament. Strange to say, Lasker, the champion, could only draw with Marco. Hodges downed Tschigorin, and Marshall brilliantly defeated the American champion, Pillsbury.

Ring Hard Hit at Jamaica.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The races at Jamaica were run over a muddy track, and the betting contingent was all at sea, as only two favorites won, the other events going to long shots. Southampton, backed down from 30 to 1 to 12 to 1, won the last race, and the ring was hard hit on the colt's victory. The Elmhurst stakes for two-year-olds went to the favorite, Niblick.

Lady Atheling Won by a Nose.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Owing to the heavy rain of last night the track at Oakland was sloppy. Four favorites won. The finish in the fifth race was the most exciting, Lady Atheling lasting long enough to win by a nose from Sol Lichtenstein, a 10 to 1 chance. Howard Vance beat Cloud Light a head in the two-year-old event.

Our Lillie Won the Feature.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—The fair grounds track was again in very bad condition. The feature of the racing card went to Our Lillie, who got off in front and won by two lengths, Malster, equal favorite with Harmakis, finishing second.

Pounded Patient's Head.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 27.—Dengenes Van Hoft, an aged inmate of the Brookfarm colony of the state asylum here, is dead as a result of an awful pounding given him by George Montague, another inmate. Montague said that Van Hoft talked so much at night that he could not sleep. When the old man would not stop at his command Montague says he rose from his bed and pounded Van Hoft's head on the floor until it quieted him. Montague's mental state is being investigated.

Louisville Carpenters Will Strike.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 27.—All the union carpenters in Louisville, numbering about 600, and forty nonunion carpenters threaten to go on strike for a "closed shop" and an eight hour day, with pay for nine hours' work. The cabinetmakers, job printers and bricklayers have been on strike several weeks. The butchers and structural ironworkers who went out about a month ago have been defeated, their places having been filled by men from out of town.

Oldest German Student Dead.

BERLIN, April 27.—Christian Busch, the oldest student in Germany, who has been enrolled in the classes in chemistry at the University of Giessen since 1871, is dead at the age of fifty-one. Death was the result of an injury to the brain received in a student duel. Busch, who was a property owner, did not attempt to finish his course, but divided his time between the beer houses and the laboratory, where he assisted the professors.

Dewey Favors General Navy Board.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Admiral Dewey placed himself on record in favor of the general board plan of Secretary Moody before the house committee on naval affairs. The present naval board, the admiral said, was too large. Its sessions were like "town meetings." The proposed board, he said, would have jurisdiction of measures and plans for fleet formation in time of war and peace.

Spanish Premier Shot At.

MADRID, April 27.—Premier Maura, who has arrived here, was shot at, but was not wounded, while on his way from the Balearic islands. When between Alicante and Encina a bullet whizzed through the roof of his car. The incident created great alarm, but no one was injured.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries command themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Sale of Delinquent Lands for Unpaid Taxes and Assessments.

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

APRIL 13, 1904.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, and by the direction of the Common Council of said city, will expose for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, (but not for less than the amount due from the same, as appears in the following schedule, with interest and costs,) on Thursday, the nineteenth day of May, A. D., 1904, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day at the said Collector's Office, 151 North Avenue, in said city, certain lots, tracts and parcels of land situated in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Wards of said city, upon which the taxes and assessments have remained unpaid for the space of two years from and after the time when they were due and payable.

This sale is made under the provisions of the 13th Section of an Act entitled "An Act concerning the settlement and collection of arrearages of unpaid taxes, assessments and water rates or water rents in Cities of this State, and imposing and levying a tax, assessment and lien in lieu and instead of such arrearages, and to enforce the payment thereof, and to provide for the sale of lands subjected to future taxation and assessment," passed March 30, 1896, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the lands to be sold may be obtained at the office of the subscriber on any week day prior to the day of the sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

To the amount due on each lot or parcel as hereinafter designated, there will be added interest as indicated, and also its proportionate share of the costs of this sale, which is hereby estimated at Three Dollars for each item of arrearage thereon.

All lots so sold will be purchased subject to all taxes and assessments levied thereon subsequent to November 20th, 1901.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. baseball team will open the season Saturday, May 7, with Reform Club.

Manager Denman's team will meet the Chatham aggregation at Westfield, Saturday afternoon. A better game than that of last Saturday is anticipated.

The Scotch Plains team will open the season on Saturday with the Newark A. C. This is the team that defeated Alis last season in its opening game. Jimmie Montross will pitch for the locals.

Manager Johnston, of the Alis Club, was too busy getting the third degree at the meeting of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., Monday night, to attend the meeting of the baseball committee. Arrangements for another meeting will be made.

Pitcher George Dupee, who was the real thing on the pennant winning Y. M. C. A. team two years ago, has signed with the East Millstone nine. His arm is in good shape and he will give the rest of the nines around that section some gall and wormwood to mix with their chewing-gum.

It is not true, as reported in some quarters, that the Reform Club will open its season with Y. M. C. A. The Reformers will go into action for the first time against the West End Field Club, on May 7. Manager Meyer says he has the real thing in nines and will deliver the goods in superabundant measure.

As there is another long week's wait before the start off of the local season it means another jaunt of the fans to Westfield, Saturday. This time the real goods oppose Westfield. Chatham presents the identical lineup that crushed the Orange A. C. twice last year and go into Saturday's game to start their reputation for this season. Westfield will present the same outfit as last week with Waller and Burke opposing Speer and Westlake.

Ten good games have been arahged by the Y. M. C. A. nine. The season will open on May 7, on the Myrtle avenue field, with Clinton Avenue A. C. Another game with Clinton Avenue will be played on the latter's field later. Two games with the O. F. C., the Westfield A. C., and the Plainfield A. A., have been arranged and one with the Rutger "Prep." team and the Princeton University scrub nine. The men will come out for practice Saturday afternoon.

It is understood that several changes are in contemplation for the Alis ball team. One report is that "Lefty" Davis, who has been signed to pitch, will remain with the team until June 1, at which time Manager Johnston will spring a big surprise in a crack college pitcher. Another report says that a new man from one of the big leagues has been signed to play first base in place of Roache. Manager Johnston's friends predict that he will present an invincible lineup on the opening day with Aeolians.

Only One Shack.

It was declared by the representative of Tony Zarro, the owner, this morning, that only one shack, and not three, is to be erected opposite L. V. F. Randolph's grounds on East Front street. This one building has been started and work on it, it appears now, will be pushed to a finish.

Letter Carrier Ill.

Letter-carrier George L. Apgar was seized by an epileptic fit this morning when approaching the house of H. O. Todd, on Duer street. Winfield Conover helped him to the Todd home and Dr. Buchanan was summoned. Postmaster Bird had him removed to his home.

—George Ballentyne, who has been day ticket agent at the North Avenue station for some time past, has been succeeded by Edward Tomlinson. Mr. Ballentyne will leave the railroad for other kind of work.

FREE BAND CONCERTS MINSTREL PROGRAMME

Special Scenery Being Prepared for the Supurb Production.

PARTS ARE ASSIGNED

SPECIALTIES TO BE A FEATURE OF THE SHOW.

Novel and Striking Costumes to be Worn—"Gentlemen be Seated" the Overture—Those Taking Prominent Parts.

Very nearly all the details of the band concert minstrel show have been laid out and preparation for the event will move rapidly and steadily now until May 10, the set date for the opening performance at the Casino. As mapped out by Manager Ben. LaVere, who has taken hold personally, the show will be a big one in every sense of the word. Olio and specialty parts will be full of striking numbers, particularly in the music.

There are sixteen men in all in the troupe. Positions in circle have been cast as follows: Interlocutor, Joseph C. Martin; end men, H. P. Greenwood, William Doud, Thomas Muir, John P. Hall, Harry Blimm, Thomas DeMeza.

The chorus will be composed as follows: Oscar Moore, William Cumberson, Harry Hook, Edward Smith, Arthur Smith, Augustus Feiring, Horace Martin, Jr., Abijah Southard and Erving Martin.

Novel and striking costumes will be worn. The curtain will rise on a ship scene, the troupe being clad as seamen. The interlocutor will be garbed as captain, in a gorgeous uniform. The end men will appear as cooks, and the tambos will drum on frying pans to make the quarterdeck ring with tunefulness. The chorus will be dressed as able seamen. All the troupe will be blacked, as usual.

Scenery is being painted especially for the production. Mortimer Slater, of North Plainfield, is painting the pieces, assisted by H. P. Greenwood.

All the incidental music and the overture have been prepared by Howley & Dresser especially for minstrel work. The overture is particularly fine. "Gentlemen Be Seated," is its title and it introduces a medley of a number of popular airs.

Manager LaVere has aroused the active interest of Howley & Dresser in the show, and the concern will send some of its best singers here to help make it a success. "Billy" Redmond, Albert Cook and William Murray are among the specialists who will appear. The later will sing his latest hit, "Good Old Trolley Ride."

Interest in the affair is rising to a high pitch among the general public. Manager W. N. Runyon, of the Hope chapel show, has offered to help the troupe in every way possible, and the chapel ushers are expected to act in the same capacity at the Casino.

Tickets for the show are selling so rapidly and steadily that financial success is beginning to look like an assured thing. If the attendance warrants it the show will be run a third night.

There will be a rehearsal of the olio, with orchestral accompaniment, at Reform Hall tomorrow night.

A FIELD FOR CEDARCROFT

BOYS SCHOOL TO GO IN STRONGLY FOR ATHLETICS.

Cedarcroft School will be represented by teams in all departments of outdoor sports. Principal Huse is a strong believer in athletics for schoolboys, and has planned to encourage his scholars in them in every way.

Arrangements have been completed for the laying out of a fine field on the east side of Hillside avenue at the intersection of Martine avenue. Included in the features of the field will be a diamond, a gridiron and a running track.

The school is growing steadily and promises to take high rank among the preparatory institutions of the State.

There is good material for field and track teams and the boys have determined to make the school a factor in athletics in the metropolitan district. They are concentrating now on a baseball team.

TROLLEY KILLS AGED WOMAN

MRS. CATHERINE DAVIDSON MEETS INSTANT DEATH AT CRANFORD.

Mrs. Catherine Davidson, aged seventy-five years, a resident of Cranford, was struck by a repair trolley car not far from her home yesterday afternoon, and instantly killed. The aged woman had been to the store to buy some eggs and was returning home when she met her death. She was walking across the tracks of the Public Service Corporation, and being very deaf, as well as poor of sight, she had no knowledge of the approaching car.

The car filled with Italians, in charge of Motorman Quinn, of Garwood, had been making trips along the main line, the laborers being engaged in doing odd repair jobs. It was reported that the motorman failed to ring his gong and that the car was travelling at a lively rate of speed. Immediately after the accident, the motorman and other employes on the car, were placed under arrest. They were subsequently released to appear later for a hearing.

Mrs. Davidson was born and always lived in Cranford. Her only known relative is a son and his whereabouts is not known at present. The woman lived alone and was respected in the community.

2D REGIMENT'S FIELD DAY

THE DATE PROPOSED FOR MANEUVERS IS SATURDAY, MAY 26.

Although no official orders have been issued, the Second Regiment, to which Co. K, of this city, belongs, will probably have a field day in Trenton on Saturday, May 26. The matter is now under the consideration of the officers of the regiment, but no definite arrangements have been made as yet.

The field day will in all probability be held in one of the large vacant lots on Greenwood avenue near the fair grounds, where the regiment formed for military maneuvers several years ago.

It is likely that close and extended order drill will be taken up and the guardsmen put through strict and difficult maneuvers, practically in the latter formation, so as to prepare the men for the annual encampment at Sea Girt this summer.

The new khaki uniforms will have arrived by the proposed date of formation.

Mellick, Robert A. Fairbairn, Henry A. Talmadge, Jr., George A. Beaton, Orville T. Waring.

Vice President's Name on Notes.

The bank notes now issued by the First National Bank bear the signature of J. A. Smith, vice president, instead of A. J. Brunson, president. This is due to the fact that owing to Mr. Brunson's loss of sight he is unble to affix his name to the legal paper.

MASTER BUILDERS' IN SESSION

PLAINFIELDERS ENGAGED IN TRADE ATTEND MEETING IN NEWARK.

L. B. Woolston, C. W. Krausse, John Abbott, William Pangborn and David S. Dunavan, all of this city, attended meeting of the Master Builders' Association, of New Jersey, held at Newark, yesterday. This organization, although quite young, has been formed to meet the perplexing labor problems and for the mutual benefit and protection of the masters in various trades.

The meeting was held in the afternoon and evening in the large hall corner of South Orange and Morris avenues, there being about 150 members of the association present from all parts of the State. The association now numbers 1,100 members, all of the master mechanics of this city being identified with it.

The principal feature of the meeting was an address by the president of the New York Master Builders' Association, representing a membership of 2,700. He gave many facts and figures to prove that the organization is rapidly solving intricate problems in the trade. One encouraging statement was that the Fuller Construction Company, of New York, had recently become a member of the organization and no further trouble is anticipated from that company.

WAGON WRECKED.

Wild Runaway Ends in Smashup on South Second Street, Near Pond Tool Works.

Frightened by a passing railroad train the horse attached to a farm wagon driven by Israel Coon, who lives on the Stirling road, ran away from in front of the Pond Tool Company shop on South Second street, yesterday morning. The wagon was wrecked and Coon narrowly escaped injury.

The animal rushed down the street at a terrific pace. A short distance from where the dash started the horse swerved and threw the wagon against an electric light pole. Coon was thrown out, but escaped with slight bruises. The wagon was badly broken, but the horse was not hurt and a man stopped him a short distance further on, unharmed.

Be Sure of the Date.

With two charity productions of "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino next week, there has been some fear lest some of the purchasers of tickets might misunderstand the dates. CARL E. DRANGE WEDS MISS MABEL DUBOIS

Marriage of Young Couple Takes Place at Home of the Bride's Mother.

MANY FRIENDS PRESENT

CHARLES M. DOLLIVER ACTS AS THE BEST MAN.

Mrs. R. W. Davis, Sister of the Bride, as Matron of Honor—Rev. Cornelius Schenck Officiates—Off on Wedding Tour.

In the presence of many friends and relative, Miss Mabel Clare Dubois was married to Carl E. Drange last night. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride on Park avenue.

Flowers were used in profusion to transform the parlor, where the ceremony was performed. The room was strikingly decorated in pink, white and green, with carnations, smilax and palms. A heavy bank of palms bowered a wide bay window.

The bridal party formed in the library and marched slowly to the parlor to the strains of the Lohengrin march, played by Miss Jessie Utter, the organist of the First M. E. and Seventh-Day Baptist churches. Miss Dubois was attended by her sister, Mrs. R. W. Davis, as matron-of-honor, and the groomsman was Charles M. Dolliver, a close friend of Mr. Drange. Thomas McDonald and Robert W. Davis were the ushers.

Preceding the bridal party came Gladys Swackhamer, a young cousin of the bride, as flower girl. Dressed in a girlish affair of white, with a big basket of blooms on which the ring reposed, she gave a very pretty touch to the procession picture.

The ceremony was performed in the recess of the bay window. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity church, spoke the words that united the couple. The bride was given away by her uncle, A. H. Swackhamer, of Woodbury.

Gowned in a pretty creation of white satin crepe de chine, over taffeta, trimmed with lace, her veil caught up with a spray of fresh orange blossoms, the bride presented a charming picture. She carried a trailing bouquet of bride roses. The matron-of-honor wore a very pretty white crepe de chine gown, and carried pink roses.

Warm and hearty congratulations were showered on the young couple at the reception after the ceremony. A catered supper was served.

More than 100 guests witnessed the ceremony. Besides friends and relatives from this city and the borough, there were guests from Woodbury, Elizabeth, New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Whitehouse.

While the reception was on the bride and groom slipped away to the station, keeping their destination a profound secret. It was learned this morning that they left for Niagara Falls. They will spend ten days between the Falls, Buffalo, and the Thousand Islands. Upon their return they will make their residence at 515 Park avenue.

B th the bride and groom are popular in wide circles of friends. They belong to Trinity Reformed church, and are well-known among the members of the congregation. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Emma Dubois. The groom's parents are not living. He was born in Germany but came to this country at an early age, and received his education here. He holds a responsible position on the sales force of the Walter Scott Press Company.

Many handsome gifts were received by the bride. Among them are valuable articles of silver, cut glass, furniture and bric-a-brac.

OLD GAZELLE BACK.

Hand Engine Loaned to Elizabeth Exempts is Returned.

The old Gazelle hand engine, which has been held by the Elizabeth Exempt Firemen's Association since early last fall, will be brought back to this city today. The relic was loaned to the exempts because they were very anxious to have some sort of a machine of the olden time.

They have purchased an engine from one of the New York exempt associations, and don't need the Plainfield machine for show any longer. The engine will be brought here in a van. It will be stored in George Fairchild's barn.

Rev. W. T. Dorwood, pastor of the Stelton Baptist church, of which the groom is a deacon and the bride a member, performed the ceremony.

The couple was unattended. A reception followed, during which supper was served. The gifts were numerous and very valuable. The couple will continue to live at Stelton, where the groom is engaged as a farmer.

ALIS' BOWLERS DEFEATED

GESANG AND TURN VEREIN TEAM WON THE SERIES OF THREE GAMES.

The series of games rolled at the Casino last night between five-men teams of the Alis and the Gesang and Turn Verein, was won by the representatives of the German society. The first game was won by a score of 699 to 667; the second by a score of 693 to 675 and the last by a score of 732 to 677. Individually the teams were well matched, as collectively the team from "across the brook" showed up much stronger than its opponents.

Menzenbach carried off the honors for his team, rolling the high score of 184, while for the Alis Club Chandor rolled the highest score, 168.

This was the score: Gesang—699, 693, 732; Alis—667, 675, 677.

ERNEST R. ACKERMAN BACK

PLEASED WITH LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION AT ST. LOUIS.

Ernest R. Ackerman, who has just returned from a visit to St. Louis, says that the spectacle presented by the grouping of the exposition buildings is magnificent, and the arrangement is such that but little walking is necessary in going from one building to another. Some of the outside exhibits are noteworthy, for instance the Philippine exhibit and Jerusalem, the latter representing an expenditure of $700,000 and peopled with 1,000 natives and covering an area of several acres.

Every detail in this exhibit is true to life and it doubtless will attract universal attention. Mr. Ackerman also says that there is considerable sentiment among the Democrats of the West for W. R. Hearst. In Illinois, he says, it looks as if Hearst would have almost a solid delegation from that State.

WATER WAGONS OUT MAY 1

FULL SERVICE WILL BEGIN ON THAT DATE AND CONTINUE UNTIL FALL.

Definite plans have been made for the full start of the street sprinkling service on May 1. All the eight wagons owned by the city will be put into service by Contractor Keely on that date, and kept going every dry day until fall.

For the past month Contractor Keely has had a wagon or two out from day to day. For this service he receives payment on the basis of work actually done. After May 1 the city will pay for all the wagons whether they are required one day a month or thirty.

There are no more wagons for service this year than there were last summer. The two sprinklers purchased by the city recently are to take the place of two carts rented to the municipality by the old sprinkling company.

There was some talk early in the season of starting the full service on April 15. This, however, the city officials decided was not necessary. There is no doubt about the May 1 start, the announcement coming from the street commissioner's office.

MRS. JOHN H. FRENCH BURIED

Yerkes, pastor emeritus of the First Baptiss church, offered prayer. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery in Plainfield avenue.

A new map of the city and borough, very complete and up-to-date, has just been made by H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer. SCHOOL GIRLS IN AMUSING PRODUCTION Randolph - Cooley Collegiate School Pupils Give Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works.

A BIG CROWD PRESENT

MANY LOCAL HITS ADD TO THE AMUSEMENT.

Miss Ward, an Instructor, Acts as Coach—All the Members of the Cast Did Exceedingly well.

Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works was given by the members of the Qui Vivi Society, of the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School, at the Casino yesterday afternoon. The play was very well staged and was doubly amusing as it contained many local and personal jokes. It was largely due to Miss Ward, an instructor of the school, that it was given and her efforts were well rewarded. The play was given largely for the benefit of the school paper, "The Quiver," and was in every way successful.

Nellie Haile, as John, Mrs. Jarley's male help, handled the part in excellent style and received much applause. Katherine McCutcheon, as Hebe, Mrs. Jarley's assistant, also did fine work, and the costume of Dorothy Burke, as Minnehaha was the cause of much afvorable comment.

The audience, which was a large one, consisting chiefly of the girl's parents and friends, was a most enthusiastic one and loudly applauded the girls for their successful efforts.

The following girls took part in the production:

Grace Otterson, Mrs. Jarley, widow of the late Capt. Timothy Jarley, U. S. N.

Katherine McCutcheon, Hebe, Mrs. Jarley's assistant, her real name had been Susan, but Mrs. Jarley, having had some trouble with a man who owed her money, shuddered at the word Sue, and changed Susan's name to Hebe.

Nellie Haile, John, Mrs. Jarley's male help, who brought in the figures and who says about Mrs. Jarley, "She's all in a Quiver—a perfect Quiver. (Imagine a perfect Quiver! !)

Queen Elizabeth, first wax figure, daughter of Anne Boleyn, whom Mrs. Jarley preferred to call Annye Bullion, always spelling the Annye with a y, Annye Wilson.

Princess in the Tower, "Two of a kind! King's up! A royal flush," Gladys Peck and Ruth VanVliet.

"Minnehaha," Dorothy Burke.

Little Bo Peep, who finding her sheep tailless, ordered some tales from a well-known author, and became the first retailer of mutton, M. Carman.

Joan of Arc, who lived on a very high scale in A flat in the town of Do, re, me, so, fa from Paris, W. Rapalje.

Cassabianca, who belonged to a family that had very often been on deck, Marjorie Howard.

Dido, who with cheerful grace (Graces are always cheerful) and graceful cheer, walked regally in the midst of her train, V. Fox.

Captain Kidd, who instead of burying his treasure was to treasure his berry (a waterberry), Elizabeth Tweedy.

"The Vocalist," called Sydelia, who sang in a church choir, but acquired such a habit of singing one kind of song solo, called Call Me Back, that the longing was for a Garden of Sleep and Dreams, Mary Runkle.

Japanese Girl, D. Stiles.

George Washington, who though not a rough rider in Roosevelt's sense of the word, probably rode rough shod over many a tender truth, and instead of confessing his attack on the cheery tree, as some state, became chary himself and cut and run, Louise Fox.

The play was staged under the personal direction of Maze Edwards.

Big Mortgage Filed.

A mortgage for $2,500,000 was filed at the County Clerk's office in New Brunswick yesterday being given by the New Jersey Short Line Railroad Copmany to the Finance Company, of Pennsylvania, to cover a bond issue of the same amount. The bonds are to be issued to provide funds for the building of the road, which is to extend from Milltown to Elizabeth. The mortgage covers all of the road to be built.

Going to England.

Miss Lizzie Stafford, of Grove street, and Miss Bertha Eller will sail for England tomorrow to visit friends. They will be away six weeks.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Where can better meat than that offered by Smalley Bros., North avenue, be purchased? Nowhere. There is no better beef or poultry.

Lincoln place and Duer street should be the objective point of every buyer of groceries. That is where W. W. Dunn's incomparable store is located.

Good dressers know but one men's furnishing store here. That's James R. Blair's, on Park avenue. The latest word in ties, collars, shirts and hats.

Pain in and about the eyes and many other troubles can be relieved by wearing properly fitting glasses. Stiles & Co., Philadelphia eye specialists, 107 East Front street, every Thursday.

Persons intending to build or have any kind of repair work done this spring and summer can get right prices by consulting with Titus H. Laury, the contractor. His work always give satisfaction.

A special sale of girls' gingham dresses, silk coats and women's broadcloth and covert cloth jackets, is the feature at the Paris Cloak and Fur store, 214 West Front street. You will find these prices very low and the quality of goods the best.

The gigantic sale of the Lederer stock of dry goods being offered by the new firm of Levy Brothers is meeting with great success. The stock includes a very desirable lot of fine dress goods, silk waists, lawns, organdies, corsets and carpets, all at exceptionally law prices. A glance through the firm's advertisement will convince you of the bargains.

That carpet question? Bothersome? Not a bit. Lay your troubles before Shirley & Johnson, Babcock building, and they will—their stock, that is—settle your perplexities. Fine qualities of floor coverings, in new, rich-colored designs are in the place waiting to be transferred to your home, and the transfer will not cost you as much as some other places might make it.

AMUSEMENTS.

The extension of the engagement of Richard Carle and "The Tenderfoot" at the New York Theatre has proved a very wise move on the part of the management. This talented comedian and his novel musical comedy are packing the house at every performance and every indication points to a continuation of this remarkable patronage far into the hot weather season. "The Tenderfoot" is the musical novelty of the year and interests an audience from start to finish. There is not a dull or unentertaining moment in it.

In a year marked by the great number of its theatrical revivals, no more promising announcement is made than that of the return of DeWolf Hopper to his pristine success, "Wang." Scarcely any playgoer whose memory goes back a decade can fail to remember the notable impression which Mr. Hopper made when he first appeared in this work by J. Cheever Goodwin and Woolson Morse. The opera, which really deserves to be classed as an opera more than any other musical offering of its time or at present, has a wonderful following and did more than all the rest of his vehicles toward establishing the reputation of the comedian. Many other reputations indeed, were established at the same time, the names of Della Fox and Alfred Klein being familiar to the public largely because of their share in the performance of "Wang."

At Wallack's Theatre, New York, "The County Chairman" keeps as many people in paroxysmal laughter as in the first stages of its literally wonderful career. The large audience room of this playhouse is always filled and the expressions of mirth rattle along like the incessant fire of infantry, with frequent explosions which might be termed the artillery of merriment. The Wednesday matinees at reduced prices of admission, established for the special accommodation of suburban residents, will be continued until the end of the run, and now that fine spring weather is arriving these afternoon performances are additionally popular. A conspicuous example of this situation is offered by Governor Odell, who had a theatre party at Wallack's the other evening and enjoyed "The County Chairman" quite as heartily as during any one of his four previous visits.

"The Yankee Consul" has been received with great fervor in New York at the Broadway Theatre, which, although one of the very largest playhouses in America, has been crowded to its utmost capacity ever since Washington's Birthday. Raymond Hitchcock, as the festive American sent in an official capacity to a Southern republic, where he becomes entangled in many complications, feminine and official, has scored a most emphatic success, probably exceeding the same actor's former extraordinary hit in "King Dodo." The supporting company, scenery, costumes, score and libretto are praised with the greatest unanimity.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

On the basis of the mileage for each 100 square miles of territory New Jersey, in the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for 1900, had a proportion of mileage of 29.99; Massachusetts, 26.35; Pennsylvania, 22.96; Ohio, 21.61; Connecticut, 21.13, Rhode Island, 20.11. These are the only States that reach a proportion of 20 to the 100 square miles of territory. The increase of mileage in New Jersey in the last year reported was also more than three times greater than the increase in Massachusetts. The average proportion per 100 square miles for the United States was 6.51, in a total railroad mileage of 193,345.78.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for An Old One—How It is Done in Plainfield.

The back aches at times with a dull indescribable feeling making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Plainefld citizen.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says: "I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across my back and hips. Any hard work always increased it. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could not get relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such trouble as mine, got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation and from my experience Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine."

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

Public Library Notes. Items of Library News.

The Reading Room. The new periodicals added this year by subscriptions are The London Graphic, Musical Times and Punch, those added by gift are The Spirit of Missions, from Miss Mary and Miss Florence Tweedy, Living Church from the Rev. T. Logan Murphy and Over Sea and Land from Miss F. B. Clark. The library is now receiving over 140 periodicals, as many as space will permit are displayed in the open racks, others may be had at the desk.

W. D. W. Miller has lent to the library an old paper of very great interest. It is a copy of the Virginia Herald, published at Fredericksburg in 1815, which Major Miller found in an old house at Culpeper, Va., during the Civil War. It will be recalled that this was at the time of Napoleon's return from Elba, and the head lines proclaim the fact as follows: "Late from France. Astonishing Revolution. Louis XVIII Dethroned, Boneparte's Return to Paris and in Quiet Possession of France." There is also a vivid description of Napoleon reviewing the Paris troops. Of great interest is the announcement from New York that "The first squadron destined for the Mediterranean to act against Algiers, is now assembled in this port, and only awaits a favorable wind to put to sea. It is commanded by Com. Decatur, who has hoisted his broad pendant on board the frigate "Guerriere." This paper has been placed under glass and hags in the reading room.

The Library. Recent gifts have been as follows: From A. V. D. Honeyman, The Yearbook of the Holland Society for the years 1901-1903, and his own valuable work on Justices of the peace. From Mason W. Tyler, the Report of the National conference of charities, 1903, a mine of information for all charity workers. Mrs. R. W. Ware, of Second place, has presented 10 volumes. From J. Evarts Tracy, The American patent system, Proceedings and addresses at Centennial celebration, 1891. From E. C. Pearson, Clement's Modern Japan, Ewell's Essentials of the law, 12 volumes of the Central Reporter, six of the New England Reporter, and 14 of the Western Reporter. S. S. Swackhamer has presented the Manual of the 128th Legislature of New Jersey. and F. W. Runyon the News' history of Passaic, 1899.

Figures show that the work of the Library, in all lines, is steadily increasing. In the year past 2,641 books have been added, an average of 220 a month, the total number now being 28,978. The circulation shows steady increase, more books having been circulated in March of this year than ever before in one month, and it is significant that the class of books circulated is averaging considerably higher than formerly. The record for the fiscal year showed a circulation of 45,633, with a fiction percentage of 49. Figures point to a very considerable increase for the library year ending with May, 1904.

The World's work has been added to the circulating periodicals, the gift of E. C. Pearson. The Library now circulates the Atlantic, Century, Harper's, Ladies' Home Journal, McClure's, St. Nicholas, Scribner's and World's work.

Through the courtesy of the proprietors of the following factories, the Aluminum Press Co., Campbell Printing Press Co., The Pedrick-Ayer Co., Potter Printing Press Co., and the Scott Press Co., the Library is enabled to place Library bulletins where they will be seen by the operatives. An American series has been begun. The plan of this series is to list only the books on the subject best for the general reader. The first deals with general books in United States history, others are to follow on The Colonial period, Revolution, Political institutions, etc. A few words are given as to the scope, merits, etc., of each book. Anyone reading one or two books from each number in this series cannot fail to obtain a clear idea of both the history and institutions of this country.

A few copies of a list made by request of books on practical Carpentry remain, and will be given to anyone interested.

From the Library of the late Andrew D. Mellick, valuable books on New Jersey and early American history have been added, among others the first volume of the periodical entitled "Our Home," edited by A. V. D. Honeyman, published at Somerville in 1873, Ramsey's History of the American Revolution with the imprint 1811, Murray's Notes concerning Elizabethtown, 1844, Rusk's Names of the German inhabitants of Pennsylvania, written in 1789, Wharton's Revolutionary diplomatic correspondence and others of equal interest.

Art Gallery. A. J. Gavett's collection of local birds lent to the Public Library, has been used to advantage by Prof. Scott, in his lecture to the Public School teachers on Nature Study. The teachers have met Mr. Scott at the Art Gallery and special interest has been added to the talk by this carefully arranged collection.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Fred Latell, an apprentice with the Potter Press Co., is on the sick list.

Several machine hands were laid off at the Pedrick-Ayer plant yesterday.

Fred Wharton, of the Pond plant, is confined to his home on West Sixth street, by illness.

A. Berry Marsh has resigned his position with the Potter Press Co., to enter the employ of the B. and O. Railroad.

McCormick Canfield, of West Front street, has given the contract to paint his house and barn, to the co-operative paint store.

Cormick Muldowney, an apprentice with the Potter Press Co., met with a painful accident while at work in the shop Wednesday.

Christian Heckman, of the Potter Press Company's works, has been transferred from the drill gang to the erecting department.

Fred Bahley, a former employe at the Cadmus mill on South Second street, has taken a position at Earl's Hotel, Scotch Plains.

Thomas Egany, of West Fourth street, is building a new addition to his house. The new store will be used as a retail paint business.

Edward Taylor, of the drawing room at the Pond plant, is suffering from a sprained thumb which he received while playing ball Saturday. It will be some time before the lad will be able to resume his position at the shop.

Harry Vogel, of West Third street, who has been seriously ill for the past seven weeks, is now fully recovered and has resumed his position as foreman of one of the erecting departments at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

It is reported that all employes of the Public Service Corporation have been ordered to purchase new uniforms by May 1. It is said that any employe reporting for duty on the above date without a new uniform, will receive a discharge slip.

William Edmundson, of West Third street, has taken a position at the Standard Surgical Instrumental Company's works, corner Fourth and Washington streets. Edmundson was formerly employed at the Beck-Dickinson & Company's machine shop, which recently burned out on Duane street, New York. The Beck, Dickinson & Company, a year ago held a lease on the Fourth street plant, where they manufactured surgical instruments. As soon as their lease expired they moved to New York, only to meet with a great loss by fire. Severa of the men who went to the big city with this concern, and who were thrown out of employment when the fire occurred, have taken positions at the Standard Surgical Instrument Company's works

Since Fred Lynn has been promoted to assistant superintendent at the Pond plant there has been some great changes The lathe department Mr. Lynn has divided into two sections, one half of the gang will do all the steel work, and the other half will do nothing but castiron work. The chips which are cut off of any job are gathered up and cast again. As it was before a lathe hand would work for a day or more on steel work and then he would receive an order for castiron work the chips would become mixed and cause no end of trouble. Mr. Lynn is insisting on neatness about the shop. Some of the men have been in the habit of hanging their coats and hats on nails in the machine shop. Mr. Lynn ordered they must put their clothes in the washroom. Now it is known throughout the country by machinists that the accommodations for machinists at the Pond plant are the finest. There is a separate building, with over 600 lockers, equipped with hooks to hang clothes on, and a lock on each door, there are eight large wash troughs and there is room for forty men at each trough. There is hot and cold water and plenty of soap. Mr. Lynn has issued an order to the effect that every employe must change their overalls at least once a week. It is reported that one man who had worn his suit of overalls and jumper for nearly three months, was laid off because he refused to put on clean working clothes. The entire machine shop is swept thoroughly every day. Mr. Lynn expects to have the Pond plant second to none in cleanliness. There are thousands of windows in the plant which are kept well cleaned all the time.

Mud Runners In Demand.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The heavy rain has converted the track at Jamaica into a quagmire, and only the mud runners of the pronounced type were in demand. The surprise came in the third race, when the 1 to 5 favorite, Major Pelham, was defeated by Palette, the only other starter. Collector Jessup won the Columbus stakes and was bid in by J. L. McGinnis for $3,200.

Veterano Won by a Head.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—J. Jones again carried off the riding honors at Oakland by landing four winners. All of them were heavily played. One of his best efforts was in the mile and seventy yards handicap, where he got Veterano up in time to win by a head from Forest King, the pace maker.

FRESH AIR FUND FRAUDS.

Binghamton Woman Arrested Charged With Running Fake Concerts.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 28.—Mrs. M. O. Updyke of Binghamton was arrested here and held in bail for further examination next Wednesday by Police Justice Brady charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. She has been selling tickets for a concert ostensibly for the benefit of a fresh air fund managed by a New York newspaper. The authorities of the newspaper disclaim any knowledge or approval of the enterprise.

It appeared in the preliminary examination that Mrs. Updyke and a Mrs. Kate Speck, also of Binghamton, have conducted these concerts in various parts of this and other states during the past year or more and have a schedule of dates arranged ahead in Cohoes, Troy and elsewhere. It is alleged that but $25 has been turned in to the newspaper in question. Mrs. Speck and Mrs. Updyke were both in court, but only the latter is under arrest.

CAPTURE OF ILLIG.

Force From British Ship Storms Dervish Zaribas.

LONDON, April 28.—The admiralty has received an official report of the capture of Illig, on the coast of Somaliland, from the dervishes. Three bluejackets were killed and six wounded during the attack on the enemy's works. Rear Admiral Atkinson-Willes, commander in chief of the east Africa station, who personally commanded the landing force, says the fighting was at close quarters.

The dervishes defended their stone zaribas and towers determinedly, but the bluejackets and a detachment of the Hampshire regiment stormed their strongholds and drove them out, with heavy loss. It was impossible to use the guns of the ships without danger to the attackers. The British and Italian flags were raised side by side over the zaribas, which will be demolished, and Illig will be handed over to a tribe friendly to Italy.

Senator Scovill Dead, Aged 100.

LOWVILLE, N. Y., April 28.—Carlos P. Scovill, the oldest ex-assemblyman and ex-state senator in this state, is dead at the residence of his son-in-law, H. A. Phillips, in this place, after a brief illness, aged 100 years. He was born in Collinsville, Lewis county, on Feb. 26, 1804. He was elected to the assembly in 1841 and in 1842 and later to the state senate. He was elected judge and surrogate of Lewis county in 1863 and served eleven years, being retired on reaching the age limit. Mr. Scovill was a passenger on the first train on the Central railroad, run between Albany and Utica in 1834. Two children survive him, Mrs. H. A. Phillips of Lowville and George R. Scovill of Copenhagen.

All Quiet at New Haven Yards.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 28.—There was no change in the strike situation here, everything being peaceful throughout the yards of the railroad company, and no meetings of the union were held. The story that two of the Pinkerton men had been attacked during the night by a railroad employee in the yards was absolutely groundless and is denied on all sides. No disturbance of any kind has taken place, and there has been no attempt to interfere with any of the men brought here by the railroad to take the places of the strikers.

Poison Candy Fiend Held.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Police Judge Conlan held Mrs. Cordelia Botkin to answer to the superior court for the murder of Mrs. Joshua D. Deane by means of poisoned candy mailed from this city to Dover, Del. A request by her attorney that she be admitted to bail was refused, the judge stating that he believed the evidence against her was conclusive.

Plainfield, N. J., April 28, 1904

Talk about the Keeley motor cranks, the people who believe in perpetual motion are almost rational beings when compared to the assortment of misguided ones whose brains are befuddled with a vision of William Randolph Hearst as a presidential nominee of any sane political party.

Rockefeller has been denounced by the pastor of the First Swedish Unitarian church Chicago, as one posterity will look upon with contempt. Come to think of it we have not noticed any contribution made by the Standard Oil king to that particular church. John D. had better square himself.

Mr. Bryan should be proud of the fact that it cost the Republican party $16,000,000 to defeat him in 1896. It is too bad that Bourke Cockran's resolution for an investigation of the subject should have been slighted by Speaker Cannon for the people could have learned just how much of a figure the dollar mark cuts in popular government.

Albert O. Foote, of Morris, Johnston Cornish, of Warren, and Charles O. Black, of Hudson, are among those whose names are still connected with the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. After a thorough search no one has been able to locate the present whereabouts of the Martine and Swackhamer boomlets. As Dr. Munyon says: "There is hope"

The Newark Evening News has not ceased to abuse Charles A. Reed, who it imagines the worst man in seven States. It frequently alludes to him as one beneath a gravestone. If the genial former president of the State Senate is "dead," is it not unkind of the Newark News to assail his memory? The real fact is that Mr. Reed is very much alive about these diggings and that is what worries the author of "State etchings."

Prof. Muensterberg, who may be a "who's who" in Germany though he is not in the United States, says that the best interests of this country demand that the Monroe Doctrine be abandoned so far as South America is concerned. Of course the Government will loose no time in adopting the dear professor's views on this trivial subject, taking it for granted that Europe, especially Germany, is deeply interested in the welfare of America generally.

An exchange says: "'No contest in Union County Republican primaries' is an unusual statement to be made after the holding of such party gatherings there, and yet there is no significance in the occurrence. Wait until September for the fun."

They've buried the hatchet, according to leaders of the rival factions, but it is reported that a headstone has been placed over the grave so that there may be no difficulty in finding it in case of need.

H. C. VanDerHoef, of Roselle Park, will pardon us for referring to a private communication which he has addressed to The Daily Press. Sheer vanity is our only excuse for making public his letter. He says: "Enclosed is my check in payment for my want ad. It is well worth it and I am pleased with the results obtained." This is only one of many communications written in a similar vein and all testifying to the value of The Daily Press want ads. Thank you for your indulgence in allowing us to "blow our own horn." We appreciate the want ads and a glance at our columns any day will show that we are not alone in this respect.

There are always some people who have an idea that others are "easy marks" and that it is no trouble for them to work the "free graft" or any other sort of game they please. A whole lot of these deluded individuals attempt to prey on the newspaper, but they soon find out that it is no charitable institution. They don't seek to advertise an entertainment or other similar affair in the regular way, but they want to obtain the kind of publicity for which any newspaper charges the highest price—items inserted in the news columns. And when these same people have any printing to be done, they take it to some jobber, not connected with a newspaper, who may bid a few cents lower. The Perth Amboy Chronicle draws attention to one phase of the subject. It says:

"The Chronicle very cheerfully endorses the following circular letter sent out from the Passaic Herald. It is well worth reading: 'This year above all others the editors of New Jersey should be on the alert in the interest of their own pockets. There are 'fairs,' resorts, and moneymaking schemes innumerable soliciting without compensation of any sort the influence and publicity only to be secured through the newspapers. The latest claimant of the liberality of the press is the Ocean Grove Association in which are combined a score of more money making schemes to which admissions are charged. With the evident idea of taking the editor off his guard by intimation that the matter is valuable as news the large circular is headed 'To be released for publication Friday, April 15.' Those people should pay for their publicity. Newspapers are no longer conducted for glory. There is no reason why the newspaper man should be asked to give away his stock in trade any more than should the grocer or merchant in any other line of business. The action of the Passaic Press Club and other Press and editorial associations in refusing to give a publicity to the St. Louis Fair and similar enterprises unless properly recompensed has received wide and favorable comment."

BIG HEADED MORMON.

Apostle Taylor's Servant Girls Were Retained by Marriage.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Light was shed at the Smoot investigation before the senate committee on the vexed question of how Mormon husbands of moderate wealth support their plural families.

The ingenious home economics of Apostle John W. Taylor, which incidentally appear to have settled the servant question, were disclosed by L. E. Abbott, a neighbor of two of Apostle Taylor's households in Farmington, Utah.

Apostle Taylor, he said, is reputed to have five wives. The two that live near Mr. Abbott are known as Nettie Woolley, who has five children, ranging from eleven to two years, and Nellie Todd, who has six children, ranging from sixteen to two years, all of whom are recognized as Apostle Taylor's children.

Two other wives of Apostle Taylor, said Mr. Abbott, are Rhode and Roxey Welling, who are about twenty-three or twenty-four years of age. It was reported two years ago that they had been married to Taylor. One was working for Nettie Woolley and the other for Nellie Todd, both as domestics.

Senator Overman wanted to know if their ages had been given correctly at about twenty-four years. The witness said he believed that to be about their ages.

"Then they must have been married since the manifesto," said the senator.

"I don't know. I have told you all I know about them," responded the witness.

Apostle Taylor and other leading Mormons whose testimony is desired being ill, the sessions of the committee will probably soon be brought to a close.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS TODAY.

President May Call an Extra Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—President Roosevelt may call an extraordinary session of the senate if final action on the nomination of Dr. W. D. Crum to be collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., is not taken at the present session.

Senator Alger, with whom the president talked, said he was in favor of remaining here until the nomination of Dr. Crum was confirmed.

The president feels that both he and the appointee are entitled to definite action on the nomination. It has been suspended for nearly two years, being postponed from time to time and for various reasons. Crum is serving as collector at Charleston, but is unable because of the failure of the senate to take action on his case to draw his salary.

Congress is endeavoring to dispose of all matters before it so as to adjourn sine die today. There are now no important public matters pending which are likely to prevent an adjournment of the house. The conference report on the Military academy bill, the last one of the supply bills, has been accepted, thus disposing of the last of the supply bills. No agreement on the river and harbor bill is expected.

—A meeting of all the creditors of the Somerville Woolen Mills has been called by the assignee, James L. Griggs, to take place at Somerville on Wednesday morning, for the purpose of devising the best method of continuing the business.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 1.

Topic.—Answered prayers.—Acts iv, 23-31.

The habit of prayer has been as worldwide as the human race. Men everywhere have prayed to something, have felt that there was some power outside of themselves able to harm or to help them, and to these powers they have directed their supplications and prayers. And prayer has been universal because men everywhere have believed in answered prayers. Who would pray without faith in the ability to receive the thing prayed for? The doubting soul may pour out its petition in fear and trembling and yet with hope and in that hope a spark of faith perhaps at least the size of a grain of mustard seed. But, alas, many have cried to those who were not able to hear or to answer. They have prayed, but no answers have been received. But with the child of God it is different. Our God is a prayer hearing and a prayer answering God.

We may firmly believe that God answers prayer for several reasons. 1. God has commanded us to pray, "Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." "Ask," "seek," "knock"—these are the commands. But how absurd these commands if there are no answered prayers! 2. God promises to answer prayer, and all His promises are "yea and amen in Christ Jesus." He not only commands us to ask, seek, knock, but promises that we shall receive, find and have it opened unto us. If we believe God we must believe in answered prayers. 3. Godly men have testified to answered prayers. The psalmist says, "I cried unto the Lord, and He heard me out of His holy hill," and again, "I love the Lord because He hath heard my voice and my supplications." A crowd of witnesses could be called to testify in favor of answered prayers. All could not have been deceived, and therefore their testimony must be true. 4. Examples of answered prayers are abundant. In the topical reference the apostles prayed, and the answer immediately came. The Bible contains many examples of answered prayers, and there is no child of God who cannot prove that God can and does answer prayer by the unanswerable argument that He has done so.

The conditions of answers to prayers depend upon several things. 1. The character of the suppliant. "The effectual fervent prayer of the righteous man availeth." "If we regard iniquity in our hearts the Lord will not hear us." 2. The character of the supplication. All prayers are not answered. Prayers that prevail must be offered in faith, in persistency, in submission to the will of God and in the name of Jesus Christ. 3. The will of God. God controls all things, and His supervision is over all. Manifestly He cannot grant a petition to one person that would interfere with the general welfare of mankind or with His larger care over all His children. All answers are conditioned upon His will, and in all our praying we should not forget the spirit that characterized the prayer of the Master when He added to His petition, "Nevertheless Thy will, not Mine, be done."

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xviii, 23-33; xxxii, 24-32; II Kings xix, 14-19, 35; xx, 1-6; Job xxxiii, 26; Ps. lxv, 1, 2; xcix, 1-9; cxvi, 1-7; Matt. vii, 7-12; John xiv, 13, 14; xv, 1-7.

Doings of Twenty-three Years.

Professor Amos R. Wells made some statistical comments on Christian Endeavor's twenty-third birthday that are of more than passing interest. A few of the figures follow:

In twenty-three years Christian Endeavor has grown from one society to 44,360 in the United States alone. There is a membership in the United States of 2,661,600. Since November, 1902, there have been organized 3,186 new societies. The Junior work now numbers 13,912 societies; the intermediate work 1,644 societies. There are 17 societies in Alaska. The most northern society in the world is at Point Barrow. Canada has 4,047 societies; not a few of them are in Methodist churches. Mexico has a strong national union and 111 societies. There are 236 societies in Jamaica and 28 in Hawaii.

Unique Christian Endeavor Badge.

In Baltimore's Fire.

The Christian Endeavor records of the past three years and many Christian Endeavor memorials were destroyed by the great Baltimore fire. The armory, the meeting place for the 1905 international convention, escaped destruction as if by a miracle.

Briefs.

Great Britain now has 8,736 Christian Endeavor societies.

The twelve Presbyterian Endeavorers of Falls Church, Va., contributed $80 toward the forward movement for a field secretary in that state.

"The Clarence E. Eberman Memorial Fund" for the spreading of Christian Endeavor in foreign lands now amounts to $1,169.78.

May 1: "Answered Prayers."—Acts iv, 23-31—Peter's Case.

When men pray, listen and hear what they pray for, and you will then know what manner of folks they are. Consider carefully what you most pray for in your heart, and you may be wiser as to the kind of person you are.

Hark to the praying of the early Christians, to the real Christians now, and you will discover how to obtain the best treasures.

The times were perilous for the disciples of Jesus in Jerusalem. Peter and John had seen a lame beggar on the temple steps as they were going up to afternoon worship. In the name and by the power of Jesus they had cured him. This made a great stir, the more so because the beggar seemed so earnest and sincere in his attachment to the new faith. This drew the anger of the temple rulers, who imprisoned the two apostles and then with threats of punishment prohibited their preaching. After telling the story of their experiences to the assembled congregation of Christians all joined in an outburst of song and prayer. This prayer gives insight into their inmost life. After giving praise to God as Lord over all they recognize in their sufferings and those of Jesus the fulfillment of prophecy as given in the Second Psalm. They call on God to take notice of the threats of the rulers. They do not pray for deliverance from suffering nor for favor with the people, but they ask for boldness in speaking God's word and that signs and wonders may be done by Jesus' name.

The answer came. They prayed. The place was shaken. But that sign was not of utmost importance, though wonderful. What was of great moment to them and to us was the fact that they did speak the word with boldness. Such a man as Peter, who could promise his Lord to stand by him even to death and then, when a servant girl spoke to him, be so afraid as to deny all acquaintance with the Master, such a man needed to pray just this prayer for boldness. Stability was the very quality he seemed most to lack. It was a virtue most essential to the establishment of the church. The wonderful doings and teachings of Jesus were of great importance and needed to be declared. But all these would have been comparatively valueless if death on the cross had closed the work. When resurrection on the third day was an assured fact its importance eclipsed all other signs and wonders. It gave a new meaning to the life of Jesus and to all human life. It was a new birth of hope—the regeneration of the world. To accomplish the purposes of God for mankind this fact of resurrection of Jesus and promise of eternal life for every man who would accept Him as Lord must be proclaimed to all men. To declare the fact would be to accuse their rulers of the foulest judicial murder ever committed. It would endanger the lives of whoever should dare utter such a charge. All the power of the constituted government might be expected to be used to crush the preachers. On this slender thread hung the destinies of mankind, the hope of all ages. Could such men as these be made bold? One had betrayed and another denied Him in life!

The prayer was answered. Boldness was given, and the greatest sign of God was granted. They used all their means for the good of all.

When We Return to God.

You have seen the heavens gray with dull and leaden colored clouds, you have seen the earth chilly and comfortless under its drifts of unmelting snow, but let the sun shine and then how rapidly does the sky resume its radiant blue and the fields laugh with green grass and vernal flower! So will it be with even a withered and a wasted life when we return to God and suffer Him to send His bright beams of light upon our heart. I do not mean that the pain or misery under which we are suffering will necessarily be removed—even for Christ it was not so—but peace will come, and strength will come, and resignation will come, and hope will come, and we shall feel able to bear anything which God shall send, and, though He slay us, we still shall seek Him, and even if the blackest cloud of anguish seems to shroud His face from us even on that cloud shall the rainbow shine.—F. W. Farrar.

"Just as I Am."

"Just as I am." I dare not wait,
I dare not longer risk my soul
Outside the Heavenly Shepherd's gate,
Lest I should miss the blessed goal,
Or, turning, seek the fold too late.

"Just as I am." I cannot feel
As fain I would my nature's woe
Nor melt beneath Thy kind appeal
Nor grieve to see my Saviour bleed
And know He suffered for my weal.

"Just as I am." Thou knowest best
My depth of guilt, my dreadful sin.
I only know I am opprest
By fear and pain and strife within.
I know my need, Thou knowest the rest

"Just as I am." Though so unmeet
To be received and made Thy own,
I fall before Thy mercy seat.
O Christ, I hasten to Thy throne!
My guilt itself seeks this retreat.

"Just as I am." My heart, so dumb,
I fear would never warmer be
Nor I be more inclined to come.
It is Thy love constraineth me,
It is Thy voice that calls me home.

"Just as I am." Thy latest call
I hear and heed with bitter tears.
So late to come and bring Thee all
My leaves, my tears and wasted years,
So late at mercy's shrine to fall,

"Just as I am." And I rejoice
That mercy's gate stood open long
For one so slow to hear Thy voice.
My heart has learned the great new song,
At last Thy love has fixed my choice.

"Just as I am." And if for me
One little hour remaineth still
Thy truest servant I would be
And [illegible]ve the love that owns Thy will;
But [illegible] my Lord, I leave to Thee.

JAPANESE REPULSE

Assault on Position Near Lizavena Failed.

FIELD BATTERY SHELLED GUNBOATS

Cossacks Have Occupied Anju Without Resistance—Mikado's Forces Withdrew — Kuropatkin Expects to Outflank the Enemy.

LONDON, April 28.—Late advices from Liaoyang say the Japanese troops which crossed the Yalu north of Tchangdjiou charged early Wednesday morning the Russian position near Lizavena, a village on the Manchurian bank of the Yalu. They were repulsed, but their loss is not known.

Two gunboats steamed up the river to the support of the Japanese, when a Russian field battery at Amisan opened upon them, resulting in a duel which lasted for twenty minutes. The Russian fire was too hot, and the gunboats were forced to turn and steam out of range.

CAPTAIN ESSEN.
[Commander Vladivostok squadron.]

The Japanese were facilitated in crossing by their occupation of the island of Samalindo.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says an account given there of the movements of the cavalry under Major General Mistchenko, the commander of the eastern Cossack brigade, while not officially confirmed, is accepted as trustworthy. It is as follows:

General Mistchenko's Cossacks reached Songjin, on Plaksin bay, northeast Korea, and after occupying that place turned north along the Seoul-Peking road and occupied Anju. Not a shot was fired, the Japanese and Koreans withdrawing. The unexpected appearance of Cossacks in the rear of the Japanese force near the Yalu caused a panic among the Japanese troops proceeding toward the Yalu from Pingyang, and they consequently retreated. The Japanese troops at Pakchon, Kusong, Kasan and Chongju did not attempt to stop the Cossacks, but moved toward the northwest by forced marches

The emperor has received a telegram from Viceroy Alexeieff as follows:

"Rear Admiral Yeszen, commanding the Vladivostok squadron, who is at sea with his cruisers and torpedo boats, dispatched the destroyers to Gensan, Korea. The torpedo boats blew up a Japanese merchantman in the roadstead, after the crew had been sent ashore. The torpedo boats returned the same day to the squadron."

A Newchwang dispatch says that General Kuropatkin's deployment is so far advanced that it covers the very lines the Japanese purpose to occupy. Should the Japanese succeed in driving the Russians north the Muscovite line of defense will extend from Newchwang to Liaoyang and from Liaoyang to the Yalu river. The Russian generals profess confidence that the Japanese can make no headway by frontal attacks, while the Russians can cope with the widest flanking operations the mikado's men are likely to undertake.

The Russian general staff has made the following clear statement of the situation:

"Before beginning the passage of the Yalu the Japanese evidently completed the concentration of two armies along the river, accompanied by Generals Kuroki and Oku. Each army is composed of three divisions and three reserve brigades. The total force is 100,000. The Russians on the Manchurian bank of the river are inferior in strength.

"Having perfected the essential preparations, the Japanese without waste of time commenced the passage of the river, and the Russians realized that it would be impossible to prevent their crossing. The Japanese front extended from Wiju as far as Piektong, over eighty miles. We faced the possibility that they would cross at a score of places, and all we could hope was to harass and impede the crossing, for every day gained enabled us to push our preparations and bring up more men.

"There are only two instances in history where an army was unable to cross a river, that of Napoleon at Aspern and that of Prince Eugene of Savoy at Lech. Both failed because of floods. The Yalu proved no exception to the established rule.

"We know that the Japanese crossed at at least two points. Their first attempt to force a passage near Chandchekow, twenty miles above Wiju, near Siaopoussikhe, on the Poussikhe, a tributary of the Yalu, was successful. This is important, because a road leads from Siaopoussikhe northeast to Kwantien, which commands one of the roads to Mukden.

"It is evident that the Japanese devoted most of their attention to crossing near Wiju. The river here is divided into several channels by islands, the largest of which is Samalindo. Above and below Wiju the river was bridged at three points."

The general staff believes that the Japanese column attempting to cross the Yalu river at Turenchen suffered severe loss owing to unexpected shelling by a Russian battery from the opposite bank, which destroyed the Japanese pontoon bridge while the troops were marching over.

The Japanese, the general staff says, tried to cross the river at six or seven different points and succeeded only at one point.

England and America For Peace.

LONDON, April 28.—Henry Norman in a long letter to the Times this morning elaborates the views he expressed in an interview Tuesday last to the effect that any personal or national attempt to step in between Japan and Russia seemed to him to be outside the range of rational surmise and that he would be very much surprised indeed if King Edward had said or done anything which would give rise to such a rumor as that which stated that the king had undertaken to mediate between the combatants. Whatever happens, whether Japan be victorious or defeated, it is quite certain that Great Britain and the United States will be expected to take the lead in proposing or enforcing intervention, and since it is impossible to suppose that the United States would join Great Britain in military operations for the purpose of coercing Russia, while France and Germany are friendly to Russia, it would be madness for Great Britain, thus isolated, to attempt forcible intervention. At the same time, Mr. Norman points out, it should be realized that abstention from intervention would also produce an embarrassing and painful situation for both Great Britain and the United States by provoking the resentment of the desired good will of Japan.

BRITISH GROWN COTTON.

Government Will Encourage Its Cultivation In Colonies.

LONDON, April 28.—In the house of commons John Rutherford, member for the Darwin division of Lancashire, moved that "in the opinion of this house it is incumbent upon the government to encourage the growing of cotton in Africa and elsewhere in the British possessions, and also to co-operate with the commercial associations working in that direction."

Mr. Rutherford emphasized the danger of Great Britain being dependent on one source of supply and said he belived there was a great future for the cotton industry in Egypt, the Lagos territory and Nigeria. He said he hoped the government would help the British Cotton Growers' association by constructing railways and in transportation generally.

Alfred Lyttelton, secretary for the colonies, said he recognized that there was danger in the dependence of Lancashire solely on the United States for its supply of cotton. He said there was a vast field inside the British empire for the growing of cotton and that extensive experiments were being made in the British possessions with every prospect of success. An arrangement had just been concluded between the colonial office and the Cotton Growers' association whereby the latter agreed to provide $150,000 for the development of the industry in Lagos, southern Nigeria and Sierra Leone, which dependencies had contributed an additional sum of $32,500.

The government, the secretary said, entertained the largest hopes of an immediate supply of cotton from West Africa, and he thought that the matter there might now pass from the experimental to the commercial stage. The government, he added, was dealing with the whole question cautiously and prudently and with every promise for the future.

Several members representing the cotton industry expressed satisfaction with the statement of Secretary Lyttelton, and Mr. Rutherford's motion was adopted without a division.

Ruled Out Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The crowd that filled the galleries of the house hoping for another Dalzell-Cockran verbal encounter was disappointed. Speaker Cannon announced his ruling, saying: "The chair feels justified in taking cognizance of the fact that what is alleged to be charged against Mr. Cockran constitutes no crime." At most, he said, the only question was one as to the propriety of the conduct of a private citizen. The house, he declared, could not rightfully punish him if it desired to do so. He then ruled "that the chair holds that the resolution may not be entertained as a question of privilege."

Resigned and Sued Exposition.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Cass Gilbert of New York, architect of the Art palace and Festival hall at the world's fair, tendered his resignation to President Francis as a member of the commission of architects. Immediately after tendering his resignation Mr. Gilbert brought suit against the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company in the United States circuit court to secure $47,000, which, he allages, is due him as the balance on his contract of $78,000.

Kaiser at Venice.

VENICE, April 28.—Emperor William arrived here on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern and was warmly greeted. His majesty left the yacht and went to the railway station, where he took a train for Karlsruhe.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

IN MANCHURIA!

100,000 Japanese Troops, Under Kuroki and Oku, on the Road to Mukden.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

London, April 28—Despatches here from the seat of war from correspondents for all of the leading newspapers agree that the Japanese forces have crossed the Yalu River.

Despatches from Paris and St. Petersburg received here also say that the Japanese have crossed from the Corean to the Manchurian side of the river.

These despatches only disagree in the number of Japanese who have made the crossing. Some of the cablegrams declare that 100,000 have gone into Manchuria and are marching on Mukden.

These despatches declare that these forces are under Generals Kuroki and Oku, and that the invaders so outnumbered the Russians that they are in control of the road to Mukden and secured this point of vantage without any great opposition.

HER CHILD'S DEATH

Mrs. Henrietta DeWitt Charged With Poisoning Her.

MOTHER HOPED TO GET INSURANCE

When Arrested at Sidney Woman Admitted That Girl Known as Florence Mackintosh Was Her Own Daughter.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 28.—Mrs. Henrietta DeWitt was arrested at Sidney, Delaware county, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on a warrant issued by Coroner White charging her with murder in the first degree in causing the death of her seventeen-year-old daughter, Florence Mackintosh, by poisoning with arsenic.

Mrs. DeWitt had always called the girl her stepdaughter. Now she admits that Florence was her own daughter.

The inquest was concluded just before the woman was arrested, the coroner finding that death was due to arsenical poisoning, and the evidence pointed strongly toward the mother as having caused the girl's death to obtain $2,000 life ipsurance.

Mrs. DeWitt was immediately brought into the large hall where the inquest was held and was arraigned before Coroner White. She was apparently the most unconcerned person in the room, taking her seat carelessly and picking up a Binghamton paper to read about her case. After a consultation with her counsel, Judge Baumes, Mrs. DeWitt waived examination and was held for the Delaware county grand jury, which will meet on May 9 at Delhi.

The woman was then taken to her home by Sheriff Barney Dickinson and from there was soon taken to the train for Delhi, at which place she was placed in jail, to remain until the grand jury considers her case.

NINE BULLETS GOT HIM.

Negro Held Oakland Police at Bay Ten Hours.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 28.—After a fierce battle between the police and Wilson Anderson, a negro, lasting ten hours, Anderson was shot and killed here. The negro had driven a white woman and a colored porter from a house at Fourth street and Broadway, where he lived, at the point of a pistol, and when Policemen Sherry and Ford attempted to arrest the negro he barricaded the doors and windows and fired at every one who appeared.

About twenty police officers surrounded the house, and a running battle was kept up, over a hundred shots being fired by the police. Finally Officer Sherry stole up to a window and fired, wounding the negro. From another direction Sergeant Clark fired into the room. The negro fell to the floor, and the officers rushed into the house and captured him. There were nine bullets in his body.

Women Against a Smoot Supporter.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 28.—Mrs. Mary G. Coulter of Ogden, a prominent Utah clubwoman, will not be allowed to make an address at the biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs at St. Louis because she voted for Reed Smoot while a member of the last legislature. Mrs. Anna D. Nash of Boston, chairman of the domestic science department of the federation, the subject on which, it is asserted, Mrs. Coulter was to speak, says repeated requests have been made by Mrs. Coulter's friends asking that she be invited to make an address, but on account of general opposition of club members of Utah, based, it is said, on Mrs. Coulter's support of Smoot, the requests had been refused. Mrs. Coulter is not a Mormon.

Locomotive Blew Up, Bad Wreck.

PITTSBURG, April 28.—Engine No. 2220 of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, east bound, exploded while passing Tenth street, Braddock. Three men were fatally injured, three others dangerously hurt, and five buildings were wrecked. Two of the houses caught fire and were destroyed. The engine's boiler was blown twenty-five feet away, striking St. Paul's Polish Lutheran church and partly demolishing it, while a cylinder head crashed through an icehouse, damaging it considerably.

Home Company Officers Held.

PITTSBURG, April 28.—Two officials of the three home companies raided by the city detectives last week have been held here in $4,000 bail each for trial at court on three charges of conspiracy. The companies were the Interstate Finance company, Home Assurance company and Fidelity Home and Realty company. The two men held were W. I. Crawford and Albert Dodge.

Warsaw Police Officers Killed.

WARSAW, April 28.—While several police officers were attempting to enter a house in the Dvorcky thoroughfare they were attacked by a band of men armed with revolvers and knives. Two of the officers, a deputy chief of the secret police and a deputy commissary, were killed, and two others were wounded.

Has Hiccoughed Six Days.

Hiccoughs attacked six days ago Harry Taylor, of this city, an expert bookkeeper. Since then they have increased in violence until he has become so weak that he is unable to rise in his bed, and the efforts of physicians to stop them had been in vain. They continued at short intervals day and night and he suffers intense pain. Seven years ago he had a similar attack, which ceased suddenly as he was being taken to a hospital. The victim is much better today. The attacks ceased this morning and Dr. O. L. Jenkings, the physician in charge of the case, now hopes for recovery. Mr. Taylor is about thirty-five years old and is employed in the gas department of the Public Service Corporation.

SEEK RIGHT OF WAY FOR NEW TROLLEY LINE

Public Service Corporation Obtaining Consents to Lay Tracks to Metuchen.

AND TO PERTH AMBOY

THE RAILS MUST BE DOWN WITHIN ONEY EAR.

Branch Line to South Plainfield—Time of Trip Between Plainfield and Perth Amboy One Hour and Five Minutes.

Consents for the right of way over the proposed extension to Metuchen are being secured by the Public Service Corporation. The way in which the company is going about this work indicates that it is in earnest regarding the improvement and purposes to make it an actuality just as soon as possible. Harry C. Runyon has been put in charge of the matter with instructions to get the consents with all possible speed.

He has been at the work for a week or more and a straight right of way over the ground desired is assured. All the property holders with whom the company will have to deal have given positive assurance that no opposition will be thrown in the way of extension. At a meeting of the owners in conference with the trolley officials, in Mr. Runyon's office, two weeks ago, a cordial agreement regarding the consents was entered into.

The company wants a strip of land twenty feet wide, to run along the westerly side of Woodland avenue. The men from whom the principal consents near here are to be secured are G. P. Mellick, J. W. Johnson, Michael Quinn and Judge Steel.

The wording of the right of way agreement is of the simplest and most straightforward character. It binds the company to keep the track at level of the grade, and to run it straight alongside the roadway. These provisions will result in the perfection of a fine road to Oak Tree. The benefit of such trackway construction is seen in the present Woodland avenue road, where the trolley built over private right of way in that manner.

An important provision of the agreement is to the effect that if the tracks are not down within one year after the papers are signed the right of way is abrogated.

When the extension has been completed a through service from this city to Perth Amboy will be established. It is the purpose of the company to run cars of the big, main-line type from the North avenue depot to the port every half-hour. From the end of the extension at Oak Tree the cars will be run over new tracking on private right of way that has already been secured to Metuchen, where connection will be made with the New Brunswick Traction Co. tracks.

While the expected extension will afford the South Plainfielders easy access to the cars, they will not be directly on the line. It is understood that the company, a short while after the new line is established, will run a half-mile spur from Mellick's Corner to South Plainfield. When that is done cars will run out to South Plainfied over that spur at half-hourly intervals—that is, through cars for Perth Amboy and short-line cars for South Plainfield will leave alternately at fifteen-minute intervals from North avenue. It is estimated that the time between here and Perth Amboy will be an hour and five minutes.

Co. K's Dinner Postponed.

Company K has postponed its annual dinner from May 9 to May 16. The change was made because the annual inspection of the regimental staff officers is to be held on the sixth, which will prevent the attendance of officers whom the company desires very much to have at its function. Among the officers it is hoped will attend the dinner are Col. Collins, Col. Kline, Major Dungan and Capt. Bell.

TRINITY MEN'S ASSOCIATION

THREE MUSICIANS ENTERTAIN MEMBERS AT REGULAR MEETING.

Selections on the violin and piano by Kenneth Stuart and Charles Suhr and vocal solos by William Jeffery, was the entertainment provided for the Men's Association at the regular meeting held in the parlors of Trinity Reformed church, last night. It was originally planned to have one of the officials of the Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, give a talk on insurance, but through a misunderstanding he failed to appear and a musical programme was presented instead.

Mr. Jeffery sang "For Sale a Baby," "On a Starry Night," "Mona," and "Don't You Cry Ma' Honey," and he was heartily applauded. Interspersing these selections, Mr. Stuart and Mr. Suhr rendered some of the latest popular compositions.

At the next meeting, Thursday night, May 26, Rev. Dr. W. S. Hubbell, of this city, will give a patriotic talk, basing his remarks on the Battle of Cold Harbor. There will also be a musical programme by an orchestra.

SCOTCH PLAINS NEW TEAM

OPENING GAME TOMORROW, WITH PLAINFIELDERS ON NINE.

Manager Hand and his team of colts will hold full sway at the 'Plains tomorrow afternoon when the locals cross bats with the Strong Park A. C. team, of Newark, in the opening game of the season. The lovers of the National game will note a great change in the personnel of the 'Plains team as Manager Hand has as far as possible brought together an aggregation of local stars. The pick of the city league team, which did so much to make baseball so popular several years ago. The public has long demanded a local team but the clubs have crowded out home talent for the semi-professional of the metropolitan district. The Scotch Plains club believed that the innovation was worth a trial, so will try it.

If the public demand it, Manager Hand will strengthen up with foreign talent, but from the present outlook the team should make good and become as fast as any of the teams through this sectoud. The line-up will be: Allen, c; "Smiling" Jimmy Montross, p; "Bert" Moore, 1b; "Johnny" Enright, 2b; "Billy" Williams, 3b; "Chick" Cruzius, ss; Taylor, of St. Mary's lf; "Brie" Martin, cf; Baldwin, rf. The Park will line up as follows: McCarthy, cf; Wildeman, rf; Naylor, 3b; Dauber, c; Welsh, 2b; B. Trainer, lf; O'Neill, ss; Stowfenberger, 1b; Minan, p. Game will be called at 3:30.

DEAD MAN ONLY A DUMMY

GRUESOME FIND ON RAILROAD TRACK TURNS OUT TO BE A BOYS PRANK.

Frank Webster, conductor of a passenger train going east yesterday afternoon, reported at the North Avenue station that the body of a dead man was seen on the tracks just east of Grant avenue. Immediately word was sent to George Coles, undertaker, and he hastened to the scene only to find a cleverly made dummy, consisting of a suit of clothes stuffed with straw. It lay alongside the tracks and at first glance gave every appearance of being a real man.

In the meantime the police heard the report that a man had been killed and they hurried to the place. The police took charge of the dummy and it will be held awaiting an investigation ordered by the railroad officials.

Throughout the day there had been wild rumors, first that a man had been killed, then a school boy, and inquiries were made generally about the supposed accident. If the perpetrators of the joke are caught, they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law by the railroad company.

FELLOW TROLLEYMEN PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Great Crowd Attends Funeral of Motorman William Brown at His Late Home.

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

WINFIELD SCOTT POST, NO. 73, G. A. R., AT OBSEQUIES.

Remains Are Taken to Newark To-Today for Burial in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery—Taps Are Sounded—Rev. Mr. Leggett in Charge.

More than three score trolley men attended the funeral service over Motorman William Brown, who was killed in Elizabeth Wednesday morning. The service was held at his late home on East Third street, last night.

Besides the trolley employes there were many G. A. R. men and a large number of friends in attendance. The house was taxed to its utmost to accommodate the crowd, so great was the crush that Chief Doane, of the fire department, who was present as a G. A. R. man, feared for the safety of the mourners. The first and second floors, including the stairs, were filled completely, and the porch was crowded with the overflow of people who could find no room inside.

"Taps," the solemn bugle call, concluded the services. The obsequies were simple in character, but the number of people, the character of the dead man and the shocking death he suffered, made the effect most impressive. After a brief religious service by the Rev. Lester G. Leggett, a detail from Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., to which Brown belonged, held their regular funeral service. Brown served through the Civil War in the Eighth New Jersey Volunteers.

Floral tributes in profusion testified to the esteem in which the dead man had been held. Chief among the set pieces was a floral car, bearing his badge and car numbers, sent by the P. S. C. employes. There were more than a dozen other designs of handsome and costly character.

The remains were taken to Newark for burial today. They will be laid away in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

In tribute to Brown's memory all the motormen and conductors on the lines running through and to this city, wore bands of crepe upon their arms yesterday.

FIVE GENERATIONS LIVING

CLIFTON R. SHERMAN SEES HIS GREAT GREAT GRANDMOTHER.

If it be given to little babies less than six weeks old to feel puffed with pride over unique distinction in the way of relatives, then Clifton Robert Sherman, the son of Wilson J. Sherman, of Washington street, is out growing his normal chest measure rapidly. When he arrived from Storkland Easter Sunday he found a great-great-grandmother waiting for him.

The number of little boys who have grandmothers that possess grandmothers of their own is very limited. Statisticians only know of one or two more in this section of the world.

The great-great grandmother is Mrs. A. Montgomery, who lives in Cranford. She is only eighty-nine years old, which seems foolishly young for a great-great grandmother. She is hale and hearty, and travelled the way from Cranford all alone to see her descendant of the fifth generation. Mrs. Sherman is such a well-preserved old woman that it looks very much as if she would be on hand to welcome her great-great-great grandchild. Mrs. Montgomery is Mr. Sherman's great-grandmother.

She comes of a long-lived family. Her brother is living in Scotland at the age of ninety-three.

Entertainment Postponed.

On account of the illness of one of the principal entertainers, the entertainment for the benefit of the Whittier School baseball team has been postponed. It was to have been held tomorrow night. The new date will be announced later.

SIXTEENTH YEAR, CAUSE OF REJOICING

Monday Afternoon Club Celebrates Anniversary in An Enjoyable Fashion.

PLEASING PROGRAMME

AFFAIR IN CASINO WELL ATTENDED BY CLUB WOMEN.

Mrs. Harry Johnson, Miss Karr and Willard Wadsworth Take a Prominent Part—Refreshments are Served.

The Casino presented a scene of rare beauty last evening when the Monday Afternoon Club met to celebrate its sixteenth anniversary. The stage setting with an artistic arrangement of plants and flowers made an effective back-ground for the all, which looked like a salon.

The guests were received by the president of the club, Mrs. Robert Lowry, assisted by three vice presidents, Mrs. Josiah Browne, Mrs. Benjamin J. Shreve, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, and the chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. William H. Murray.

The entertainment of the evening was opened with the rendering by Mrs. Harry Johnson of one of Grigg's admirable compositions: "Sonate Op. 7," with its changes, Allegro, Andante, Minuetto and Finale. Miss Karr, of New York, then gave two monologues that were full of happy hits. "In the Millinery Department," written especially for Miss Karr by Mary E. Wilkins, was a graphic sketch. This was followed by a kindergarten exercise on the word "Apple," taking off in an exaggerated way the artificial methods of some intellectual processes of training the youthful mind.

Songs by Willard Wadsworth, of West Eighth street, were received by the audience with enthusiastic delight. Miss Wadsworth accompanied her brother with taste and skill.

In Miss Karr's second appearance "Afternoon Whist" was given, in which a room full of whist players was portrayed and four women playing at a whist table were skilfully shown by Miss Karr's one pair of hands, easy chat and light gossip mingling with pretensions to great skill, forgetting trumps and the inevitable post-mortem.

The last monologue, "The Village Censor," gave Miss Karr an opportunity to show the typical gossip indulging in wild suspicions and severe judgment.

This part of the programme ended with another number by Mrs. Harry Johnson, "Concert Etude, D Flat," the skilfull playing of which elicited an enthusiastic encore, brilliantly executed.

Refreshments and a general mingling of guests, many of whom came from out of town, concluded an evening full of charm and pleasure.

BABY CAMP NEEDS SOME IMPROVEMENTS

Institution Conducted by City Union of K. D., Can Spend $2,000 to Advantage.

SEASON APPROACHES

TO BE OPENED DURING EARLY PART OF JUNE.

Estimated Cost of Running the Camp — Mrs. DeLany, the Matron, to be in Charge Again.

The baby camp on the mountainside, under the auspices of the City Union of King's Daughters, will be opened during the early part of June. Many improvements have been made in the camp for the coming season. The institution will be run on the same plan during the coming season as in former years and it is estimated that more than 125 children will be cared for during the summer months.

It is stated that it will be necessary to erect a laundry, separate from the main building, early this spring. Roughly estimating it is thought that about $2,000 will be required to put the camp in full working order for the coming season. Mrs. DeLany and her daughter will again be placed in charge.

The camp last year was ready for occupancy early in June, but because of the prevailing cold weather it was not formally opened until June 6, and on July 10 a public inspection was invited. It was in charge of Mrs. DeLany, who acted in the capacity of matron, and her daughter, Miss Olive DeLany, the city nurse. The work done last season was considered encouraging and the children, receiving the best of personal care and attention, in most cases improved wonderfully, both physically and mentally. Several cases of this improvement are sighted by local promoters of the institution, one of which is that of three little children who, before making a visit to the camp, were physical wrecks and sick most of the time, but during the past winter, under Miss DeLany's personal supervision, have been entirely free from sickness. Many more instances have come to the notice of the directors, who are doing their utmost to improve the condition of the poor little ones of the city.

This season two partitions to the old building have been erected: on one side of the house a new kitchen has been built and the old kitchen converted into a dining room; a room for the matron has also been added, the porch enlarged and an additional dormitory, size eighteen by eighteen, erected. The total cost for these improvements amounts to $584.52.

The total cost of running the camp last season, including salaries, dry groceries, transportation, etc., amounted to $629.80. The expenses were greatly lessened last year as the tradespeople of the city, being deeply interested in the movement, furnished supplies at a large discount and in many instances provided them free of charge. The various circles of the King's Daughters supplied vegetables, etc. The larger circles supplying them for two weeks at a time, and the smaller ones for one week.

TEACHER TO CONTINUE WORK

HORACE J. MARTIN NOT TO LEAVE HIS SUNDAY-SCHOOL CLASS.

The Willing Workers, one of the Trinity church Sunday-school classes, held its regular business meeting at the home of Miss Mary Seidentop, of Madison avenue, last night. Several matters of importance were decided, and a social was held after the session.

Chief among the incidents of the meeting was the decision of Horace J. Martin, the teacher, not to leave the class for work in Maroonnier chapel. Mr. Martin has been asked to take charge of the chapel meetings, and until last night was undecided whether to give up the class or not. After the matter had been talked over it was decided that his work at Oak Tree be only temporary, and that he return to the class as soon as permanent arrangements can be made for workers at the chapel.

It was voted to devote the class missionary effort and money to the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp.

Games and refreshments were the features of a pleasant social hour that followed the session

PRIEST LECTURES ON AN IRISH POET

Father Clifford Tells of the Life and Works of Thomas Osborn Davis.

INTERESTING SKETCH

ADDRESS IN ST. MARY'S SCHOOL HALL WELL ATTENDED.

Father Egan Introduces Speaker—Miss Daley and Joseph O'Keefe Sing—Two Hundred and Fifty People Present.

Father Egan's promise of an intellectual treat, made in the course of his introduction of Father Clifford, last night, was amply fulfilled by the latter's lecture on "Thomas Osborn Davis, the Irish poet," delivered in St. Mary's School hall last night. An audience numbering more than two hundred and fifty, listened with deep and appreciative attention to Father Clifford's remarks. He spoke substantially as follows:

"Among the more prominent because more politically active figures of the time of O'Connell and his colleagues, the life and work of Thomas Osborn Davis have been all but forgotten by the great majority of Irishmen. This man, a Protestant Irish banister, who, during his short three years of activity, proved a greater potential force in forming and guiding the ideas and aims of the reading public of Ireland, has left behind him a greater testimonial to his true worth in the ineffacible results of his work, than in the fame which makes a man's name a familiar sound on the lips of the public.

"Born in 1812, in Munster, of a Buckinghamshire family, the second in point of consideration, in Wales, his mother being the granddaughter of the Earl of Carlisle, Davis was of a rather solitary disposition throughout his boyhood.

"So much so in fact that by his own family he was considered rather dull and backward Later, although he secured his degree at Trinity College, Dublin he took no honors, being held in about the same estimation by his companions as fomerly by his relatives.

"While practising law in Dublin after his graduation from Trinity College, Davis became interested with Charles Gavin Duffy, who later became prime minister of Victoria, and others in the publishing of a paper, the Dublin Nation, which by opening new avenues of thoughts, so stirred the general public of Ireland that the efforts of even the mighty O'Connell, that giant among agitators, appeared tame by comparison.

"For three years the wonderful flow of inspired verse from Davis' pen continued to feed the fire it had kindled. Then after an illness with pneumonia, lasting but two days the singer died in the full prime of his powers, deeply mourned by the whole Celtic race. But his work did not die with him, for the futile struggle of 1848 was a protest against insufferable condition by men whose souls the longing for liberty had been fostered by his writings.

"The present day efforts looking to a fuller measure of national existence for Ireland are in no small measure the outcome of Davis' scheme of reform, which by its logical superiority, has outlived the plans of those who appealed more to men's passions than their reason."

The lecture which was given under the auspices of the Holy Name Society, was preceded by a solo by Miss Anna Daley. Following Father Clifford's remarks, Joseph O'Keefe sang, accompanied on the piano by William O'Keefe. Miss Smith accompanied Miss Daley.

Miss Bowne's Funeral.

The funeral service of the late Miss Jennie Bowne were held last night at 8 o'clock from the home corner of Fifth street and Madison avenue, and was largely attended by friends and neighbors. Rev. Dr. Green, of the Cranford Presbyterian church, of which Miss Bowne was a member, conducted the services. There were many beautiful floral tributes. This morning the remains were taken to Sandy Ridge, Hunterdon County, for interment.

PARTS WITH LIVELY BULL

JAMES E. MARTINE HAS SOLD TROUBLESOME BOUVINE TO MIDDLESEX MAN.

James E. Martine has sold his lively young bull. A Middlesex farmer is the purchaser.

If the bull carries with it any of the excitement it has been feeding to the Plainfield public for two years back it will stir up Middlesex County to the depths of the Raritan creek. Through his natural depravity and the evil star of publicity that seems to hang over him that bull has brought the Farmer Orator into the limelight of the press more than any one other thing except his political speeches.

It was that bull that was supposed to have gored Mr. Martine to death last summer. The report that the old political warhorse had been done to death by his bull came into town early one morning, and within fifteen minutes twenty-thousand people, more or less, were execrating that bull, telephoning to the newspaper offices and making pilgrimages to the scene of the disaster.

Mr. Martine was kept busy for a week denying that he was dead or even punctured.

Two years ago the bull spied two servant girls in his field. His aristocratic ideas were shocked by such company in his garden, and he started to eject them. Mr. Martine was just in time to shoo the bull away and be a hero. That story went all over the United States, and somebody even saw it in one of the foreign reviews.

Between events of this character the bull has tried to tear up the Martine place and to eat his master. So when a Democratic admirer from Middlesex came over one day last week and asked Mr. Martine to sell him the bull, the Farmer Orator said "yes" quick and with a sigh of relief.

If he gets another bull it will have to come with a guarantee that no press agent trained it.

Fred Ivamy, of West Second street, has recovered from his recent severe illness.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Work is being rushed at the Crescent Embossing Company's plant.

Joe Rutlidge, of the borough, has resigned his position at the Scott Press Company's works.

Spencer Kipsey has resigned his position as electrician at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

Thomas Buckley, of the Potter Press Company's works, is in Washington, D. C., on business for the firm.

Jack Davis, of West Third street, has taken a position at Scott Press Works. Mr. Davis was formerly employed at the Potter plant.

George Wallace, a former employe at the Potter shop, has been made night fireman at the Public Service Corporation's repair shop at Railway Junction.

There is a report in circulation at the Pond Machine Tool Company's shop, to the effect that commencing May 1, the men will be compelled to change their overalls twice a week.

Work is picking up in the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant. The Philadelphia branch of the Niles-Bement-Pond Company has shut down their foundry, and the work is being done at the Pond plant.

Hugh Sweeny, of Liberty street, has handed in his resignation at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, to take effect tomorrow. Mr. Sweeny will take a position Monday with the Standard Surgical Instrument Company.

The car shops of the New York Central Railroad at West Albany, together with about thirty day coaches and palace cars, were destroyed by fire yesterday, entailing a loss estimated at $350,000. One hundred and fifty men are thrown out of employment.

JOHN ELLIOTT'S EXHIBITION

PAINTINGS BY MRS. FLORENCE HOWE HALL'S BROTHER-IN-LAW ON VIEW.

John Elliott, the Boston painter, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, has an interesting public exhibition of his work at a temporary studio in East Twenty-fourth street, New York. The show will close tomorrow.

Mr. Elliott has exhibited comparatively little, much of his work having been bought direct from the easel. His most important achievement is a large ceiling decoration, forty feet square, for a room in the Boston Public Library, which was executed in the painter's studio in Rome, and installed some three years ago. Studies for this are here done in red chalk, and they show what appears to be Mr. Elliott's dominant characteristics—a delicacy of perception almost feminine in its sensitiveness, a rather remarkable faculty for providing abundant detail and subordinating it to the general effect, and a good fund of ideas as to design. There is here a set of three presentations of the head of a woman, drawn with a rare sense of what is best worth while, in outline and in modeling.

Mr. Elliott's talent—and he has a very distinct and individual gift—is also set forth con amore in a few portrait studies in red chalk. That of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, his mother-in-law, is of uncommon intuition. It reveals the aged woman in the mood that might have prevailed when she wrote "Mine eyes have seen the glory." With as many lines as an academic study, it yet produces an impression of breadth and vigor, a unity of effect quite masterful.

Mr. Elliott a few years since painted a portrait of the late Duke of Cambridge, in London, and he took the opportunity, while doing the official likeness, to utilize one of the duke's sittings for making a chalk drawing of the head, which doubtless portrays the real man. This is here, and so are reproductions of chalk portraits of several other noted English soldiers, among them Gen. Wauchope, who was killed in the Boer war.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Veterans' Medals.

Last year when the Legislature forgot to make a proper appropriation for the State tuberculosis sanitarium, it was hinted that the oversight was intentional. This year the Legislature authorized the making of service medals to be presented to the Union veterans of New Jersey and then forgot to appropriate the $10,000 necessary to pay for making the medals. As there are about 5,000 veterans in this State, some of whom will doubtless join the great majority before another Legislature can meet, the oversight was a severe disappointment to them. Many an old soldier is asking why the Legislature was not equally forgetful when it came to appropriating $25,000 for an unnecessary junket to the St. Louis Exposition. Perhaps the veterans do not cast as many votes as they used to, and the Legislature may have intentionally omitted the medal appropriation as it did the sanitarium appropriation, in a spirit of real economy. But it looks more like one of those blunders that are inevitable in the rush of incongruous and unconsidered legislation during the closing days of the session.—Newark News.

Jersey Schools All Right.

Praise for New Jersey schools from a man so high in authority as William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, is praise indeed. His commendations, as they appeared in the Washington correspondence of the Evening News of Monday last, are of great value, for they are based on very thorough knowledge and are inspired by judicious appreciation of what has been accomplished in the schools of this State. Commissioner Harris has some criticisms to offer, but they are neither unduly censorius nor superficial. It might be interesting to compare, did space permit, the recent animadversions of Marie Adele Shaw, in The World's Work, with Commissioner Harris's estimate of the New Jersey schools. One of the features he particularly commends is the abolition of the lock-step in the public schools, an improvement to be accredited largely to Dr. William J. Shearer, the superintendent of the Elizabeth public schools and the author of the series of articles published by the News on the training of children. Many of the schools of this State have discarded the old method of marching the pupils in platoons, so to speak, and have so improved that, according to Commissioner Harris, they now rank among the highest in the United States. New Jersey may well be proud of her public schools.—Newark Evening News.

LITERARY.

The opening chapters of the May Atlantic are made brilliant and entertaining by the first installment of Professor Norton's series of Letter of John Ruskin, illuminated by his own delightful and illusstrative comments and explanations. Colonel Higginson continues his recollections with a paper entitled Intensely Human, which contains many salient and pathetic reminiscences of the characteristics of the negro race, more especially of the days before and during the War of the Rebellion.

"Yes," said Gaur, the Bison, "Panther and all his tribe are sneaks. They murdered a Calf of mine. To be sure it was the Wife's Calf, for had I been there at the time I'd have fixed him. She had just lain down to rest for the night, and the Calf was a little to one side, and this evil-spotted thing, Panther of the Red Kind, came sneaking up the wind like a proper Jungle Cat. He knew I was away, for he has the cunning of Cobra, and how was the mother to know that any danger threatened? He stole like a shadow close to the poor little Calf, and with a rush jumped on his back and bit his neck, breaking it, and cutting it so the red blood ran his life all out in a little while."—W. A. Fraser, in the Metropolitan Magazine for May.

Extending System.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has been making extensions to its mains in the outlying districts of the city.

Two More Dwellings.

D. N. Force has been granted a building permit by Chief Doane for the erection of two two-story frame houses in West Front street, 800 feet west of Grant avenue.

—The new brick office-building to be used by Boice, Runyon & Co., coal and lumber dealers on Park avenue, is about completed. The old frame office-building will soon be removed.

—Charles French, the New York building inspector who figured prominently in the Darlington Hotel disaster, together with his wife, will be the guests of E. H. Clevely, of North avenue, Sunday.

Fletcher Humphrey, State secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be the speaker at the meeting of the local association next Sunday.

Plainfield, N. J., April 29, 1904.

A copy of The Hochi Shimbun of March 24 has been received at this office. From its general appearance it is a Japanese "war extra," but for all we know it may be a patent medicine advertisement.

Says a business man: "Good advertising is telling a man what he wants and where he can get it. Also the price. This information, when told in an attractive way, rather leaves the obligation on the side of the reader." Certainly the matter is quite as important to the public as it is to the advertiser, and the public has come to recognise the justice of this view.—Ex.

POLITICAL NOTES.

It is taken for granted now that State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs will be chosen chairman of the Republican State Committee. So far no opposition that amounts to anything has appeared.

Just what warrant there is for believing that Gov. Murphy is likely to be chosen chairman of the National Republican Committee is one of the things that is agitating the higher officials at the State House. Some think there is nothing but hot air in the rumors. Others claim that Gov. Murphy can have the place if he wants it, and that he probably will accept. No one here, however, claims to know anything definite, either way.

John Kean, the senior United States Senator, will preside at the Republican convention in Trenton on May 10 It is not settled who will make the principal speech. John W. Griggs is talked of and so is George L. Record, of Jersey City. There are objections to both, however, on the part of certain leaders. Congressman Fowler's friends would like to hear him set forth the issues in a long talk, but it is understood that Senator Kean thinks some other county than Union should be heard from, especially as the chairman of the convention is to be a Union County man.

Albert D. Foote, the Morristown banker, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, his friends say, notwithstanding his guarded utterances to the contrary. All those utterances mean is, that Mr. Foote does not wish to announce himself as a candidate. He is a college man, cultured and fluent of tongue, and is well informed on public questions and in particular on State issues. If Foote gets the nomination the campaign will not drag for lack of funds, according to the gossip prevalent among Democratic leaders. He has a bar'l and won't hesitate to tap it.

Ex-United States Senator Smith and his close political followers are still hopeful of stampeding the St. Louis Convention for Cleveland. They rely upon Mr. Cleveland's popularity in the South and Southwest to carry the day and think that if the nomination comes to him with practically unanimous accord, ex President Cleveland will accept it, in spite of his repeated requests to be considered out of the race. This was what ex-Senator Smith had in view when he prevented the recent Democratic State convention from indorsing Parker or any other Presidential candidate.

A. B. Dunlap, of Watchung avenue, will soon leave for his summer home in Massachusetts.

CONSULS ACCUSED.

Crittenton Mission Speaker Makes Grave Charge.

WHITE MEN SET BAD EXAMPLE

Natives of Liberia, Where Miss Klein Labors, Hold High Standard of Morals, but Foreign Representatives Retard Good Work.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Charges of gross immorality on the part of consular officials located in Liberia were made by Miss A. A. Klein, one of the speakers at the session of the Florence Crittenton mission in a talk on "Prevention and Rescue Work For Girls In Africa." Miss Klein has been in Liberia as a missionary of the Lutheran church stationed at Muhlenberg, thirty-five miles from the capital, but almost infinitely removed, she explained, from the civilization of that city. She said foreign consuls when on their way to the interior on business frequently stopped at her mission station, where, she said, they would speak lightly of their licentious excesses. Native women, she said, were regarded by those consuls as legitimate prey, criminal assault was common and in many instances unconcealed.

Miss Klein declared the natives, at least in the vicinity where she was stationed, uphold a high standard of morals. Adultery is punished by stoning to death, and natives live closely according to Mosaic laws. The conditions she described, she said, had greatly impeded the work of the missionaries. Miss Klein specifically exempted the Rev. Ernest Lyon, the United States consul at Monrovia, the capital, from the charges made against the other consular officials and paid a high tribute to him.

The report of the Children's home in Alexandria, Va., maintained by Mr. Crittenton, showed there are forty-two children sheltered there. There were a number of other addresses during the day and a discussion of what can be done for the working girl at the St. Louis exposition.

R. H. Hart of Chicago talked of the duty of the community to illegitimate children, and Dr. J. G. Kellogg and Dr. and Mrs. Paulson of Battle Creek, Mich., discussed the relation of health to moral regeneration.

Mrs. Taylor to Be Tried Again.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., April 29.—After spending ten months in the condemned cell at Dannemora prison, where she was sent when convicted of the murder of her husband, Mrs. Kate Taylor was brought back to Monticello to await the new trial that has been granted her. She was in excellent spirits and talked incessantly with Sheriff Royce. Mrs. Taylor, it is alleged, murdered her husband, Lafayette Taylor, in their secluded farmhouse near Centerville and then chopped up the body with an ax and burned it in the kitchen stove. She was tried in May last, convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted in July. Her counsel secured a stay, however, and later a new trial was granted.

Sir Cavendish Boyle's Farewell.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 29.—In the legislature Premier Bond has presented further dispatches confirming the imperial government's view of the disputed points of the French shore section of the Anglo-French colonial treaty. A resolution indorsing the action of the colonial government was adopted. The legislature was prorogued after passing a farewell address to Governor Sir Cavendish Boyle, who leaves the colony to become governor of Mauritius. In replying to the address Sir Cavendish Boyle warmly praised the Anglo-French treaty for its settlement of the French shore question and predicted a great future for the colony.

Wanted For "Hanging Purposes."

RICHMOND, Va., April 29.—A well known detective here believes so strongly that the man arrested at Niagara Falls is John Kennedy, wanted for "hanging purposes" at Staunton, that he has obtained from Governor Montague a requisition on the governor of New York for the delivery of the accused and has left here to secure his prisoner. Kennedy wrecked a Baltimore and Ohio train about two years ago. Kennedy was sentenced to die more than a month ago, but two days before the execution managed to break jail.

Desperate Ham Stealer Dead.

CHICAGO, April 29.—George Walsh, wounded by Peter McGee, watchman at a stockyards plant, on Saturday, when trying to escape after having shot another watchman, is dead in the Englewood Union hospital. He was caught while stealing hams, and a revolver fight ensued. Both the watchmen with whom he fought, McGee and Arthur Clements, were killed. Walsh had an accomplice whose identity is unknown and who escaped.

American Ballad Singer In London.

LONDON, April 29.—Miss Fielding Roselle of Washington and New York, who has sung with success in Berlin, this afternoon made her first appearance in London at Bechstein hall. Miss Roselle's ballad singing was warmly applauded.

Lipton's Good Wishes.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—President David R. Francis of the world's fair has received a cablegram from Sir Thomas Lipton conveying his congratulations and best wishes for the success of the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

FASHIONABLE UNDERWEAR.

It Is Becoming More Dainty and Elaborate In Design.

Lingerie is becoming more and more elaborate. Nightgowns are made low necked and short sleeved, and the yokes are no longer the square or V shaped affairs of former years, but they are marvels of irregular tucks and handmade embroidery.

Petticoats are carefully fitted down to the knees, whence they emerge in a quantity of ruffling edged with lace or fine quillings.

V shaped points both in insertion and in embroidery seem to be the fad at present, and they appear both on chemises and on petticoats.

Little kimonos reaching only to the waist are made of handkerchiefs, the edges being hemstitched together so as to form a regular pattern. Pink and pale blue border handkerchiefs make charming negligees combined in this manner.

The lingerie coffee jacket is always pretty when it is made of wide insertions and very fine white muslin. It is threaded through with pink ribbons or pale blue ones and is worn with a silk petticoat to correspond in tint.

Lingerie hats composed of a variety of tiny lace ruffles can be made at home by the amateur milliner with clever fingers. The sole trimming consists of a wreath of tiny roses or loops of satin ribbon.

The picture shows a fancy nightgown made with an extra wide collar and sleeve ruffles trimmed with lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DRESSMAKER TALK.

The New Bolero and the Old—Wide Cape and Shawl Effects.

The new bolero is loose without front gores. It is also short, in many cases equally so front and back, and what would show of the waist line is hidden under a snugly boned and beautifully fitted wide girdle. The smartest models show the long shoulder and the sleeve, which bags most at the elbow.

Wide cape and shawl effects, fringe, embroideries and plaited and shirred skirts—these are the characteristic features of the spring and summer gowns.

No gown with any pretentions to style can have a plain skirt. Some kind of elaboration is absolutely necessary.

The new taffetas are very supple, so that they will outwear two or three of the old fashioned stiff variety. They come in fancy weaves, such as checks, polka dots, irregular figurings, brocaded effects, etc. Quantities of black and white taffeta and louisine are being sold for general utility and shirt waist costumes.

Velvet ribbon is used in Paris on the most dainty fabrics, such as tulle, mousseline, grenadine and veiling.

The little silk shirt waist gowns are made smart with dainty ties and turnover collars of lace and smart girdles of embroidered silk.

Perfectly exquisite are the new hair ornaments, wheat heads being particularly effective in the form of semi-wreaths and clusters, the hop vine, with its harmonious blending of colors, being introduced among these in many cases, while Mercury's wings in gauze, brightened with paillettes, are greatly admired.

The cut shows a soft silk coat, in gray in color. It is lined with white silk. The deep cape yoke is finely shirred.

Whist League Winners.

BALTIMORE, April 29.—The winners of the four principal trophies at the women's whist convention are: For the Washington trophy championship for teams, won by the Colonial club of Philadelphia, represented by Mrs. Gilpin, Mrs. Campion, Mrs. Buzby and Mrs. McCarthy; Philadelphia cup championship for pairs, won by Mrs. McCrea and Mrs. Goldsborough of the Cranford club, Washington; Cavendish trophy, the junior trophy of the league for teams of four, represented by Mrs. McCord, Mrs. Bolling, Mrs. De Reeves and Mrs. Dixon of the New Amsterdam club, New York; Toledo trophy, for mixed teams of four, won by Mrs. Barney, Mrs. Beaman, Mrs. E. L. Wood and Mrs. F. M. Linnell.

Waterside Got the Suffolk Stakes.

NEW YORK, April 29.—It rained so hard at Jamaica that some of the regulars suggested that somebody was emptying Jamaica bay over the course. Literally the rain came down in torrents, making it almost impossible to see the horses at their warming up gallops. Waterside, at 5 to 1, won the Suffolk by six lengths, after having allowed Voladay and Nevada to make the running to the stretch. Right Royal, a 1 to 4 favorite, was beaten a head by the 15 to 1 shot R. L. Johnston in the second race. George Chandler claimed Lord Melbourne out of the third race for $1,480.

Despised Urchin Led Field.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—Urchin, an animal so little thought of by his owner, William Walker, that he was given to George Phillips, a bystander who was watching the loading of Walker's stable on a car for Chicago, won the first race of the Kinloch card at the fair grounds. Urchin was anywhere from 50 to 100 to 1 at post time and simply ran away from his field, winning, pulled up, by a dozen lengths. Tower upset the talent in the third race by beating Knowledge, the odds on favorite, and Pretension, the well played second choice, rather easily.

Police Stopped O'Brien-Carter Fight.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—The police stopped the fight between Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia and Kid Carter of Brooklyn in the third round of a scheduled fifteen round bout here last night. Carter was completely outclassed, being practically a beaten man at the end of the first round. He was sent to the canvas three times in the second round, going to his corner very groggy. In the third round he was put down and almost out by a right to the jaw. He attempted to rise at the count of eight, but the police ordered the bout stopped.

Oiseau Won, Galloping.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 29.—Favorites and well backed horses captured the card at Cumberland park. The track was heavy, but scratches were few. The Avondale stakes for two-year-olds at five furlongs was the feature. Oiseau was heavily played, while Zinda on a previous performance had a good following. Oiseau won, galloping. He raced Zinda into submission before the stretch turn was reached and then had matters his own way.

Racing at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—Favorites took three of the races at Oakland, but there were upsets in the other events. J. T. Sheehan rode three winners. The first surprise was the victory of Cardinal Sarto, a 7 to 1 chance, in the two-year-old race. Marie J., the favorite, and Head Dance, the second choice, got away poorly and failed to cut any figure.

International Chess Tourney.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., April 29.—At the conclusion of the third round of the international chess masters' tournament last night Janowski, the Parisian expert, and the Leipsic player, Mieses, were tied for first and second places, Lasker and Marshall for third and fourth, while Teichmann of London was fifth.

Father Zareka Not Guilty.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 29.—Rev. Father Victor Zareka, who was arrested last Sunday on the charge of cruelly beating Andrew Sofka, was completely exonerated when the case was called in habeas corpus proceedings. The coroner's inquest revealed that the boy died of peritonitis. He said the priest should never have been arrested.

Miners' Strike Called Off.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 29.—The executive board of the United Mine Workers of America has met here and decided to call off the coal strike in District No. 15. This district includes the Carbon county fields in Utah, where the men have been on strike since last winter, and Colorado, New Mexico and southern Wyoming.

A VERY HUNGRY MAN

isn't particularly critical. It is he who has abundance who becomes fastidious.

Fastidious people and very hungry people are both eminently satisfied with the high quality of our Meats and Provisions.

Every day somebody drops in and voluntarily testifies to his appreciation.

That's how we know about it. The more difficult to suit you are, the better you'll be suited.

Fine Swift's Premium Beef, Jersey Spring Lamb, Canada Mutton, Long Island Ducks and Home-dressed Fowls are our specialties for this week.

In our Seafood market Delaware and Bayside Shad take the lead. We also have a lot of other fine specimens. Try them. Double Blue Stamps on all Cash Purchases for Friday and Saturday.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKERS or offices of the Associations:

A RUSSIAN SUCCESS

Kinshiu Maru Went Down With 200 Japanese.

SOLDIERS REFUSE TO YIELD AND DIE

Satisfaction at St. Petersburg Over the Victory Is Tempered With Admiration For Bravery of Mikado's Dead.

LONDON, April 29.—Late advices from St. Petersburg say two Russian torpedo boats belonging to Admiral Yeszen's Vladivostok squadron sank a Japanese military transport, the Kinshiu Maru, of 4,000 tons, during the night of April 26, with all on board with the exception of seventeen officers, twenty soldiers, sixty-five of the crew and eighty-five cooly carriers, who surrendered.

The remainder of the soldiers, about 200 of the rank and file, who were to form a landing party, left without officers, obstinately refused to surrender or go on board one of the Russian ships and offered armed resistance to the Russians. They were sent to the bottom with the transport.

The Kinshiu Maru was laden with rice and other military stores and about 1,500 tons of coal. She was armed with four Hotchkiss guns.

Admiral Yeszen reports that besides the sinking of the Japanese steamer Goyu Maru at Gensan on April 25 the Russians sank at sea the same evening the Japanese steamer Nakamura Maru of 220 tons, whose crew was saved.

The satisfaction of the people of St. Petersburg at the exploits of the Vladivostok squadron is tempered with admiration for the bravery of the Japanese soldiers who went down with the transport and who preferred death rather than surrender.

Rear Admiral Yeszen's report says that 200 men went down with the ship.

The admiralty admits that the men acted heroically, but holds that Admiral Yeszen had no other alternative than to sink the transport, as he could not spare a prize crew or hamper his swift squadron with a slower steamer. It is pointed out that the officers on board the Kinshiu Maru appreciated the situation by accepting imprisonment rather than death.

In the case of the smaller Japanese transport sunk by the torpedo boats at Gensan the crew was sent ashore because there were no accommodations on the torpedo boats. The crews of the Nakamura Maru and the Kinshiu Maru have been taken to the Russian cruisers.

The admiralty professes ignorance as to the future plans of Admiral Yeszen, but it is believed he is in communication with Vladivostok by wireless telegraphy and is not likely to be surprised by the Japanese squadron sent to prevent his return.

St. Petersburg is loaded with rumors regarding the sinking of the Japanese military transport, the Kinshiu Maru. One report has it that 3,600 men were aboard the transport when she went down, but the admiralty insists that there were only 200.

It is said that the emperor is highly indignant over the affair and that he will relieve Yeszen and order him to be court martialed. It is stated by naval experts that no other course could be pursued and that the admiral only fired when the Japanese categorically refused to surrender and adopted a hostile attitude.

The officials say that there is no similarity between the sinking of the Kinshiu Maru and the destruction of the Kowshing, which was sunk by the Japanese before the declaration of war with China, as Russia is at war with Japan. That Admiral Yeszen gave the men every opportunity to leave the ship is proved by the fact that all the officers, some of the soldiers, the crew and the coolies were saved.

A report from Tokyo says:

"The commander of the Japanese naval detachment sent to the Yalu reports that while ascending the river the Russian artillery fired upon the detachment from the bank opposite Yongampho, but without effect.

"Russian cavalry appeared at the delta of the river, but retreated upon being fired upon by the Japanese naval detachment. About 100 Russian cavalrymen fired upon the Japanese steam launches, whereupon the Japanese torpedo boats answered, and the enemy fled behind the hills, leaving many wounded.

"The enemy also fired upon the Japanese from the direction of Antun. The Japanese replied, and the Russians were silenced after about an hour's fighting. The Japanese sustained no loss."

A Liaoyang dispatch says Major Togo Tatzozero, a member of the general staff of the Japanese army, who is a prisoner here, having been captured at Wiju, where he had lived since January last, states:

"The Russians will be driven as far as Baikal. Farther than that we do not wish to go, but we will return to Manchuria and open it to the trade of the world.

"Our people are certain that they can beat the Russians, but I think we began hostilities fifty years too soon. We were not prepared for such a serious war.

"Japan wishes above everything else to command the sea, and she will then be free from fear of invasion and loss of territory. With the complete destruction of the Russian fleet we believe the war will end.

"Japan's alliance with Great Britain was a stupid act, and

AN 18TH CENTURY PRESS

OLD PRINTING MACHINE BEING PREPARED FOR EXHIBITION.

One of the oldest printing presses in existence, in this country, at least, is being prepared by the Campbell Printing Press Company for exhibition at the St. Louis Fair.

It was manufactured by one Thomas Draper, in Boston, in 1742, and took its place as the first press used in New Hampshire. Daniel Fowle bought it in 1756. Afterwards it was owned by John Melcher, the first State printer of New Hampshire, and later one F. W. Miller, of Portsmouth, N. H., owned it.

The Campbell people have owned it for a good many years. It was exhibited at the Centennial Exposition, at the Chicago World's Fair and at various art exhibitions in New York. The company has had it unpacked at its repair shop in the East End to be cleaned for exhibition at the St. Louis show alongside one of the big auto-plate machines, the most remarkable machine that the Campbell plant is turning out. The auto-plate casts curved stereotype plates automatically at the rate of five a minute. Big papers like the Herald and World are using them, and the contrast between that contrivance and the ancient clumsy, wooden press will be great enough to challenge the attention of all the visitors to the Machinery Building.

PASSED THE LIE.

Judge Hand Waxes Warm in Argument With C. H. Hand, the Real Estate Agent.

Charles H. Hand and Judge Hezekiah Hand engaged in a heated argument in front of the First National Bank building yesterday afternoon, in which the 'squire passed the lie repeatedly. Real Estate Agent Hand claims that the judge owes him for the rent of an office at Sixth and Berckman streets. The 'squire says that the real estate man ordered several lawyers engaged in cases in the justice's court in which he is interested to pay no fees to the court. The Judge says that he may have Real Estate Agent Hand arrested for the alleged appropriation of a sign belonging to him.

LOCKUP UNSANITARY; COUNCILMEN TO ACT

North Plainfield Board of Health Has Condemned Present Jail Accommodations.

NEW QUARTERS SOON

OLD ENGINE HOUSE TO BE USED AS A LOCKUP.

Present Structure Looks Like a Barn and is Unfit for Purpose—Council Meets Next Friday Night.

Better jail accommodations for the borough will probably be the chief matter before the North Plainfield Council at its meeting next Friday night. The present jail has been condemned by the Board of Health twice, and some change in the conditions must be made to avoid trouble with the health authorities.

For two years or more there has been talk of better jailing facilities across the brook. The present jail is a barnlike affair in the rear of the old engine house, wholly inadequate to the needs of the borough police force. The cells are very few and small, and the place is stuffy and badly ventilated. Whenever the hilarious ones of the borough are a little more numerous than usual they are doubled up in the cells, and sometimes tripled up, which necessarily aggravates the unsanitary condition of the structure.

For some time the Board of Health has been considering the jail matter, and the members have about come to the conclusion that the present state of affairs must come to an end for the good of the general health conditions. Last year the Board formally declared that the jail was unfit, and recommended some improvement. Action was not taken to meet the recommendation fully, however, and last week the Board inspected the jail and condemned it as unsanitary.

With the abandonment of the old enigne house by the fire department, the borough was placed in a position to meet the emergency in a way quite satisfactory to everybody interested. It has been suggested before that the old house be used as a jail, and it is almost a certainty that the Council will order the conversion of the structure for that purpose at the approaching session. If the house is used the jailing capacity will be tripled, and the sanitation and ventilation can be made as perfect as the most exacting member of the Health Board may desire.

SOLD LIQUOR ILLEGALLY?

CHARLES S. WYCKOFF HELD IN BAIL TO ANSWER CHARGE.

Charles S. Wyckoff, of Stone street, charged with selling liquor illegally, was arraigned before Judge Schenck in the Somerset County Court yesterday, and held under bail for trial May 31. It is charged that Wyckoff has been engaged in the traffic for a long time, and that repeated efforts to oust him from the business has failed. Neighbors, it is claimed, have complained many times, but without avail. Wyckoff has a goverament license, the authorities say, but nothing more.

James E. Codington, who was arrested in Philadelphia on a charge of bigamy, pleaded not guilty and was held in $2,000 bail to appear for trial Sept. 27. He will be defended by Clarence E. Case. The lateness of the trial was by mutual consent of counsel so they may be given more time to prepare testimony.

INJURED ON CAR TOP.

Warren Kern, of Philadelphia, Hurt by Stones Thrown at Coaler.

Warren Kern, of Philadelphia, was taken from the top of a coal car at Cranford last night, bleeding and unconscious from wounds in the head, caused by stones thrown at the passing train by a gang of boys in Westfield. He regained consciousness under the treatment of a physician and was sent back to Philadelphia. Three other men that rode with Kern narrowly escaped the same injuries.

Hid in Coal Bin.

Suffering from what is supposed to be temporary dementia, Mrs. Robert Pruden, of East Third street, hid herself in a coal bin in the cellar yesterday afternoon. When she was missed the family believed she had wandered to the street and had a general police alarm sent out.

MUTUAL TRADING STAMP CO.

ORGANIZATION OF LOCAL GROCERS TO GIVE PREMIUMS.

A meeting of merchants has been called for Tuesday night in the rooms of the Grocers' Protective Association, by George D. Brown, of New York, for the purpose of organizing a local trading stamp company. It is especially desirous that the merchants who now give trading stamps attend the meeting, while those who intend giving them are also urged to be present. Mr. Brown recently formed an association at Elizabeth with 130 merchants as members.

The scheme is to have the association take full charge of the business, issuing a gold stamp, purchasing and giving their own premiums. It is claimed that in this way many dollars will be saved to the merchants as well as customers. The business will be conducted along conservative lines and with a view to giving both merchants and patrons fair treatment.

SLASHED BY AN ITALIAN

BERKELEY HEIGHTS CARPENTER INJURED BY A CREDITOR.

Fred Walters, a boss carpenter, of Berkeley Heights, who has just completed a house for Michael Angelo, of that place, has had trouble collecting the last payment on the house. He went to Far Hills yesterday to see the owner. Angelo ordered Walters out of the shop. After some words, the Italian attacked him with a shoe knife, cutting him three gashes in the face, one in the neck and one in the breast.

Walters rushed from the place in search of a physician. After the wounds were dressed, he went before Justice Dunster and had a warrant issued for the arrest of the Italian. His wounds are more serious than were at first supposed and he is now confined to his home.

The only reason which Walters can give for the trouble is that the Italian wanted to escape paying the balance due for the work of building his house.

MRS. E. E. COLE IS DIVORCED

PLAINFIELD WOMEN GETS DECREE AND CUSTODY OF CHILD.

A decree of absolute divorce has been granted in favor of Mrs. Eleen E. Cole, of this city, against George Cole, of Staten Island. Mrs. Cole was married in 1879 and took up her residence in Staten Island, living with her husband until early in 1897. In her petition she stated that his continued bad conduct and abuse had grown unbearable and she was forced to separate from him and moved to this city where she has resided ever since, supporting herself entirely by her own efforts.

Action in the matter was started in 1899 by the late William Daly, of Jersey City and after dragging along for several years, William Newcorn, Esq., of this city, was substituted, and upon ascertaining facts of the old case commenced a new one. The matter was referred to Hon. Joseph Cross as special master, and after hearing the testimony of the witnesses, on March 1, last, filed his report, advising that a decree of absolute divorce be granted.

The papers, under the rule of the court, remained on file for thirty days and were then referred to Vice Chancellor Gray, who adopted the special master's report. The court ordered that the custody of the daughter be given to the mother.

ALIS CLUB SIGNS STRONG AGGREGATION

Manager Johnston Announces the Players to Represent Organization on Diamond.

SEASON OPENS MAY 7

LAUDER AND CREAGEN ARE ON THE TEAM.

Davis and Farmer the Battery—Good Support—Aeolians, of Garwood, the Opponents in Opening Game.

Manager George Johnston, of the Alis baseball team, today announces his team for the season and he says that there will be no further changes, unless for reasons of accident or illness. He believes that he has got together one of the strongest teams to be found in the State and one that will be able to put up gilt-edge ball that will delight the fans.

This is the lineup:

Farmer, c; Davis, p; Mehlen, 1b; Creagen, 2b; Roberts, ss; Lauder, 3b; Barry, lf; Griffin, rf. and p; McGoey, cf.

Every one of these players have a fine record. Farmer, the catcher, comes from the Ingersoll-Sergeant team of Phillipsburg, and is considered one of the strongest backstops in that section of the State. "Lefty" Davis, who will occupy the box, made a good record at Scotch Plains for two years and was a puzzle to all teams in this vicinity. Mehlen, who will play the initial bag, comes from the Columbia College team, having played that position successfully last season. One of the star men signed is Creagen for second base. He played with the Cincinnati National League team last season and is playing Sunday games this season with the crack Hoboken team. Robert, who will cover short-stop, comes from the North Ends, of Phillipsburg, as does also McGoey, who will look after centre garden. Both men are considered very fast players. Still another star for the team is "Billy" Lauder, of last year's New York National League team. He will play his old position at third base. Every one who follows the National game is acquainted with Lauder's ability.

Barry, of the Murray Hills, has been signed to play left field and Griffin will cover right field and be a change pitcher. With this combination, Manager Johnston is sure he will give the baseball loving public an article of ball second to none in this vicinity. The team is not only strong in the batting department, but in their respective positions are rated as top-notchers.

ACOUSTIC CEILING.

Sheet of Canvas Stretched Across Park Avenue Baptist Church Will Overcome Trouble.

To correct acoustic conditions that have made it hard for the members of the congregation to hear the sermons, the Park Avenue Baptist church has had a canvas ceiling stretched over the auditorium. It will be tried tomorrow for the first time.

Much trouble has been experienced by the congregation in catching the discourses from the pulpit. It is supposed that the construction of the dome is in some way responsible for the deadening of the sound, and it is believed that the stretching of the canvas ceiling will overcome the trouble.

POTATOES SELLING AT $1.75 A BUSHEL

High Price Likely to Continue Until New Potatoes Are Put on the Market.

PEACHES EXPENSIVE

CROP TO BE AN UNUSUALLY SMALL ONE THIS YEAR.

San Jose Scale Causes a Blight—Fruit Growers Want the State to Take Action in the Matter.

The price of potatoes has recently taken a decided jump, the dealers asking $1.75 a bushel. It is believed that this price will continue until the first part of June. At that time the new potatoes will be in the market. During the past season the retail price has been between $1 and $1.25 a bushel and in some instances the quality has been poor.

One well posted on the raising of fruit says that peaches will be very scarce this summer, owing to the prevalence of the San Jose scale. This farmer declares that within a few years peaches in this section of the country will be as valuable as hens' teeth, unless radical measures are taken to kill the scale. Last year the fruit was of poor quality and very high in price. It is even said that in old Hunterdon county, where the finest peaches are raised, the crop will be a small one this year.

Persons interested in raising fruit have been much exercised during the past few years regarding the San Jose scale and they believe the matter calls for united action on the part of State officials. Individually little can be done, but by concerted action it is thought the pest can be killed.

LITTLE JOKERS ARE FINED

CHILDREN WHO PLACED DUMMY ON TRACK HALED TO COURT.

This morning the city police court was crowded with youngsters between the ages of six and fifteen as the result of an investigation as to who was responsible for placing the dummy on the railroad tracks yesterday.

The Judge appointed Robert Morris, aged eighteen, and the instigator of the scheme, as spokesman for the party. He related how, he with the aid of Martha Marley, aged nineteen, he had made the dummy and placed it on the tracks, thinking it a huge joke on the railroad people.

Chief Kiely last evening notified the railroad that he had located the perpetrators and William Dougherty, chief of police of the Central Railroad, was on hand this morning to appear against them. The youngsters seemed amused at the proceedings of the court, but when Judge Runyon commenced to fine them, one by one, their manner immediately changed. The Judge gave them a severe lecture, pointing out that practical joking does not always prove profitable.

Following is the list of those arraigned: Robert Morris, age eighteen; Martha Marley, age nineteen; Joseph Gainan, age ten; Murril Todd, age eight; Charles Fay, age ten; Abe Fay, age nine; Charles Gasper, age eight, and Crystal and Edward Eskerson, both age ten.

A fine of $5 was imposed upon each with the alternative of serving a few days in jail—the fines were readily paid.

MISS MINNIE E. WOOD WEDS A LONDONER

Plainfield Girl Becomes the Bride of Ralph K. Harvey in New York.

THEY MET IN ITALY

CEREMONY AT THE CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION.

Rev. Percy S. Grant Officiates—Wedding Breakfast at Waldorf-Astoria—Miss Katherine Wood Maid-of-Honor.

Miss Minnie E. Wood, daughter of Francis Wood, of Franklin place, and granddaughter of Mr. Esterbrook, of pen fame, was married to Ralph K. Harvey, of London, at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue and Tenth street, New York, today noon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the church, in the presence of a large number of society people from New York, this city and distant points.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with lace and she wore orange blossoms in the coiffure. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Katharine Wood, as maid-of-honor. There were no bridesmaids. Thomas Parker, of London, was the best man. Arthur King Wood, a cousin, William B. Gilbert, James P. Murray and Howard Huntington, of this city, were ushers.

After the ceremony the bride's father gave an elaborate breakfast at the Waldorf-Astoria to the bridal party and one hundred friends. The couple will soon sail for London, where they will reside in the future. The bride received many elegant and costly gifts, among them being a valuable token from her Sunday-school class at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

The bride was travelling in Italy after her mother's death, and it was there that she met and became engaged to Mr. Harvey.

Among the guests from here attending the wedding were Alexander Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., Dr. G. W. Endicott. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Huntington and Miss Florence Huntington.

DANCE ENJOYED.

One Hundred and Fifty Young People at the Leap Year Affair.

The Leap Year Soiree given last evening in the I. C. T. Club's rooms, under the auspices of the Tuesday Evening Dancing Class, was a successful and pleasing affair. Everyone entering the hall was supplied with a numbered card and the ones holding the corresponding cards were partners in the grand march. About 75 couples were present, among them being guests from Somerville and Westfield.

The committee in charge included the Misses Kregar, Harkins, Kenney, Skinner and Daley. Music was furnished by Prof. O'Reilly.

Old Plainfield Paper.

Walter Tester a few days ago picked up a copy of the Plainfield Union, dated April 23, 1863. Among other matters is an account of the death of Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen, which occurred at New Brunswick ten days before. Theodore Frelinghuysen was born at Millstone in March, 1787, and was at one time Attorney General for the State. His father was a distinguished lawyer of New Jersey and took part in the battles of Monmouth and Trenton, receiving the credit of having shot the Hessian commander, Rahl, whose coat is one of the relics at the Wallace House, Somerville.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

Suit for Wall Papering.

In the Circuit Court at Somerville, the trial of Louis Herman, trading as the Persian Wall Paper Co., against Hattie C. Scholler, was completed yesterday. Counsel will argue Monday morning, and after the charge to the jury, the case will be decided. Herman papered the house of the defendant in North Plainfield and when the work was done she refused to pay for it, claiming it was defective. William Newcorn, Esq., represents Herman and Assemblyman Swackhamer appears for the defense.

FOWLER IS A CANDITATE

ALTHOUGH THE CONGRESSMAN REFUSES TO ANNOUNCE HIMSELF.

A despatch from Washington says that when representative Charles N. Fowler was asked if he would be a candidate for renomination he stated that he had never been in the habit of announcing himself as a candidate. It is understood, however, from close friends of the congressman that he will undoubtedly stand for a renomination and it is believed there will be no opposition to his selection.

Mr. Fowler's friends feel that some of the criticism that he has been subjected to recently is unmerited. He worked for five or six months last year after adjournment on financial matters, and it was evident from the beginning of the present Congress that no financial legislation would be enacted. Hence, if Mr. Fowler was absent occasionally he was in no sense neglecting his duties, and his constitutents were well taken care of at all times.

FIRST BAPTIST Y. P. S. ELECTS

N. DOUGLAS DRAKE IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION.

The re-organized Young People's Society, of the First Baptist church, met last night and elected these officers: President, N. Douglas Drake; vice president, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss; secretary, Miss Ella Mackey; treasurer, Harry Woodland; chairman prayer-meeting committee, Miss Elizabeth Wilson; invitation, Dr. Norman H. Probasco; music, Miss Florence I. Marsh; flower, Miss Florence I. Marsh; social, Miss Velma F. Oakley.

After the election the new constitution was read and adopted and all the members signed their names. There was no other business and a short devotional service was held. The meetings will be held as usual every Friday night and the prayer-meeting committee will soon arrange a series of topics.

JUMPED TO SAVE HERSELF

SERIOUS MISHAP TO MISS TRUST AVERTED BY PRESENCE OF MIND.

As a result of her quick presence of mind which led her to jump from a buggy phaeton in which she was riding, Miss Trust, of Greenbrook, had a narrow escape from serious injury Thursday afternoon while driving along West Front street on her way home. Henry Haurand's beer wagon to which was attached a team of spirited horses, ran down the long hill west of Grant avenue and collided with the rig belonging to Miss Trust. Only a minute before the collision the young woman jumped from her phaeton.

The team almost completely wrecked the light wagon, but the horse that Miss Trust was driving was so gentle that further damage was prevented. The wrecked wagon was taken to Samuel Taynor's repair shop at the corner of West Front street and Grant avenue, near the point of the accident, for repairs.

The accident was due to the fact that the pole of the beer wagon accidently snapped off, allowing the team to run away. The driver, although dragged from the wagon was not injured. It is understood that a suit for damages will be started soon.

Mrs. Coffey Dead.

Mrs. Bridget Coffey, wife of Thomas Coffey, died yesterday afternoon at her home in North avenue, following a long illness, most of the time being confined to her room. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, 130 North avenue, Monday morning, at 8:30 and at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where a solemn high mass will be said. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

BOROUGH PRIMARY CALM AND PEACEFUL

Republicans Elect Delegates Without Any Touch of Excitement.

BOTH SIDES PRESENT

MAYOR SMALLEY CALLS THE MEETING TO ORDER.

His Mysterious Disappearance After Election of Permanent Chairman Causes Talk—Nine Delegates Elected.

Calm and peaceful from start to finish, the Republican primary for the election of delegates to the coming State convention for the selection of delegates to the National convention passed off without a ripple in the borough last night. While the twenty voters present were mainly of anti-persuasion, no lines were drawn.

The primary was held in the Somerset street schoolhouse. Mayor Smalley called the meeting to order, and Charles Place was elected chairman. Dr. J. H. Buchanan was made secretary.

W. H. Howland, Dr. J. H. Cooley and C. M. Dolliver (Mayor Smalley's candidate for assembly at the last general election) were the delegates to the convention that is to choose the delegates-at-large. The following six men were named as delegates to the congressional district convention, for the election of general delegates: Charles Place, J. J. Stahl, H. H. Webb, John Goodwin, E. D. Hutchinson, L. C. VanNest. The two conventions meet on May 10 at Trenton. All the delegates were empowered to fill vacancies. They were not instructed.

Mayor Smalley gave the voters something to talk about by quietly effacing himself immediately after the selection of a chairman. As soon as he had announced the election of Mr. Place the Mayor disappeared. Nobody saw him go out, and within five minutes after his disappearance all the antis were anxiously asking "where the Mayor was." They looked for him behind all the pillars and in the four corners of the basement, and some of them seemed uncomfortable because they couldn't find him. They appeared to think his disappearance was the prelude to some startling political move, and a few of them didn't breathe freely until the primary closed.

COUNCIL MEETING MONDAY

TAX ORDINANCE TO BE ADOPTED ON FINAL READING.

There will be nothing of special importance to engage the attention of the Common Council at the May meeting to be held Monday night. The tax ordinance will be adopted on its final reading and it is quite likely that an ordinance will be introduced providing for the macadamizing of certain streets. It is also possible that there will be some report from the committee in reference to the municipal collection of garbage, although no definite action is looked for at this time. Aside from these matters nothing but routine business is scheduled to come up at the meeting.

TALK ON PORTO RICO.

Charles H. Scott Delivers Interesting Illustrated Lecture at the High School.

Charles H. Scott, one of the Y. M. C. A. State secretaries, lectured on Porto Rico at the Plainfield High School yesterday. The talk was illustrated with a number of graphic slides, taken by Mr. Scott himself.

He lived in Porto Rico for several years, and is full of interesting reminiscence of the island and its people. He spoke at some length on the interior, where few Americans have gone. One of his views showed the house whereon the first American flag flew after the Spanish-American War opened.

Cavalry, from Fort Myer, Va., and Troop "C," of the National Guard will each do their best in musical rides, hard riding and quick action, and there will be perilous work by both. The Fourth Battery, U. S. Field Artillery, comes also from Fort Myer. The U. S. Infantry comes from Governor's Island. The National Guard will be represented by the 22d Regiment, Engineers, the First Battery, the Second Battery, the First and Second Signal Corps and the Naval Militia. The Twelfth, Fourteenth and Ninth Regiments will also be in the military programmes.

On Monday evening, May 2, the much talked of melodrama, "Two Little Sailor Boys" will be produced at the Academy of Music, New York. This play enjoys a record of running four consecutive seasons in England where its popularity has made it a veritable household word. The most conspicuous feature of the play is a river scene in the second act. The adventuress throws her son Tom from a high bridge into the water. The boy's chum, Cyril, hearing his cries, rushes upon the bridge, leaps upon the rail and dives to his rescue. Mrs. T. J. Boyle, who controls the American rights of "Two Little Sailor Boys," has brought together a representative list of players for this production. Besides the young actresses named in the title role will appear Lizzie Evans, Dan Collyer, Douglas Fairbanks, Geo. F. Spener, Georgia Welles, Ethel Brandon, Burt Jordan and Rosa Crouch, James Carew, Harry St. Maur, W. B. Norton, E. T. Miller, John Harson and William Brand.

Following the triumphant engagement of "Red Feather" and Grace VanStuddiford, the Grand Opera House will have for its attraction, another successful woman star in a new famous historical play. Miss Bertha Galland in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" will be the offering, week of May 2, and the popular young actress seems due to repeat the emphatic hits scored in two Broadway theatres and in every large city of the East, South and middle West. "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" apart from being a dramatization of a popular novel is a strong play, contraining all the essentials of a well constructed drama.

"The Girl From Kays" is about the gladdest thing produced around New York. It is crowding the Herald Square Theatre nightly and as laugh maker has no equal. Sam Bernard was never funnier than in this bright musical piece, which bubbles over with merry melodies. Everybody who comes to town asks first for this musical comedy and rushes to see it. An extra matinee will be given this Wednesday.

Charles Hawtrey is filling his final engagement in America at the Lyceum, appearing in a new comedy "Saucy Sally," which provides this clever actor ample opportunities for his delightful homedy methods. His new play is filled with laughable situations and playgoers who recall the enjoyment derived from "A Messenger from Mars," will no doubt be anxious to see Mr. Hawtrey in his new play.

Madge Lessing has shelved "My Burmese Maid" from the second act of "Wang" at the Lyric and is singing instead, what will undoubtedly prove one of the big song hits of years called "Tizan." It has rythmic melody enough to make several songs, and it was encored repeatedly last night.

William H. Thompson and "The Secret of Polichinelle" continue to make new and warm friends every performance at the cosy and comfortable Princess Theatre. It is seldom that even on Broadway a cast so splendidly balanced and showing such perfect team work can be gathered. Regular matinees come on Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

A Wonderful Saving.

The largest Methodist Church in Georgia, calculated to use over one hundred gallons of the usual kind of mixed paint in painting their church.

They used only 32 gallons of the Longman & Martinez Paint mixed with 24 gallons of linseed oil. Actual cost of paint made was less than $1.20 per gallon.

Saved over eighty (80.00) dollars in paint, and got a big donation besides.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity whenever they paint.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of linseed oil mixed therewith.

Wears and covers like gold.

These Celebrated Paints are sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. Meyer, Scotch Plains.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Mr. Cleveland's Address.

Mr. Cleveland's determination to lecture to the Princeton students on the Chicago railway strikes of 1894 is appropriate and timely. It is not right that the country should be permitted to forget that great labor disturbance or the manner in which it ended because there was a man in the White House who knew his duty and suffered no spirit of self-seeking to hinder him from doing it bravely and well.—Newark News.

Voting Machines.

It was generally believed that the voting machine had by extensive experience in New York and other States proved itself superior to all the arts of the political manipulator. But statements made in the New York Legislature yesterday, which resulted in the defeat of a bill authorizing municipalities to adopt voting machine are disquieting. This bill was only permissory. Another is pending which would compel all election authorities of every community in the State, immediately after the adoption of a voting machine by the State board, designated in the bill, to purchase one or more voting machines for each voting district. Both Republican and Democratic members of the New York City Bureau of Elections oppose this bill, and a Republican commissioner said: "Voting machine would be all right if they were perfected to the point where they were safe. For instance, up in Connecticut, only a little while ago, one man punched up a hundred votes. In the present machine there is nothing that I can see that would prevent a man from voting 999 times, and it seems to me a mistake to force the city of New York to put its taxpayers to the expense of over $1,000,000, to purchase a machine that is not as yet in perfected condition."—Paterson Daily Press.

N. J.'s Old Democratic Editors.

We have been interested in a little exchange of opinions between the Rahway Democrat and the Newark News, which brought out the fact that Bro. Hyer, of the Democrat, had been in the editorial harness nearly forty years and had supported every Democratic candidate since 1860. The Democrat dates back to the time of Martin VanBuren in 1840 antedating this paper by four years. Judge Hyer is one of the last of the old guard of New Jersey newspaper giants. Sinnickson Chew, of the Camden Press, James S. Yard, of the Freehold Democrat, A. A. Vance, of the Morristown Jerseyman, David Naar, of the Trenton True American, John L. Murphy, of the Trenton State Gazette, John F. Babcock, of the New Brunswick Fredonian, Chas. Folwell, of the Mt. Holly Mirror, all are gone and with them much of the individuality that made the journals they conducted living, breathing forces in New Jersey politics and general affairs. It was a treat to see these men together, to witness the brotherliness of their intercourse, and of them all none was so unaffected, so cordial in his greeting and none was received more pleasantly than was "Lew" Hyer. Now he is the dean of the profession and looking back, and talking about sixty and forty years ago! Long may he remain with us!—Salem Sunbeam.

It is an indisputable fact that the high esteem given to any work of Art must be founded upon merit. SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

The members of the New Jersey National Guard are hoping Governor Murphy will decide to send a regiment to represent this State at Manassas Junction, Va., where the battle of Bull Run will be fought over again at the army manoeuvres September 5 to 16. It is expected that 30,000 troops will take part. There will be 10,000 regulars, the rest being made up of State guardsmen. New Jersey has been asked to send a regiment of twelve companies.

The schoolhouse at Berkely Heights was broken into Tuesday night by some vandals, who after destroying the books and papers in the desks, broke open the teacher's desk and scattered the contents about the floor. They stole a pearl handle knife and penholder and before their departure scribbled a lot of scurrilous remarks on the blackboard about the two teachers and trustees of the schools. A still hunt is being made to locate the parties, who, it is believed, committed the act out of spite.

There will be five denominations of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition stamps, each being illustrated with some reference to the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. The one-cent stamp will be green, with a picture of Robert R. Livingston, who was Minister to France when the purchase was concluded. The two-cent denomination will be red, with a picture of Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States when the purchase was made. The three-cent stamps will be of purple, with a picture of James Monroe, Special Ambassador to France at the time and afterward president. The five-cent stamps will be blue, with a picture of President McKinley, who approved the act establishing the Exposition. The ten-cent stamp will be brown, and has a map of the territory included in the purchase.

LITERARY.

McClure's Magazine for May prints a most interesting excerpt from a letter written by President Roosevelt to Rev. Stannard Baker, commenting on his discussion of "Great Labor Conflicts," in that magazine, in which the President defines his attitude toward capital and labor as follows: "I believe in corporations. I believe in trade unions. Both have come to stay and are necessities in our present industrial system. But where in either one or the other there develope corruption or mere brutal indifference to the rights of others, and short-sighted refusal to look beyond the moment's gain, then the offender, whether union or corporation, must be fought, and if the public sentiment is calloused to the iniquity of either, by just so much the whole public is managed."

Plainfield, N. J., April 30, 1904.

A despatch telling of the remarkable run of an express train from Atantic City to Philadelphia says that "the train slowed up as it neared Philadelphia." Naturally.

Notwithstanding the fact that he desires to keep out of politics, James F. Buckle's friends are booming him for the Republican mayoralty nomination. They have got a candidate of the right sort. Mr. Buckle is a man of ripe business experience, level-headed and energetic. He has his own mind and is not the sort of a man to be controlled or intimidated.

Some of Representative Charles N. Fowler's enemies are making political capital out of the fact that he was absent a good deal of the time from Congress during the session just closed. They can always tell when Fowler is in Washington for his presence is made known more through his active participation in the proceedings of the National legislature than by the frequency of dinner parties and afternoon teas.

Fleet of the Admiral Keeps Port Arthur Guessing.

TOKYO'S TRANSPORT STORY DIFFERS

Japanese Reports Show Soldiers Died Fighting to the Last—One Boat Containing Fifty-four Men Picked Up.

LONDON, April 30.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says a report has been received from Viceroy Alexeieff stating that several Japanese warships were sighted off Port Arthur early Friday morning comprising a fleet of ten cruisers and six torpedo boats, and for a time they were lying in an adjacent bay.

A Tokyo report says seventy-three Japanese were killed or drowned as a result of the sinking of the Japanese transport Kinshiu Maru, which was torpedoed by the Russian armored cruiser Rossia.

The Kinshiu Maru parted from the convoy of torpedo boats in a fog and at 11:30 p. m. met the Russian fleet. She was ordered to stop, and the Rossia steamed alongside, summoned her navigating officers on board the Rossia and sent a searching party on board the transport. This party discovered two companies of soldiers concealed below and reported the fact to the Rossia. The latter discharged a torpedo, which struck the Kinshiu Maru amidships and broke her in two.

While the transport was sinking the soldiers on board of her rushed on deck and fired volleys from their rifles into the Rossia, and as the Kinshiu Maru sank several of the soldiers committed suicide.

Three boats which floated free from the wreckage were the means of saving forty-five soldiers and nine of the Kinshiu Maru's passengers and crew.

Two captains and three lieutenants were among the soldiers drowned. The survivors succeeded in getting ashore and were conveyed by steamer to Gensan.

Later advices from Gensan confirm the reports that the Japanese soldiers refused to surrender to the Russians at the sinking of the Kinshiu Maru, preferring death. One noncommissioned officer committed harakiri according to the ancient custom, and the others used rifles to kill themselves.

The official reports agree in placing the number of men lost at seventy-five. It is not known how many Japanese the Russians took from the ship or rescued after she began sinking. It is possible that more survivors will be found, as one of the Kinshiu Maru's boats is still missing.

A report from Admiral Yeszen says after the descent on Gensan the Russian squadron returned to Vladivostok and late during the night of April 26 started on another expedition. At 6 o'clock on the evening of April 27, when 300 miles out, the squadron sighted a Japanese steamer with war stores on board. Her crew, consisting of fifteen Koreans and twelve Japanese, were placed in safety, and the steamer was sunk by a pyroxylin cartridge fired from the Gromoboi by Lieutenant Polotnikoff.

The same night at about 11 o'clock when the squadron was twelve miles off Plaksin bay, Korea, a large Japanese transport, the Kinshiu Maru, was overhauled. Her commander mistook the Russian for a Japanese squadron and signaled:

"I am bringing you coal."

The Russian commander promptly signaled in reply:

"Stop instantly."

The crew of the transport then recognized their mistake and began to lower boats and steam pinnaces with the greatest haste and endeavored to escape. But the Russian steam cutters captured them all.

The transport was armed with four Hotchkiss guns. At the outset it looked as if no one was left on board, but on examination it was found that the cabin was locked and barred. Therein the Russians found six infantry officers, who surrendered without resistance and were taken on board the Rurik.

In another part of the ship 130 infantrymen, who refused to surrender, were found. Admiral Yeszen, whose vessel was about 1,600 yards away, ordered his men to leave the transport. The Japanese soldiers then opened fire and wounded a Russian cockswain. Afterward the transport was sent to the bottom by means of a mechanical mine and a few shells.

The Japanese on board did not cease firing and made no attempt to save themselves, although they had a launch in which they could have left the transport. The fire of the Japanese actually continued until the waves closed over the ship.

The transport had on board not only ammunition, but 2,000 tons of coal for Admiral Makamura.

The prisoners numbered 183, including seventeen officers. Altogether 210 prisoners were taken by the Russian squadron, landed at Vladivostok and immediately dispatched by train to Nikolsk.

It was reported at the time the Russian cruisers were returning to Vladivostok that a Japanese fleet of ten vessels was also making for there, but it failed to reach Vladivostok owing to the fog.

A wireless telegraph message was picked up by the Russian ships while at sea. It was in code and unintelligible, but was evidently passing between the Japanese ships.

Among the Japanese prisoners are a colonel and an officer of the general staff, while the soldiers include a number of Japanese who before the war worked as artisans at Vladivostok.

A Kobe (Japan) dispatch says the captain of the Japanese schooner Chihaya, which has arrived at Gensan, reported that he had rescued a boatload of forty-five soldiers and nine members of the crew of the Japanese transport Kinshiu Maru, which was torpedoed and sunk by the Russians.

China to Equip 72,000.

PEKING, April 30.—It is asserted on the best authority that the Russians are about to enforce martial law west of the Liao river. The government is worried, and the dowager empress has ordered the provincial governors to abandon her birthday celebration and to use the money collected for that purpose in equipping 72,000 troops immediately.

PEACE IN THE CABBAGE PATCH.

"Mrs. Wiggs" Now Hopes to Spend Her Old Age Untroubled.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—The female apostle of sunshine, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," who in private life answers to the name of Mrs. Mary Bass, was acquitted by Judge McCann in the police court, where she made her appearance to answer the charge of throwing the contents of a slop jar on Mrs. Emily Smith, also of Louisville.

Mrs. Smith claimed that her dress was ruined, her pride shattered and that her philanthropic impulses received a shock. In dismissing Mrs. Bass the court said in brief:

"This prosecuting witness came to Mrs. Bass' house without invitation. The defendant has been brought into great notoriety as the result of a literary production and as a result has been terribly annoyed. Her home has been invaded and the peace and quiet of life continually disturbed. I think that she has had great provocation, and I think I ought to dismiss her of the charge on general principles."

Mrs. Bass' testimony was given in her characteristic manner. She said:

"For many months, even years, I've been continually interrupted. Hobo after hobo comes to my house. I order 'em down and away from my place whenever I see 'em. They come by droves, walk around the yard, open the doors. When they rouse me and I come to the door to see what they want, I look upon not a single face I know. There they stand and look at each other in a foolish way. After awhile one will say:

"'Well, we read the book.'

"'Well,' I will say, 'then if that's all you can git,' and I make them git."

As she left the courtroom Mrs. Wiggs said:

"Now maybe I'll be able to spend my old age in peace and maybe my trees 'll grow out where all them memorals (souvenirs) has been pulled off, and maybe my yard won't be full of strange people every Sunday, and I can move downstairs, where I used to live."

OUTRAGE AT WHEELING.

Nun of St. Joseph Burned by Tramp With Carbolic Acid.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 30.—Sister Mary Alma of the Community of St. Joseph, who was assaulted by three burly negroes at the Catholic orphanage in Elm Grove last September, received the contents of a large bottle of carbolic acid thrown by a tramp here and is in a serious condition at St. Joseph's convent.

The tramp rapped at the door of the convent and asked for money. Sister Alma said she could not give money, but if he wanted anything to eat it would be given him. He returned a little later and when the sister opened the door dashed the bottle in her face. The attending physician thinks her sight will be saved, but her prostration may result fatally.

Threatening letters were sent to local newspaper publishers recently stating that anarchists would avenge the punishment of the negroes convicted of the Elm Grove outrage unless they were given another trial, and letters of warning, written in a friendly vein, were received by the sister superior of the convent and the chief of police.

The acid thrower was a white man, and from the meager description Sister Alma was able to furnish the police have arrested several suspects.

An Italian Women's Display.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Ambassador Meyer at Rome has informed the state department that in response to an invitation addressed to the women of Italy by the board of lady managers of the Louisiana Purchase exposition there has been formed under the direction of the royal minister of agriculture, industry and commerce a committee of sixteen Italian ladies, with Countess Spallati as president, to prepare a report giving particulars in regard to the condition and needs of the women of Italy and their future possibilities and to display at St. Louis specimens of their work.

Martial Law For the Poles.

BERLIN, April 30.—A Polish newspaper of Posen prints a special dispatch from Warsaw saying that the authorities there are about to declare martial law at Warsaw, Lodz and other large cities because the Socialists are preparing for May day demonstrations. Many Socialists, it is added, have been arrested at Warsaw and throughout Russian Poland, including a Socialist emissary from Germany.

Will They Have a Standard Oil?

BUCHAREST, Roumania, April 30.—The chamber of deputies by a vote of 64 to 4 adopted a bill for the regulation and consolidation of the rights of the holders of concessions for the development of petroleum fields on private properties. The bill abolishes many restrictions on foreign capitalists, and its passage is expected to lead to a great expansion of the petroleum industry in Roumania.

WHAT IS WORN.

Gray More Popular Than Ever—Hats Draped With Lace.

Gray will be worn more than ever this summer in hats and gowns and tailor mades.

A new fashion in millinery is the black or pale ecru straw hat draped with a veil of lace. This can be either black, blond or chantilly lace, arranged at the back into a graceful fan plaited drop quite different from the bedraggled chiffon affair with its cheap effect. Very bright flowers adorn many of these hats, and the inside of the brim is decorated with bands of velvet or silk or gauged chiffon.

SHAWL EVENING CAPE.

The newest veils have borders and hang straight from the brim in front, but these are not likely to be popular with many.

In Paris and Vienna little cape and skirt costumes made to match are worn with fancy net or chiffon separate blouses.

It is quite the latest fancy to combine many shades of white and cream in one dress. The blending requires, of course, the skill of the master's hand. A veritable chef d'œuvre, in which the harmonious intermixture was really exquisite, was carried out in dead white silk, covered with a heavy lace of a deeper tint, the chiffon and lace trimmings blending from snow white to a deep champagne, quite a study in carved ivory.

The picture shows a handsome shawl evening cape with a collar of lace and a rich fringe trimming.

DRESS TRIMMINGS.

Fine Gold Thread Used For Embroideries—Linen Canvas For Suits.

Fine gold thread is an embroidery novelty seen on cloth gowns. It is used oftenest by itself, as it kills any other thread with which it is used.

A smart hat, designed for evening wear, was of transparent black chantilly shirred on fine wires. On the top of the hat were sewed in among the shirrings little meshes of gold colored straw. Under the brim on the left hand side were four pale yellow roses.

Another hat for evening wear was of the new rough braid, with an insertion of black lace half way down the brim. The inner brim had two ostrich feathers resting on the hair, while rosebuds formed the crown.

Linen canvas in heliotrope and pale green will be used for smart little coat and skirt costumes and shirt waist dresses. The fronts and cuffs of some of these are decorated with cross stitch embroidery, the satin stock and belt being of the shade of the embroidery. A pale green worked in white, for instance, has a white stock and a white leather belt.

The double and the triple skirts, composed of two or three ruffles, are very smart for women who are tall enough to wear them. This style also requires narrow hips on account of the extra fullness.

The picture shows a negligee of old rose china silk trimmed with yellow lace. The body is all laid in fine tucks which are all wet to flare into a fine ruffle around the feet.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Business Moves In Conservative Channels.

FLOODS AND STORMS IMPEDE TRAFFIC

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Trade Review Blames Backward Spring For the Sleepy Condition of Summer Business.

NEW YORK, April 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Business continues to move in most conservative channels, purchases being restricted to immediate requirements, and weather conditions dominating the situation to an unusual extent. At many points there has been little spring trade and the transition from winter to summer will be accomplished with scarcely any intermediate season. Considering this adverse factor, the current volume of business is remarkably satisfactory. Building operations are also deferred to a late date, as shown by a thorough resume of this industry in dispatches from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co. at leading cities. Much structural work is projected, however, and at some favored points last year's record promises to be surpassed. As a rule, manufacturing plants are not working at full capacity, idle machinery being most extensive in textile industries. Floods and storms have interrupted traffic, yet railway earnings thus far reported for April are only 5.5 per cent smaller than last year. Money continues abnormally easy, and the associated banks established new high records of loans and deposits, without weakening the surplus reserve.

Foreign commerce returns at this port on merchandise account made a better international balance than the same week last year, exports increasing $746,763, while imports decreased $2,001,274. Security trading was even less active than in the corresponding week of 1903, which partly accounts for the loss of 22.2 per cent in bank exchanges at New York, while at other leading cities the decrease was only 2.4 per cent.

Wheat receipts of 1,277,433 bushels compare with 2,059,032 bushels a year ago, while exports from all ports of the United States, chiefly in the form of flour, were only 1,059,616 bushels against 3,391,517 bushels in the same week last year and 5,579,037 in 1902. Commission house buying of corn checked the decline, late planting being the leading influence. Interior arrivals of 2,065,734 bushels exceeded the receipts of 1,664,306 bushels last year, but Atlantic coast exports of 189,443 bushels made a poor comparison with 1,352,958 bushels a year ago. Cotton has had the support of increased exports recently, but the position of domestic spinners is not helpful.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for April aggregated $10,601,930, of which $3,980,645 were in manufacturing, $4,778,722 in trading and $1,842,563 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 202 in the United States against 203 last year and 16 in Canada compared with 13 a year ago.

Goff's Lucky Day.

NEW YORK, April 30.—When Recorder Goff took his seat in part 3 of general sessions, his usually grave countenance was wreathed in smiles, and he kept on smiling and smiling as he looked over his morning mail. The explanation of the recorder's amusement was that as he walked through the crowded corridor, and the assembly of policemen, lawyers and their clients made an avenue as the command rang out, "Make way for his honor the recorder!" he stooped down and picked up a $5 bill which the careless crowd had trampled under foot. A dozen persons stooped, and a dozen eager hands were outstretched. Too late—the recorder stuffed the find in his pocket and marched on smiling.

Shot His Mother For a Burglar.

BRUNSON, S. C., April 30.—Mistaking her for a burglar, Capers Folk shot and probably fatally wounded his mother at 1 o'clock in the morning at their home here. Folk had retired about midnight. Hearing a noise, he reached for his pistol, opened the door of his room and, seeing some one standing at the front door fingering the latch, fired. Instantly his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Folk, spoke, and he realized he had shot his mother. Surgeons have not been able to locate the bullet. Mr. Folk is a young man of high respectability.

Socialists Killed Police Officials.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 30.—The ministry of the interior confirms the Warsaw report of the killing of two police officials and the wounding of three policemen by a socialist named Mayer, whose house the police raided on suspicion of illicit printing. Mayer (the police do not believe that is his real name) denies complicity in any conspiracy. The arrests were limited to Mayer, an unnamed accomplice and the landlord of the house in which Mayer resided. The police confiscated a printing press found in the building.

Yale Athletes Compete.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—The feature of the thirty-third annual Caledonian games at Princeton was DeWitt's throwing of the sixteen pound hammer and putting the shot. The times made in the running events were poor, owing to the heavy track, the most spirited performance being in the 440 yards dash, which was won in 54 1-5 seconds by G. M. Goldsmith, 1904, with Atlee a good second. The winners were: One hundred yard dash, S. Ruion Miller; 120 yard hurdle, J. N. Carter; one mile run, R. E. Williams; 880 yard dash, R. E. Williams; shot put, J. R. DeWitt, 41 feet 3 inches; pole vault, H. L. Moore, 10 feet 3 inches; sixteen pound hammer throw, J. R. DeWitt, 156 feet 11 inches.

Chess Tourney at Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., April 30.—At the conclusion of the fourth round of the international chess masters' tournament at the Hotel Rider Lasker and Marshall had the lead with half a point over Janowski. The latter, however, has an adjourned game in hand against Hodges, a game which looks almost hopeless for the latter and which if won by Janowski will give him the lead. Mieses has a fine fourth place. Napier's defeat at the hands of Lawrence came rather unexpectedly, and Tschigorin disappointed his admirers by not at least drawing with Showalter.

Woman's Whist Tourney.

BALTIMORE, April 30.—The seventh annual woman's whist congress is closed, to meet in Philadelphia next year. The New Amsterdam trophy, open for pairs of women, was won by Mrs. C. S. Waterhouse and Mrs. H. Taylor of Boston. The challenge trophy, for mixed teams, was won by Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Gaither of Baltimore, Mrs. Bell of Philadelphia and Mrs. H. Kent McKay of Baltimore. Mrs. F. E. Drake and Mrs. W. F. Barnes of the Cavendish club of New York won the Brooklyn trophy.

Monet Got Newtown Stakes.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Over a track that still was heavy from the recent rains Monet, the favorite, won the Newtown selling stakes, the feature event on the card at Jamaica. Not once in the six furlongs was he ever in danger. After the race Monet was bid up to $3,800 and claimed by J. H. McCormack. Workman, Jacquin and Silver Dream were the other winning favorites, the other two events going to a second choice and a long shot.

Hanlon and Sullivan Box a Draw.

BALTIMORE, April 30.—Eddie Hanlon of San Francisco boxed ten rounds to a draw with Kid Sullivan of Washington at 128 pounds before the Eureka Athletic club last night. At the end of the bout neither man appeared to be seriously injured. The 1,600 members of the club appeared to be well satisfied with the decision of Referee Eckhardt.

Maud Muller Won Driving.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Followers of favorites fared well at Oakland, but there were upsets. The first came in the opening event, where Belle Reed was played from 2 to 1 to even money. She could not catch Maud Muller, a 10 to 1 shot, which won driving by a length. Chileno was third.

Fire In Crow's Nest Hamlet.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 30.—Nine-tenths of Fernie, B. C., a town of 3,000, the largest settlement in Crow's Nest Pass district, has been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $500,000. The water supply almost failed, and the fire burned itself out. Nearly the whole of six blocks were destroyed, including six hotels, two wholesale houses, Christ church and virtually all the retail stores in town.

Craigneuk a Total Wreck.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 30.—The stranded sugar steamer Craigneuk is in a sad plight. With the pounding she got from the heavy seas during the day and night she has been rendered almost helpless. Captain Adams, assistant lighthouse keeper, gave it as his opinion that the steamer will probably prove a total loss, as she is now imbedded in the sand to such a depth that the wrecking tugs can make but little change in her position.

Edward Sees American Boy Win.

DUBLIN, April 30. — King Edward and Queen Alexandra attended the Leopardstown races, the greatest day of the Dublin race week. Richard Croker saw his horse, American Boy, win the April plate.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

GREAT IS ST. LOUIS

Louisiana Purchase Exposition Opens Its Doors.

ALL NATIONS OF THE WORLD LOOK ON

Enormous Crowds View Impressive Opening Ceremonies—Great Men From All Over the Union Are Heard.

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—St. Louis today meets the greatest day in her history. The great Louisiana Purchase exposition, upon which the city has lavished millions of money, to which her people have devoted years of their best endeavor and for which they have labored with infinite patience and persistence, has been thrown open for the inspection of the whole world. The time for promises and pledges has gone, the day of fulfillment is here, and never has any city put forth greater effort to keep the spirit and letter of her pledge than has St. Louis.

Early in the morning all the high dignitaries of the exposition met at the Administrative building and, headed by bands, marched to the Plaza of St. Louis, in the center of the exposition grounds. Representatives of foreign governments met at the Hall of Congresses at the same time, and their parade to the plaza was timed so as to arrive at the same moment the exposition officials marched in from the opposite direction. At the same time representatives of state and territorial governments entered the plaza from a third avenue, having previously formed at the United States building.

After the gathering had been formally called to order by President D. R. Francis, Rev. Frank Gunsaulus of Chicago delivered the invocation. At the conclusion of the prayer Director of Works Isaac S. Taylor delivered the keys of the buildings to President Francis, who in turn transferred the buildings to Frederick J. V. Skiff, the director of exhibits. The chorus "Hymn of the West," the words by Edmund Clarence Stedman and music by John Knowles Paine, was sung and addresses made by the following gentlemen:

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Charles Smith, formerly of the Y. M. C. A. team, will play at Dunellen this season.

Wiley, a former member of the Alis team, has signed to play with East Millstone this year.

The Orange Field Club will open the season this afternoon with Reform A. A., on Hope Common.

Arthur Reed, of Myrtle avenue, is first substitute for the baseball team at the Montclair Military Academy

Leal's School team will meet the Morristown Academy this afternoon, in Morristown. The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

Retnesse, who occupied the box in one game for Alis last season against Scotch Plains, has signed to pitch for the Potsdam, N. Y., team.

The Mono A. C. will begin its season on the diamond with a game against the P. H. S. scrub combination next Tuesday afternoon.

The Cranford Baseball Club will open the season on Saturday, May 14, with a strong attraction. The team will make a bid for county championship honors.

Robert Voorhees, pitcher for the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y., baseball team, will coach Leal's School the balance of the season. He has been in town this week.

Quinby, who played second base for Alis last season, will fill that same position for the Crescent A. C., this year. It is his brother who has signed to play with Montclair A. C.

An excellent picture of John Ramsay, of last year's High Bridge team, but now of the Jersey City Eastern League team, appears in Tuesday's issue of the Jersey City Journal.

Robert Tilney, 2b, a graduate of Leal's School, is this season coaching the freshman class baseball team at Yale, and it is largely due to his work that the team has been so successful.

William Roberts, who has been signed to play short-stop for Alis this season, is a resident of Cranford. For two seasons he played gilt-edge ball for the East End's, of Phillipsburg.

Henriques, who played short-stop and third base for Alis last year, is now playing weekday games for the Long Branch team and commencing with Sunday he will play with the Spalding Emeralds, of New York.

Manager E. L. Hand, of the Scotch Plains ball team, announces that the attraction for today will be the Park A. C., of Newark. This team played the Essex A. C., of Newark, on Sunday, winning by a score of 2 to 1. The game will be called at 3:30.

Sam. Hope, who pitched for the Alis team last season, is playing this season in the Patchogue, L. I., League. His brother, who pitcher one game last year for Hope Y. M. A., is occupying the box this year for Cedarhurst, in the Long Island League.

Efforts are being made by the manager of the Newark Academy baseball team for another game with Leal's School to be played during May at Newark. The Newark boys were pleased with the treatment received here last Saturday, though they were beaten.

George Dupee is not certain to stay in the game with the East Millstone nine. He has only agreed to pitch during next month, and is not sure he will stay the season out. His first game will be against the New Markets, Whitley being his probable opponent. On form, Dupee ought to have a walkover in that game.

Westfield will have to walk the tight rope in its game today and will need some nervy balancing to keep from falling into Chatham's net. The town of millionaires will present the following formidable line-up: Wastlake, c; C. Speer, p; Curley, ss; Adams, 1b; Warren, 2b; Lippincott, 3b; W. Speer, lf; Wagner, cf; Brophy, rf.

In a baseball game between Pearsall A. C., of Jersey City and the Cedar Baseball Club, of New York, at Jersey City, last Sunday, Griffin, of the former team, made the star catch of the day. He ran a long distance in centre field, caught the ball and turned a complete somersault. Griffin has been signed as change pitcher for the Alis Club.

The Reform A. A. has adopted this schedule of games for the season: May 7, West End Field Club; May 14, Clinton Avenue; May 21, Plainfield A. A.; May 28, New Market at New Market; May 30, open; June 4, open; June 11, Plainfield A. A.; June 18, Clinton Avenue; June 25, New Market at New Market; July 2, West End Field Club; July 4, 9 and 16, open; July 23, Crescents at New Orange; July 30, Orange Field Club; August 6, Crescents at New Orange; August 13, Parkaway A. C., of Kearney at Kearney. Manager Meyer would like to hear from the Y. M. C. A. or any other teams in this vicinity.

The Aeolian A. A. will cross bats with the Pearsall A. C., of Jersey City, at Garwood this afternoon. The first game between these teams this season at Jersey City resulted in a victoray for the Aeolian's by a score of 2 to 0. Tomorrow's contest should be a fine one. This will be the line-up: Aeolian—Lanigan, cf; Alberts, rf; Helf, lf; A. Poole, 1b; Supple, 2b; Hoffman, ss; Gray, 3b; W. Poole, c; Maurer or Hegeman, p. Pearsalls—Nelson, 2b; French, 3b; Schuols, 1b; Fisher, ss; Wake, cf; Heffron, lf; Masterson or Heffelron, c or rf; Griffin, Vaughan or Draile, p. One week from tomorrow the Aeolians will open the season with Alis on Crescent Oval and no doubt many local fans will visit Garwood tomorrow to get a line on that team for its first game here.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The managers of the Newark Academy Athletic Association are trying to arrange to hold two track meets, one with Plainfield High School and the other with Leal's School. In case the meets are arranged they will be held during May on Orange Oval.

The annual election of officers of the Westfield Club will take place at the club's meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, May 10. The ticket follows: For president, E. D. Floyd; vice president, C. E. Halsted; treasurer, F. S. Smith; secretary, H. R. Foster; trustees, H. C. Sargeant, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., R. I. Townley, C. K. Darrow and J. A. Woodward.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The President's Cup bowling tournament will end at the Westfield Club alleys this evening. The contest at present lies between Messrs. Foster and Woodward.

TROLLEY SERVICE.

Public Service Corporation's Arrangements for the Through Line.

Colonel E. W. Hine, assistant to President T. N. McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, says that the trolley company will have through cars running between Trenton and Jersey City before the end of June.

Traffic Superintendent Ackerman and Auditor Mat Roylan passed through this city on Tuesday in a special car, on a trip over the route for the purpose of securing data to form the basis for the arrangement of a schedule and the issue of tickets. They left Jersey City about 9 o'clock, and reached Trenton in about four hours.

There were many delays on this trip. When these are removed it is expected to cover the distance between Jersey City and the State Capital in about five hours. The present arrangements provide for four cars running each way between Trenton and Jersey City.

P. S. C. Orders Survey.

H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer, yesterday received instructions from the Public Service Corporation to proceed with the survey of a route along Woodland avenue, being the extension of the Arlington avenue line, to Oak Tree and then on private right of way to connect with the Metuchen line. This would indicate that the new line will be constructed in the near future

CRITTENTON MISSION.

Conference Closed With Many Suggestions to Lessen Evil.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The conference of the National Florence Crittenton mission has been closed. Its chief feature was a discussion by Mrs. Kate W. Barrett of what can be done to lessen the social evil. Mrs. Barrett has had many years of work in the field covered by the mission. Briefly her suggestions were:

First.—Stop the sale of liquor in disorderly houses.

Second.—Establish close police supervision and authority over such places.

Third.—Require a record to be kept of every inmate of a disorderly house, giving her age, history so far as obtainable, condition, etc.

Fourth.—Require that all recruits before being permitted to enter a disorderly house shall report to the chief of police.

Fifth.—Make it possible for a girl to earn an honest living.

While not advocating that police supervision and authority should be carried to the extent it is in some foreign countries, where the social evil is a legally recognized institution, Mrs. Barrett held that a certain degree of this supervision and authority, with its necessary accompaniment of segregation, must be provided. In no other way, she said, can the problem be dealt with successfully.

Vice Presidents and General Manager W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, was recently one of a party of railroad men who made a record run on the New Haven and Hartford road. A special, consisting of two private cars, made the trip from New Haven to New York, a distance of 73.23 miles, in one hour and twenty-three minutes, this including a stop at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, New York, to let off one of the party. It is said that no effort was made for a record.

Mrs. Frederick Bidwell, of Albany, N. Y., nee Miss Ella Edmunds, of this city, is rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing baby son. Cards announcing the interesting event have been received by her friends here.
